Mrs. Knight: The Central Statistical Office's performance for 1994–95 is described in the agency's annual report and accounts for 1994–95 which is being laid before the House and published today.

The CSO achieved 27 out of the 33 published targets, including 18 out of 19 targets relating to the quality of key economic statistics.

A number of targets for 1995–96 have been tightened and these are set out in the CSO programme strategies 1995–96 to 1997–98 which was published in April.

Public Bodies (External Audits)

Mr. Tim Smith: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what is the timetable for the review of the arrangements for the external audit of public bodies recommended by the Nolan committee; who will be conducting the review; and who will be consulted during the review. [33545]

Mr. Jack [holding answer 12 July 1995]: We aim to reach provisional conclusions by the end of 1995 and then issue a consultation paper. The review is being conducted jointly by the Treasury and the Cabinet Office and covers separate recommendations which the Nolan committee addressed to those departments on external audit and on the legal framework governing propriety and accountability. The review will take account of evidence submitted to the Nolan committee but the Parliamentary Secretary, Office of Public Service, has invited all who wish to provide further comments to do so by 30 September. They should be sent to Room 130G/4, Office of Public Service, Horse Guards Road, London, SW1P 3AL.

HOUSE OF COMMONS

Upper Waiting Hall

Mr. Kevin Hughes: To ask the Chairman of the Administration Committee if he has considered an application for an exhibition relating to the British Association of Social Work, "Then, Now and Onwards" to be displayed in the Upper Waiting Hall.

Mr. Michael J. Martin: I understand that, under procedures agreed by the Administration Committee, arrangements have been made for the exhibition to be held in the Upper Waiting Hall from Monday 27 November to Friday 1 December 1995.

Mr. Pike: To ask the Chairman of the Administration Committee if he has considered an application for an exhibition relating to plastics and recycling to be displayed in the Upper Waiting Hall.

Mr. Martin: I understand that, under procedures agreed by the Administration Committee, arrangements have been made for the exhibition to be held in the Upper Waiting Hall from Monday 18 December to Friday 22 December 1995.

TRADE AND INDUSTRY

Deputy Prime Minister

Mr. Winnick: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what will be the involvement of the Deputy Prime Minister in the work of his Department. [34121]

Mr. Lang [holding answer 13 July 1995]: I refer the hon. Gentleman to the reply given by my right hon. Friend the Prime Minister to a question from the hon. Member for Pembroke (Mr. Ainger) on 11 July 1995, Official Report, columns 496-97.

Consultants

Mr. Milburn: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if he will indicate which five consultancy firms have received most contracts from his Department (a) by number of contracts and (b) monetary value in the last five years for which figures are available. [33437]

Mr. Lang: The information requested in given in the tables. These include details of contracts let centrally and exclude those contracts let independently by the Department's executive agencies.

Accountancy Profession

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what proposals he has for democratising the accountancy profession. [33900]

Mr. Oppenheim: My primary responsiblilty is to ensure that the professional accountancy bodies fulfil their statutory duties in the fields of company audit and insolvency work.

Inward Investment

Mr. Morgan: To ask the President of the Board of Trade when he expects the latest statistics from the Invest in Britain Bureau of the number of inward investment projects coming into the United Kingdom will be published. [34634]

Mr. Eggar: I refer the hon. Member to the answer that I gave on 13 July 1995.

Fireworks

Ms Estelle Morris: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what plans he has for amending section 67 of the Explosives Act 1875, authorising local authorities in metropolitan areas to enforce section 31 of the Act and deal with dangerous fireworks. [32494]

Mr. Jonathan Evans: I do not consider it is necessary to amend the Explosive Act 1875 in order to empower trading standards officers to deal with any traders supplying fireworks to children apparently under 16 years of age. While enforcement of section 31 of that Act is for the police, trading standards officers have powers under the General Product Safety Regulations 1994 to prevent the supply by traders of goods, including fireworks, which are unsafe in the hands of those to whom they are supplied, for example the supply of fireworks to children under 16 years of age.

Computer Suppliers

Mr. Milburn: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if he will list the top 10 suppliers of computer equipment to his Department and its agencies in the last five years, indicating the total value of the contracts received. [34562]

Mr. Jonathan Evans: Such information is not readily available and cannot be provided other than at disproportionate cost. However, the major suppliers from which computer equipment has been purchased over the past three years, excluding purchasing by executive agencies, are:

	Contract value £
ICL Enterprises	11.5 million
Digital Equipment Company Ltd.	1.2 million
Unisys Ltd.	750,000
Sequent Computer Systems Ltd.	250,000

A much wider range of companies has been involved in the supply of smaller, individual system requirements.

Financial Reporting

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what responsibilities he has in relation to the operations of (a) the Auditing Practices Board and (b) the Accounting Standards Board. [34101]

Mr. Oppenheim: My Department supports the work of both bodies to improve the quality of financial reporting and my officials attend their meetings as observers. My Department provides about one third of the funding of the Financial Reporting Council and its subsidiaries, of which the Accounting Standards Board is one.

Chartered Association of Certified Accountants

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the President of the Board of Trade whether he will be advising the Privy Council to approve the name and designatory change of the Chartered Association of Certified Accountants from CACA to CPA. [33901]

Mr. Oppenheim: The Privy Council Office will be consulting my Department about this once it has consulted the others concerned.

Audit Firms

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the President of the Board of Trade how many audit firm partners have been barred from public practice as a result of the criticisms contained in the inspectors' reports published since 1979. [33899]

Mr. Oppenheim: This information is not immediately available. I will write to the hon. Gentleman in due course.

Scott Inquiry

Mr. Llew Smith: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what steps he is taking to achieve the aim of closing the episodes that led to the Scott inquiry as set out in the list of principal objectives of his Department's export control and proliferation division, published in his departmental MINIS 1995 returns part 2 on 12 June. [30601]

Mr. Lang: Principal objective (d) of my Department's export control and non-proliferation division, as published in my Departmental MINIS 1995 returns part 2 on 12 June, calls for the episodes which led to Sir Richard Scott's inquiry to be closed, but in the context of a Government response to the Scott report. It would be premature for me to decide how best to close these episodes before Sir Richard Scott's report is published. Meanwhile, my Department's Scott inquiry unit is providing papers and information on request to Sir Richard Scott's inquiry, and lending factual assistance to witnesses to the inquiry.

Mr. Smith: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if Lord Justice Scott has requested his Department to provide documentation on the role played by the N. M. Rothschild bank in assisting Iraq and Iran to obtain munitions during the Iran-Iraq war. [32884]

Mr. Nelson [holding answer 6 July 1995]: Requests for information from Sir Richard Scott's inquiry are a matter for the inquiry.

N. M. Rothschild Bank

Mr. Llew Smith: To ask the President of the Board of Trade (1) what information has been provided to his Department by (a) N. M. Rothschild bank Ltd. or (b) Rothschild Asset Management Ltd. in regard to investment made in Chinese factories between April 1983 and June 1987; [32885]

(2) what investigations have been conducted by his Department into the funding support provided by N. M. Rothschild bank to companies based in China known to have supplied munitions to the combatants during the Iran-Iraq war. [32889]

Mr. Nelson [holding answer 6 July 1995]: My Department is not immediately aware of such information; nor has it conducted such investigations.

BMARC

Mr. Byers: To ask the President of the Board of Trade, pursuant to the oral statement of 13 June at columns 595-606, who were the directors of BMARC at the time that possible breaches of export controls occurred. [29259]

Mr. Nelson [holding answer 19 June 1995]: H. M. Customs and Excise is responsible for investigating whether any breaches of export control have occurred.

The directors of BMARC for 1986-89, the period covered by the statement made in the House by my right hon. Friend the then President of the Board of Trade on 13 June 1995, were as follows:

From 1986, the directors of BMARC were Sir R. Freer, Mr. M. Funk, Mr. D. Isles and Mr. W. Leuch.

In May 1988 BMARC was acquired by Astra. Mr. D. Isles remained a director, and the following were also appointed directors: Mr. G. James, Mr. C. Gumbley, Mr. J. Miller, Mr. S. Kock, Mr. W. McNaught.

In September 1988 Mr. J. Aitken was appointed a director. In February 1989 Mr. J. Sellens was appointed a director. In July 1989 Mr. D. Isles resigned as a director.

SOCIAL SECURITY

United Kingdom Nationals

Mr. Murphy: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what provisions are in place, when assessing United Kingdom nationals under the income related benefit scheme (MISC amendment (No. 3)), Regulation 1994 and with reference to article 1 of the 1953 European convention on social and medical assistance and article 13 of the 1961 Council of Europe social charter, for Untied Kingdom nationals returning to the United Kingdom from another EU state, in line with protection offered under EU directions to non-United Kingdom nationals. [31324]

Mr. Roger Evans: All income support claimants, including British citizens returning to the United Kingdom from another member state of the European Union, and including non-United Kingdom nationals, are required to show that they are habitually resident in accordance with the provisions of the Income Related Benefit Scheme (Miscellaneous Amendment) (No. 3) Regulations 1994 before they can receive benefit. Article 1 of the European convention on social and medical assistance and article 13 of the Council of Europe social charter require the United Kingdom to allow nationals of other signatory states to these conventions, who are lawfully present in this country, access to income support on equal terms with British citizens. The protection afforded under EC legislation to non-United Kingdom nationals is restricted to nationals of the European Economic Area. It applies to certain workers and former workers in this country and meets our current obligations under European Community law.

Income Support

Mr. Ian McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security how many unemployment benefit claimants were disqualified from benefit and (a) were in receipt and (b) were not in receipt of a reduced rate of income support during the disqualification period, for each region and for Great Britain as a whole for each quarter since April 1994, indicating those whose unemployment benefit was disqualified for (i) leaving employment voluntarily, (ii) being dismissed for misconduct and (iii) refusal of employment. [32593]

Mr. Roger Evans: The latest available information is set out in the tables. The information requested on refusal of employment is not kept separately.

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security if he will re-examine the rules on severe hardship payments in respect of young people denied financial help from their families though their relationships have not irretrievably broken down. [32833]

Mr. Roger Evans: No. Benefits Agency officers take all the relevant factors into account when deciding whether a young person is at risk of severe hardship. Among the factors considered would be the young person's relationship with their parents and whether they were being provided with any financial or other support.

Contributions Agency

Ms Walley: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what representations he has received concerning his restructuring plans for the Contributions Agency; and if he will make a statement. [32690]

Mr. Heald: The administration of the Contributions Agency is a matter for Mrs. Faith Boardman, the chief executive. She will write to the hon. Member.

Letter from Mrs. Faith Boardman to Ms Joan Walley, dated 13 July 1995:

As Chief Executive of the Contributions Agency, I have responsibility for answering questions about operational matters relating to the Agency and the National Insurance (NI) scheme. I have been asked to reply to your questions about representations that have been received concerning the restructuring plans for the Agency.

Current research has shown that there is a need to match more closely Contributions Agency Field outlets to customer requirements while still maintaining nationwide cover for administration of the NI scheme and the proposed restructuring addresses this issue.

Representations about the restructuring have been made by the relevant Civil Service Trade Unions and some enquiries about the changes have been made by the business community. The proposed changes take account of research among customers which shows, in general, that they prefer to make contact by telephone or correspondence. The Agency is engaged in a consultation process with staff to consider their views on the proposed future network.

I hope that my reply proves helpful. Please let me know if I can be of any further assistance.

Mrs. Ewing: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security (1) what further steps he is taking to ensure that his Department is able to meet its obligations as stipulated by the National Audit Office in relation to the collection and administration of national insurance contributions; and if he will make a statement; [33318]

(2) how many staff of the Contributions Agency are involved in (a) the administration and (b) the collection of national insurance contributions; if he will provide a breakdown by (i) region and (ii) Contributions Agency office; and if he will make a statement; [33319]

(3) what recent meetings have been held with organisations concerning the planning and restructuring exercise, business unit analysis, by the Contributions Agency; and if he will make a statement on the names of those in attendance, the date of each meeting and the matters discussed; [33320]

(4) what recent representations he has received on the planning and restructuring exercise, business unit analysis, by the Contributions Agency, what is the time scale envisaged for the completion of the exercise; and if he will make a statement; [33321]

(5) what is the number of inspectors employed in the Contributions Agency who are involved in undertaking regular visits to (a) employers and (b) the self-employed; and if he will provide a breakdown by (i) region and (ii) Contributions Agency office; [33322]

(6) if he will provide a breakdown of the offices of the Contributions Agency indicating the numbers employed at each office; and if he will make a statement. [33323]

Mr. Heald: The administration of the Contributions Agency is a matter for Mrs. Faith Boardman, the chief executive. She will write to the hon. Member.

Letter from Mrs. Faith Boardman to Mrs. Margaret Ewing, dated 13 July 1995:

As Chief Executive of the Contributions Agency, I have responsibility for answering questions about operational matters relating to the Agency and the National Insurance (NI) scheme. I have been asked to reply to your questions about the numbers of staff employed in different areas and their roles within the Agency, the arrangements concerning the current restructuring exercise and the steps that are being taken to meet obligations as stipulated by the National Audit Office. In view of the nature of the questions I have combined the responses.

Unfortunately the information is not available exactly in the form that you have requested.

The Contributions Agency is responsible for ensuring compliance with the law on National Insurance matters. In 1991 the Agency began to move towards a Field Operations network of some 184 Field Offices supported by 90 Inspector outstations. Current research has shown that there is a need to match more closely Contributions Agency outlets to customer requirements while still maintaining nationwide cover for the administration of the NI scheme. Information obtained about density of businesses, density of population and locations of the self employed, has been incorporated into the design of a new network to consist of around 100–115 locations, comprising 70–75 Field Offices and 30–40 Inspector outstations, which will meet National Audit Office requirements. It is planned that most of the changes will be in place within the next two to three years.

Representations about the restructuring have been made by the relevant Civil Service Trade Unions and some enquiries about the changes have been made by the business community. The proposed changes take account of research among customers which shows, in general, that they prefer to make contact by telephone or correspondence. The Agency is engaged in a consultation process with staff and Trade Unions to consider their views on the proposed future network.

Meetings whose Agendas have included the restructuring plans have taken place between Field Operations management and representatives of the Trade Unions on the following dates: 4 and 5 April, 2, 3 and 12 May, 12 June and 5 July 1995. Representation at these meetings involved Field senior management including the Director of Field Operations and the Business Change Manager. Trade Union representatives were from the Civil and Public Services Association and the National Union of Civil and Public Servants. Meetings have also been held at local levels between management and staff, but details of these are not kept centrally.

There are currently 8853 staff in post the Agency. It is not possible to differentiate between staff who are employed on purely administrative work as opposed to those who are involved in the actual collection of National Insurance Contributions.

The operational area in regular face-to-face contact with our customers is Field Operations, whose NI inspectors visit employers and self-employed contributors both to monitor their compliance with NI law and in an educational role. At 1 June 1995 there were 3440 staff in post in Field Operations. I regret that at this staff I am unable to supply you with up-to-date figures for the number of staff employed at each location. However, these figures are about to be collated and I will write to you again when they are available. At 31 March 1995 1780 staff held Inspectors' Warrants. Details of the number of inspectors attached to each location are not kept, but the table in Annex 1 shows the number of Warrant holders in each of the Agency's Divisions.

I regret that I have been unable to answer the precise questions that you have raised, but I hope that my reply proves helpful. Please let me know if I can be of any further assistance.

Departmental Staff (Shareholdings)

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security how many staff in his Department or its agencies have (a) declared any company shareholdings they hold or (b) been advised to dispose of shareholdings in the last five years, indicating the companies concerned. [33423]

Mr. Burt: None.

Unfair Dismissal

Mr. Ian McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security how many unfair dismissal cases were brought against his Department during the last 12 months; how many were successful; and what were the total costs including legal fees and compensation. [34614]

Mr. Burt: In the year ending 30 June 1995 there were 58 applications to industrial tribunals for unfair dismissal brought against the Department. Three of these were unsuccessful, six were withdrawn, two were settled before a hearing and 47 are waiting to be heard. Information on legal costs is not readily available and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Consultants

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security if he will estimate the cost of employing consultants in connection with privatisation programmes in which his Department has been engaged since 1980. [33452]

Mr. Burt: There have been no privatisation programmes and no costs have therefore been incurred.

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security how many contracts his Department has had with consultants; and what has been the total cost in each of the last five years. [33572]

Mr. Burt: The information is in the table.

Year	Number of contracts	Total cost £ million
1990–91	952	83.2
1991–92	933	69.7
1992–93	863	36.4
1994–95	863	26.1

Figures for 1992–93 onwards refer solely to expenditure on consultancy services following work undertaken for the Efficiency Scrutiny into the Government's Use of External Consultants. Figures for earlier years include the costs of contracted services.

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security if he will indicate which five consultancy firms have received most contracts from his Department (a) by number of contracts and (b) monetary value in the last five years for which figures are available. [33433]

Mr. Burt: The information is in the table.

The monetary value of contracts is restricted commercial information.

Personnel

Mrs. Dunwoody: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security if he will list separately, by each office of his Department, the numbers and grades of casuals, fixed appointments and vacancies in the Coventry travel-to-work area. [33776]

Mr. Burt: The information as at 30 June this year is as follows:

(a) Two staff employed on fixed term contracts in the Administrative Officer grade at the Nuneaton office of the Benefits Agency.

(b) One member of staff employed as an Administrative Assistant on a casual basis at the Coventry office of the Child Support Agency.

(c) One member of staff employed as an Administered Assistant on a casual basis at the Nuneaton office of the Child Support Agency.

(d) One vacancy at Higher Executive Officer grade in the Child Support Agency to be based in the Coventry area.

Market Testing

Mr. Gapes: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security (1) what representations he has received in relation to staff (a) contracts of employment and (b) pension arrangements at SERCO Ltd, following the contracting out of operation by the Benefits Agency; and if he will make a statement; [33850]

(2) when he last met the head of Serco Ltd; what discussions took place about the staffing levels, protecting confidentiality of claimants and market testing; and if he will make a statement; [33964]

(3) what assessment he has made of the adequacy of the arrangements that exist at the Benefits Agency offices in Lea Roding district in relation of processing the post; and if he will make a statement; [33965]

(4) what representations he has received in relation to staffing arrangements at Serco Ltd, following contracting out by the Benefits Agency; and if he will make a statement. [33967]

Mr. Roger Evans: This is a matter for Mr. Ian Magee, the Chief Executive of the Benefits Agency. He will write to the hon. Member.

Letter from Ian Magee to Mr. Mike Gapes, dated 13 July 1995:

The Secretary of State has asked me to reply to your recent Parliamentary Question about: (a) staff contracts of employment and pension arrangements following transfer to SERCO Ltd; (b) when he last met the head of SERCO Ltd; (c) discussions and representations received in relation to staffing levels at SERCO Ltd; (d) protecting confidentiality of claimants and the adequacy of the arrangements that exist at the Benefits Agency (BA) offices in the Lea Roding District in relation to processing the post.

The contract for work was awarded to SERCO Ltd on the understanding that the Transfer of Undertaking (Protection of Employment) Regulations 1981, also known as TUPE, applied. This meant that all BA staff transferred with existing terms and conditions, except pension provisions, to their new employers.

However, prior to the award of the contract, SERCO Ltd needed to satisfy the Government Actuaries Department that the pension scheme they proposed was broadly comparable with the Principal Civil Service Pension scheme. The BA also provided the opportunity for staff who were transferring to attend advice seminars with representatives from the Government Actuaries Department prior to making any decision about their pension position. The BA has not received representations from staff who transferred to SERCO Ltd in relation to contracts of employment or pensions.

The Secretary of State for Social Security has not met with the head of SERCO Ltd. There are, however, regular monthly meetings between BA management and SERCO Ltd to discuss service delivery issues. Staffing levels and customer confidentiality have not been on the Agenda at these meetings. However, SERCO Ltd have kept BA management informed of changes and increases in their key staff. I am unaware of specific representations about staffing arrangements at SERCO Ltd in connection with the work the BA has contracted to them.

In Lea Roding District, post opening and sorting is sub-contracted out by SERCO Ltd to the Royal Mail. The post is opened by Royal Mail staff in a secure area within the sorting office.

All staff working for SERCO Ltd, and those opening the post, are required to sign a declaration acknowledging the provisions of Section 123 of the Social Security Administration Act 1992, which makes it a criminal offence to disclose personal information provided for Social Security purposes.

I hope this reply is helpful.

Mr. Gapes: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what assessment he has made about the number of complaints that have been received about the delays in processing the claims at the Benefits Agency at Lea Roding district; and if he will make a statement. [33966]

Mr. Evans: This is a matter for Mr. Ian Magee, the chief executive of the Benefits Agency. He will write to the hon. Member.

Letter from Ian Magee to Mr. Mike Gapes, dated 13 July 1995:

The Secretary of State has asked me to reply to your recent Parliamentary Question about what assessment has made of the number of complaints received at the Benefits Agency's Lea Roding District concerning delays in the processing of claims.

For the six month period 1 February 1995 to 13 July 1995 the Customer Service Section at Lea Roding District received a total of 233 customer complaints, of which five were in respect of delays in processing claims. All five of these complaints were investigated and responded to within eleven working days of receipt and four of the five delays resulted from the need for the adjudication officer to obtain additional information.

The level of complaints is closely monitored in all Districts. However, in view of your concern, I have asked the relevant Territorial Director to satisfy herself of the standard of service provided.

I hope this reply is helpful.

Mortgage Protection Policies

Mr. Denham: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what is his latest estimate of the proportion of homeowners that will be unable to purchase mortgage protection insurance policies. [32046]

Mr. Roger Evans: We have made no such estimate. The Association of British Insurers and the Abbey National building society both take the view that virtually anyone who is able to obtain a mortgage should also be able to obtain appropriate insurance. We have identified certain groups such as pensioners and those with pre-existent medical conditions whose ability to obtain full insurance is questionable and we have accordingly made special provisions for such groups in the new scheme.

Sickness Absence

Mr. Ian McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security how many days were lost in sickness in the 12 months by employees in his Department (a) in total and (b) as a proportion of the number of days worked; and what was the cost of this absence. [34615]

Mr. Burt: The number of working days lost due to sickness in 1994 was 1,117,263—5.37 per cent. of the number of available days. These are the latest figures available and use provisional information. Details of the cost of these absences are not readily available and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Redundancies

Mr. Ian McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security how many redundancies occurred in his Department over the last 12 months; how many were voluntary; and what was the total sum spent on redundancy payments. [34616]

Mr. Burt: During the 1994–95 financial year, 864 staff took early retirement or redundancy of which 823 were on voluntary grounds. The total cost of early retirement and redundancies borne on the Department's running costs in 1994–95 was £18.120 million.

Residential Care and Nursing Homes

Sir John Gorst: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security, pursuant to his answer of 4 July, Official Report, column 193, what measures are in place to ensure that care and nursing homes do not increase their fees in excess of increases in the rates of the higher level of income support so that residents of such homes with preserved rights are not forced to use personal savings to meet the difference if fees exceed welfare payments. [34383]

Mr. Roger Evans: Under the old system of income support limits, the level of fees charged in independent residential care and nursing homes are a matter between the proprietors and the residents, or their relatives and the Government have no authority to intervene.

Computer Suppliers

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security if he will list the top 10 suppliers of computer equipment to his Department and its agencies in the last five years, indicating the total value of the contracts received.

Mr. Burt: Information is not available in the format requested.

When buying computer equipment on this scale, in order to obtain the most competitive prices it is the practice to create a framework contract covering the major suppliers—ICL, IBM and SNI—to span a number of years: for example, a large, long-term contract for regular bulk purchases, rather than separate contracts for the large numbers of individual purchases of equipment.

Benefit Payment Card

Mr. Dewar: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security when he expects the first benefit payment cards to be issued; and when all such cards will be issued. [34442]

Mr. Heald: It is envisaged that the first benefit payment cards will be issued in 1996. The full implementation process is expected to take three years from then.

Mr. Dewar: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security if he will make a statement on the benefit payment cards he intends to introduce with particular reference to the information carried on the cards and the methods photographic and electronic of identifying the holder. [34443]

Mr. Heald: The design and the type of security features of the benefit payment card have not been decided. Precise details will depend on the evaluation of the proposals from the potential suppliers of the benefit payment card system, including the acceptability to customers and post office staff.

Mr. Dewar: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security if he will list the firms who have been invited to tender for the introduction and operation of the benefit payment card system. [34445]

Mr. Heald: Five companies, some of which lead consortiums, were invited to submit proposals in response to a statement of service requirements. These are:

Cardlink UK
BT
ICL

The proposals are currently being evaluated with the intention of producing a shortlist of potential prime contractors with whom Post Office Counters Ltd. and this Department will enter into negotiations which we expect to lead to an awarded of contract.

Benefits Agency (Home Visits)

Mr. Dewar: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security how many home visits have been made by Benefits Agency staff in the course of their duties in the latest period for which figures are available; and what were the equivalent figures (a) three, (b) five, (c) 10 and (d) 15 years ago. [34444]

Mr. Roger Evans: I will write to the hon. Member shortly.

Income Distribution

Mr. Bradley: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what is the percentage contribution of social security to the incomes of those in the bottom 10 per cent. through to 50 per cent. of the income distribution, by decile. [33474]

Mr. Andrew Mitchell [Holding answer 10 July 1995]: The information is in the table.

Results for the lowest income deciles exaggerate the proportion of income from social security benefits. This is because the value of benefits received by one member of the household entitled to receive them may be higher than total net household income, after taking into account, for example, business losses by other household members. Such cases are concentrated towards the bottom of income distribution.

Contribution of Social Security benefits to the bottom five deciles of the income distribution.

Decile Group	Social Security benefits as a percentage of total income
Bottom	82
Second	70
Third	50
Fifth	20

Notes:

1. Figures are for the United Kingdom in 1992–93—the two calender years combined.
2. Results for the bottom decile will be dominated by people in the top half of the decile since they will have the higher incomes.

Pension Splitting

Mr. Ingram: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what is his estimate of the cost of splitting pensions on divorce for the year 1997 assuming a long term inflation rate of 5 per cent. [32615]

Mr. Heald [holding answer 4 July 1995]: Further to the reply given by the former Under-Secretary, my hon. Friend the Member for Wanstead and Woodford (Mr. Arbuthnot), the information is not available in the form requested.

Such information as is available is as follows. The Government Actuary has estimated that if pension splitting on divorce was introduced in 1997, the annual cost to unfunded public service schemes in the first full year would be approximately £500 million at 1994 prices. This estimate assumes that pensions will be split in all divorces relating to active public service scheme members, and that 50 per cent. of the accrued cash equivalent transfer valuation of each divorced member is transferred out of the scheme. No allowance is made for offsetting against other assets, and it is assumed that the current divorce rate continues. There would also be additional legal aid costs.

Mr. Ingram: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what assumptions have been used to reach the figure for the cost of splitting pensions on divorce for the year 2037; and what is the figure. [32616]

Mr. Heald [holding answer 4 July 1995]: Further to the reply given by the former Under-Secretary, my hon. Friend the Member for Wanstead and Woodford (Mr. Arbuthnot), splitting pensions on divorce affects the public finances through its effects on tax revenue, the unfunded public service schemes, legal aid and income-related benefit expenditure. In 2037, the main cost arises from lost tax revenue and increased tax relief on pension contributions.

Using data from the survey of personal incomes and the 1991 Government Actuary's Department occupational pension survey, Inland Revenue has estimated that allowing pensions to be split on divorce would lead to a loss of tax revenue of around £200 million per year by 2037 in 1994 prices.

This estimate assumes that pensions will be split in up to three quarters of divorces of first time marriages in which the husband has substantial pension rights and the wife has no non-state pension entitlement, and that the whole of the pension earned up to the date of retirement is split. It is also assumed that two thirds of men who are subject to a pension split on divorce will choose to at least partially rebuild their pension by making additional contributions.

The assumptions used in estimates of the loss of tax revenue in 2037 are not the same as those used in estimates of the costs to unfunded public service schemes arising in 1997. Estimates have necessarily been based on different methods using data from different sources, which has not allowed for the use of consistent assumptions.

FOREIGN AND COMMONWEALTH AFFAIRS

French Nuclear Testing

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs of what Pacific forums the UK Government are a member; and if he will list for each one the position they have taken on French nuclear tests in the Pacific and specify Her Majesty's Government's position on that decision. [34151]

Mr. David Davis: The United Kingdom is a member of the South Pacific commission, which has not taken a position on the resumption of French nuclear testing.

Mr. Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what dependent territories the United Kingdom has in the Pacific; how far these are from Muroroa; what views have been expressed by the Governments on French nuclear testing; and how these views will be transmitted to the French Government. [34154]

Mr. Davis: Pitcairn is the only UK dependent territory in the South Pacific. It is approximately 900 km from Mururoa. The island council has not expressed an opinion on the resumption of French nuclear testing.

Computer Suppliers

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will list the top 10 suppliers of computer equipment to his Department and its agencies in the last five years, indicating the total value of the contracts received. [34553]

Mr. Hanley: To provide the top 10 suppliers of computer equipment to the Foreign and Commonwealth Office and its agencies for the last five years would involve disproportionate cost. Details for each of the last three years, covering both computer hardware, h/w, and software, s/w, are as follows:

Sickness Absence

52. Mr. Ian McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many days were lost in sickness in the last 12 months by employees in his Department (a) in total and (b) as a proportion of the number of days worked; and what was the cost of this absence. [34594]

Mr. Hanley: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office does not at present have a comprehensive computerised system for recording sick leave. The diplomatic wing compiles this information manually and no statistical analysis is available. Work on computerising these records has begun. Once this project has been completed later this year, the Foreign and Commonwealth Office will be able to answer this type of question.

Therefore the information requested by the hon. Member can be provided only at disproportionate cost.

AGRICULTURE, FISHERIES AND FOOD

Genetically Modified Food (Labelling)

Mr. David Marshall: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food if he will make it compulsory to have special labels on genetically modified food products in Britain; and if he will make a statement. [33701]

Mrs. Browning: The draft EC regulation on novel foods and novel food ingredients currently under discussion in Brussels will introduce compulsory labelling to indicate the presence in a food, including genetically modified foods, of ethically sensitive material, material which may have health implications for certain sections of the population and the presence within the food of a genetically modified organism, as defined by directive 90/220/EEC, if it has not been modified solely for agronomic reasons.

Consultants

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food if he will indicate which five consultancy firms have received most contracts from his Department (a) by number of contracts and (b) monetary value in the last five years for which figures are available. [33445]

Mr. Boswell: Centralised records are not kept of the numbers of individual contractors between the Ministry of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food and consultants, and I am unable to give a definitive reply at this time. However, the information is being collated, and I will write to the hon. Member as soon as it is available.

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food if he will estimate the cost of employing consultants in connection with privatisation programmes in which his Department has been engaged since 1980. [33465]

Mr. Boswell: Since 1980 the core Department has spent £159,000 on consultants in connection with privatisation programmes. In addition, studies into the privatisation of the Covent Garden Market authority were undertaken by consultants at a total cost of approximately £41,000.

During the three years since its establishment as a MAFF agency a total of £142,000 has been spent by ADAS on consultancy projects in connection with privatisation.

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food how much his Department and its agencies have spent on computer consultancy in each of the last five years: and what is the expected expenditure over the next five years. [33863]

Mr. Boswell [holding answer 12 July 1995]: Expenditure on computer consultancy over the past five years is:

£ million

Year	Expenditure
1990–91	4.4
1992–93	5.2

The estimated expenditure in 1995–96 is around £6 million. Expenditure in the following four years is expected to be in the range of £3.5 million annually, depending upon the requirements, assessment of priorities and PES settlements.

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food which firms won computer consultancy contracts from his Department and its agencies over the last five years: and what is the number of contracts per firm. [33894]

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food which firms of consultants employed by his Department over the last year have been paid more than £1,000 per day. [33870]

Mr. Boswell [holding answer 12 July 1995]: During the past year, the following consultants have been employed by my Department at an agreed daily rate of £1,000 or more:

Charterhouse Bank

Oxford Communications Group

Price Waterhouse

Mrs. J. Olsen

KPMG Peat Marwick

Ernst and Young

Waste Paper Sludge (Thieveley Pike)

Mr. Pike: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food what representations he has received regarding the problems caused by the spreading of waste paper sludge at Thieveley Pike, Cliviger, Burnley. [33614]

Mr. Boswell: We have received two letters on this subject and will reply to those parts of the letters which relate to MAFF's interests as soon as we have investigated the matters raised.

Unfair Dismissal

Mr. Ian McCartney: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food how many unfair dismissal cases were brought against his Department during the last 12 months; how many were successful; and what were the total costs including legal fees and compensation. [34584]

Mr. Boswell: Four applications to an industrial tribunal on the grounds of unfair dismissal have been brought against this Department within the last 12 months. Two are pending. Two were withdrawn by the applicants, one of which was on terms providing £1,000 compensation as part of an agreed settlement. No external legal fees have been paid.

Deputy Prime Minister

Mr. Winnick: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food what will be the involvement of the Deputy Prime Minister in the work of his Department. [34036]

Mr. Douglas Hogg [holding answer 13 July 1995]: I refer the hon. Member to the reply given to the hon. Member for Pembroke (Mr. Ainger) by my right hon. Friend the Prime Minister on 11 July 1995, Official Report, columns 496–97.

Allowances

Mrs. Anne Campbell: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food if he will detail the amount of travel claims at constant prices in his Department in (a) 1993–94 and (b) 1994–95 broken down by (i) public transport, (ii) car mileage allowance and (iii) bicycle allowances. [32214]

Mr. Jack: The amount spent by the Department during each of the last two years on public transport and car mileage allowance, at prices and rates current in the relevant year, is as follows:

(i) Public transport	2,285,933	2,148,659
(ii) Car mileage allowance	3,770,826	3,714,600

Expenditure on bicycle allowance is not recorded separately but is contained in the public transport figures, which also include some other associated travel costs.

The figures for 1993–94 include the Pesticides Safety and Veterinary Medicines Directorates.

Responsibility for such matters within ADAS, the Central Science Laboratory, the Central Veterinary Laboratory and the Pesticides Safety and the Veterinary Medicines Directorates has been delegated to the agency chief executives and I have asked them to reply to you direct.

Letter from Professor P. I. Stanley to Mrs. Anne Campbell, dated 14 July 1995:

The amount of travel claims at constant prices in 1993/94 and 1994/95

The Central Science Laboratory (CSL) was launched as an executive agency of the Ministry of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food (MAFF) on 1 April 1992 and following the merger with 2 further laboratories was relaunched on 1 April 1994. Expenditure on travel claims are as follows:

Public Transport	99,051.96	203,385.79
Car Mileage Allowance	66,749.71	177,904.37
Bicycle Allowance	Nil	Nil

Letter from T. W. A. Little to Mrs Anne Campbell, dated 14 July 1995:

The Minister has asked me to reply to your question concerning the amount of travel claims at the Central Veterinary Laboratory.

We do not distinguish between bicycle and car mileage and neither do we analyses overseas travel by mode of transport. Against this background the expenditure based on constant 1993/94 prices was as follows:

Public transport (UK)	34,482	[1]33,673
Mileage (UK)	17,839	[1]15,176

[1] 2.75 per cent. deflator used on 1994–1995 costs.

Letter from G. K. Bruce to Mrs. Anne Campbell, dated 14 July 1995:

The Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food has asked me to reply, in respect of the Pesticides Safety Directorate (PSD), to your Question about travel claims.

The amounts of travel claims at actual prices in 1993/94 and 1994/95 were as follows:

Public transport (UK and foreign travel)	77,909	81,921
Car mileage allowance	9,039	12,923

Please note that the figures for 1993/94 are also included in the reply from the Minister. They are given here to enable a comparison to be made between the two years.

Letter from Dr. J. M. Rutter to Mrs. Anne Campbell MP, dated 3 July 1995:

PQ1 28 JUNE 1995

The Minister of State has asked me to reply to your question about travel costs incurred by the Veterinary Medicines Directorate, as this is an operational matter for which I am responsible.

The information you requested (at 1994–95 prices) is as follows:

	1993–94 £	1994–95 £
Public transport	12,456	14,434
Car mileage allowance	6,842	9,831
Bicycle allowance	Nil	Nil

Letter from Dr. J. M. Walsh to Mrs. Anne Campbell, dated 14 July 1995:

Recently you tabled a question in the House of Commons (PQ Number 1584) asking the Minister of Agriculture for details of travel claims at constant prices in his Department in (a) 1993/94 and (b) 1994/95, broken down by 1) public transport, 2) car mileage allowance and 3) bicycle allowance.

I understand that he will be writing to you with details of the core part of the Ministry, but has asked the Chief Executive's to reply on behalf of their agencies. ADAS was formed as an Executive Agency of MAFF and the Welsh Office in April 1992.

The details requested in constant 1994/95 prices are as follows:

	1993–94 £	1994–95 £
Car Mileage Allowances	3,626,346	3,458,338
Public Transport Claims	217,818	213,292

Tobacco (Intervention Stock)

Mr. Byers: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food what is the current tonnage and value of tobacco held in intervention by the European Commission. [34640]

Mr. Baldry: From the 1993 harvest, the facility to take tobacco into intervention was removed and it can be re-introduced only in exceptional circumstances. Details of the remaining volume of intervention stocks for tobacco for harvests prior to 1993, updated on a monthly basis, are available in the Library of the House. There is no information readily available on the value of those stocks, although the value of the different consignments at the time of being taken into intervention, was taken into account in reimbursing member states for storage costs and stock depreciation.

LORD CHANCELLOR'S DEPARTMENT

Crown Court Trials (Waiting Times)

Mr. Byers: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department if he will provide a breakdown by Crown court circuit of the average length of time between an accused person being remanded in custody for trial at Crown court and the date on which the trial starts. [34826]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The question concerns a specific operational matter on which the chief executive of the Court Service is best placed to provide an answer and I have accordingly asked the chief executive to reply direct.

Letter from Michael Huebner to Mr. Stephen Byers, dated 17 July 1995:

WAITING TIME FOR CROWN COURT TRIALS

The Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department, has asked me to reply to the above Question about the average length of time between an accused person being remanded in custody for trial and the date on which the trial starts in the Crown Court.

I am able to provide you with the following information for each Circuit and overall for England and Wales. These figures cover the 12 month period up to 31 March 1995:

Midland and Oxford Circuit: 12.3 weeks

North Eastern Circuit: 15.9 weeks

Northern Circuit: 14.5 weeks

Southern Eastern Circuit (London): 13.2 weeks

Southern Eastern Circuit (Provinces) 14.2 weeks

Wales and Chester Circuit: 8.8 weeks

Western Circuit: 12.2 weeks

England and Wales: 13.5 weeks

Interdepartmental Working Group on Marriage

Mr. Brandreth: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department if he will give details of the terms of reference and membership of the interdepartmental working group on marriage, which the Government announced in their White Paper "Looking to the Future: Mediation and the Ground for Divorce". [35707]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The terms of reference for the interdepartmental working group on marriage, which is to be chaired by the Lord Chancellor's Department, are as follows.

The interdepartmental working party on marriage will seek to identify:

the needs of couples in relation to preparing for marriage and for guidance and support during marriage;

the range of services currently available in this area, the extent to which their existence is known and how this knowledge might be increased; and how existing resources might best be used to meet the needs of couples who are considering marriage or whose marriage is in difficulty.

The following Departments will be represented on the group: the Lord Chancellor's Department, the Home Office, the Department of the Environment, the Department of Social Security, the Northern Ireland Office, the Department of Education and Employment, the Department of Health and the Welsh Office.

Consultants

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department how many contracts his Department has had with consultants; and what has been the total cost in each of the last five years. [33562]

Mr. John M. Taylor: Information has not been held centrally for the full period in question, and information prior to 1992–93 could be provided only at disproportionate cost. On the best information currently available details of external consultancy contracts for the years from 1992–93 are as follows:

Year	Number of contracts	Value £000's
1992–93	74	3,455
1994–95	84	1,640

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department if he will estimate the cost of employing consultants in connection with privatisation programmes in which his Department has been engaged since 1980. [33464]

Mr. Taylor: No Department for which the Lord Chancellor is responsible has incurred any consultancy costs in connection with privatisation programmes since 1980.

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department if he will indicate which five consultancy firms have received most contracts from his Department (a) by number of contracts and (b) monetary value in the last five years for which figures are available. [33444]

Mr. Taylor: This information has not been held centrally, and figures for the years before 1992–93 could be provided only at disproportionate cost. On the best information currently available, the five consultancy firms which have won the most contracts for the years from 1992–93 are:

Consultants	Number of contracts	Value £000s
1. Myriad Computer Services	9	190
2. Peat Marwick	7	246
3. TBV Consultants	7	122
4. Price Waterhouse	6	353
5. WS Atkins	5	164

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department how many contracts and for what total sum were let out by his Department and agencies for which it is responsible to (a) Coopers and Lybrand and its subsidiaries, (b) Peat Marwick and its subsidiaries, (c) Ernst and Young and its subsidiaries, (d) Arthur Andersen and its subsidiaries, (e) Price Waterhouse and its subsidiaries, (f) Grant Thornton and its subsidiaries, (g) Stoy Hayward and its subsidiaries, (h) Robson Rhodes and its subsidiaries, (i) Pannell Kerr Foster and its subsidiaries for privatisation, market testing, management advice, accounting, audit, consultancy and other services in 1993–94 and 1994–95. [33912]

Mr. Taylor: This information has not been held centrally. On the best information currently available, the details for the Lord Chancellor's Department are as follows:

Consultants	Number of contracts	Amount £000's
Coopers and Lybrand	2	79
Peat Marwick	7	246

The Lord Chancellor is now responsible for four agencies: the Court Service, Her Majesty's Land Registry, the Public Record Office and the Public Trust Office. Information relating to the Court Service is included in the figures above, as it became an agency only after the period in question; and information relating to the Public Trust Office is included up to the time it acquired agency status in July 1994. In respect of the Land Registry, the Public Record Office, and the Public Trust Office from July 1994, the question concerns operational matters on which the chief executives are best placed to provide answers. I have accordingly asked them to reply direct.

Letter from David Thomas to Mr. Austin Mitchell dated 17 July 1995:

CONSULTANCY COMPANIES

In the absence of the Chief Executive, who is on leave, I have been asked by the Lord Chancellor's Parliamentary Secretary to reply to your question on contracts let to specified companies for privatisation, market testing, management advice, accounting, audit, consultancy and other services in 1993–94 and 1994–95.

The following contracts were let:

Letter from Stella Hutcheson to Mr. Austin Mitchell, dated 10 July 1995:

The Parliamentary Secretary of the Lord Chancellor's Department has asked me to reply to you as part of the Lord Chancellor's Department's response to your Parliamentary Question, listed on 7 July 1995, regarding the cost of contracts awarded to various firms and their subsidiaries in 1993–94 and 1994–95.

In 1994–95 Price Waterhouse were awarded a contract to provide management advice at a cost of £65,742.55.

Letter from John Manthorpe to Mr. Austin Mitchell, dated 17 July 1995:

CONTRACTS FOR PRIVATISATION, MARKET TESTING, MANAGEMENT ADVICE, ACCOUNTING, AUDIT CONSULTANCY AND OTHER SERVICES 1993/94 AND 1994/95.

I have been asked by the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department to reply to your recent question about the number and total sum of contracts let out to a list of 9 consultancy companies in the years 1993/94 and 1994/95.

One contract was let to Coopers Lybrand, in 1993/94, for a sum of £12,601.87.

I do hope that this answers the points raised with the Parliamentary Secretary, but please contact me if I can be of any further assistance.

Staff (Shareholdings)

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department how many staff in his Department or its agencies have (a) declared any company shareholdings they hold or (b) been advised to dispose of shareholdings in the last five years, indicating the companies concerned. [33412]

Mr. John M. Taylor: For the Department and agencies for which the Lord Chancellor is responsible, staff declaring any company shareholdings would have been dealt with in accordance with the established guidance. Records of the number of cases are not held centrally. Neither the Department nor its agencies have any staff who have declared any company shareholdings, or staff who have been advised to dispose of shareholdings, during the last five years.

Crown Court Trials (Delays)

Mr. Thurnham: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department what steps can be taken against lawyers who cause delays in Crown court proceedings by failing to provide timely and accurate information. [33842]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The question concerns a specific operational matter on which the chief executive of the Court Service is best placed to provide an answer and I have accordingly asked the chief executive to reply direct.

Letter from Michael Huebner to Mr. Peter Thurnham, dated 17 July 1995:

CROWN COURTS TRIALS

The Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department, has asked me to reply to the above Question about the steps being taken to reduce the time taken to bring cases to trial in the Crown Courts.

Unfortunately, there will always be an element of delay in any court proceedings. For example, when fixing a date for trial account often needs to be taken of the availability of witnesses to attend court. However, the Court Service carefully monitors the speed with which cases move through the system and takes active measures to reduce avoidable delays.

We have recently introduced a system of early plea and directions hearings in the Crown Courts. This scheme which is being phased into all Crown Courts this year will identify, at an early stage, cases in which defendants intend to plead guilty, and where a plea of not guilty is entered, will enable the judge to give directions about the preparations for trial. The Criminal Justice and Public Order Act 1994 introduced sentence discounts for defendants who enter early guilty pleas, which will reinforce the beneficial effects of the early plea and directions system.

In addition to these measures we have progressively increased the number of sitting days in the Crown Court since the beginning of 1995. Over the same period there has also been a reduction in the number of outstanding cases by 13%.

We are also introducing new systems to collect detailed information on the causes of delay and will be considering, in conjunction with the judiciary and the Crown Prosecution Service, what more can be done to reduce them.

Finally, I am pleased to report that twenty-nine new crown court rooms are due to open by the end of 1996.

Mr. Thurnham: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department what steps can be taken against lawyers who cause delays in Crown court proceedings by failing to provide timely and accurate information. [33842]

Mr. Taylor: Judges have powers to make wasted costs orders against lawyers. They may also make observations for the attention of the paying authority regarding the work for which the lawyer is due to be paid fees from legal aid.

Muslim Marriages

Mr. Cohen: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department if he will ask the Law Commission to examine the law relating to the solemnisation of Muslim marriages, with particular reference to the need for solemnisation in a mosque to be followed by a registry office ceremony. [34324]

Mr. Nicholas Baker: I have been asked to reply.

We see no need to invite the Law Commission to undertake such an examination. A marriage in a mosque does not by law have to be followed by a register office ceremony. The law already provides for the solemnisation of a marriage in any building registered for the purpose under section 41 of the Marriage Act 1949, and there are over 100 mosques in England and Wales registered for marriages. The trustees or governing body of a building registered for marriages may also appoint, and certify to the Registrar General, an authorised person to register marriages at the building, so that a marriage registrar need not attend at the ceremony. The 1949 Act requires the use of words of declaration and contract, prescribed in the Act, by the parties to a civil marriage and in marriage in all faiths and religions—except, for ecclesiological or historical reasons, in the Anglican, Jewish and Quaker marriage rites.

FOREIGN AND COMMONWEALTH AFFAIRS

British Citizens (Repatriation from Australia)

Sir Peter Lloyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many British citizens have been repatriated at United Kingdom public expense from Australia in 1995. [34299]

Mr. Hanley: None.

Mr. Viktor Kubeykin

Mr. Madden: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what representations were made by The Sunday Times to Ministers or officials about issuing a visa to Mr. Viktor Kubeykin, a retired KGB officer, to visit the United Kingdom; and if he will make a statement. [34546]

Mr. Hanley: I have asked the migration and visa correspondence unit to obtain the information requested and to let the hon. Member have a substantive reply as soon as possible.

Indonesia

Mrs. Clwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what representations he intends to make the Government of Indonesia about the rejection of the plea for presidential clemency of Sergeant-Major Bungkus who is expected to be executed; and if he will raise the issue of the treatment of Sergeant-Major Bungkus at the forthcoming consultative group for Indonesia meeting. [34712]

Mr. Hanley: We have received reports about the rejection of Mr. Bungkus's plea for clemency. Our embassy in Jakarta is seeking clarification from the Indonesian Government.

Singapore

Mr. MacShane: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assessment his Department has made in the last three years of the level of judicial independence in Singapore. [34417]

Mr. Hanley: None. The independence of the Singapore judiciary is a matter for the Singapore Government.

Africa (Peacekeeping)

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will publish the joint British-Nigerian proposals to the United Nations on peacekeeping in Africa. [34361]

Sir Nicholas Bonsor: A copy of the Anglo-Nigerian paper on African peacekeeping has been placed in the Library of the House.

Small Businesses

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will make a statement on the results of (a) his policies and (b) his Department in helping small businesses over the last 12 months as against the previous 12 months; and if he will publish the performance indicators by which his Department monitors those achievements and the statistical results of such monitoring. [34702]

Mr. Hanley: Diplomatic staff produced over 6,000 service reports for British firms in the year ended 31 March 1995. Chargeable services, targeted specifically at small to medium-sized companies, are subject to an independent survey of customer satisfaction. The most recent published information about the Department's commercial work abroad is contained in the Foreign and Commonwealth departmental report—available in the House Library, Cm 2802. This includes details of satisfaction rates.

Visas (Moscow)

Mr. Madden: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will investigate the circumstances in which Mr. Patrick Roche and Mr. Barnie Penrose obtained visas for people in Moscow; what types of visas were obtained and for whom; which post issued them; and to what extent Ministers or the permanent secretary were involved. [34545]

Mr. Hanley: Our embassy in Moscow is now aware of any visa applications which have been sponsored by either Mr. Roche or Mr. Penrose.

Bosnia

Mr. John Townend: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what is the total gross cost and net cost of the Bosnian operation both in respect of aid and military cost to 31 March. [34492]

Sir Nicholas Bonsor: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given by the Minister of State, to the hon. Member for Mid-Kent (Mr. Rowe) on 5 July, Official Report, columns 262–63.

Diplomats (Parking Fines)

Mr. Byers: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will publish figures recording the number of unpaid parking fines incurred by diplomatic missions in London during 1994. [34431]

Sir Nicholas Bonsor: I refer the hon. Gentleman to the answer given by my right hon. Friend the Minister of State on 2 May, Official Report, column 149.

Lockerbie

Mr. Dalyell: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will place in the Library the statements issued by the British high commission in Australia about the film "The Maltese Double Cross". [34775]

Sir Nicholas Bonsor: A copy has been placed in the Library.

Iraq

Mrs. Clwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs (1) what information the United Nations special commission on Iraq has provided to Her Majesty's Government about equipment sent from the United Kingdom to Iraq which could be used for the manufacture of chemical warfare agents; [35144]

(2) when the list of suppliers of equipment and chemicals exported to Iraq which were used in her chemical warfare programme will be made public (a) by UNSCOM or (b) by Her Majesty's Government; [35142]

(3) when the information UNSCOM has collected about chemical warfare production in Iraq will be published in full; [35141]

(4) what information Her Majesty's Government has received from UNSCOM about chemical exports to Iraq from the United Kingdom and other countries. [35143]

Mr. David Davis: UNSCOM inspectors have investigated a wide range of sites in Iraq at which British equipment and products have been found. UNSCOM policy is to give the names of supplier companies in confidence to the member states in which the companies are located. UNSCOM does not make this information public. Nor is it our practice to publish the names of such companies. However, any evidence of wrongdoing is investigated and, if appropriate, will be a matter for the courts.

UNSCOM regularly publishes reports on its work, the latest of which—S/1995/284 and S/1995/494—have been placed in the Library of the House.

Mr. Wallace: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what information he has about the progress made by the international commission of inquiry into the deaths at the Kibeho camp in Rwanda; and if he will make a statement. [34666]

Mr. Hanley: The report of the independent international commission of inquiry into the deaths at Kibeho was published on 18 May. Copies have been placed in the Libraries in the House. We have welcomed the inquiry and called on all concerned to implement its recommendations fully.

ENVIRONMENT

Local Government Finance

Mr. Raynsford: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment if he will list by region the total amount of (a) useable and (b) set-aside capital receipts held by each local authority in England at 31 March. [33473]

Sir Paul Beresford [pursuant to his reply, 12 July 1995, c. 578]: Four local authorities in the south-east were omitted from the list provided. I am therefore placing a revised list of local authorities in the Library to the House.

This also affects the totals for the south-east region which should have read "Usable Receipts £1,206 million and PCL set aside £2,912 million."

Mr. Byers: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment if he will list the level of capital receipts held by each local authority for the latest year available and the total for each region and nationally. [34645]

Sir Paul Beresford: A list by region of the amounts of accumulated usable capital receipts and the amounts set aside as provision for credit liabilities for each English local authority at 31 March 1994 has been placed in the Library of the House.

The regional totals for these amounts are:

Amounts held as at 31 March 1994 (£ million)

Region	Usable receipts	PLC set aside
South East	1,206	2,912
South West	162	629
East Anglia	93	323
West Midlands	117	437
East Midlands	123	508
North West	142	489
Yorkshire and Humberside	79	460
Northern	65	225
Miscellaneous authorities (all regions)	74	58
Total	2,061	6,041

The provision for credit liabilities includes amounts set aside from both capital receipts and revenue. Separate figures are not available.

Consultants

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment if he will estimate the cost of employing consultants in connection with privatisation programmes in which his Department has been engaged since 1980. [33458]

Sir Paul Beresford: The information requested is not held centrally by my Department and is obtainable only at disproportionate cost.

Carbon Emissions

Mr. Matthew Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what assessment he has made of the performance of the Energy Saving Trust in meeting the reductions in emissions set out in the United Kingdom climate change strategy. [33998]

Mr. Robert B. Jones: The Government are confident of meeting their commitments under the climate change convention. The trust estimates that the programme of activities already established and financed will save at least 0.3 million tonnes of carbon in 2000. Further schemes will make additional contributions, but they are not yet established.

Construction Industry Board

Mr. Ian McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what is the membership of the Construction Industry Board; on what criteria members were appointed; and what is their salary. [34063]

Mr. Clappison: The board's membership is provided by the Construction Industry Council, the Construction Industry Employers Council, the Constructors Liaison Group, and the Government, each of whom may appoint four members; and the Construction Clients Forum which is entitled to appoint six members. The Secretary of State for the Environment is president of the board and Sir Michael Latham is chairman.

Appointment of members is at the discretion of the nominating organisations, but they are expected to be senior representatives of their organisations.

The Confederation of British Industry is a representative body and members are not paid salaries.

Algae Blooms

Mr. Matthew Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment how many rivers, canals and lakes have been deemed a safety hazard to public health as a result of algae blooms in each of the last five years. [34627]

Mr. Clappison: This information is not held centrally.

Departmental Redundancies

Mr. Ian McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment how many redundancies occurred in his Department over the last 12 months; how many were voluntary; and what was the total sum spent on redundancy payments. [34592]

Sir Paul Beresford [holding answer 14 July 1995]: In the last 12 months, there were no redundancies in the core of my Department, nor in the Health and Safety Executive. In the Property Services Agency, there were 895 redundancies, of which 466 were voluntary. The total sum spent on these redundancies was £38,697,000.

Town Centre Managers

Mr. Alfred Morris: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment if he will make a statement on the support he intends to give to town centre managers. [33370]

Mr. Robert B. Jones: Town centre management is a local activity, best carried out by local partnerships. I have, however, strongly supported town centre improvement and management through planning policy guidance note 6; through a good practice guide—"Vital and Viable Town Centres: Meeting the Challenge"; and through help for the Association of Town Centre Management in a number of its projects.

Department of Employment Staff

Ms Harman: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment how many staff employed in the former Department of Employment as a result of that Department's abolition (a) will be made redundant (b) will take early retirement (c) will be employed on a temporary contract instead of a permanent contract and

(d) will be employed on a part-time basis instead of a full-time basis; and if he will make a statement. [34658]

Sir Paul Beresford: The Health and Safety Executive and the health and safety policy and liaison section of the Employment Department transferred to the Department of the Environment on 5 July 1995.

This has not had any impact on the number of employees employed or their conditions of service.

Defective Housing

Mr. Byers: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment if he will classify the privately owned Calder Homes houses at Angus close, Killingworth, North Tyneside as properties which are defective under section 528(1) in part XVI of the Housing Act 1985. [34807]

Mr. Clappison: My Department has no evidence that this would be justified.

Ozone

Ms Ruddock: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what advice he has received from the Norwegian Meteorological Office as to the estimate produced by the photochemical model for Europe with regard to the likely effects upon levels of ozone in the United Kingdom and the United Kingdom policy for reducing oxides of nitrogen. [35086]

Mr. Clappison: As part of the European Monitoring and Evaluation Programme's work programme within the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe's Convention on Transboundary Air Pollution—UNECE-LRTAP—a photochemical model has been developed and is used as an aid policy dvelopment. Preliminary results show that ozone in the UK is indeed a transboundary problem and that the UK receives significant amounts of ozone from other European countries. As the UK reduces emissions of nitrogen oxides, levels of ozone may rise and then decline as further reductions in nitrogen oxide emissions are made. Because of the complesities associated with the formation of ground level ozone in Europe, the EMEP results will be developed and considered more fully within the UNECE with the aim of developing a European-wide strategy for ozone reduction.

Local Government Commission

Mr. Byers: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what were the costs of running the Local Government Commission; what was the amount spent each year by the commission on research and consultancy; and if he will list the areas covered and the companies engaged for each year since 1990. [35095]

Sir Paul Beresford: The Local Government Commission was established on 1 July 1992. Its expenditure to date is as follows:

£ million

Year	Total expenditure	Expenditure on research and consultancy
1992–93	2.056	0.532
1994–95	7.817	1.004

The present budget for 1995–96 is £2,508 million; budget allocations, including those of consultancies are still being considered. The commission has engaged MORI, Ernst and Young, NOP Research Group Ltd., the Audit Commission, Succession Planning Associates, the London Research Centre and, for the current year only, Coopers and Lybrand on consultancies covering opinion research, staffing issues and financial appraisal together with other related matters.

TRANSPORT

Derailments

Ms Glenda Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will list the number of derailments involving (a) passenger trains and (b) freight trains occurring in each year since 1990 to date. [34901]

Mr. Watts: The Health and Safety Executive's railway inspectorate maintains records of accidents and incidents, details of which are contained in the annual report on railway safety. Copies are placed in the House of Commons Library.

The table shows the number of derailments for passenger and freight trains.

Figures for 1994–95 are expected to be published this December.

Derailments 1990 to 1993–94

	1990	1991	1991–92	1992–93	1993–94	Total
Passenger trains	26	3	23	30	29	111
Freight trains	157	43	121	175	84	580
Total	183	46	144	205	113	691

The figures for 1991 cover the period 1 January 1991 to 31 March 1991 only.

Rail Privatisation

Ms Glenda Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will list the nationality of those foreign companies, organisations or individuals which have completed pre-qualification for tendering for a private rail franchise. [34910]

Mr. Watts: No.

Transport Policy (Safety)

Ms Glenda Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what plans he has to include transport safety in the list of main questions in his consultation document "Transport: The Way Ahead"; and what factors underlay its initial exclusion. [34895]

Sir George Young: The broad theme of "Transport: The Way Ahead" is the balance in transport policy between promotion of economic growth, protection of the environment and support for personal choice. Transport safety can affect this balance: some of the issues are touched upon in the paper—see paragraphs 1.25, 2.25, 5.22 and 5.33.

I would welcome any contributions which explored these issues further.

Road Congestion (Greater London)

Ms Glenda Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what is his Department's estimate of the annual cost to business of road congestion within Greater London. [34898]

Mr. Norris: No single figure can be quoted because there is no generally accepted norm against which any measure of congestion can be compared.

Parliamentary Questions

Ms Glenda Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many parliamentary questions his Department has refused to answer for reasons of commercial confidentiality in each year since 1990 to date. [34902]

Mr. Norris: This is a matter of public record.

Cyclists (Accidents)

Ms Glenda Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will list the number of road traffic accidents involving cyclists indicating the number of fatalities, and the number of serious injuries in (a) Greater London and (b) the United Kingdom for each year since 1990 to date. [34906]

Mr. Norris: The information available is shown in the following table.

Accidents involving pedal cyclists: Greater London 1990–94

Accidents

Severity	1990	1991	1992	1993	1994

Schoolchildren (Defective Transport)

Mr. Malcolm Bruce: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will list by region the number of public service vehicles and minibuses carrying schoolchildren which have been found to be defective after random inspection in the last two years for which figures are available. [34795]

Mr. Norris: This data could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Redundancies

Mr. Ian McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many redundancies occurred in his Department over the last 12 months; how many were voluntary; and what was the total sum spent on redundancy payments. [34622]

Mr. Norris [holding answer 14 July 1995]: During the period 1 April 1994 to 31 March 1995, there were 467 redundancies in the Department of Transport, all of which were voluntary. The early departure costs met by the Department amounted to £4,806,427.

Computer Equipment Supplies

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will list the top 10 suppliers of computer equipment to his Department and its agencies in the last five years, indicating the total value of the contracts received. [34563]

Mr. Norris [holding answer 14 July 1995]: The top 10 suppliers of computer systems and equipment—hardware, pre-installed software and network products—in the financial years 1993–94 and 1994–95 obtained for the Department and its agencies were as follows:

Value of orders placed 1993–94

Company	£000
1. Dell	1,845
2. ICL	1,000
3. Talkdata	300
4. P and P	125

5. A K Marketing	99
6. Equanet	93
7. Phoenix	63
8. EDS	46
9. Rapid Recall	45
10. Advantage	43

Figures for earlier years, and further desegregation of types of computer spend, can be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Red Route Roads

Ms Glenda Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will provide figures on the number of road traffic accidents occurring on roads classified as red routes and the number of accidents that occurred on the same routes prior to their achieving red route status. [34900]

Mr. Norris: The traffic director for London will be monitoring the performance of the red route network, including road safety, as the measures are introduced progressively over the next few years. He will be publishing summary extracts from the data in his annual reports as it becomes available.

Departmental Staff

Mr. Ian McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many days were lost in sickness in the last 12 months by employees in his Department (a) in total and (b) as a proportion of the number of days worked; and what was the cost of this absence. [34621]

Mr. Norris [holding answer 14 July 1995]: Provisional data on the number of days lost in 1994 as a result of sickness is set out in the table. Information about the cost of the absences could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

	Days lost	Percentage of working days
Central Transport Group, Transport Road Research, Laboratory, Highways Agency, Marine Safety Agency, Coastguard Agency.	45,7723.07

Vehicle Certification Agency	363	2.12
Vehicle Inspectorate	12,123	3.64

White Hart Roundabout, Northolt

Mr. Harry Greenway: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport, pursuant to his answer of 12 July, Official Report, column 574, what is the completion dates for the phased traffic lights at the White Hart roundabout, Northolt, at the time when money was made available to the London borough of Ealing for their construction; and if he will make a statement. [34850]

Mr. Norris: Funding for this scheme was through the local transport capital settlement for minor works. Such funding does not identify particular schemes, and leaves it to the local authority to determine its work programmes and priorities.

Small Businesses

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will make a statement on the results of (a) his policies and (b) his Department in helping small businesses over the last 12 months as against the previous 12 months; and if he will publish the performance indictors by which his Department monitors those achievements and the statistical results of such monitoring. [34692]

Mr. Watts: The Government recognise the crucial role played by small firms in the UK economy. The Government continue to help smaller companies by keeping inflation and interest rates low and by reducing legislative and administrative and taxation burdens. They also provide direct assistance where appropriate.

The second competitiveness White Paper announced in May 1995 outlines a programme of measures to assist the growth and competitiveness of the small firms sector.

The Department's aim of a more efficient, safe and environmentally friendly transport system, using the market to offer the widest possible choice of transport users, will assist businesses of all sizes.

My Department is, like others, systematically reviewing the regulations for which it is responsible to ensure that the unnecessary or over-burdensome regulation is cut back. When considering new regulations, we take particular account of the burden and cost those regulations impose on small business. We have recently completed a consultation on proposals to relax the regulation of signing for tourist destinations.

Belgrave Road, London SW1

Mr. MacShane: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will remove Belgrave road, London, SW1 from the priority—red—route network. [34415]

Mr. Norris: No. I would contemplate this only if strategic traffic in the area could be accommodated satisfactorily by improvements to Vauxhall Bridge road. I understand that the City of Westminster has decided not to proceed with the proposal to widen Vauxhall Bridge road.

Mr. MacShane: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what assessment he has made of changes to the levels of air pollution caused by heavy lorry and other traffic on Belgrave road, London SW1 if Belgrave road is designated as a red route. [34414]

Mr. Norris: This is a matter for the traffic director, who is under a statutory duty to monitor the effect of the operation of red route measures. He is modelling emissions across the whole network based on traffic data to be collated before and after the implementation of measures.

Mr. MacShane: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what assessment he has made of the impact on listed buildings in proximity to Belgrave road, London SW1, by the designation of Belgrave road as a red route. [34416]

Mr. Norris: None. There is no reason to believe that the red route initiative will have any impact on listed buildings.

Midland Main Line Service

Mrs. Helen Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what assessment he has made of the percentage change in passenger services represented by the minimum requirements for the future franchised-out midland main line service. [34521]

Mr. Watts: The introduction of a passenger service requirement will not, in itself, represent any change to the level of services actually operated. Following franchising, I expect services on the midland main line to continue to improve in accordance with passenger demand. This assessment was supported by Midland main line's management team in its statement of 16 May.

Mrs. Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what research he has undertaken into the environmental impact of potential reduction in the midland main line passenger service. [34520]

Mr. Watts: None. No service reductions are planned.

Catalytic Converters

Mr. Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what percentage of (a) total motor vehicles and (b) petrol-driven vehicles in the United Kingdom are fitted with catalytic converters. [34343]

Mr. Norris: At the end of June 1995, there were 4.85 million petrol-engined passenger cars equipped with three-way catalytic converters. This was equivalent to 21.85 per cent. of the total passenger car fleet which numbered 22.2 million at the end of 1994. A limited number of petrol-engined vans are also now equipped with three-way catalytic converters.

Mr. Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what is the earliest date that he expects all petrol-driven vehicles in the United Kingdom to be fitted with catalytic converters; and what plans he has to introduce further regulatory changes. [34344]

Mr. Norris: All new petrol-engined passenger cars since 1993 and all new petrol-engined light vans since October 1994 have had to be fitted with three-way catalytic converters. The penetration of such vehicles into the parc as a whole depends on the rate of replacement, which cannot be predicted with certainty. It is nevertheless expected that the great majority of petrol-engined vehicles on the road will be equipped with catalysts by the early years of the next century.

Subject to statutory consultation and parliamentary approval, tighter controls on emissions from all vehicles in-service are to be introduced on 25 September 1995 to be followed, from 1 January 1996, by a further tightening for cars with advanced emissions control systems, such as three-way catalytic converters. Stricter emissions limits for new passenger cars will be introduced on 1 January 1997 and EC discussions on even stricter limits for the year 2000 have already begun.

Bicycle Lanes, Rotherham

Mr. MacShane: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what steps he is taking to increase the provision of bicycle lanes in Rotherham. [34405]

Mr. Norris: The extent to which additional provision needs to be made for cycling on the highway, including the number of cycle lanes, is a matter for individual local highway authorities to determine. We are encouraging all authorities to improve conditions for cycling, and we offer them a wide range of advice and guidance.

Channel Tunnel Rail Link

Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what factors led him to advise bidders for the CTRL in the competition overview document that the required alternative bids which include a station at Stratford should assume that authorisation for the station is obtained by him and not as a result of procedures under the Transport and Works Act 1992. [34276]

Mr. Watts: The aim in the competition overview document was to obtain from each tenderer a range of required alternative bids involving a Stratford station. In order to simplify comparison with the reference bid, which was not to include a Stratford station, tenderers were asked to assume, among several other things, that it was for the holder of the competition, the Secretary of State, and not for them, to see that authorisation for a station was forthcoming. No guidance was given on the method of authorisation. In fact, decisions about whether there should be a station at Stratford, and, in that event, how it should be authorised, remain to be taken.

Mr. Prentice: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what factors led to the choice of 2030 as the date up to which the Government would not provide any subsidy or financial assistance to any further new railway for international passenger services between London and the channel tunnel as set out in the draft development agreement for bidders for the CTRL. [34274]

Mr. Watts: In formulating this provision in the draft development agreement, we aimed to provide comfort for the private sector promoter for the likely period during which he would be repaying primary financing and refinancing.

London Underground (Crime)

Mr. Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will call for a report from the managing director of London Underground about changes in the level of crime on the London Underground in the last year and its relationship to reductions in staffing at stations and on trains; what new measures are going to be taken to reduce crime; and if he will make a statement. [34307]

Mr. Norris: I have no plans to ask for such a report. The security of passengers and staff is a top priority for London Underground Ltd. and I am satisfied that LUL takes full account of any potential impacts on passenger security when making decisions on staffing levels. The small increase in overall underground crime last year was largely due to an increase in pickpocketing offences; the incidence of violent crime fell. I understand that London Underground and the British Transport police have several initiatives planned for this year with the aim of reducing further crime on the underground.

Ministerial Visits

Ms Glenda Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will list the number of official ministerial visits undertaken by (a) London underground, (b) car, (c) rail and (d) air over the last 12 months, indicating the number of miles travelled and the total cost to his Department. [34897]

Sir George Young: Records are not kept of the modes of transport used on each official visit nor of the miles covered. Ministers may use a variety of modes when making an official visit or conducting ministerial business; travel by rail is generally preferred for official visits out of London. The cost of official ministerial visits undertaken by air and rail from 20 July 1994 to date was £80,897. In the same period, the cost of the Government car service for all ministerial business was £226,442 Separate records are not kept of costs of travel on London underground.

Buses, London

Ms Glenda Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will provide figures on bus usage within Greater London for each year since 1990 to date. [34914]

Mr. Norris: The available data is provided in the table.

Millions

Year	Passenger journeys
1990–91	1,178
1991–92	1,149
1992–93	1,129
1993–94	1,117

Data for 1994–95 will be available in October.

Rail Privatisation (Legal Advice)

Ms Glenda Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what is the current cost to his Department per day of legal advice relating to rail privatisation. [34899]

Mr. Watts: The average cost of legal advice is approximately £23,000 per working day, including VAT.

Rails Signals (Danger)

Ms Glenda Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will list the number of incidents of rail signals passed at danger for each year since 1990 to date. [34907]

Mr. Watts: The table shows the number of signals passed at danger since 1990. Figures for 1994–95 are expected to be published this December. By far the majority of trains passing signals at danger stop within the protected zone of the signal overlap.

Signals passed at danger (SPADS) 1990–1993–94

Year	Number
1991	206
1991–92	944
1992–93	871
1993–94	905
Total	3,821

The figures for 1991 cover the period 1 January 1991 to 31 March 1991 only.

Airport Noise

Ms Glenda Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport (1) if he will list the airlines that have received fines for breaching noise restriction regulations at (a) London Heathrow, (b) London Gatwick, (c) London Stansted, (d) Birmingham, (e) Manchester, (f) Liverpool, (g) Edinburgh and (h) Glasgow airports, indicating the number of fines imposed and the total amount of the fines per airline in the last 12 months; [34913]

(2) if he will list the number of fines imposed for breaches of noise restriction regulations at (a) London Heathrow, (b) London Gatwick, (c) London Stansted, (d) Birmingham, (e) Manchester, (f) Edinburgh and (g) Glasgow airports, for each year since 1990 to date. [34912]

Mr. Norris: The Secretary of State may set requirements for limiting noise at airports designated for the purposes of section 78 of the Civil Aviation Act 1982. The only airports so designated are Heathrow, Gatwick and Stansted.

The noise limits are 110 PNdB (97dBA) by day (0701-2300) and 102 PNdB (92dBA) by night (2301-0700).

From 1 April 1993 at Heathrow and Stansted and from 1 May 1993 at Gatwick the airport companies have imposed financial penalties for breaches of the night noise limits and are progressively introducing financial penalties for the breaches of the daytime noise limits. Information on breaches of the noise limits and on the fines collected is provided by each of those airport companies to their respective airport consultative committees. A summary would be impractical because the information is provided on a different basis by each airport.

At other airports noise mitigation measures are the responsibility of the airport operator.

Night Flying Restrictions

Ms Glenda Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will list for (a) London Heathrow, (b) London Gatwick, (c) London Stansted, (d) Birmingham, (e) Manchester, (f) Liverpool, (g) Edinburgh and (h) Glasgow airports, the number of incidents of VIP exemption from night-time air movement restrictions for each year since 1990 to date. [34911]

Mr. Norris: The Secretary of State has set restrictions on night flying at airports designated for the purposes of section 78 of the Civil Aviation Act 1982. These are Heathrow, Gatwick and Stansted.

Since 24 October 1993, the start of the 1993 winter season, movements granted VIP exemption are as follows:

	VIP Exempt Flights
Heathrow
Winter 1993–94	4
Summer 1994	13
Winter 1994–95	8
Summer (to 10–7–95)	4
Gatwick
Summer 1994	0
Winter 1994–95	0
Summer (to 10-27–95)	0
Stansted
Summer 1994	0
Winter 1994–95	0
Summer (to 10–7–95)	0

Information on the number of flights granted VIP exemptions before 24 October 1993 is not available.

At other airports restrictions on night flights may be introduced voluntarily by the operator or may be imposed by planning conditions.

Traffic Light Failures

Ms Glenda Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will list the number of incidents of traffic light failure in Greater London for each year since 1990 to date. [34909]

Mr. Norris: The numbers of all-out failures and confirmed faults affecting traffic signals in Greater London since 1990 are as follows:

	All outs	All confirmed faults (including all out failures)
1990	4,724	30,380
1992	5,645	28,263
1993	5,721	31,609
1994	5,907	33,496
1995 (6 months)	2,569	16,434

There was a 21 per cent. increase in the number of signal installations on London's roads between January 1990 and June 1995.

Armed Forces Rail Travel Permits

Ms Glenda Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many British armed forces rail travel permits have currently been issued. [34896]

Mr. Watts: British Rail received 529,633 HM forces rail travel warrants from the Ministry of Defence in the year to 29 March 1995.

Ms Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if British armed forces rail travel permits will continue to be valid on all parts of the current British Rail network following rail privatisation. [34915]

Mr. Watts: The existing arrangements for rail travel warrants will continue for at least a further three years. Future arrangements will be a matter for negotiation between the Ministry of Defence and the train operators.

Consultants

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will indicate which five consultancy firms have received most contracts from his Department (a) by number of contracts and (b) monetary value in the last five years for which figures are available. [33430]

Mr. Norris: The five consultancy firms that have received most contracts over the last five year are (a) by number of contracts, W.S. Atkins Consultants Ltd.; the MVA Consultancy; Peat Marwick/PMG; PA Consulting Groups; Admiral; and (b) by monetary value, Hambros Bank Ltd.; Linklaters and Paines; the MVA Consultancy; Touche Ross and Co; McKenna and Co.

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many contracts and for what total sum were let out by his Departments and agencies for which he is responsible to (a) Coopers and Lybrand and its subsidiaries (b) Peat Marwick and its subsidiaries (c) Ernst and Young and its subsidiaries (d) Arthur Anderson and its subsidiaries (e) Price Waterhouse and its subsidiaries (f) Grant Thornton and its subsidiaries (g) Stoy Hayward and its subsidiaries (h) Robson Rhodes and its subsidiaries and (i) Pannell Kerr Forster and its subsidiaries for privatisation, market testing, management advice, accounting audit, consultancy and other services in 1993–94 and 1994–95. [33909]

Mr. Norris: The information requested is set out in the accompanying tables.

Vehicle Licensing

Mr. MacShane: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will list by year of registration since 1970, the number of heavy goods vehicles, passenger cars, and public transport vehicles currently licensed for road use. [34419]

Mr. Norris: The requested information is as follows:

Vehicles licensed at the end of 1994

Year first registered	Passenger cars[1]	Heavy goods vehicles[2]	Public transport vehicles[3]

Night Flying (Helicopters)

Mr. Tyler: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport, pursuant to his answer of 4 July, Official Report, column 122, whether restrictions relating to night flights to and from (a) civil airports, (b) private airstrips, (c) military airfields and (d) heliports apply to police helicopters. [32395]

Mr. Norris: My right hon. Friend is responsible for certain noise mitigation measures, which include night flying restrictions, at Heathrow, Gatwick and Stansted airports only. At these airports, helicopters are not exempt from the night restrictions but specific police operations may be given a dispensation in appropriate circumstances. At all other airports, including heliports and private airstrips, the responsibility for noise mitigation lies with individual owners or operators. Restrictions on night flights may form part of planning approval. These arrangements apply to civilian aerodromes; at military airfields the responsibility lies with the Ministry of Defence.

World Wide Web

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will make a statement on the work his Department has carried out in the last 12 months in making information about his Department available to the public via the Government world wide web server known as "www. open. gov. uk" and his plans and policies to make additional and new information available electronically on the server in the next 12 months. [34686]

Mr. Norris: My Department is currently investigating the use of the Government "World Wide Web" server, particularly in relation to publication of the Drivers and Vehicles Licensing Agency and marine accident investigation branch. Recourse to interactive online publishing services such as the "World Wide Web" is one of the components of my Department's publishing strategy under the TIPS programme—transport information publishing services—which was advertised in the Official Journal in November of last year and for which procurement action is now under way.

Overseas Ministerial Visits

Ms Glenda Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will list all overseas ministerial visits since 1 January 1993, the date of those visits, the names of the Ministers involved, the purpose of those visits, and the cost to his Department of those visits. [35276]

Mr. George Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will list (a) details of all overseas trips made by him or ministerial colleagues in his Department, paid for wholly or partly from public funds and (b) the purpose, destination and duration of such overseas trips, which officials accompanied him and the total cost in each case, including that of officials to public funds for each year since 1992. [32280]

Sir George Young: The destination, duration and purpose of ministerial overseas trips involving public funds for each year since 1992 are listed. Total travel and subsistence costs for Ministers and accompanying private secretaries were £54,080 in 1993–94; £84,013 in 1994–95 and £9,056 so far in 1995–96. Detailed records of visits and associated costs for 1992 are not available.

Information about the number and cost of accompanying officials is not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Rail Speed Restrictions

Mr. Steen: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many speed restrictions are currently enforced on the railway line between Paddington and Plymouth; how long each speed restriction has been in force; how much longer each will be in force; what is the reason for each speed restriction; what steps are being taken to expedite repairs; and if he will make a statement. [34456]

Mr. Watts: Railtrack informs me that the total number of speed restrictions currently in force is 16. The restrictions have been in place between one and 15 months. The restricted speeds range from 20 to 60 mph and in each case the reason for the restriction is the condition of the track.

Railtrack has a programme of maintenance and renewal in place to restore the original line speeds. Repair work for each restricted track section is in the hands of local maintenance and track renewal units.

I will write to my hon. Friend with further more detailed information.

TREASURY

Department of Employment (Reorganisation)

Mr. Andrew Smith: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer when he expects the transfer of responsibilities from the former Department of Employment to other Departments to be completed; how much he expects this reorganisation to cost; and what provision for these costs has been made within this year's public expenditure survey. [34667]

Mr. Waldegrave: The responsibilities have been transferred in accordance with the announcements made on 5 July. Consequential provisions will be made in a transfer of functions order in due course. The financial implications of the reorganisation will be discussed in the public expenditure survey.

Income Tax

Mr. Andrew Smith: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will update his answer to the hon. Member for Newcastle upon Tyne, East (Mr. Brown) of 1 March 1994, Official Report, column 665, on income tax. [33904]

Mr. Jack: The change in tax by quantile group for 1995–96 compared with a 1978–79 indexed regime is in the tables. In table A, the comparison is hypothetical since, if an indexed version of the 1978–79 tax regime had prevailed over the past 15 years, the income base would not have grown as it has.

Table A: Calculations using the 1995–96 income base

Quantile group of taxpayers under the 1978–79 indexed regime Per cent.	Number of taxpayers Thousands	Reduction in tax £ million	Average reduction £
Top 1	300	9,700	38,000
Top 5	1,300	13,500	10,500
Top 10	2,600	15,800	6,100
Bottom 50	12,900	4,500	350
All taxpayers	25,700	30,700	1,200

In contrast to these hypothetical figures, table B shows how the share of income tax actually paid by high income groups has risen since 1979, while the share of the income tax burden borne by low income tax payers has fallen.

Table B: Calculations using the income base for each year

Percentage

Quantile group of taxpayers	Share of income tax in 1978–79	1995–96
Top 1	11	16
Top 5	24	33
Top 10	35	44
Bottom 50	18	13
All taxpayers	100	100

National Savings Bank (Current Account Transfer)

Mr. Davidson: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) what is the process by which consultants will be selected (1) to conduct the proposed feasibility study into whether Post Office Counters should take over the National Savings bank's ordinary current account; and if he will make a statement; [33679]

(2) what legislation would be required to transfer the administration of National Savings bank's ordinary current account to the Post Office; and if he will make a statement; [33645]

(3) what is the time scale for the proposed feasibility study into the possibility of the National Savings bank transferring the administration of ordinary current accounts to Post Office Counters; when it is envisaged that this feasibility study will formally begin; and when he expects it to be (a) completed and (b) presented to ministers; [33646]

(4) how much money has been budgeted to cover the costs of the feasibility study into the possibility of national Savings bank transferring the administration of ordinary current accounts to Post Office Counters; [33647]

(5) what stage has been reached in the current feasibility study into the possibility of the national Savings bank transferring the administration of ordinary current accounts to Post Office Counters; and if he will make a statement. [33648]

(6) if he will make it his policy to establish a joint department of National Savings bank/Post Office Counters Ltd. team to supervise or assist external consultants examining the possible transfer of the ordinary current account from the National Savings bank to Post Office Counters Ltd. [33680]

Mrs. Angela Knight: The feasibility study is looking at whether Post Office Counters Ltd., POCL, should market its own savings account. That part covering the options involving the National Savings, NS, ordinary account will be led by a joint POCL/NS team. The feasibility study has commenced and is expected to be completed towards the end of the year. Consultants to assist in the study will be appointed by competitive tender. POCL and NS are presently finalising the detailed terms of reference for consultants.

The results will be considered by the boards of both organisations before recommendations are submitted to Ministers. The costs of the study will be met from within each organisation's current budget.

Greenbury Report

Mr. Matthew Banks: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer when he expects to receive a copy of the Greenbury report; when he plans to respond to any taxation matters it raises; and if he will make a statement. [35294]

Mr. Kenneth Clarke: The Greenbury report was published today. In the light of its recommendations, the Government have decided to amend the tax treatment of executive share options so that any gain from the exercise of such options will be taxable as income rather than as capital gain. I propose to introduce legislation in the next Finance Bill to withdraw the income tax reliefs at present available to directors and employees participating in executive share option schemes which have been approved by the Inland Revenue. The withdrawal of the reliefs will take effect in relation to grants or exercises of options on or after today.

The tax reliefs for approved all-employee savings-related share option schemes will not be affected by this proposal.

Permanent Jobs (Creation)

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many permanent jobs have been created in each year since 1981 net of losses and relocations. [34141]

Mrs. Angela Knight [holding answer 13 July 1995]: Information is available only for the net change in permanent employees and comparable infomration is available only from 1984. The information is given in the table:

Net change in permanent employees in Great Britain: Spring of early year (thousands)

	Net change
1985–86	88
1986–87	52
1987–88	654
1988–89	628
1989–90	217
1990–91	-354
1991–92	-589
1992–93	-275
1993–94	-11

Note:
Information prior to 1992 has not yet been re-weighted to take account of OPCS revised population estimates and hence there is a discontinuity in the series between 1991 and 1992.

Northern Region (Average Earnings)

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will list the average gross weekly earnings of (a) women and (b) men in (i) each standard planning region and (ii) each country area in the northern region in each year since 1979 (1) at current prices and (2) at 1979 prices and the proportion of women and men earning less than 68 per cent. of the national average gross weekly wage in each standard planning region and each county area in the northern region in each year since 1979. [34180]

Mrs. Angela Knight [holding answer 13 July 1995]: Analyses of average earnings of full-time employees in the counties of the northern region are published in part E of the new earnings survey reports. Tables 110 and 113 contain average gross weekly earnings for men and women respectively. Copies of the reports are available in the Library.

The retail prices index is available in table 6.4 of the "Employment Gazette" and is now being published in full in the Central Statistical Office business monitor MM23.

Figures of the proportion of men and women earning less than 68 per cent. of the national average gross weekly wage in each standard planning region and each county area in the northern region cannot be produced for the years before 1986. To do so for the years since 1986 would incur disproportionate cost. Some relevant information can be found in tables 110 and 113, in the form of percentages with gross weekly earnings below three specified amounts.

Unfair Dismissal

Mr. Ian McCartney: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many unfair dismissal cases were brought against his Department during the past 12 months; how many were successful; and what were the total costs including legal fees and compensation. [34596]

Mrs. Angela Knight [holding answer 14 July 1995]: None.

European Union (Contributions)

Sir Teddy Taylor: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what is the gross and net contribution which the United Kingdom will make to the European Union in 1995; and what were the comparable gross and net figures in each of the previous 10 calendar years. [34423]

Mr. Heathcoat-Amory [holding answer 14 July 1995]: The Government's latest forecast of the United Kingdom's gross and net contribution to the European Community in 1995, with outturn figures for 1992 to 1994, are set out in the latest "Statement on the Community Budget", Cm 2824, published in April this year. Outturn figures for earlier years can be found in previous years' statements.

Fixed Exchange Rates

Sir Teddy Taylor: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what considerations underlay his policy statement of 10 July in respect of the non-requirement of a two-year participation in fixed exchange rates as a prelude to entry to a single currency, and if he will make a statement. [34420]

Mr. Kenneth Clarke [holding answer 14 July 1995]: It is not clear how the exchange rate criterion in the treaty on European Union will be interpreted. The treaty was negotiated at a time when the exchange rate mechanism operated under very different rules from those in force today. The interpretation of the convergence criteria, including the exchange rate criterion, will be considered by the European Commission and the European Monetary Institute, when preparing their reports to the Council of Ministers under article 109j(1), and thereafter by the Council itself, when it assesses those reports under article 109j(2).

Sir Teddy Taylor: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if it is the aim of Her Majesty's Government to seek to rejoin fixed exchange rates. [34421]

Mr. Clarke [holding answer 14 July 1995]: The Government recognise the value of stable exchange rates but do not set target rates.

Computer Equipment Supplies

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will list the top 10 suppliers of computer equipment to his Department and its agencies in the past five years, indicating the total value of the contracts received. [34564]

Mrs. Angela Knight [holding answer 14 July 1995]: The table shows the 10 top suppliers of computer equipment to Her Majesty's Treasury from the financial year 1991–92 to date.

£ thousand

Supplier	Total value of contract (including. VAT)
ICL (UK) Ltd.	2,108
IBM (UK) Ltd.	1,672
Compstand Ltd.	1,307
Viglen Ltd.	1,195
Anage Printing Systems Ltd.	405
Computacentre Ltd.	397
Tandon Plc	232
Olivetti (UK) Ltd.	195
P.C.S. Ltd.	181
Profile Computers Plc	152

Information for 1990–91 is not readily available and cannot be obtained except at disproportionate cost. Her Majesty's Treasury did not have any agencies in the period reported above.

Wage Levels

Mr. Ian McCartney: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will list the latest comparable figures, showing numbers and percentages of the working population in each European Union country who are earning on or below the equivalent of £2.50 per hour. [34577]

Mrs. Angela Knight [holding answer 14 July 1995]: The number of people in Great Britain earning below £2.50 per hour is estimated to be around 800,000, based on the results of the winter 1994–95 labour force survey. This represents 4 per cent. of employees. Comparable figures for other European Union countries are not available.

PRIME MINISTER

Ministerial Transport

Dr. Lynne Jones: To ask the Prime Minister what was the total cost of ministerial transport in each of the past five years. [34776]

The Prime Minister: The information as requested is not available. It can be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Minimum Wage

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Prime Minister what considerations underlie his policy with regard to minimum wage (a) in agriculture and (b) in other sectors; and if he will make a statement. [34997]

The Prime Minister: The Government remain of the view that statutory wage fixing arrangements, wherever they occur, destroy jobs and prevent job creation. That is why we abolished the wages councils and are keeping the future existence of the agricultural wages board under close review. It is also why we will never introduce the nonsense of a national minimum wage.

Royal British Legion

Mr. Alfred Morris: To ask the Prime Minister what recent representations he has had from the Royal British Legion about the decision of its annual conference on the establishment of an ex-service affairs unit within Government; what reply he is sending; and if he will make a statement. [34392]

The Prime Minister: I have recently received a letter from the national chairman of the Royal British Legion on the question of establishing an ex-services affairs unit. I have asked my noble Friend Lord MacKay of Ardbrecknish to consider the points made on reply on my behalf.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL

Scott Inquiry

32. Mr. William O'Brien: To ask the Attorney-General what requests his Department has received to give further evidence to the Scott inquiry; and if he will make a statement. [32756]

The Attorney-General: Since 31 October 1994, when I last answered a question on this aspect, there have been additional requests for evidence in respect of two officials in the Departments for which I have ministerial responsibility. In all, seven officials from my Departments have given evidence to the inquiry at some time.

Public Interest Immunity Certificates

33. Mr. Winnick: To ask the Attorney-General if he will review the practice of asking Ministers to sign public interest immunity certificates. [32757]

The Attorney-General: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave today to the hon. Member for Pendle (Mr. Prentice).

Crown Office, Edinburgh

34. Mr. Dalyell: To ask the Attorney-General if he will make a statement on the arrangements made between his office and the Crown office in Edinburgh. [32758]

The Solicitor-General: My office and the Crown office in Edinburgh consult each other on matters where they share a common interest.

Combat 18

35. Mr. Sumberg: To ask the Attorney-General what further reports he has received about the activities of Combat 18. [32759]

The Solicitor-General: The Law Officers have requested that they be kept closely informed of progress in this matter and have stressed the need for inquiries and for the subsequent consideration of the evidence to be speedily concluded.

Asil Nadir

36. Mrs. Roche: To ask the Attorney-General, pursuant to his answer of 24 April, Official Report, column 341, what further measures he is taking to expedite the case of Asil Nadir. [32760]

The Solicitor-General: The case against Asil Nadir can proceed only when he returns, or is returned, to the jurisdiction. A warrant has been issued for his arrest and the Serious Fraud Office remains ready to proceed with the trial.

Serious Fraud Office

Mr. Hawkins: To ask the Attorney-General what plans he has to extend further the use of computers and other information technology by the Serious Fraud Office.

The Attorney-General: The use of computers and information technology has already brought real benefits to the investigation and presentation of cases by the Serious Fraud Office. Current projects include the development of improved document storage and retrieval systems.

Mr. Skinner: To ask the Attorney-General what recent meetings he has had with the Serious Fraud Office to discuss City fraud. [32762]

The Solicitor-General: I frequently meet the director of the Serious Fraud Office to discuss matters of departmental interest, including particular cases.

Mr. Mike O'Brien: To ask the Attorney-General if he will appoint a senior QC to inquire into allegations made to his Department by senior lawyers in respect of the accuracy of the information supplied by the Serious Fraud Office and its counsel to the Attorney-General to answer parliamentary questions on 17 December 1993. [35091]

The Attorney-General: No.

Crown Prosecution Service

Mr. Thurnham: To ask the Attorney-General what assessment he has made of the performance of the Crown Prosecution Service; and if he will make a statement. [32754]

The Attorney-General: The performance of the Crown Prosecution Service is monitored at regular meetings between the Law Officers and the Director of Public Prosecutions. The service handles about 1.5 million cases per year, with a conviction rate in the year to March 1995 of 97.8 per cent. in the magistrates court and 90.3 per cent. in the Crown court.

Roger Levitt Case

Mr. Mike O'Brien: To ask the Attorney General (1) if he will define the term "suggestion" as set out in his answer to the hon. Member for Hendon, South (Mr. Marshall), 9 December 1993, Official Report, columns 332–33, concerning the case of Roger Levitt; [35090]

(2) pursuant to his answer to the hon. Member for Swansea, East (Mr. Anderson) 19 June, Official Report, columns 68–70, with regard to the meeting which took place on 5 November, comprising prosecuting counsel and the director of the Serious Fraud Office, to discuss possible pleas in the case of Roger Levitt, on what date and in what form possible pleas were communicated to the defence; and if they amounted, in whatever form they were communicated, to a suggestion that Mr. Roger Levitt might plead guilty to only some of the charges; [35089]

(3) pursuant to his answer to the hon. Member for Swansea, East of 19 June, Official Report, columns 68–70, with reference to his statement about the Crown's likely attitude if Mr. Levitt tendered particular pleas, for what reasons this did not constitute a suggestion that Mr. Roger Levitt might plead guilty to only some of the charges; [35108]

(4) pursuant to paragraphs 1.6 and 1.11 of Mr. David Cocks' evidence to the Treasury and Civil Service Committee, cited during the Committee's oral evidence session of 11 July, if a suggestion was made by the prosecution during discussions before 22 November 1993 that Mr. Roger Levitt might plead guilty to only some of the charges. [35088]

The Attorney-General: I refer the hon. Member to the series of very full answers which I have already given and in particular to the sequence of informal discussions between counsel and prosecuting counsel's recollection of the circumstances surrounding and following the meeting on 5 November 1993 which have already been set out in my answers of 19 June 1995 to the hon. Member for Swansea, East (Mr. Anderson) Official Report, columns 68–70, and of 28 June to the hon. Member for Warwickshire, South (Mr. O'Brien), Official Report, column 704.

The word "suggestion" in my answers of 9 December 1993 focused on the nub of the question tabled by my hon. Friend the Member for Hendon, South (Mr. Marshall), which asked

"When the Serious Fraud Office ... first suggested to the counsel to Mr. Roger Levitt that he plead guilty to only some of the charges".—Official Report, 9 December 1993; Vol. 234, columns 332–33.

This was understood, in the context of the other questions asked by my hon. Friend which were critical of the Serious Fraud Office, to carry the implication that the Serious Fraud Office had improperly taken the initiative from an early date, seeking, in words later used by leading counsel for Mr. Levitt, to throw in the towel. I was concerned to refute that allegation immediately. Had I at that date known of the full sequence of events to which I have referred above I would have taken account of it in my answer.

The series of answers I have given to the House on this case give a full and fair picture of my understanding of the relevant events.

Mr. O'Brien: To ask the Attorney-General, pursuant to the submissions received by his Department from (a) Jonathan Goldberg and (b) Sasha Wass in respect of the Roger Levitt case and the oral evidence heard by the Treasury and Civil Service Committee on 11 July, what assessment he has made of the accuracy of statements by (1) Mr. David Cocks and (2) Mr. Jonathan Fisher in respect of (i) telephone conversations on 21 November 1993 and (ii) the initial meeting on 22 November. [35087]

The Attorney-General: Regrettably, the accounts given by prosecuting and defence counsel differ significantly and I do not consider that it is right for me to say more than that it is clear that they see the matter very differently.

Staff (Shareholdings)

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Attorney-General how many staff in his Department or its agencies have (a) declared any company shareholdings they hold or (b) been advised to dispose of shareholding in the last five years, indicating the companies concerned. [33413]

The Attorney-General: All staff serving in the Departments for which I am responsible are required to consult management about the desirability of acquiring or retaining any shareholding which might give rise to a possible conflict of interest. Comprehensive records are not held centrally of the occasions on which shareholdings are declared or required to be disposed of.

TRADE AND INDUSTRY

N. M. Rothschild and Son Ltd.

Mr. Byers: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what is the latest estimate for the number of hours worked by N. M. Rothschild on providing advice on the privatisation of the coal industry; and when the contract is expected to end. [34429]

Mr. Page: N. M. Rothschild has, to date, worked approximately 37,500 hours on providing advice on the privatisation of the coal industry. In answer to the second question, I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave to him on 21 February 1995, Official Report, column 109.

Innovation and Technology Counsellors

Mr. Clapham: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what is his Department's target date for the appointment of innovation and technology counsellors by all business links. [33555]

Mr. Ian Taylor [holding answer 12 July 1995]: The White Paper "Competitiveness: Forging Ahead" announced that up to £4.3 million per year is available to allow all business link partnerships to provide an innovation and technology counselling—ITC—service. Through the appropriate training and education council, each business link has been invited to bid for funds to operate an ITC service, once its business link proposal has been approved by the business link assessment panel. Twenty-two business links already have innovation and technology counsellors and the target for all business links to have an ITC service is summer 1996.

Arms Exports (Iran)

Dr. John Cunningham: To ask the President of the Board of Trade on what exact date during the Iran-Iraq war Ministers in his Department first agreed that licences could be granted for exports to Iran when the applications were not accompanied by the required documentation. [33972]

Mr. Lang [holding answer 12 July 1995]: No such policy decision was taken by Department of Trade and Industry Ministers.

Oil and Gas platform Orders

Mrs. Ewing: To ask the President of the Board of Trade how many fabrication orders relating to the United Kingdom continental shelf gas and oil industry have been allocated per company to United Kingdom-based fabrication yards in each of the past five financial years; and how many orders from operators in the United Kingdom continental shelf area have been allocated to (a) European Union countries and (b) Korea. [33324]

Mr. Page [holding answer 12 July 1995]: Information on major platform orders for the calendar years 1990 to 1995, thus far, is contained in the table:

	1990	1991	1992	1993	1994	1995

National Engineering Laboratory

Mr. Ingram: To ask the President of the Board of Trade how many staff are currently employed at the National Engineering Laboratory; and if he will make a statement on the detailed provisions which will apply to them in the privatisation of the laboratory. [34566]

Mr. Ian Taylor: Following the statement by my right hon. Friend the then President of the Board of Trade on 14 April 1994, Official Report, columns 251–53, regarding the future of the National Engineering Laboratory, good progress has been made with the trade sale. I hope to be in a position to announce a preferred bidder at the end of this month or early next month and I shall write to the hon. Member. At this stage, it is not possible to say what will be the detailed provisions that will apply to the 234 staff currently at the laboratory, but the terms and conditions of staff who transfer will be preserved under the Transfer of Undertakings (Protection of Employment) Regulations 1981.

Small Firms (Financial Difficulty)

Mrs. Liddell: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what assistance the Government provide for small firms that are facing short-term financial difficulties. [34502]

Mr. Page: Small firms facing short-term financial difficulties would usually approach their bank or other finance provider for assistance. The Government provide assistance to business support networks through which small firms can seek advice appropriate to their circumstances.

Industrial Tribunals

Mr. Ian McCartney: To ask the President of the Board of Trade how many industrial tribunal cases were considered in each year since 1986, by region; and how many in each case resulted in a verdict of unfair dismissal. [34061]

Mr. Jonathan Evans: The number of industrial tribunal cases—all jurisidictions—considered at a hearing, by region, in each year since 1986 is shown in the table. The number of successful unfair dismissal cases is also shown.

Fraud (Legislation)

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the President of the Board of Trade (1) what proposals he has for legislation under which the auditor duties for reporting material fraud to the regulators applicable in the financial sector will also apply to the corporate sector; [33925]

(2) what proposals he has for legislation under which company auditors will have a statutory duty to detect and report material fraud to the regulators. [33926]

Mr. Oppenheim: The rights and duties of auditors to report to regulators in the financial sector were set out in the auditing practices board's statement of auditing standards No. 620, issued in March 1994. In January 1995, the APB published two statements of auditing standards that clarify the rights and duties of auditors when reporting fraud or any other non-compliance with regulations. These are SAS 110, "Fraud and Error," and SAS 120, "Consideration of Law and Regulations". Copies of these documents are available for inspection in the Library of the House.

Insolvency Practitioners (Regulation)

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if he will list the organisations responsible for regulating insolvency practitioners with the number of practitioners regulated by each and the number of practitioners disqualified by each. [33924]

Mr. Oppenheim: The information is as follows:

Regulating organisation	Number of practitioners at 31 December 94	Number disqualified/refused in year ended 31 December 94
Chartered Association of Certified Accountants	102	2
Insolvency Practitioners Association	271	2
Institute of Chartered Accountants in England and Wales	924	1

Regulating organisation	Number of practitioners at 31 December 94	Number disqualified/refused in year ended 31 December 94
Institute of Chartered Accountants in Ireland	78	—
Institute of Chartered Accountants in Scotland	187	—
Law Society	190	—
The Law Society of Scotland	28	—
The Secretary of State	151	4

The number of practitioners disqualified does not include those whose licences were surrendered voluntarily or applications for renewal were withdrawn in order to avoid proceedings which may have resulted in their disqualification.

Caparo Judgment

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the President of the Board of Trade (1) what proposals he has for legislation under which company auditors will owe a duty of care to current individual shareholders and creditors; [34096]

(2) what proposals he has for statutory reversal of the Caparo judgment. [34103]

Mr. Oppenheim: I have no plans to change the current state of the law, but am keeping the situation under review.

Director General of Electricity Supply

Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what discussions he has had with the electricity regulator concerning the regulator's handling of price sensitive information; and if he will make a statement. [34279]

Mr. Eggar: It is for the Director General of Electricity Supply to decide how he handles price sensitive information.

Particulate PM10 Pollution

Ms Ruddock: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what research has been commissioned by his Department into levels of particulate PM10 pollution in rural areas; what were the conclusions; and if he will publish the results. [35024]

Mr. Page: My Department commissioned a limited series of measurements of airborne particulates at a single rural site earlier this year. The results are being prepared for publication in the near future.

Science

Mrs. Ann Taylor: To ask the President of the Board of Trade which Government Department is responsible for (a) the science budget, (b) science education, (c) policy to promote the public understanding of science and (d) funding the research councils. [34576]

Mr. Ian Taylor [holding answer 14 July 1995]: The Office of Science and Technology's responsibilities for (a), (c) and (d) and its joint responsibilities with the Education Departments for post-graduate science education are unchanged with the office's transfer to the Department of Trade and Industry. The Government's commitment to science, engineering and technology, and to the support of the science and engineering base, remain as set out in the 1993 White Paper "Realising our Potential", and policies are targeted to ensure the maximum contribution to our national economic performance and quality of life.

Systematic interchange between industry, scientists, engineers and science policy makers both in the public and private sectors will improve mutual understanding and allow each group to make its decisions against a better informed background.

Bellerton Lane, Norton

Ms Walley: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if he will list the individual plots of land adjacent to Bellerton lane, Norton, Stoke on Trent, sold by British Coal in the last 10 years; and who purchased each site. [34297]

Mr. Page: This is a matter for British Coal.

Shipbuilding and Repair

Mr. Davidson: To ask the President of the Board of Trade how many people were employed in shipbuilding and ship repair in (a) 1965, (b) 1970, (c) 1980, (d) 1985, (e) 1990 and (f) 1995; and if he will make a statement. [33681]

Mrs. Angela Knight: I have been asked to reply.

Information on employment in the shipbuilding and ship repair industry is available from the periodic censuses of employment. The table shows the number employed in this industry, for years where the information is directly comparable:

Number of employees in employment in the shipbuilding and ship repair industry[1] in Great Britain, in September of each year

	Number
1981	120,800
1984	90,200
1987	58,200
1989	51,200

[1] Group 371 of the standard industrial classification 1980.

DUCHY OF LANCASTER

Duchy Accounts

Mr. Harry Greenway: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster when the Duchy will be presenting to Parliament its next set of accounts. [35283]

Mr. Freeman: The financial year for the Duchy's accounts has been changed from 30 September to 31 March. Audited accounts for the part-year period from 30 September 1994 to 31 March 1995 are therefore being presented today. In future, 12-month accounts to 31 March will be presented before the House rises for that year's summer recess.

Occupational Health and Safety Agency

Lady Olga Maitland: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster what key performance targets he has set for the Occupational Health and Safety Agency for the current year. [35284]

Mr. Horam: The key performance targets for the Occupational Health and Safety Agency for 1995–96 are to break even in accrual accounting terms; to turn around, within 15 days, 85 per cent. of case referrals where no additional information is required and 58 per cent. within 40 days when additional information is required; to earn customer post-service satisfaction evaluations of 90 per cent. in the two highest categories; and to issue at least 95 per cent. of invoices error free.

In addition, the agency has cost containment targets, details of which are commercially sensitive.

Deputy Prime Minister

Mr. Malcolm Bruce: To ask the Prime Minister how many staff will be allocated to working in the offices and department of the Deputy Prime Minister and First Secretary; and what is the estimated annual cost of such staff. [34005]

The Deputy Prime Minister: I have been asked to reply. I refer the hon. Member to the answer my right hon. Friend the Prime Minister gave the hon. Member for Pendle (Mr. Prentice) on 11 July 1995, Official Report, column 496 and to that which I gave the hon. Member for Gordon on 13 July 1995, Official Report, column 751.

Consultants

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster which firms of consultants employed by his Department over the past year have been paid more than £1,000 per day. [33872]

Mr. Horam: My answer covers the Cabinet Office, Office of Public Service, its executive agencies, Her Majesty's Stationery Office and the Central Office of Information. In 1994–95 the following firms of consultants were employed on contracts costing more than £1,000 per consultant per day including expenses and VAT:

Coopers and Lybrand; Domino Consultancy; Human Assets Ltd.; International Computers Ltd.; Moores Rowland; PA Consulting; Pearn Kandola; Price Waterhouse.

Civil Servants (Travel Expenses)

Dr. Lynne Jones: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster if he will list the total cost of travel expenses claimed by civil servants using their own vehicles for official business in each of the past five years; and what the saving would have been in the last year if the maximum rate that could be claimed was set at the current lowest rate. [34781]

Mr. Horam: These details are not kept centrally.

Dr. Jones: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster what rates of travel allowance may be claimed by civil servants when using their own vehicles for official business. [34780]

Mr. Horam: Departments and agencies are responsible for setting the rates of allowances to reimburse staff for travel by private vehicle on official business. Details of the rates are not collected centrally.

Magistrates (Secret Societies)

Mr. Mullin: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how many magistrates there are in the Duchy; and how many have declared they are freemasons or members of any other secret society. [34942]

Mr. Freeman: There are 4,200 magistrates in the Duchy area.

No statistics are kept on the number of magistrates who are freemasons or who belong to other secret societies.

Being a freemason or member of any society is neither a qualification nor a disqualification to becoming a magistrate.

All magistrates take a judicial oath to dispense justice without fear or favour.

Mr. Mullin: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster for how long it has been the practice for candidates for the magistracy in the Duchy of Lancaster to declare membership of secret societies. [34943]

Mr. Freeman: Advisory committees ask candidates for the magistracy about their outside interests. This has been the practice for many years.

The overriding requirement is suitability for recommendation for appointment.

SCOTLAND

Community Nurses

Mrs. Beckett: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how many (a) health visitors, (b) district nurses, (c) community psychiatric nurses and (d) school nurses were employed in each area of Scotland on 30 September 1993, and for the latest date available, expressed as whole-time equivalents and actual numbers: and if he will list the same information for student health visitors and student district nurses. [33257]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: The information requested is shown in the tables:

Mrs. Beckett: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will publish a breakdown by area of the health visitors, district nurses and school nurses by each income band for September 1993 and the latest date for which information is available. [33258]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: As the information requested is lengthy, I have arranged for copies of the tables to be placed in the Libraries of the House.

Staff Opinion Polls

Mrs. Ewing: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland which hospital trusts in Scotland have carried out staff opinion polls in the past two years; what were the results of each of these opinion polls; and if he will make a statement. [33993]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: The findings of a 1993 national survey by the NHS management executive in Scotland are set out in "Framework for Action: What Those Who Work Within the NHS in Scotland Think 1993" a copy of which is in the Library. All trusts were asked to review the findings taking account of local circumstances and to develop, implement and report on action plans to tackle those issues identified as requiring action locally. From 1995 onwards the undertaking of such surveys is a matter for individual trusts.

Health Visitors

Mrs. Beckett: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will publish a breakdown by area of the population numbers per health visitor on September 1992 and September 1993 and for the latest date for which information is available; and what is the number of health visitors (a) per person under five and (b) per person over 65 years in each area. [33529]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: The information requested is shown in the tables:

Population per Health Visitor[1] [2]; whole-time equivalent at 30 September

[2] The whole-time equivalent of health visitors used to produce the population rates includes staff with combined duties of either or both midwifery and district nursing. For such staff a proportion of their whole-time equivalent has been included. For example, for a HV/DN combined duty nurse the health visiting contribution is assumed to be half.

[1] The figures for health visitors probably include some staff without an HV qualification working in this field, possibly in a suppo g role.

[2] The whole-time equivalent of health visitors used to produce the population rates includes staff with combined duties of either or both midwifery and district nursing. For such staff a proportion of their whole-time equivalent has been included. For example, for a HV/DN combined duty nurse the health visiting contribution is assumed to be half.

HOUSE OF COMMONS

BACUP Cancer Care

Mr. Illsley: To ask the Chairman of the Administration Committee if he has considered an application for an exhibition relating to BACUP Cancer Care to be displayed in the Upper Waiting Hall. [35448]

Mr. Michael J. Martin: I understand that, under procedures agreed by the Administration Committee, arrangements have been made for the exhibition to be held in the Upper Waiting Hall from Monday 20 November to Friday 24 November 1995.

Photopasses

Mr. Mudie: To ask the Chairman of the Administration Committee what plans he has to make photopasses more readily identifiable, and if he will make a statement. [35325]

Mr. Michael J. Martin: The Administration Committee has agreed to recommend certain revisions to make various categories of photopass more readily identifiable by differentiation of colour or superimposing a letter. Any new styles passes will be introduced by the Pass Office over the next six months:

(a) Hon. Members:

Green and white diagonal striped pass.

(b) Permanent Staff (except Members' Research Assistants):

Grey pass.

(c) Temporary staff (except media):

Yellow pass.

(d) Media:

Brown pass, with an orange "L" superimposed for those accorded Lobby status.

(e) Members' Research Assistants:

Grey or yellow pass as appropriate, with a red "R" superimposed. These passes have to be renewed annually.

(f) Contractors:

Blue pass, with a red "C" superimposed.

The Committee will keep under review whether certain other categories of pass should be of an identifiable colour.

All who work in the Palace of Westminster and in the parliamentary outbuildings must be in possession of a valid photopass, which should be worn whenever the holder is in the parliamentary estate.

Passes cannot be issued until the necessary clearance procedure is completed and anyone taking on staff should allow sufficient time for the process to be completed before employment procedures are finalised. Clearances for individuals who are foreign nationals or who have lived abroad can take several weeks and some months.

Hon. Members are reminded that passes issued to their secretaries and research assistants must be handed back to the Pass Office when their service with a Member ends.

Members' Travel Expenses

Dr. Lynne Jones: To ask the Lord President of the Council what has been the total cost of travel expenses claimed by hon. Members for each of the past five years by (a) car, (b) train and (c) other means of travel. [34777]

Mr. Newton: I am advised by the Fees Office that the information requested is as follows:

(a) Car

1991–92: £5,682,276
1992–93: £5,416,393
1993–94: £5,832,266
1994–95: £6,105,196

(b) Rail

1990–91: £741,843
1991–92: £876,121
1992–93: £870,194
1993–94: £927,020
1994–95: £906,901

(c) Other

1990–91: £727,661
1991–92: £719,779
1992–93: £783,080
1993–94: £875,511
1994–95: £919,537

Office Costs Allowance

Dr. Lynne Jones: To ask the Lord President of the Council how many hon. Members receive the office costs allowance. [34779]

Mr. Newton: I am informed by the Fees Office that 651 hon. Members receive the office costs allowance.

Members' Car Allowance

Dr. Wright: To ask the Lord President of the Council how many hon. Members claim the rate under the hon. Members' car allowance scheme for (a) cars under 1300 cc (b) cars between 1300 cc and 2300 cc and (c) cars over 2301 cc. [31520]

Mr. Newton: The Fees Office has advised me that the information requested is as follows:

(i) 6 Members claim all 3 rates (a) (b) and (c)
(ii) 15 Members claim rates (a) and (b)
(iii) 19 Members claim rates (a) and (c)
(iv) 113 Members claim rates (b) and (c)
(v) 478 Members claim only one rate

The total number of hon. Members claiming under the Members' car allowance scheme is 631.

WALES

Welsh Office: Highways Directorate

Mr. Sweeney: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what plans he has to change the status of the Welsh Office highways directorate. [35733]

Mr. Hague: The highways directorate is responsible for managing and improving the motorway and trunk road network in an efficient and effective way. Following an options review, I have decided to seek further efficiency improvements within the existing organisational framework. In future, the directorate will be run more on next steps lines, in order to clarify responsibility and sharpen accountability. In addition, consideration will be given to market testing certain of the directorate's functions.

Community Nurses

Mrs. Beckett: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales (1) how many (a) health visitors, (b) district nurses, (c) community psychiatric nurses and (d) school nurses were employed in each area of Wales on 30 September

1993 and for the latest date available, expressed as whole-time equivalents and actual numbers; and if he will list the same information for student health visitors and student district nurses; [33260]

(2) if he will publish a breakdown by area of the health visitors, district nurses and school nurses by each income band for September 1993 and the latest date for which information is available; [33261]

(3) if he will publish a breakdown by area of the population numbers per health visitor on September 1992 and September 1993 and for the latest date for which information is available; and what is the number of health visitors (a) per under five and (b) per over 65 years in each area. [33262]

Mr. Richards: Reliable estimates of the numbers of nursing staff employed in specific occupational groups, such as those requested, are not available centrally.

Based on service requirements indicated by work force plans, there were 33 student health visitors and 33 student district nurses in September 1993. The figures for April 1995 were 26 and 29 respectively.

Meat and Livestock Commission

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what plans he has to establish a Welsh institution to undertake the functions currently carried out by the Meat and Livestock Commission, and if he will make a statement. [34993]

Mr. Gwilym Jones: None.

Tuberculosis

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how many outbreaks of tuberculosis amongst livestock were recorded in Wales during (a) 1992, (b) 1993 and (c) 1994; and if he will make a statement. [35056]

Mr. Gwilym Jones: In the period 1992–94 the number of confirmed tuberculosis breadowns in livestock in Wales were as follows.

The figures relate to cattle only. There were no cases of tuberculosis in deer.

Suckler Cow Premium Scheme

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what is the estimated cost of the suckler cow premium scheme for 1994–95; and if he will make a statement. [34991]

Mr. Gwilym Jones: A total of £20,920,338.

Sheep Annual Premium Scheme

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what was the cost of the sheep annual premium scheme in 1994–95; what proportion of the United Kingdom figure this represents; and if he will make a statement. [35122]

Mr. Gwilym Jones: A total of £113,300,000, which represented 28.6 per cent. of total United Kingdom expenditure.

Nitrate Sensitive Areas

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales (1) what proportion of the United Kingdom's nitrate sensitive areas are situated in Wales; and if he will make a statement; [34968]

(2) what proportion of eligible land in Welsh nitrate sensitive areas has entered the current scheme; and if he will make a statement; [34970]

(3) what was the total value of payments made to Welsh farmers under the nitrate sensitive areas scheme in 1994–95; and if he will make a statement. [34969]

Mr. Gwilym Jones: There are no nitrate sensitive areas designated in Wales.

Habitat Scheme

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how many hectares of land were accepted into the habitat scheme in 1994–95; and if he will make a statement. [34987]

Mr. Gwilym Jones: No land was accepted into the scheme in 1994–95; the scheme did not become operational until 9 January 1995.

Farm and Conservation Grant Scheme

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what was the value of grants paid to farmers under the farm and conservation grant scheme in 1994–95; and what proportion of the total United Kingdom figure this represented. [35125]

Mr. Gwilym Jones: A total of £5,250,000, which represented 13.7 per cent. of United Kingdom expenditure.

Training

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how many formal training days per member of staff are planned by his Department in 1995–96; and if he will make a statement. [34960]

Mr. Hague: Members of staff plan their training with their line managers. Records are not kept centrally.

Environmentally Sensitive Areas

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how many hectares of land in Wales are currently covered by environmentally sensitive area agreements; and if he will make a statement. [34988]

Mr. Gwilym Jones: A total of 84,710 hectares.

Milk Producers

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what is the number of registered milk producers in Wales; if he will express this number as a proportion of the total number of registered milk producers in England and Wales; and if he will make a statement. [34975]

Mr. Gwilym Jones: On 1 July 1995, there were 4,915 milk producers in Wales. This represents 17.6 per cent. of those registered in England and Wales.

Regional Selective Assistance

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of States for Wales what proportion of his Department's budget on regional selective assistance specifically targets Wales; and if he will make a statement. [35011]

Mr. Gwilym Jones: Information relating to regional selective assistance in Wales is published each year in the Welsh Office departmental report. Copies are available in the Library of the House.

Business Development Consortia

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how many business link shops have been opened in Wales; and if he will make a statement. [34937]

Mr. Gwilym Jones: The business link network operates in England only. In Wales, the eight business development consortia approved in January are working towards developing a business support network and I expect it to be operational within the next six months.

Rural Economy

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales, what is his estimate for the amount of expenditure which will be incurred in Wales during 1995–96 as a part of the rural economy scheme; and if he will make a statement. [34887]

Mr. Gwilym Jones: Rural Wales benefits from a number of schemes including the strategic development scheme, regional selective assistance, European structural funds, and support from the Welsh Development Agency and the Development Board for Rural Wales. Details of the expenditures are published in the Welsh Office departmental report.

David John Edwards

Mr. Dafis: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what representations he has received regarding probate of the will of the late David John Edwards of Talybont, Ceredigion; and if he will make a statement. [35483]

Mr. Gwilym Jones: No representations have been received.

HEALTH

Infertility

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what is his policy in respect of the recognition by the World Health Organisation of the condition that requires in-vitro fertilisation and/or gamete intra-fallopian transfer as an illness; and what guidance he has issued to health authorities. [33665]

Mr. Bowis: It is a matter for clinical judgment what treatment is appropriate for individual patients.

Mr. Hicks: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what advice health authorities located in the South-West and Wessex regional health authority area have sought from his Department about the most efficacious provision of infertility treatment and diagnosis in the last two years; and if he will make a statement; [34214]

(2) what contacts his Department has had with those district health authorities located in the South-West and Wessex regional health authority area about infertility treatment and investigation in the United Kingdom in the last two years; and if he will make a statement; [34264]

(3) if he will list exceptions to his policy that NHS treatments should be provided in the most cost-effective manner with specific reference to infertility treatment; and if he will make a statement. [34256]

Mr. Bowis: Advice on the provision of infertility treatment is available to all health authorities and clinicians in:

> The Effective Health Care Bulletin on "The Management of Subfertility" (August 1992), published for the NHS management executive by a consortium of Leeds and York universities and the research unit of the Royal College of Physicians.

The Royal College of Obstetricians and Gynaecologists has also published advice in "Infertility—Guidelines for Practice", RCOG Press 1992. Copies of both publications are available in the Library.

Health authorities in the South-West and Wessex RHA have not sought any particular advice from, nor been in contact with, the Department about infertility services over the last two years. Local health authorities are responsible for the provision of local health services, including the provision of infertility services. Decisions about the resources to be made available for these services must be left to individual health authorities as they are in the best position to determine priorities in the light of local needs and circumstances.

Mr. Matthew Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many (a) men and (b) women, have suffered from infertility problems for the last 10 years, by region. [34632]

Mr. Bowis: This information is not available.

NHS Indemnity

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will give consideration to the funding of legal claims to ensure that (a) purchasers and providers have access to insurance policies to indemnify themselves against claims and (b) budgets for patient services are not affected by the level of claims made against the unit; if he will consider any other schemes which will enable people with grievances against the national health service to have their complaints heard in whatever is the most appropriate manner with the most suitable redress and resolution being made available; and if he will make a statement. [33670]

Mr. Malone: My Department has no plans to fund legal claims made against national health service trusts.

Pilot schemes using mediation as an alternative means of handling clinical negligence claims have been launched in two English regions. We hope that mediation will prove to be a less stressful, more cost-effective and quicker option than litigation in some clinical negligence cases. Also, in response to the Wilson report "Being Heard", published in 1994, my Department published in March 1995, "Acting on Complaints", which sets out plans for a simpler, fairer and more effective NHS complaints system that we are aiming to produce from April 1996. Copies of both documents have been placed in the Library.

Foetuses

Mr. Patten: To ask the Secretary of State for Health, pursuant to the answer of 5 July, Official Report, column 221, on what grounds he has decided that no action is called for in the light of the evidence on whether foetuses feel pain. [34076]

Mr. Bowis: The report has been made available to the Royal College of Obstetricians and Gynaecologists. We shall keep this issue under careful review.

Research

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what research and findings his Department has carried out into (a) anonymous sero-testing reference samples MIF chlamydia/herpes serology, (b) comparisons between MCS 9406 UK calcipotrol solution and capasal in scalp psoriasis, (c) the treatment of patients suffering from chronic schizophrenia with open label seroquel, (d) a random and double-blind study of safety and efficacy of Tiagbire versus Carbamazapine as monotherapy in patients with partial seizures and (e) an MRI study of early childhood convulsions; what were the findings; and if he will make a statement. [34082]

Mr. Bowis: No research has been carried out on anonymised serum samples for chlamydia or herpes simplex, but the Department co-ordinates an unlinked anonymous prevalence monitoring programme in England and Wales for human immunodeficiency virus.

Medicinal products for use in clinical trials are regulated under the Medicines Act 1968 and subsidiary legislation. The Medicines Control Agency acting on behalf of the Licensing Authority, keeps confidential records of all applications to conduct clinical trials. Information from these records cannot be disclosed in accordance with section 118 of the Medicines Act.

Staff Costs, London

Mr. Cox: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what has been the cost of (a) managers and administrators and (b) medical staff working in the national health service in the Greater London area in each of the last 10 years. [34105]

Mr. Malone: This information could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Alcohol

Mr. Spellar: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what response his Department will be making to the World Health Organisation's European alcohol action plan. [34446]

Mr. Bowis: The Government's alcohol policies are set out in action against alcohol misuse, 1991, and in "The Health of the Nation".

Ophthalmic Patients (Burnley General Hospital)

Mr. Pike: To ask the Secretary of State for Health when the Medical Devices Agency will be publishing its report regarding the incident at Burnley general hospital in which ophthalmic patients each lost an eye; what plans he has to take action against the manufacturers or suppliers of the equipment; and if he will make a statement. [34544]

Mr. Bowis: The Medical Devices Agency has investigated the incident referred to and published a hazard notice, MDA HN 9503 May 1995, copies of which will be placed in the Library. The Medical Devices Agency is working with the manufacturers to ensure that improved instructions are provided to users of the devices.

Small Businesses

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will make a statement on the results of (a) his policies and (b) his Department in helping small businesses over the last 12 months as against the previous 12 months; and if he will publish the performance indicators by which his Department monitors those achievements and the statistical results of such monitoring. [34701]

Mr. Bowis: The Department recognises the important role that small firms play in supplying health care products, including goods and services, whether for use in this country or for export. The policies adopted by the Department in support of the health care industries favour all companies equally. The Department does not collect any statistics specifically about small companies. An equally important and increasing role is played by independent firms and organisations providing residential and respite care and domiciliary and day care services. Many, but not all, such firms are small and encouraged by Government policies.

Listeria

Mr. Martyn Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many public interest immunity certificates he has signed in respect of documents relating to listeria in the last 10 years; and if he will make a statement. [34407]

Mr. Bowis: My right hon. Friend has never signed a public interest immunity certificate.

Dr. Strang: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will list the total number of cases of reported listeria (a) for each year from 1985 and (b) for the latest available date. [34222]

Mr. Bowis: The number of cases of listeriosis reported to the Public Health Laboratory in England and Wales between 1985 and 1995 is as follows:

1986: 137
1987: 259
1988: 291
1989: 250
1990: 118
1991: 130
1992: 108
1993: 106
1994: 113 (provisional data)
1995: 16 (provisional data for first quarter)

Note:
These figures include a few cases from Northern Ireland.

Dr. Strang: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will list the number of reported cases of listeria associated with pregnancy (a) for each year from 1985 and (b) for the latest available date. [34223]

Mr. Bowis: The number of cases of pregnancy associated listeriosis reported to the Public Health Laboratory Service in England and Wales between 1985 and 1995 is as follows:

1987: 105
1988: 122
1989: 117
1990: 26
1991: 33
1992: 25
1993: 20
1994: 25 (provisional data)
1995: 1 (provisional data for first quarter)

Note:
These figures include a few cases from Northern Ireland.

Dr. Strang: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what discussions his Department has held with the World Health Organisation regarding listeria in food in the last five years. [34231]

Mr. Sackville: The Department maintains on-going contact with the World Health Organisation on food safety issues but has not held any specific discussions about food-borne listeriosis in the last five years.

Radiation Tests (Compensation)

Mr. Martyn Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many claims for compensation his Department has received relating to radiation tests on humans since 1965; and if he will make a statement. [34477]

Mr. Bowis: The Department is not aware of any such claims.

World Wide Web

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will make a statement on the work his Department has carried out in the last 12 months in making information about his Department available to the public via the Government world wide web server known as "www.open.gov.uk" and his plans and policies to make additional and new information available electronically on the server in the next 12 months. [34678]

Mr. Bowis: A selection of departmental information sources have been made available on the Government world wide web server—"http://www.open.gov.uk./doh/dhhome.htm"—since 20 June, including details of its strategic aims and objectives, national health service developments, departmental publications, progress on "The Health of the Nation" initiative and telephone inquiry services. These Internet home pages, currently under trial for six months, are being revised as new information becomes available. Following the end of the trial, a decision will be taken on whether to extend the current range of information services made available over the Internet.

Cancelled Operations

Mr. Spearing: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what regular monitoring his Department requires by hospitals, trusts or health district of the occasions when, prior to cancellation of an operation, a patient (a) arrives at hospital but is not admitted to a bed, (b) is admitted but undergoes no preparation and is not prohibited from food and drink and (c) is prepared for an operation or is prohibited from taking food and drink. [34362]

Mr. Bowis: None. Trust are required to monitor the number of occasions operations are cancelled on the day the patient is due to come into hospital or after the patient has been admitted and the occasions when a new date is not given within one months of the cancellation.

Infant Mortality

Sir Peter Lloyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what has been the rate of infant mortality as a percentage of live births for each of the years (a) 1975, (b) 1979, (c) 1983, (d) 1987, (e) 1991 and the latest 12 months for which statistics are available. [34726]

Mr. Bowis: The information is shown in the table.

Infant mortality rate as a percentage of live births for the years 1975, 1979, 1983, 1987, 1991 and 1994, England and Wales.

1983	1.01
1987	0.92
1991	0.74
1994	0.62

Epilepsy Research

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what research his Department has carried out into a comparison of lamotrigine and valproate monotherapy in patients with primary generalised seizures; with what findings; and if he will make a statement; [34728]

(2) what research his Department has carried out into epilepsy; with what findings; and if he will make a statement. [34729]

Mr. Bowis: I am not aware of any published or current research comparing lamotrigine and valproate in monotherapy in patients with primary generalised seizures.

The main agency through which the Government fund medical research is the Medical Research Council, which receives its grant in aid from the office of my right hon. Friend the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster.

Visually Impaired People

Mr. Tom Clarke: To ask the Secretary of State for health which institutions and organisations currently provide training for rehabilitation and mobility workers for visually impaired people; how many places on such courses are presently available; and how these institutions and organisations are funded. [35008]

Mr. Bowis: Training for rehabilitation and mobility workers for visually impaired people is currently provided by the university of Central England and by the Guide Dogs for the Blind Association. The university of Central England provides 16 places on the course for the diploma of higher education in rehabilitation studies and six on the course for the certificate of qualification in orientation and mobility with visually impaired children and young persons. The Guide Dogs for the Blind Association provides 33 placed on its diploma of higher education in rehabilitation studies courses in England and six places in Scotland.

I understand that the courses at the university of Central England are partly funded by the university with funds from the Higher Education Funding Council, supplemented by an annual grant from the Royal National Institute for the Blind, and also from income from student fees. The Guide Dogs for the Blind Association is a registered charity whose objects include promoting the welfare of all blind people. Courses are funded partly by the charity and also from income from student fees. Tuition fees for some students are met by local authorities, or their agents under contract to them for the provision of visual disability services. The Department's social services training support programme includes a specific sub-programme for visual disability training. Under the sub-programme, up to 70 per cent. of the tuition fees may be met by the Department of Health and the remainder by the sponsoring local authority.

Renal Services

Mr. Pike: To ask the Secretary of State for Health when the consultation period ended for the review of renal services; when his Department intends to publish these findings; and if he will make a statement. [35377]

Mr. Bowis: The renal review was an internal review for the Department of Health and it has not been issued for formal consultation. Ministers are currently considering the review.

Smoking

Ms Lynne: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what consideration his Department has given to the relationship between long-term smoking among women and the risk of developing breast cancer; what plans his Department has to introduce new warnings on tobacco products and advertisements informing female smokers of the risk of breast cancer; and if he will make a statement. [35264]

Mr. Bowis: The Department of Health is aware of published evidence[1] that smoking seems to increase the risk of developing breast cancer to a modest extent among women who have smoked for more than 30 years.

Government health warnings, which appear on all cigarette packets, include a statement warning smokers that smoking causes cancer. The Department of Health has no plans to change the health warnings.

[1] Cigarette smoking and breast cancer. Bennicke, K. Conrad, C. et al. BMJ Vol 310 pp 1431–1433, copies of which are available in the Library.

Community Nurses

Mrs. Beckett: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will publish a breakdown by region of the health visitors, district nurses and school nurses by each income band for September 1993 and the latest date for which information is available. [33251]

Mr. Sackville: This information is not available centrally.

Mrs. Beckett: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will publish a breakdown by region of the population numbers per health visitor on September 1992 and September 1993 and for the latest date for which information is available; and what is the number of health visitors (a) per under five and (b) per over 65 years in each region. [33253]

Mr. Sackville: The available information will be placed in the Library.

Mrs. Beckett: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many community nurses were employed by each health authority and, where relevant, by each trust within London in each year since 1987. [33252]

Mr. Bowis: This information could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Community Care Services

Mr. Alex Carlile: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what is his assessment of the percentage of NHS beds blocked due to unavailability of community care services; and if he will make a statement. [34258]

Mr. Bowis: I refer the hon. and learned Member to the reply I gave my hon. Friend the Member for South Colchester and Maldon (Mr. Whittingdale) on 22 June, column 342.

Drugs (Payments)

Mr. Alex Carlile: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what were the figures for disbursements by the Prescription Pricing Authority in England for 1992–93 in respect of payments for drugs to dispensing doctors and drugs supplied by prescribing doctors in terms of the (a) net ingredient cost, (b) discounted cost, (c) VAT, (d) container allowance, (e) dispensing fees, (f) on costs and (g) in total. [34260]

Mr. Malone: Payments made by family health services authorities for 1992–93 were as follows:

Payments made to Chemists and Appliance Contractors for prescriptions dispensed

Net ingredient cost	2,697,766

Immunisation (Tuberculosis)

Mr. Alex Carlile: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will consider targeting immunisation vaccination for tuberculosis at high-risk groups; and if he will make a statement. [34262]

Mr. Bowis: The Department's recommendation for Bacille-Calmette Guérin immunisation against tuberculosis are contained in the United Kingdom health departments' memorandum "Immunisation against Infectious Disease", copies of which are available in the Library. In addition to the schools' immunisation programme, BCG immunisation is already recommended for certain high-risk groups which include certain contacts of cases, immigrants from countries with a high prevalence of tuberculosis and their infants wherever they were born, certain health care and veterinary staff and some overseas travellers.

Dental Services

Mr. Alex Carlile: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will make a statement on the progress that has been made on the consultation and implementation of the Government's proposals for NHS dentistry as announced in April. [34257]

Mr. Malone: The Government are working closely with the General Dental Services Committee on the detailed development of the reform proposals that I announced to the House on 5 April, Official Report, columns 1213-15. We are making good progress and aim to move to implement the reform measures in due course.

Long-term Health Care

Mr. Alex Carlile: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what is the percentage of the population requiring long-term health care for each of the last 10 years for which figures are available; what is his estimate of the percentage of the population requiring long-term health care for each of the next 10 years; and if he will make a statement. [34259]

Mr. Bowis: People with long-term health care needs are supported by a wide range of services purchased by the national health service, including in-patient hospital care, general practitioner and primary care support, and continuing care in hospital or an alternative facility. Information on the percentage of population receiving these services who have continuing health care needs is not aggregated centrally.

Day Care (Elderly)

Mr. Alex Carlile: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what guidelines are issued by his Department to health authorities on what day care facilities should be provided for the elderly; and if he will make a statement. [34261]

Mr. Bowis: The national health service executive wrote to health authorities in February 1995 drawing their attention to two publications from the Royal College of Physicians and British Geriatrics Society entitled "Geriatric Day Hospitals—their role and guidelines for good practice" and "Clinical audit scheme for geriatric day hospitals". Health authorities were asked to ensure that these documents inform their strategic planning and purchasing processes for services for elderly people. Copies are available in the Library.

NHS Organ Donor Register

Mr. Alex Carlile: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many people have joined the NHS organ donor register; and if he will make a statement. [34263]

Mr. Bowis: Since the national health service organ donor register was launched on 6 October 1994, over 1.5 million people have joined the register, of which around 400,000 of these were transferred from the existing lifeline Wales register. We shall continue to promote the NHS organ donor register and to support publicity campaigns for this important initiative to encourage organ donation.

Food Safety

Dr. Strang: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what discussions and advice his Department has been involved with regarding food safety issues with members of the medical profession in the last five years; [34227]

(2) what discussions and advice his Department has been involved with regarding concerns over listeria in food, with members of the medical profession in the last five years. [34228]

Mr. Sackville: The Department maintains on-going contact with the medical profession of food safety issues, including food-borne listeriosis. The Department also receives expert advice on microbiological food safety from the Advisory Committee on the Microbiological Safety of Food which includes members of the medical profession.

Transplant Surgery

Mr. Byers: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many patients in England and Wales are awaiting transplant surgery for each organ in each health region for the latest year for which information is available. [34646]

Mr. Bowis: The tables show the information for the year ending 31 December 1994, and the same information as at 12 July 1995. There is considerable variation between the numbers waiting in each region because heart, lung and liver transplants are funded supra-regionally.

Table 1: Number of patients on the national United Kingdom Transplant Support Services Authority transplant waiting list at 31 December 1994 by region of registration

Medical Graduates

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what information his Department holds on the numbers of (a) doctors and (b) nurses who do not take on NHS posts after completing their training. [34786]

Mr. Malone: This information is not available centrally.

NHS Staff

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what information his Department or the NHS executive hold on (a) managerial and (b) general practitioner posts that are vacant. [34783]

Mr. Malone: None. I refer the hon. Member to the reply I gave him on 12 June, Official Report, column 361, about general practitioner vacancies.

Consultants (Early Retirement)

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many consultants have taken early retirement in each region in each quarter over the last five years. [34787]

Mr. Malone: Regional information is not available centrally.

Waiting Times

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many patients in each region waiting (a) more than six months for an out-patient appointment and (b) more than 18 months for in-patient or day care treatment belong to (i) general practitioner fundholder practices and (ii) non-general practitioner fundholder practices. [34825]

Mr. Malone: This information is not available centrally.

GP Fundholding

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many patients in each region belong to (a) general practitioner fundholder practices and (b) non-general practitioner fundholder practices. [34894]

Mr. Malone: I refer the hon. Member to the reply I gave to the hon. Member for Cardiff, West (Mr. Morgan) on 15 March, Official Report, columns 579–80, and to the reply I gave the right hon. Member for Derby, South (Mrs. Beckett) on 24 May, Official Report, columns 595–96.

Nursing Posts

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will list by region the number of nursing posts in each specialty that have been vacant in each of the last three years. [34782]

Mr. Bowis: Information on the number and rate of nursing vacancies in the national health service is collected by the Office of Manpower Economics and is reproduced in the reports produced by the Review Body for Nurses, Midwives, Health Visitors and Professions Allied to Medicine, copies of which are available in the Library.

Medicines Control Agency

Mr. Hain: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what meetings the Medicines Control Agency has recently held with (a) health food manufacturers, (b) consumers organisations, (c) pharmaceutical companies and (d) nutritional therapists to discuss European companies and policy on dietary supplements; and what plans he has as a result to change his Department's policy on the forthcoming European Commission consultation document on dietary supplements. [35096]

Mr. Bowis: The Medicines Control Agency has not, and does not, hold meetings with any organisations to discuss policy on dietary supplements as its regulatory responsibility is for medicinal products.

Consultants

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much his Department and its agencies have spent on computer consultancy in each of the last five years and what is the expected expenditure over the next five years.

Mr. Bowis [holding answer 12 July 1995]: The total expenditure on computer consultancy by the Department and its agencies in each of the last five years was:

1991–92: £12.57 million
1992–93: £13.65 million
1993–94: £13.25 million
1994–95: £14.51 million

Expenditure over the next five years will depend on future requirements and the outcome of a market-testing exercise presently being undertaken by the Department.

NHS Staff

Mrs. Beckett: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what is the total number and how much money has been expended on administrative staff, including general and senior managers and clerical and secretarial staff, in each of the last five years (a) in total and (b) by district health authority, family health services authority, regional health authority, and his Department. [26285]

Mr. Malone [holding answer 25 May 1995]: The available information of health authorities will be placed in the Library. For the total numbers of staff for the last five years, I refer the right hon. Member to the statistical bulletins, copies of which are in the Library. For the total costs of staff for the year 1989–90, 1990–91, 1991–92 and 1992–93, I refer the right hon. Member to the health and personal social services statistics for England 1994 edition, copies of which are in the Library. The total cost of staff as requested for 1993–94—provisional—is £2,277,566,000.

Data on staff numbers for district health authorities cannot be provided for 1989 and 1990 because the aggregate figures collected for those years do not identify staff in DHA headquarters separately. The 1993 figures cannot be provided because some DHA HQs could not be disaggregated from the whole DHA figure. No data are available for 1991 or 1992 because the figures for DHAs, regional health authorities and family health services authorities cannot be disaggregated.

FHSAs were created in September 1990, replacing family practitioner committees. Since 1990, it has not been possible to identify the numbers and categories of staff employed by individual FHSAs. Details of the total number and the amount of money expended on administrative staff in my Department are provided in tables 12 and 13 of the Department's annual report, Command Paper 2812, copies of which are available in the Library.

Auditors' Remuneration

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much (a) health authorities and (b) trusts have spent on auditors' remuneration in each year since 1992, by region. [34159]

Mr. Bowis [holding answer 13 July 1995]: Information for 1993–94 is as follows:

1993–94: Auditor remuneration (£000)

Region	Health authorities	NHS trusts
Northern	1,607	1,051
Yorkshire	1,133	1,886
Trent	1,694	1,772

North Western	1,682	1,016

Note:

1. The figure is the fee for auditing the annual accounts and returns plus value for money studies.

2. The London postgraduate teaching hospitals (SHAs) are not included in the table.

Information for 1992–93 was presented on a different basis, and is therefore not comparable with 1993–94.

HOME DEPARTMENT

Police Cells

Mr. Straw: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what has been the cost of keeping prisoners in police cells (a) in each year since police cells have been used for this purpose and (b) in total. [34434]

Miss Widdecombe [holding answer 14 July 1995]: Responsibility for this matter has been delegated to the Director General of the Prison Service, who has been asked to arrange for a reply to be given.

Letter from Derek Lewis to Mr. Jack Straw, dated 17 July 1995:

The Home Secretary has asked me to reply to your recent Question about the cost of keeping prisoners in police cells (a) in each year since police cells have been used for this purpose and (b) in total.

The information requested is given in the attached table.

Ms Mowlam: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) what was the total cost of holding prisoners in police cells per year by police force area for each year since 1987; [33478]

(2) how many prisoner nights were spent in police cells for each year since 1987. [33479]

Miss Widdecombe: Responsibility for these matters has been delegated to the Director General of the Prison Service, who has been asked to arrange for a reply to be given.

Letter from Derek Lewis to Ms Marjorie Mowlam, dated 17 July 1995.

The Home Secretary has asked me to reply to your recent Questions about the number of prisoner nights spent in police cells for each year since 1987, and the total cost of holding prisoners in police cells per year by police force area for each year since 1987.

Information on the number of prisoner nights spent in police cells before 1990 is not available. Information for each year since 1990 is given in table 1.

Information on the cost of holding prisoners in police cells by police force area before 1994 could be obtained only at disproportionate cost. Details of costs by police force area for 1994 and the total costs of holding prisoners in police cells for the financial years 1986–87—1994–95 are given in tables 2 and 3.

Table 1: Number of prisoner nights spent in police cells 1990–1995

Ms Mowlam: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what was the cost of holding prisoners in police cells (a) per night and (b) in total, over the last 12 months. [33477]

Miss Widdecombe: Responsibility for this matter has been delegated to the Director General of the Prison Service, who has been asked to arrange for a reply to be given.

Letter from Derek Lewis to Ms Marjorie Mowlam, dated 17 July 1995:

The Home Secretary has asked me to reply to your recent Question about the cost of holding prisoners in police cells (a) per night and (b) in total, over the last 12 months, by police force area.

Currently available provisional information is given in the table attached.

Table showing average cost of holding prisoners in police cells per prisoner night and the total cost from 1 June 1994 up to, and including, 15 June 1995 by police force area

Police force area	Average cost per prisoner night £	Total cost £
Greater Manchester	277	11,807,172
South Yorkshire[2]	1,746	75,088
Lancashire	244	400,914
North Wales[2]	1,272	25,443
Merseyside	251	116,907
West Yorkshire	Figures not avaialble[1]
Cheshire	Figures not avaialble[1]

[1] These areas have not yet submitted any invoices.
[2] The comparatively high average cost in these areas is caused by the fact that they only hold small numbers of prisoners on a sporadic basis.

Police Compensation Payments

Mr. Byers: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how much has been paid out by the Metropolitan police by way of (a) out of court settlements and (b) compensation in each year since 1984; and how much has so far been paid this year. [34647]

Mr. Maclean: The information is set out in the table.

Year	Out of Court Settlements £	Compensation £
1984	162,000	15,000
1985	194,000	14,000

Mary Druhan

Mr. Hinchliffe: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when he expects to complete his review of the case of Mary Druhan of HM prison, New Hall; and if he will make a statement. [34512]

Mr. Nicholas Baker: Representations submitted by Justice that Mary Druhan was wrongfully convicted are still under consideration and the Metropolitan police are making inquiries into a number of matters in them. When their report is received, the review of Mary Druhan's case will be concluded as speedily as possible.

Ministerial Meetings (Police Representatives)

Mr. Berry: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department if he will list the last three dates on which he met (a) representatives of the Association of Chief Police Officers and (b) representatives of local police authorities, excluding in each case meetings chaired by Home Office officials. [34389]

Mr. Maclean: My right hon. and learned Friend met representatives of the Association of Chief Police Officers on 6 June, 29 June and 5 July 1995 and representatives of local police authorities on 17 February, 8 June and 5 July 1995.

Stalking

Mr. Michael: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department by what date he hopes to publish the results of his Department's review of the law on stalking. [34797]

Mr. Maclean: We are looking at the anti-stalking laws of the United States and Canada to see if there are any lessons to be learnt from them.

We are presently awaiting further details from these countries and therefore I cannot say when this examination is likely to be completed. We shall consider whether there is a need for a formal review of our legislation in the light of this examination and the examination of other evidence which has been provided to us by the national anti-stalking and harassment campaign among others.

Child Witnesses

Mr. Michael: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what measures his Department intends to take to reduce the trauma experienced by child witnesses in court following the findings of the Leicester university research into the effectiveness of the special provisions for child witnesses contained in the Criminal Justice Act 1991; and if he will make a statement. [34796]

Mr. Maclean: We are considering the findings of the report, and in particular whether the memorandum of good practice on video-recorded interviews with child witnesses should be revised to take account of them.

IRA Prisoners (Visitors)

Mr. Madden: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) what new restrictions concerning visiting rights have been imposed on IRA prisoners in Her Majesty's prisons in Britain; what representations he has received concerning such restrictions; and if he will make a statement; [33946]

(2) how many republican prisoners in Her Majesty's prisons have had visiting rights removed; if visiting by legal advisers and consular visits are included; how many category A prisoners, including republican prisoners, now have closed visits; and if he will make a statement. [33944]

Miss Widdecombe [holding answer 12 July 1995]: Responsibility for these matters has been delegated to the Director General of the Prison Service, who has been asked to arrange for a reply to be given.

Letter from Derek Lewis to Mr. Max Madden, dated 17 July 1995:

The Home Secretary has asked me to reply to your recent Questions about visiting arrangements for IRA prisoners.

No Republican prisoners have had visiting rights removed. A policy of closed visits for all exceptional risk category A prisoners was introduced on 19 June. There are currently 13 such prisoners, 8 of whom are Irish terrorists. There are a further 27 category A Irish terrorists not classified as exceptional risk who are therefore unaffected by this policy. Representations or inquiries have been received from a firm of solicitors, a member of the Irish Parliament, the Irish embassy and a member of the United Kingdom Parliament. The policy applies to all visits including legal and consular visits.

St. Charles' Centre, Brentwood

Mrs. Roche: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what effects he expects the closure of St. Charles' centre, Brentwood, to have on the prison population. [33811]

Miss Widdecombe [holding answer 12 July 1995]: Responsibility for this matter has been delegated to the Director General of the Prison Service, who has been asked to arrange for a reply to be given.

Letter from Derek Lewis to Mrs. Barbara Roche, dated 17 July 1995:

The Home Secretary has asked me to reply to your recent Question about what effects he expects the closure of St Charles Centre, Brentwood to have on the prison population.

There will be no measurable effect on the prison population as a result of the closure of St Charles. The Home Office has placed no newly sentenced detainees at St Charles for the past twelve months and none of the existing occupants will be transferred to Young Offender Institutions.

Remand Prisoners

Mr. Byers: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many people, by Crown court circuit region, are on remand in custody awaiting trial in the Crown court. [34806]

Miss Widdecombe: Responsibility for this matter has been delegated to the Director General of the Prison Service, who has been asked to arrange for a reply to be given.

Letter from Derek Lewis to Mr. Stephen Byers, dated 17 July 1995:

The Home Secretary has asked me to reply to your recent Question asking how many people, by Crown Court circuit region, are on remand in custody awaiting trial in the Crown Court.

The available information shows that there were 4,224 untried prisoners in Prison Service establishments on 31 May 1995 in England and Wales who were committed for, or were in the course of, trial at the Crown Court. A breakdown by Crown Court circuit region is not available.

Mr. Cox: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what is the average period of time for which a person has been held on remand in custody in prisons in England and Wales during the last 12 months. [34349]

Miss Widdecombe: Responsibility for this matter has been delegated to the Director General of the Prison Service, who has been asked to arrange for a reply to be given.

Letter from Derek Lewis to Mr. Tom Cox, dated 17 July 1995:

The Home Secretary has asked me to reply to your recent Question asking what is the average period of time for which a person has been held on remand in custody in prisons in England and Wales during the last 12 months.

The information requested is given in the attached table.

Estimated average time spent in custody for untried and convicted unsentenced prisoners, in Prison Service establishments in England and Wales, June 1994–May 1995[1]

Type of custody	Receptions June 1994–May 1995	Estimated average number of days in custody[4]
Untried[2]	55,802	59
Convicted unsentenced[3]	29,191	39

[1] Provisional figures.
[2] Time spent in custody before conviction.
[3] Time spent in custody after conviction before sentence.
[4] Estimated from number of receptions and average population in 1994–95.

Assaults on Police

Mr. Cox: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many police officers have been stabbed in the course of their duties by a person carrying a knife in the period from 1 January to 30 June within the Greater London area. [34763]

Mr. Maclean: I understand from the Commissioner of Police of the Metropolis that during the period 1 January to 31 May 10 Metropolitan police officers suffered injury as the result of an attack with a sharp instrument. Figures for the period after 31 May are not yet available.

Prison Boards of Visitors

Mr. Cox: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many (a) men and (b) women are members of boards of visitors at prisons in England and Wales. [34765]

Miss Widdecombe: There are 923 men and 785 women who are members of boards of visitors at prisons in England and Wales.

Mr. Cox: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what is the number of (a) men and (b) women of an ethnic minority background who are members of boards of visitors at prisons in England and Wales as at 1 July. [34345]

Miss Widdecombe: As at 1 July there were 83 men and 45 women of an ethnic minority background who were members of boards of visitors at prisons in England and Wales.

Deputy Prime Minister

Mr. Winnick: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what will be the involvement of the Deputy Prime Minister in the work of his Department. [34034]

Mr. Howard: I refer the hon. Member to the reply given by the Prime Minister in reply to a question from the hon. Member for Pembroke (Mr. Ainger) on 11 July, Official Report, column 496–97.

Exclusion Orders

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many exclusion orders have been issued in each month of 1995. [34019]

Mr. Howard: Three exclusion orders have been made so far this year; one in each of the months of January, May and June. Each was made on the expiry of an existing exclusion order. During the same period 20 orders have been revoked or allowed to expire; no order has been made against persons who were not previously excluded.

Remission of Sentence

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what decision he has taken on the harmonisation of rates of remission on prison sentences between England, Wales and Northern Ireland. [34020]

Mr. Howard: There are no plans to change the present arrangements for the early release of prisoners in England and Wales. Arrangements for the early release of prisoners in Northern Ireland are a matter for my right hon. and learned Friend the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland.

Prison Nurses

Mr. Cox: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what control and restraint training is given to nurses working in prisons in England and Wales. [34081]

Miss Widdecombe: Responsibility for this matter has been delegated to the Director General of the Prison Service, who has been asked to arrange for a reply to be given.

Letter from Derek Lewis to Mr. Tom Cox, dated 17 July 1995:

The Home Secretary has asked me to reply to your Question about what control and restraint training is given to nurses working in prisons in England and Wales.

The policy is that all new entrant nurses should receive initial control and restraint training at their prison establishment during the first weeks of their induction programme into the Prison Service. In addition, provision exists for centrally organised training in the security/control elements of prison nursing at the Prison Service College. The training is to the same standard as that applied to new entrant prison officers. Since February 1993, when the training policy came into effect, 296 nurses have completed the course and a further 75 are due to be trained by April 1996.

Immigration Detainees

Miss Hoey: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many people were held as suspected illegal immigrants or deportees in police cells in the Metropolitan police district between 1 January and 30 June (a) for up to 24 hours, (b) for between 24 hours and seven days, and (c) for over seven days. [33997]

Mr. Nicholas Baker: The information requested is not readily available and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Private Finance Initiative

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what has been achieved, in terms of projects and cash, by the private finance initiative in the past year. [34023]

Mr. Howard: In the past year a range of projects has been taken forward. The present position on projects which are being developed, or are strong candidates, for funding through private finance, is as follows:

Project	Achievement to date
Design, Build, Manage and Finance prisons at Fazakerley and Bridgend	Tenders assessed. Contracts to be let shortly
Design, Build, Manage and Finance Secure Training Centres for Young Offenders: Gringley and Cookham Wood	Tenders being assessed
Design, Build, Manage and Finance three further Secure Training Centres	Invitation to tender in preparation
Police National Network	Contract in place
Public Safety Radio Communications Project	In design
Central development of IT projects for police forces	In design
Immigration Detention Accommodation:
Gatwick	In construction
Heathrow	In design
Immigration and Nationality Caseworking Management Information System	In design

The capital value of these schemes is estimated at £1.2 billion.

Corporate Manslaughter

Mr. Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what consideration has been given to the implications of the recent case in Hong Kong involving Ajax Engineers and Surveyors for the law covering corporate manslaughter in the United Kingdom; and if he will make a statement. [34304]

Mr. Maclean: The Law Commission is currently examining the law on involuntary manslaughter, including corporate manslaughter. We will consider the implications of this case together with the commission's recommendations when it produces a report.

Libyan Bureau

Sir Teddy Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department if he was consulted by the appropriate overseas Government about the use of a property adjacent to the Libyan Bureau at 5 St. James's street by an intelligence organisation in 1984, details of which have been sent to him, and if he will make a statement. [33971]

Mr. Howard: I am unable to add anything to the exchange of correspondence between my hon. Friend the Member for Southend, East (Sir T. Taylor) and my right hon. and learned Friend the Member for Grantham (Mr. Hogg) on the circumstances surrounding the death of WPC Fletcher.

Staff (Shareholdings)

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many staff in his Department or its agencies have (a) declared any company shareholdings they hold or (b) been advised to dispose of shareholdings in the last five years, indicating the companies concerned. [33414]

Mr. Howard: I refer the hon. Member to the reply given to him on 1 May, Official Report, column 93. The information is not readily available.

Public Interest Immunity

Mr. Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department if he will list the names of the deceased in all cases of deaths in custody since 1987 in which public interest immunity was authorised; who authorised it; and for what reason. [33343]

Miss Widdecombe: The information requested, which relates to deaths in police custody as well as Prison Service custody, could be obtained only at disproportionate cost. However, in relation to prison custody, inquiries show that from 1992 to the present there was one occasion when a public interest immunity certificate was signed in connection with a death in prison custody. This was in connection with a prosecution for the murder of a prisoner where a certificate was signed by the Home Secretary in connection with certain security-sensitive material.

Mr. Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department who authorised the public interest immunity in the case of Mr. Omasese Lumumba; and if he will make a statement. [33342]

Miss Widdecombe: So far as I am aware, no claim for public interest immunity was made in this case.

Consultants

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department if he will indicate which five consultancy firms have received most contracts from his Department by (a) by number of contracts and (b) monetary value in the last five years for which figures are available. [33441]

Mr. Howard: Information on contracts that my Department has let to consultants in general for the period specified is not held centrally, and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost. I am, however, able to provide information for contracts let to management consultants during the last two financial years. Information prior to 1993–94 is not held centrally and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

The five management consultancy firms that have received most contracts from my Department during the previous two financial years are as follows:

Coopers and Lybrand (x5) = 1st

PA Consulting (x5) = 1st

Price Waterhouse (x5) = 1st

L. Massey (x3) = 2nd

1994–95

Coopers and Lybrand (x6) = 1st

Sema Group (x6) = 1st

Price Waterhouse (x4) = 2nd

Ernst and Young (x3) = 3rd

KPMG (x3) = 3rd

PA Consulting (x3) = 3rd

Information on the five management consultancies that have received the most contracts from my Department in monetary value for 1993–94 is not readily available, and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost. The information for 1994–95, in monetary value order, is as follows:

1994–95

1. Sema Group
2. Coopers and Lybrand
3. Lazard Brothers
4. Price Waterhouse
5. Ernst and Young

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many contracts his Department has had with consultants; and what has been the total cost in each of the last five years. [33567]

Mr. Howard: Information on contracts that my Department has let to consultants in general for the period specified is not held centrally, and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost. I am, however, able to provide the number of contracts let to management consultancies, including the overall cost, during 1994–95. For information prior to 1994–95 I would refer the hon. Member to the reply given by my hon. Friend the Member for Bexhill and Battle (Mr. Wardle) on 23 March 1994, Official Report, column 223. The information for 1994–95 is as follows:

> During the 1994–95 financial year the Home Office let 72 contracts to management consultants at a total cost of £2,686,343.

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many contracts and for what total sum were let out by his Department and agencies for which it is responsible to (a) Coopers and Lybrand and its subsidiaries, (b) Peat Marwick and its subsidiaries, (c) Ernst and Young and its subsidiaries, (d) Arthur Andersen and its subsidiaries, (e) Price Waterhouse and its subsidiaries, (f) Grant Thornton and its subsidiaries, (g) Stoy Hayward and its subsidiaries, (h) Robson Rhodes and its subsidiaries, and (i) Pannell and Kerr Foster and its subsidiaries for privatisation, market testing, management advice, accounting, audit, consultancy and other services in 1993–94 and 1994–95. [33914]

Mr. Howard: For the period specified, information on the number of contracts let to each listed company for the specified consultancies and the total sum paid to each company by my Department is as follows:

1994–95

Consultant	Privatisation	Market testing	Management advice	Accounting	Audit	Consultancy	Other services	Total sum

Prisoner Transfers

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department if he will make a statement about his intentions for the movement of Northern Irish prisoners, currently held in prisons in Great Britain, to prisons in Northern Ireland. [33024]

Mr. Howard: The Criminal Justice Act 1961 provides for prisoners to request either permanent or temporary transfer from one United Kingdom jurisdiction to another. Requests for transfer continue to be considered on their individual merits under criteria announced to the House on 23 November 1992.

NATIONAL HERITAGE

Privacy and Media Intrusion

Mr. Allen: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage when she will publish the Government's paper on privacy. [34066]

Mr. Sproat: My right hon. Friend the Secretary of State published the Government's response to the National Heritage Committee's report on privacy and media intrusion today.

Millennium Fund

Mrs. Roche: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage (1) who will be deciding which of the long-listed projects for millennium funding should be short-listed; and what criteria they will be using; [34495]

(2) what criteria were used to identify millennium fund projects as viably not proven or not sufficiently distinctive; who decided those criteria; and who decided that the long-listed projects should be long-listed; [34497]

(3) pursuant to the answer of 3 July, Official Report, column 22, in which parliamentary constituencies the projects which have gone forward to the detailed appraisal stage for millennium funding are situated; [34536]

(4) when she expects to complete appraisal of the long-listed projects for millennium funding; and when she expects to announce all of the successful projects. [34496]

Mrs. Virginia Bottomley: These are matters for the Millennium Commission. I shall reply to the hon. Member in my capacity as chairman of the commission and place copies of my replies in the Libraries of the House.

Export Licences

Mr. Faulds: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage if she will list the items for which the issuing of export licences was withheld on the recommendation of the Reviewing Committee on the Export of Works of Art during the half-year ended 30 June, specifying in each case the valuation, whether an item was (a) exported or (b) retained, listing for (c) the acquiring institutions; and if she will list those items for which licences have been withheld but the final disposal of which has not yet been decided, specifying in each case (i) the valuation and (ii) the relevant time limit. [34221]

Mr. Sproat: The information is as follows:

Description of item	Valuation (£)	Outcome
A painting, 'A repentant Sinner turning away from Temptation', by Johann Liss, circa 1597—circa 1630)	1,007,512.50	Export licence application withdrawn.

Works of Art in Lieu of Inheritance Tax

Mr. Faulds: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage if she will list the allocations made to public institutions in the United Kingdom during the half-year ended 30 June of individual works of art and museum objects pre-eminent for national, scientific, historic or artistic interest which have been accepted in satisfaction of inheritance tax, indicating, where applicable, the conditions and wishes expressed by testators or executors in the matter of allocation; and if she will list the works of art and museum objects which are still awaiting allocation, with the respective dates of their acceptance in satisfaction of inheritance tax. [34220]

Mr. Sproat: The information that the hon. Member requested is as follows:

Item	To whom allocated	Condition/wishes

Amsterdam (Wreck Site)

Sir Cranley Onslow: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage what assessment she has made as to whether the Protection of Wrecks (Designation No. 3) Order 1974 in respect of the site of the vessel Amsterdam is being adequately enforced. [33335]

Mr. Sproat [holding answer 13 July 1995]: The Amsterdam is inspected as part of a rolling programme of regular monitoring of designated wreck sites by the archaeological diving unit under contract to the Department of National Heritage. The ADU plans to visit the site next month. Following its previous visit in 1991, it concluded that there was no evidence to suggest unauthorised interference.

Rollerblading

Mr. Flynn: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage how many accidents she is aware of that have been attributed to the sport of rollerblading in the latest available period. [34122]

Mr. Sproat: I am aware of only one fatal accident, which occurred last week in Hyde park.

Mr. Flynn: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage what proposals she has to introduce controls over the sporting activity of rollerblading. [34124]

Mr. Sproat: The Government have no plans to introduce national controls on in-line skating. Local authorities in England and Wales are able to make byelaws to prohibit or regulate the use of roller skates and similar equipment in parks and open spaces and on footways and carriageways. My right hon. and learned Friend the Home Secretary is the confirming authority for such byelaws. In the royal parks, the agency has regulations prohibiting irresponsible and reckless behaviour by any park user.

OVERSEAS DEVELOPMENT ADMINISTRATION

Disability

43. Mr. Rowe: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will list the grants given by his Department as overseas development aid to assist in the treatment and rehabilitation of disability. [32798]

Mr. Hanley: In 1994–95, we made grants of £985,000 through the joint funding scheme in support of 52 projects directly concerned with disabled people. In addition, providing assistance to people with disabilities forms an integral part of many of our programmes concerned with improving the health of poor people in developing countries.

Animal Conservation (Africa)

44. Mr. Tony Banks: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how much has been spent on animal conservation schemes in Africa in the current financial year. [32799]

Mr. Hanley: We plan to spend over £4 million in this financial year to help countries in Africa conserve and manage their wildlife resources more effectively.

Aid Budget

45. Mr. Barnes: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what percentage of gross domestic product has been allocated to overseas aid in the currently financial year. [32800]

Mr. Hanley: International comparison of aid flow figures are normally presented in relation to gross national product on a calendar year basis. In 1994, the latest year for which figures are available, UK net official development assistance was 0.31 per cent. of GNP.

Overseas Students

46. Mr. Fabricant: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what proportion of his Department's expenditure for the last 12 months for which data are available was spent on providing further and higher education in the United Kingdom for overseas nationals; and if he will make a statement. [32801]

Mr. Hanley: In the financial year 1994–95, the FCO spent £95 million on the provision of further and higher education in the United Kingdom for overseas nationals. This represented 2.6 per cent. of the total FCO budget of some £3.6 billion and supported nearly 13,000 students. The figures do not include various other training attachments for which figures are not centrally held.

Trade Union Movement

47. Mr. MacShane: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assistance he is giving the independent trade union movement in (a) Indonesia and (b) China. [32802]

Mr. Hanley: The British Government are not giving any assistance to the independent trade union movement in China or Indonesia.

Sudan

Mr. Bayley: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will make a statement about humanitarian assistance to Sudan. [32795]

Mr. Hanley: Britain is a major donor of humanitarian aid to Sudan. Since January 1991, we have provided over £92 million in emergency assistance, including about 140,000 tonnes of food aid and our share of EU actions.

United Nations Population Fund

Mr. Alton: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what information he has of the total value of the donations given by the UNFPA to population policies and organisations in China since 1979. [32007]

Mr. Hanley: The UNFPA has allocated US$152.453 million since 1979 for its activities in China.

Non-governmental Organisations (Grants)

Sir John Stanley: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will list the amount of funding given by his Department to each non-governmental organisation, other than under the joint funding scheme or for emergencies, in each of the financial years 1993–94, 1994–95 and 1995–96 to date. [34146]

Mr. Hanley [holding answer 14 July 1995]: Details of funds given to non-governmental organisations other than under the joint funding scheme or for emergencies in 1993–94 are shown in the table.

Figures for 1994–95 and 1995–96 to date are not yet available.

Sir John Stanley: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will list the amounts granted to United Kingdom non-governmental organisations by the European Union in the last three years for which figures are available (a) for projects in developing countries, (b) for development education and (c) for other projects. [34149]

Mr. Hanley [holding answer 14 July 1995]: UK NGOs are eligible for funding under a variety of budget lines within the external chapter of the EC budget. Details of activities under these budget lines are provided in the Commission's annual report on co-operation with NGOs, which is deposited in Parliament and on which an explanatory memorandum is provided. Apart from the main co-financing line—B7-5010—the most significant budget lines are those for humanitarian and food aid.

Available figures on grants to UK NGOs are set out in the table. These exclude grants of food aid to UK NGOs and also grants for activities in central and eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union.

Category of grant	1992	1993	1994
(a) Projects in developing countries under budget line B7-5010	16.72 mecu (£14.08 million[1])	18.01 mecu (£15.16 million)	20.89 mecu (£17.59 million)
(b) Development education under budget line B7-5010	1.89 mecu (£1.59 million)	2.05 mecu (£1.73 million)	1.92 mecu (£1.62 million)
(c) EC humanitarian aid	n/a	18.76 mecu (£15.80 million)	32.85 mecu (£27.66 million)

n/a = not available.

Sir John Stanley: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will list the amount of Overseas Development Administration joint funding scheme grant given to each non-governmental organisation, in each of the financial years 1993–94, 1994–95 and 1995–96 to date. [34148]

Mr. Hanley [holding answer 14 July 1995]: Details of the joint funding scheme grants given to non-governmental organisations in each of the financial years 1993–94, 1994–95 and 1995–96 to date are shown in the tables.

Ministerial Visits

Mr. Harry Greenway: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what plans he has to visit third world countries during the recess to discuss trade related to aid; and if he will make a statement. [33087]

Mr. Hanley: My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary has no plans at present to undertake such visits.

The overarching goal of the aid programme is to reduce poverty in developing countries by promoting genuinely sustainable development. It is in all our interests to have prosperous and stable trading partners.

Women (Status)

Mrs. Anne Campbell: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what proportion of the United Kingdom aid budget is spent on promoting the status of women. [32796]

Mr. Hanley: In 1993–94 12.7 per cent. of the aid budget was spent on activities related to promoting women's status. This compares with 7.5 per cent. in the previous year.

East Timor

Mrs. Clwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs, pursuant to his answer of 4 July, Official Report, columns 113–14, at what place the local training courses for officials from Government departments in East Timor were conducted; and who was engaged to carry out the training. [34311]

Mr. Hanley [holding answer 13 July 1995]: The training took place in Dili. It was carried out by a team of Indonesian officials from departments which were concerned with land use planning, and a member of a provincial university. A UK trainer from the Natural Resources Institute supported the team.

Indonesia

Mrs. Clwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs (1) when his Department received a formal request from DTI to appraise his radio studios rehabilitation project in Indonesia; on what date his Department completed its appraisal of the project; whom his Department engaged to appraise the project; on what dates visits were made to the radio studios for the purposes of the appraisal and by whom the visits were made; at the time of the economic appraisal; what were (i) the "present value" of the benefits and (ii) the "present value" of the costs of the project; how the actual costs and benefits compared with those foreseen at the time of appraisal; what view his Department takes of the record in relation to freedom of expression of (a) the department responsible for the project, and (b) the project beneficiary; what factors were taken into account in assessing whether the project represented value for money; on what date the Treasury gave its consent to the project; on what date the project was approved by the sub-committee for aid and trade; on what date the project was approved by the Minister; what considerations caused his Department to separate the project from the Bandung TV studio project; what was (1) the approved cash cost and (2) the actual cost of the project; in what respect and to what extent the project benefited the poorest people in Indonesia; and what were (x) the projected completion date and (y) the actual completion date of the project; [34709]

(2) pursuant to his answer of 15 June, Official Report, column 631, in respect of the shortwave radio transmitters project in Indonesia, at what locations the high frequency transmitters were installed and if they included locations in East Timor; which Indonesian companies were involved; on what date his Department received from the DTI a formal request to appraise the project; on what dates site visits were made for the purposes of the appraisal; what sites were visited and by whom the visits were made; at the time of the economic appraisal, what were (a) the present value of the costs and (b) the present value of the benefits of the project and how the actual costs and benefits compared with those foreseen at the time of appraisal; if his Department carried out institutional appraisals in respect of (i) the Department responsible for the project and (ii) the project beneficiary, and what were the outcomes of those appraisals; what factors were taken into account in assessing whether the project represented value for money; on what date the Treasury gave its consent to the project; in what respect and to what extent the project benefits the poorest people in Indonesia; what was (1) the approved cash cost and (2) the actual cost of the project; what were (x) the projected completion date and (y) the actual completion date of the project; and if he will place a copy of the project completion report in the Library; [25176]

(3) pursuant to his answer of 30 June, Official Report, column 802, which Indonesian companies were involved in the Ministry of Forestry radio communications system project in Indonesia; on what date his Department received from the DTI a formal request to appraise the project; on what date his Department completed its appraisal of the project; whom his Department engaged to appraise the project; on what dates site visits were made for the purposes of the appraisal, what sites were visited and by whom the visits were made; at the time of the economic appraisal, what were (a) the present value of the costs and (b) the present value of the benefits of the project and how the actual costs and benefits compared with those foreseen at the time of the appraisal; if his Department carried out an institutional appraisal in respect of the Ministry of Forestry and what was the outcome of that appraisal; what factors were taken into account in assessing whether the project represented value for money; on what date the Treasury gave its consent to the project; on what date the project was approved by the sub-committee for aid and trade; on what date the project was approved by the Minister; in what respect and to what extent the project benefits the poorest people in Indonesia; what was (i) the approved cash cost and (ii) the actual cash cost of the project; what were (1) the projected completion date and (2) the actual completion date of the project; and if he will place a copy of the project completion report in the Library; [35177]

(4) pursuant to his answer of 14 June, Official Report, column 567, which is the lead British company involved in the construction of the Samarinda power station in Indonesia; which Indonesian companies are involved; on what date his Department received from the DTI a formal request to appraise the project; on what date his Department completed its appraisal of the project; whom his Department engaged to appraise the project; on what dates site visits were made for the purposes of the appraisal and by whom the visits were made; to what extent his Department consulted local people affected by the project; at the time of the economic appraisal, what were (a) the present value of the benefits and (b) the present value of the costs of the project; at the time of the appraisal; what were (i) the social cost, (ii) the social benefits, (iii) the environmental costs and (iv) the environmental benefits of the project; if his Department carried out an institutional appraisal in respect of the Indonesian Electricity Authority and what was the outcome of that appraisal; what factors were taken into account in assessing whether the project represented value for money; on what date the Treasury gave its consent to the project; on what date the project was approved by the sub-committee for aid and trade; on what date the project was approved by the Minister; in what respect and to what extent the project benefits the poorest people in Indonesia; what is the projected completion date of the project; and if he will make a statement about his Minister's recent visit to the project. [35178]

Mr. Hanley: Answers covering such a wide range of issues could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

NORTHERN IRELAND

Policing

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what preparatory work he is doing on the structure and functions of the police before all-party peace talks. [33592]

Sir John Wheeler: There are two complementary processes currently in train dealing with policing in Northern Ireland. One involves a professional assessment of Northern Ireland's future policing needs in the context of continued peace and how the police service should meet those needs. The other is the continued development of proposals on the reform of relationships between the Government, the police authority and the Royal Ulster Constabulary, initiated by the publication in March 1994 of "Policing in the Community".

Policing matters may be discussed with the Government at any time.

Training

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many people were on action for community employment work schemes (a) in each of the last five years and (b) at present; and if he will publish his information on the sponsorship of these schemes by public and private bodies. [33594]

Mr. Ancram: Responsibility for the subject in question has been delegated to the Training and Employment Agency under its chief executive, Mr. J. S. Crozier. I have asked him to arrange for a reply to be given.

Letter from J. S. Crozier to Mr. Tony Worthington, dated 7 July 1995:

The Secretary of State for Northern Ireland has asked me as Chief Executive of the Agency to reply to your question about the number of people on ACE schemes.

During the last five years the average number participating in the programme, including those who were funded under the Making Belfast Work Programme were:-

1992/93: 9,658

1991/92: 10,072

At 26 May 1995 occupancy during the first two months of the current financial year stood at 9,768.

A list of sponsor organisations including those in the public, voluntary and community sectors which are responsible for implementing and managing the individual projects on which employment is provided is attached.

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland where he publishes a list of approved training organisations; and what percentage of trainees under the jobskills programme are registered with public sector, private sector and other organisations. [35292]

Mr. Ancram: Responsibility for the subject in question has been delegated to the Training and Employment Agency under its chief executive, Mr. J. S. Crozier. I have asked him to arrange for a reply to be given.

Letter from J. S. Crozier to Mr. Tony Worthington, dated 17 July 1995:

The Secretary of State for Northern Ireland has asked me, as Chief Executive of the Training and Employment Agency, to reply to your question.

Details of approved Training Organisations are published in a Directory of Training Opportunities (formerly known as the Directory of Training Providers). This is a comprehensive guide to training opportunities and providers in Northern Ireland and is available from the Agency on request. The next Directory up-date will contain details of those Training Organisations participating in the Jobskills Programme. Meanwhile, a list of the jobskills approved Training Organisations is included in the Agency's 'Jobskills News' publication.

The NT wide Jobskills Programme commenced on 3 April and is therefore still in a build-up situation. The following percentages reflect the trainees participating in the Programme at the end of June 1995.

Public Sector: -13%

Private Sector: -65%

Other Organisations: -22%

I hope that you find this helpful.

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland if he will make a statement on the structure of funding for training organisations under the jobskills programme; how much of an organisation's funding is on the basis of registration of numbers; and how much on the basis of output related funding and trainee bonus. [35293]

Mr. Ancram: Responsibility for the subject in question has been delegated to the Training and Employment Agency under its chief executive, Mr. J. S. Crozier. I have asked him to arrange for a reply to be given.

Letter from J. S. Crozier to Mr. Tony Worthington, dated 17 July 1995:

The Secretary of State for Northern Ireland has asked me, as Chief Executive of the Training and Employment Agency, to reply to your question.

The Jobskills Programme's funding arrangements take account of the variation in training costs between different occupational areas. Furthermore, the Programme's flexible funding structure is designed to encourage and enable trainees to progress into higher levels of training and, to provide incentives to both training organisations and trainees to attain targeted vocational qualifications.

Payments are made to training organisations on the basis of occupied places, with 30% of their funding dependant on the achievement of full qualifications by trainees. On gaining their qualifications, trainees can qualify for a bonus of up to £400 and this is paid to them via the Training Organisations

I hope that you find this helpful.

Human Rights

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what preparatory work he is doing on human rights issues before all-party talks in the peace process. [33591]

Sir Patrick Mayhew: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave him on 11 July, Official Report, columns 518–19.

I have invited the main parties to separate bilateral meetings to discuss the issues, including those relating to human rights, on which there needs to be agreement if a widely acceptable settlement is to be achieved.

The effectiveness of existing measures is being kept under review, having regard, among other things, to the contribution that changes might make to a political settlement.

Consultants

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland if he will indicate which five consultancy firms have received most contracts from his Department (a) by number of contracts and (b) monetary value in the last five years for which figures are available. [33436]

Sir John Wheeler: The information is as follows:

(a) by number of contracts

Name of company	Number of contracts
Coopers and Lybrand	235
Touche Ross	139
Price Waterhouse	123
Ernst and Young	80
Capita	71

(b) by monetary value

Name of company	Consultancy fees and expenses £ million
Coopers and Lybrand	4.93
Denton Hall Burgen and Warre	[1]—
Price Waterhouse	1.93
Rothschild and Sons	[1]—
Touche Ross	4.47

[1] As Denton Hall Burgen and Warrens, and Rothschild have been employed only on one consultancy contract, details of the fees and expenses would breach commercial confidentiality.

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many contracts his Department has had with consultants; and what has been the total cost of the last five years. [33573]

Sir John Wheeler: The information is as follows:

Financial year	Number of contracts	Cost £
1990–91	529	7,610,744
1991–92	478	12,938,631
1992–93	584	8,570,192
1993–94	805	12,124,283
1994–95	686	5,625,185

Undergraduates

Mr. John D. Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many undergraduates enrolled during the most recent academic year at (a) the Queen's university of Belfast and (b) the university of Ulster; and how many in each case came from (i) Northern Ireland and (ii) the Republic of Ireland. [33628]

Mr. Ancram: In 1993–94, the latest year for which information is available, there were 10,037 undergraduates enrolled at the Queen's university of Belfast, of whom 8,896 came from Northern Ireland and 537 from the Republic of Ireland. In the same year, there were 13,852 undergraduates enrolled at the university of Ulster, of whom 11,408 came from Northern Ireland and 1,679 from the Republic of Ireland.

Department of Employment (Abolition)

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what changes he will make to the responsibilities of his ministerial team and the Northern Ireland Office to reflect the abolition of the Department of Employment. [33659]

Mr. Ancram: There is no direct equivalent in Northern Ireland to the Department of Employment, although these functions are largely subsumed within the Department of Economic Development. There are no plans, therefore, to make any changes to the responsibilities of the Northern Ireland ministerial team and the Northern Ireland Office following the abolition of the Department of Employment.

Firearm Thefts

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many thefts of (a) shotguns and (b) other firearms took place in each of the last five years (i) from domestic premises and (ii) from other premises in each police force area. [34188]

Sir John Wheeler [holding answer 13 July 1995]: The information is as follows:

	1990	1991	1992	1993	1994	Total
Thefts of shotguns
Thefts of shotguns from domestic premises	44	37	54	36	54	225
Thefts of shotguns from non-domestic premises	3	2	1	4	1	11
Total	47	39	55	40	55	236
Thefts of other firearms
Thefts of firearms other than shotguns from domestic premises	21	28	21	26	43	139
Thefts of firearms other than shotguns from non-domestic premises	18	24	10	19	29	100
Total	39	52	31	45	72	239

Note:
There may be incidents in which more than one type of firearm was stolen, eg a shotgun and a rifle. For the purposes of this analysis such incidents are recorded once under each heading.

Firearms (Homicides)

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many homicides involving (a) shotguns and (b) other firearms have taken place in each police force area in each of the last five years; and how many of the victims in each case were women. [34139]

Sir John Wheeler [holding answer 13 July 1995]: The information is as follows:

	1990	1991	1992	1993	1994	Totals
Homicides involving shotguns
Male	0	6	11	7	6	30
Female	1	0	3	3	1	8
Total	1	6	14	10	7	38
Homicides involving firearms other than shotguns
Male	52	62	55	59	46	274
Female	0	7	5	2	8	22
Total	52	69	60	61	54	296

Compensation Agency

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what is the distribution of settlement times for claims to the Compensation Agency for (a) injury and (b) damage. [34367]

Sir John Wheeler: Responsibility for the subject in question has been delegated to the Compensation Agency under its chief executive, Mr. Denis Stanley. I have asked him to arrange for a reply to be given.

Letter from D. A. Stanley to Mr. Tony Worthington, dated 17 July 1995:

The Minister of State, Sir John Wheeler, has asked me to reply, on behalf of the Compensation Agency, to your recent Question regarding settlement times for claims for criminal injury and criminal damage compensation in Northern Ireland.

During 1994–95 the average time taken to reach a decision on criminal injuries claims was 65 weeks. This compares with a key performance target of 71 weeks.

Over the same period the average time taken to decide criminal damage claims was 44 weeks compared with a key performance target of 40 weeks. Failure to reach this target can be attributed largely to a reduction in the number of criminal damage claims received following the paramilitary cease-fires. This reduction in new claims allowed the Agency to make significant in-roads into the clearance of older claims which inevitably led to an increase in the average time to decide claims.

The Agency's performance against all the key performance and subsidiary targets is shortly to be published in the Agency's Annual Report and Accounts for 1994–95.

Community Nurses

Mrs. Beckett: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many (a) health visitors, (b) district nurses, (c) community psychiatric nurses and (d) school nurses were employed in each area of Northern Ireland on 30 September 1993, and for the latest date available, expressed as whole-time equivalents and actual numbers; and if she will list the same information for student health visitors and student district nurses. [33254]

Mr. Moss: The information is as follows:

Notes:
The latest figures available relate to September 1994.
WTE= whole-time equivalent.

Mrs. Beckett: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland if he will publish a breakdown by area of the health visitors, district nurses and school nurses by each income band for September 1993 and for the latest date for which information is available. [33255]

Mr. Moss: The information requested is not readily available and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Mrs. Beckett: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland if he will publish a breakdown by area of the population numbers per health visitor on September 1992 and September 1993 and for the latest date for which information is available; and what is the number of health visitors (a) per under five and (b) per over 65 years in each area. [33256]

Mr. Moss: The information is as follows:

September	Eastern	Northern	Southern	Western
Population number per health visitor
1992	2,842	3,503	3,270	3,399
1993	3,178	3,728	3,337	3,770

1993 mid-year estimates for populations, which are the latest available, were used to calculate the 1994 ratios.

AGRICULTURE, FISHERIES AND FOOD

Intervention Grain

Sir Donald Thompson: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food pursuant to his answer to the hon. Member for Thanet, North (Mr. Gale) of 26 June, Official Report, column 528, if he will detail the steps he took to oppose subsidised grain prices to Spanish pig farmers. [34306]

Mr. Baldry: The sale of stocks out of intervention is agreed through management committee procedure. The UK, along with certain other member states, argued strongly against the proposals but was outvoted on this occasion.

Sir Donald Thompson: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food, pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Thanet, North (Mr. Gale) of 28 June, Official Report, column 698, at what prices tenderers bought grain out of intervention. [34295]

Mr. Baldry: The results of the adjudication of the tenders for the sale of barley out of UK intervention destined for Spain are as follows:

Date of adjudication	Tonnage	Selling price from intervention (ecu/t)	(£/t)
29 June 1995	108,308	122.49–124.30	[1]103.01–104.54
6 July 1995	141,688	125.41–125.61	[2]105.84–106.01

Conversion rates:
[1] 1 ecu = £0.840997 (rate in force from 15 May 1995).
[2] 1 ecu = £0.843954 (rate in force from 4 July 1995).

These prices are lower than the normal sale price of 140.31 ecu/t (£118.42/t). The difference is intended to help the shipper meet the cost of transport from the UK port to Spain.

Refrigeration (Listeria)

Dr. Strang: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food what studies have been undertaken by his Department into the problems of poor refrigeration in households being insufficient to combat listeria in food; and what plans has he to ensure that new refrigeration units are fitted with thermometers. [34234]

Mr. Douglas Hogg: A survey on the temperatures in domestic refrigerators was carried out by the university of Bristol on behalf of MAFF. The report "Consumer handling of chilled foods: A survey of time and temperature conditions" was published in October 1991. As a result of the survey, MAFF agreed with refrigerator manufactures and consumer groups to issue a "FoodSense" booklet "Keeping Food Cool and Safe".

There are no plans to require new refrigeration units to be fitted with thermometers. However, the Ministry encourages manufactures to supply simple thermometers with the appliance instructions. The "FoodSense" booklet encourages consumers to use fridge thermometers and gives advice on where to place them.

Listeria

Dr. Strang: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food what steps have been taken by his Department to ensure that cook-chilled meals and ready to eat poultry carry sufficient labelling to warn customers that the produce must be re-heated to a sufficient temperature to reduce risks of listeria. [34235]

Mr. Douglas Hogg: The food labelling regulations require that the labelling of prepacked foods should include instructions for use to enable appropriate preparation or use of the food. In addition, general advice to consumers that cooking food thoroughly, so that the temperature at the centre reaches at least 70 degrees centigrade for at least two minute, will kill most harmful bacteria that cause food poisoning, has already been published in the free "FoodSense" booklet on food safety.

Dr. Strang: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food what discussions have taken place with the Department of Health to co-ordinate matters specifically relating to concerns over listeria in food in the last five years. [34226]

Mr. Hogg: The incidence of listeriosis has declined significantly since 1988, and there has been no call for specific discussions between Departments about listeria in food in the last five years. However, the issue of listeria routinely arises during wider discussions between Departments on microbiological food safety matters.

Dr. Strang: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food what representations his Department received regarding listeria in food (a) prior to and (b) following the guidelines issued by the Chief Medical Officer on 10 February 1989. [34229]

Mr. Hogg: Our records suggest that the bulk of such representations are directed to the Department of Health, which is generally in the lead in this matter. My Department has occasionally received correspondence, for example from trade associations.

Dr. Strang: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food what discussions his Department has had with (a) farmers, (b) food processing companies and (c) consumer groups regarding listeria in food in the past five years. [34230]

Mr. Hogg: My Department has had discussions with these groups, and in particular the food processors, about the standard for listeria which is set by the EC milk hygiene directive.

Food Safety

Dr. Strang: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food what discussions have taken place in the last five years with the Department of Health to co-ordinate matters concerning food safety. [34225]

Mr. Douglas Hogg: My Department is in daily contact with the Department of Health at official level on matters of food safety. In addition, there are regular meetings at ministerial level.

World Wide Web

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food if he will make a statement on the work his Department has carried out in the past 12 months in making information about his Department available to the public via the Government world wide web server known as "www.open.gov.uk" and his plans and policies to make additional and new information available electronically on the server in the next 12 months. [34714]

Mr. Boswell: The Ministry of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food participated from the outset in the Government world wide web, server project. As a result, WWW users can access the UK food and farming in figures pages on the server to retrieve series of agriculture and food data drawn from the Department's major statistical compilations. There are additional pages with background information about the Department's responsibilities, aims and objectives and contacts, including the MAFF helpline which has an e-mail number for communicating with inquirers over the Internet.

The Department is aiming to build on the experience gained through its participation in this project by introducing a dedicated MAFF world wide web server. There are a number of security and technical issues still to be addressed but, when fully implemented, MAFF divisions will be encouraged and supported in the use of the system to disseminate a wider range of information about MAFF services, activities, contacts and publications to WWW users.

Computer Equipment Supplies

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food if he will list the top 10 suppliers of computer equipment to his Department and Agencies in the last five years, indicating the total value of the contracts received. [34548]

Mr. Boswell [holding answer 14 July 1995]: In August 1991, a contract was awarded to Siemens Nixdorf Information Systems to supply my Department with a wide range of computer equipment. Since then, the company has provided the Department with nearly 95 per cent. of its computer equipment, at a total value exceeding £30 million.

A number of other companies supplied the remaining few per cent., but these cannot be identified and ranked without considerable effort by the officials.

Common Fisheries Policy (Withdrawal)

Mr. David Porter: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food if he will make it his policy to seek to withdraw from the common fisheries policy and establish bilateral fishing deals with the relevant maritime neighbours; and if he will make a statement. [34393]

Mr. Baldry: Withdrawal from the common fisheries policy is not an option, either legally or practically. Our obligations as a signatory of the treaties of Rome and of Maastricht include recognition of the EC's authority to legislate for fisheries, and of that legislation's direct application in all member states. Because of the over-capacity of national fleets and the fact that fish stocks do not respect national boundaries, international co-operation on conservation management is essential. Our membership of the common fisheries policy ensures, through our involvement in the negotiation of technical conservation measures, that the fish we want to catch are protected while they are developing in other countries' waters. Without our participation in the common fisheries policy, the UK industry's access to export markets to other EU member states, worth around £550 million in 1994, would be called into question.

Fish Stocks (Conservation)

Mr. David Porter: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food what plans he has to now reduce discards and improve the conservation of fish stocks by amendment of the common fisheries policy; and if he will make a statement. [34394]

Mr. Baldry: The Council of Ministers has asked the Commission to bring forward proposals which address the discarding problem. The Commission has also accepted an obligation to review the technical conservation measures applicable in both western waters and the north sea. Within the UK, our industry has been invited to put forward constructive ideas for consideration by the common fisheries policy review group. I shall take forward the work of this group over the coming months.

Welsh Universities (Economic Studies)

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food what was the value of economic studies commissioned by his Department from Welsh universities and colleges in 1994–95; and if he will make a statement. [34891]

Mr. Boswell: My Department commissioned no economic studies from Welsh universities and colleges in 1994–95. I understand that my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for Wales has commissioned work from these organisations.

Civil Servants (European Commission)

Mr. Hain: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food if officials seconded by his Department to work with the European Commission are required to promote and pursue the policies of Her Majesty's Government in relation to the availability of vitamin, mineral and other dietary supplements; what codes of practice apply to the employment of such officials by commercial companies or organisations following their secondment; and if he will make a statement. [35098]

Mr. Boswell: Officials seconded to the European Commission work for the Commission and have no role in promoting the Government's views. The normal business appointment rules apply to such staff as they do to all civil servants.

DEFENCE

Astra

Mr. Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will make a full statement on the findings of the Ministry of Defence police investigation into allegations of corruption concerning employees of the Astra group of companies; and if he will make a statement. [33526]

Mr. Soames: Four employees of the Astra group of companies were investigated by the Ministry of Defence police, who were inquiring into allegations of corruption. One was subsequently found guilty of two charges of corruption and received a custodial sentence.

Murderers (Armed Forces)

Mr. Mullin: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many convicted murderers are presently serving in Her Majesty's armed forces. [33623]

Mr. Soames: There are five soldiers serving in the armed forces who have been convicted of murder. In four cases, discharge procedures have been initiated. In two of these, action is in abeyance pending the outcome of appeals. In the fifth case, the solider concerned is a Gurkha. The Army is obliged to discharge Gurkha soldiers in Nepal and that will be on completion of his custodial sentence.

Mr. Mullin: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence under what circumstances a solider who has served a sentence for murder can continue to serve in the armed forces; and if he will make a statement. [33624]

Mr. Soames: It is normal practice to discharge service personnel who have been convicted of murder unless there are exceptional circumstances. It would be for the appropriate service board of the Defence Council to decide whether the circumstances of an individual case merited retention.

BMARC

Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence when he expects to give a substantive reply to the question from the hon. Member for Pendle on BMARC. [33700]

Mr. Soames: The investigation initiated by the deputy chief constable referred to in my answer to the hon. Member for South Shields (Dr. Clark), Official Report, column 31, has not yet been completed. I shall write to the hon. Member when the outcome is known.

Animal Experiments

Mr. Spring: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if there will be an ethical review of the research conducted by his Department involving animals. [34998]

Mr. Arbuthnot: Experiments involving animals and conducted by my Department or its agencies are subject to a rigorous process of internal review and external control by the Home Office, in accordance with the requirements of the Animals (Scientific Procedures) Act 1986. The experiments account for less than half of 1 per cent. of all experiments in the United Kingdom involving animals. Nevertheless, I am keen to adopt any additional measures that would serve to strengthen public confidence in the procedures that govern animal experiments in my Department and, to this end, I have agreed to establish an animal welfare advisory committee. The committee will comprise three independent members and will review animal care and welfare arrangements at establishments conducting experiments involving animals. The committee will advise the senior manager responsible for the establishment in which experiments take place and will, quite separately, make an independent report normally once a year, to the Ministry of Defence's chief scientific adviser.

I have placed a copy of the terms of reference of the new committee in the Library. Approaches will be made to three individuals who represent a range of interests related to the conduct of scientific experiments involving animals.

Departmental Redundancies

Mr. Ian McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many redundancies occurred in his Department over the past 12 months; how many were voluntary; and what was the total sum spent on redundancy payments. [34589]

Mr. Arbuthnot [holding answer 14 July 1995]: During the financial year 1994–95, the latest period for which figures are available centrally, there were 3,058 redundancies in my Department. Our records do not distinguish between those who were made redundant compulsorily and those who volunteered for redundancy. The total sum spent on early retirement and redundancy in the same period was some £59 million.

Sickness Absence

Mr. Ian McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many days were lost in sickness in the past 12 months by employees in his Department (a) in total and (b) as a proportion of the number of days worked; and what was the cost of this absence. [34588]

Mr. Arbuthnot [holding answer 14 July 1995]: The total number of days sick absence taken by staff in my Department between 1 April 1994 and 31 March 1995 was 959,858. This figure relates to full-time non-industrial staff and includes weekends and public holidays as it is not possible in the time available to make adjustments for these. This is 3.18 per cent. of days worked. It is not possible to calculate the cost of this absence without disproportionate cost.

Unfair Dismissal

Mr. Ian McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many unfair dismissal cases were brought against his Department during the past 12 months; how many were successful; and what were the total costs including legal fees and compensation. [34587]

Mr. Arbuthnot [holding answer 14 July 1995]: Fifty-five appeals against dismissal have been heard by the Civil Service Appeal Board since July 1994. In nine cases, the decision to dismiss was found to be unfair. Hearing reports have been issued on four of these cases and resulted in the payment of £7,160 to one appellant. Records of appeals to industrial tribunals by civilian members of my Department's staff are not maintained centrally. Compensation amounting to £8,000 has been paid to two appellants who appealed to industrial tribunals during the last 12 months. No legal fees were paid in the three cases where compensation had been paid.

Cooks (Training)

Mr. Byers: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many schools there are for the training of cooks; where they are located; and what is the number of cooks presently being trained at each school and the estimated running costs of each school for this year for each service. [34430]

Mr. Soames: Three sites provide training for service cooks. They are: HMS Raleigh in Cornwall; the Army School of Catering at St. Omer barracks, Aldershot and RAF Halton, near Aylesbury. At present, the Royal Navy has 49 cooks undergoing training, the Army 157 and the RAF 18 on courses ranging from apprenticeships to advanced trade training. The estimated running costs for each school are: catering training within the overall budget of HMS Raleigh, £850,000; Army School of Catering, £7.536 million; costs specific to Catering Training Squadron at RAF Halton, £215,000. The difference in running costs reflects the different constitution of the schools; HMS Raleigh and RAF Halton are units within larger establishments and have the benefit of sharing overhead and support costs with their hosts, while St. Omer barracks is a stand-alone facility responsible for its own site and its attendant support.

Arms Sales (Iraq)

Mr. Byers: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what military equipment used by Iraq in the Gulf war and subsequently discovered by the United Kingdom and its allies was (a) manufactured in the United Kingdom and (b) purchased from the United Kingdom; and from which companies it derived. [35094]

Mr. Arbuthnot: No comprehensive record was kept of the large quantities of Iraqi equipment captured by the allies during the Gulf conflict. However, some electrical items or components of British manufacture were found. Exports of defence equipment to Iraq are currently being investigated by Sir Richard Scott.

Defence Animal Centre

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence, pursuant to his answer of 11 July, Official Report, column 532, what activities other than horse training take place at the Defence Animal Centre; and which other Government Departments use its services. [34790]

Mr. Soames: This is a matter for the Defence Animal Centre, DAC, under its framework document. I have asked the chief executive of DAC to write to the hon. Member.

Letter from Colonel A. H. Roache to Mr. Alan Milburn, dated 17 July 1995:

The Secretary of State for Defence has asked me to reply to your Parliamentary Question regarding activities other than horse training at the Defence Animal Centre.

The Defence Animal Centre carries out the following activities for the MOD: procurement and training of dogs and horses; development of animal training methods; training of individuals in animal handling and management skills and provision of base veterinary support. The following other government departments use its services: Foreign and Commonwealth Office, HM Prison Service, Scottish Prison Service, HM Customs & Excise, Immigration Service, Jersey & Guernsey Police.

I hope you find this information useful.

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence pursuant to his answer of 11 July, Official Report, column 532, which animals in addition to dogs and horses are trained at the Defence Animal Centre giving (a) the number and (b) the costs for each category. [34791]

Mr. Soames: This is a matter for the Defence Animal Centre, DAC, under its framework document. I have asked the chief executive of DAC to write to the hon. Member.

Letter from Colonel A. H. Roache to Mr. Alan Milburn, dated 17 July 1995:

The Secretary of State for Defence has asked me to reply to your Parliamentary Question regarding animal training at the Defence Animal Centre. The answer is that no animals other than horses or dogs are trained here.

I hope you find this information useful.

Official Cars

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence, pursuant to his answer of 11 July, Official Report, column 532, how many senior officers can call on the official pool of vehicles; how many vehicles there are; and how many have been bought in the past five years; and at what cost. [34792]

Mr. Soames: My noble Friend the Under-Secretary of State for Defence will write to the hon. Member and a copy of his letter will be placed in the Library of the House.

Horses

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence, pursuant to his answer of 11 July, Official Report, column 532, how many horses are currently in service. [34793]

Mr. Soames: The Army, which is the only service to own horses at public expense, has 440 fully trained horses in service.

Consultants

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will estimate the cost of employing consultants in connection with privatisation programmes in which his Department has been engaged since 1980. [33466]

Mr. Arbuthnot: The only privatisation programme for which information on the use of consultants can be made available without disproportionate cost is that in connection with the proposed privatisation of the royal dockyards at Devonport and Rosyth about which my right hon. and learned Friend the then Secretary of State for Defence made an announcement on 18 October 1993, Official Report, columns 39–41. Between 18 October 1993 and 12 July 1995, payments made to consultants in relation to their work totalled £7.1 million. Further costs have been incurred, but final details will not be available until invoices have been presented and payments agreed.

Previous estimates given to hon. Members by my right hon. Friend the Member for Kettering (Mr. Freeman) gave a figure for "payments made or outstanding". The figure for payments outstanding included estimates which were higher than actual outturn costs. I can now report that costs reported in the previous answers were overstated by some £510,000. Therefore, the costs previously quoted as £7.2 million and £6.5 million are now known to have been £6.7 million and £6 million respectively.

I have written to the hon. Members for South Shields (Dr. Clark), for Plymouth, Devenport (Mr. Jamieson) and for Leeds, Central (Mr. Fatchett) to inform them of the revision to the figures which they were given in previous answers.

Wrongful Dismissal

Mrs. Roche: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence pursuant to his answer of 4 July, Official Report, column 184, if he will list the categories of information on legal costs for claims of wrongful dismissal by which his Department collates information. [34851]

Mr. Arbuthnot: As my predecessor said in his reply of 4 July, Official Report, column 184, my Department keeps no central record of cases of wrongful dismissal and the Treasury solicitor's department would require details of individual cases before it could provide information on legal costs incurred by my Department in such cases. This information could be provided only at disproportionate cost. If, however, the hon. Lady has a particular category of wrongful dismissal or other type of claim on which she requires information, she should write to my noble Friend the Under-Secretary of State for Defence, who will be happy to consider the matter further.

EDUCATION AND EMPLOYMENT

Nursery Education

Mr. Don Foster: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment (1) what assumptions have been made in her current plans for nursery education vouchers for the redemption value of such vouchers; [34827]

(2) if a nursery education voucher used in part or full payment for five half days a week at a playgroup will have the same value as a voucher used for part or full payment for the same period at a private nursery; and if she will make a statement. [34829]

Mr. Robin Squire: The expectation is that a voucher worth around £1,100 will be exchanged for either a part-time place in a nursery class, nursery school, or private nursery establishment, or a full-time place in a reception class, or up to a full-time place in a playgroup. The detailed funding regime for playgroups will be considered further.

Mr. Foster: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment if pre-school playgroups and private nursery schools will be expected to achieve the same stated learning achievements if they are to be eligible for participation in the nursery education voucher scheme. [34828]

Mr. Squire: All institutions offering pre-school education in exchange for vouchers will be expected to work towards the same desirable achievements for children's learning.

Mr. Khabra: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment at what age a child qualifies for being funded for a nursery place by the new voucher initiative. [34469]

Mr. Squire: A child will become eligible for a voucher at the beginning of the first term after his or her fourth birthday.

Mr. Khabra: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment what guidance her Department gives on the appropriate adult-child ratio for nursery classes to be funded by the nursery voucher scheme. [34467]

Mr. Squire: My right hon. Friend and the Secretary of State for Health are jointly consulting on whether the existing guidance on adult-child ratios remain appropriate for institutions registered to exchange vouchers for pre-school education.

Mr. Khabra: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment (1) who will be responsible for the administrative costs of the nursery voucher initiative; [34466]

(2) what she estimates will be the administrative costs of the nursery initiative for individual local education authorities the size of Ealing; [34470]

(3) pursuant to her oral statement of 6 July, Official Report, columns 517–19, on pre-school education, what estimates she has for the total cost of running the voucher scheme. [34108]

Mr. Squire: The cost of issuing and redeeming vouchers is expected to be less than 1.5 per cent. of the value of the vouchers themselves.

The administration costs are included in the £185 million of new money announced by my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State. Because administration will be handled by a private sector company, the additional burden on local authorities is not expected to be significant.

Mr. Khabra: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment if she will allow local education authorities to borrow extra capital specifically to fund the provision of extra nursery facilities in their areas. [34468]

Mr. Blunkett: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment, pursuant to her oral statement of 6 July, Official Report, columns 517–19, on pre-school education (1) what supplementary capital funding she intends to make available to those parts of the country which currently have the lowest levels of provision for four-year-olds; [34114]

(2) what capital funding she intends to make available to facilitate the expansion of pre-school places for four-year-olds. [34115]

Mr. Squire: The private and voluntary sectors can raise any capital needed for expansion commercially on the strength of voucher income. In the maintained sector, local education authorities are free to determine their own priorities for capital expenditure. Local education authorities and their schools can also enter into arrangements with the private sector using the new freedoms provided by the private finance initiative.

Mr. Khabra: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment what steps she taking to protect the position of education authorities that have already made substantial provision for nursery education, so that their standard spending assessment is not to be disadvantaged in relation to authorities which have made little provision. [34498]

Mr. Squire: If their recruitment of four-year-olds is maintained at present levels, no LEA will be worse off under the proposed funding method for the voucher scheme.

Mr. Blunkett: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment, pursuant to her oral statement of 6 July, Official Report, columns 517–19, on pre-school education, which companies have been invited to tender for the administration of the voucher scheme; and which companies have submitted bids. [34106]

Mr. Squire: My right hon. Friend the Secretary of State announced on 6 July her decision to select, by competitive tender, a private sector company to issue and redeem the pre-school voucher. Advertisements inviting expressions of interest will be published shortly.

Mr. Blunkett: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment, pursuant to her oral statement of 6 July, Official Report, columns 517–19, on pre-school education, (1) what provision will be made for children who would currently receive a full-time nursery place in the maintained sector; [34118]

(2) if the Government will continue to give financial support to local education authorities to provide for three-year-olds; and what plans there are to change the level of support for three-year-olds; [34107]

(3) pursuant to her answer of 15 May, Official Report, columns 11–12, how a local education authority should meet the difference in the cost between the £1,100 voucher and a full-time place in an infant class. [34117]

Mr. Squire: The proposed funding method will recoup from local authorities a sum equivalent to the voucher value multiplied by the number of four-year-olds in maintained provision in each authority. This is only a part of total spending on under-fives, and allows local education authorities to continue to spend above the voucher value on full or part-time places for four-year-olds, and on three-year-olds, as they judge appropriate.

Mr. Spearing: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment, pursuant to her oral statement of 6 July, Official Report, columns 517–19, in respect of legislative change to implement her plans for changes in education for the under-fives, if there will be changes in the statutory instruments defining the qualifications of teachers in nursery schools and those relating to their premises. [34120]

Mr. Squire: My right hon. Friend and the Secretary of State for Health will be jointly consulting on whether the requirements of the Children Act 1989, including those that relate to premises, remain appropriate for institutions which register to exchange vouchers for pre-school education.

In addition, my right hon. Friends the Secretaries of State for Education and Employment and for Wales announced on 14 July their intention to consult on a new set of school premises regulations. These regulations apply to all maintained schools, including maintained nursery schools. They will continue to do so. My right hon. Friend made it clear that all essential health and safety requirements in the current regulations will be retained.

My right hon. Friend has no plans at this stage to impose any new qualification requirements for staff in any institutions which register to exchange vouchers for pre-school education.

Mr. Blunkett: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment, pursuant to her oral statement of 6 July, Official Report, columns 517–19, on pre-school education, what plans she has to enable provision over and above the value of the voucher to be provided for children with special educational needs. [34112]

Mr. Squire: Local education authorities will keep some of their existing funding for four-year-olds, and be able to spend more than the value of the voucher where needed to offer appropriate provision for pupils with special educational needs.

Mr. Blunkett: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment, pursuant to her oral statement of 6 July, Official Report, columns 517-19, on pre-school education, what plans she has to bring school providers currently regulated under the Children Act 1989 under the inspection of the Office for Standards in Education. [34111]

Mr. Squire: My right hon. Friend plans to introduce an inspection regime which will regulate standards of education at all institutions registered to exchange vouchers for pre-school education, including those institutions currently registered under the Children Act. She is consulting jointly with the Secretary of State for Health on the nature of the inspection regime.

Mr. Spearing: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment what steps she expects to take to ensure that levels of staffing in existing local authority nursery schools will not be prejudiced by the establishments of new nursery schools by a provider offering improved remuneration and conditions to those currently available. [34119]

Mr. Squire: Provided local authority nursery schools continue to recruit the same number of four-year-olds as they do now, in response to parental demand, they should not have their funding reduced. It is for the private and voluntary sector institutions to set their own rates of pay and conditions of service.

Mr. Blunkett: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment, pursuant to her oral statement of 6 July, Official Report, columns 517-19, on pre-school education, by how much local authority standard spending assessment for under-fives education will be reduced once the full voucher scheme has been reduced. [34109]

Mr. Squire: The amount recouped from each local authority to contribute to funding the voucher scheme will be the product of the number of four-year-olds in maintained provision and the voucher value. For full implementation of the scheme, the amount recouped is likely to be in the region of £545 million.

Mr. Blunkett: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment, pursuant to her oral statement of 6 July, Official Report, columns 517-19, on pre-school education, what financial assistance will be made available to train teachers and staff for the expansion of pre-school places for four-year-olds.

Mr. Squire: Institutions which exchange vouchers for pre-school education will be able to use voucher income to invest in staff training to raise the quality of provision and to meet the needs of children and parents.

Pupil-population Ratios

Mrs. Ann Winterton: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment if she will list in descending order the number of pupils as a percentage of the resident population in each local education authority area on the most recent date when such numbers were estimated; and what consideration is given to such actual pupil-population ratios in the calculation of education standard spending assessments. [34485]

Mr. Robin Squire [holding answer 14 July 1995]: The table compares the number of pupils aged five to 15 at August 1993 living in their area for whom local education authorities were financially responsible with their overall population aged five to 15 at June 1993. Precise ratios are difficult to calculate because the pupil and population data are estimated on different dates.

Special Education Needs (Asthma)

Ms Corston: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment how many children were given statements of special educational needs in the last five years for which figures are available; and how many of them were statemented because of asthma. [34528]

Mr. Forth: Information on the number of children with statements of special educational needs is contained in the table.

Information is not collected on the number of children who received statements because of asthma.

Department of Employment (Sheffield Site)

Mr. MacShane: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment what guarantee she will give that staff employed at the former Department of Employment's Sheffield office will continue their work. [33519]

Mr. Robin Squire: It is expected that the Department will continue to operate from the Sheffield site, which performs a range of important functions.

Training

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment what has been the number of Government-funded training for work placements, with title of scheme, each year since the introduction of the job creation programme. [34025]

Mr. Paice: The information is shown in the following table and covers all adult and youth programmes:

[2] National Priority Skill Scheme; prior to 1986 figures are from Annual Reports. The figure for 1984 has been estimated.

Work Experience (WE): included in the figures are a) Work Experience on Employers Premises (WEEP).b) Community Projects (CP) and Work Preparation (WP): included in the figures are a) Short Training Courses, b) Remedial and Preparatory Courses (mainly work induction courses and young people's work preparation courses) and c) Assessment and Employment Induction Courses.

Sir Peter Lloyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment if she will provide incentives to training and enterprise councils to encourage firms of under 50 employees to commit themselves to investment in people programmes. [34727]

Mr. Paice: Training and enterprise councils have some £55 million available in 1995–95 to help employers to move towards investors in people. Employers normally need to contribute to the cost on a matched funding basis but TECs have the discretion to exempt those with under 50 employees from this requirement. Almost 9,000 firms with under 50 employees are formally committed to achieving the investors in people standard. I will be considering proposals for performance targets for TECs for 1995–96 during the autumn.

The Department has other provisions aimed specifically at training in small firms. Over three years from April 1995, £63 million is available through skills for small businesses to help 24,000 key workers in small firms to become training champions and train others in their firms.

The competitiveness White Paper "Forging ahead", published in May 1995, includes £5 million for the small firms training challenge. A prospectus will be published shortly, seeking bids from group of small firms.

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment what consideration she has given to the introduction of a training levy; and if she will make a statement. [34952]

Mr. Paice: The introduction of a general training levy is not under consideration. The Government remain committed to deregulation—removed burdens on firms, not increasing them.

Small Businesses

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment if she will make a statement on the achievements of (a) her policies and (b) her Department in helping small businesses over the last 12 months as against the previous 12 months; and if she will publish the performance indicators by which her Department monitors those achievements and the statistical results of such monitoring. [34704]

Mr. Paice: The Government recognise the crucial role played by small firms in the UK economy. Effective human resource management is crucial to the success of small firms. The Department funds training and enterprise councils to improve their commitment to developing their people through a range of measures.

The numbers of organisations that have reached the investors in people standard are:

	May 1994	May 1995
Firms with less than 200 employees	613	1,394
Firms with less than 50 employees	371	850

Materials are available to help small firms achieve the standard. Over 8,000 organisations with less than 50 employees have made a formal commitment to achieving the standard.

The small firms training loans scheme was introduced last year. Some 1,500 loans are forecast this year.

Over three years from April 1995, skills for small businesses will equip 24,000 key workers in small firms to train others in their firms and to help other small firms. In piloting the initiative, more than 50 firms were helped to train key workers.

The competitiveness White Paper "Forging Ahead" outlined a programme of measures to assist the growth and competitiveness of the small firms sector. This includes £5 million for the small firms training challenge. The aim is to involve directly at least 1,000 small firms in exemplary projects. A prospectus will be published shortly, seeking bids from groups of small firms.

The small firms lead body, supported by the Department, has been developing standards and qualifications appropriate to small businesses.

In addition to these specific measures, large numbers of small firms continue to take part in other training initiatives such as modern apprenticeships, youth training and training for work.

Departmental Redundancies

Mr. Ian McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment if she will list the number of (a) total and (b) voluntary redundancies occurring in (i) the Department for Education and (ii) the Department of Employment over the last 12 months; and what was the amount of money spent on these redundancy payments. [34580]

Mr. Robin Squire [holding answer 14 July 1995]: There have been no redundancies in either the Department for Education or the Employment Department over the last 12 months.

Unfair Dismissal

Mr. Ian McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment how many unfair dismissal cases were brought against (a) the Department for Education and (b) the Department of Employment over the last 12 months; how many cases were successful; and what were the total costs, both in legal fees and compensation. [34578]

Mr. Robin Squire [holding answer 14 July 1995]: None and 29 respectively. No cases were successful. The total legal costs incurred were £22,554.47

Sickness Absence

Mr. Ian McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment how many sickness days were lost by employees of (a) the Department for Education and (b) the Department of Employment over the last 12 months, both in total and as a proportion of the number of days worked; and what was the cost of this absence. [34579]

Mr. Robin Squire [holding answer 14 July 1995]: Information is not readily available in the form requested. The total number of working days lost to sickness during 1994 by employees of the Department for Education was 13,926, or 3.46 per cent. of the working days available. The total number of days lost to employees of the Employment Department for the 12 months up to the end of March were 636,709, or 4.8 per cent. of the total number of working days available.

The cost of this absence could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Part-time Students

Mr. Sheerman: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment what action she is taking to ensure that students under 19 years attending further education courses part time will be adequately funded. [35064]

Mr. Paice: Last month, the former Employment Department and Department for Education, together with the Training and Enterprise Council National Council and the Further Education Funding Council, issued joint guidance to interested parties on their respective funding responsibilities for part-time students. I will arrange for a copy to be placed in the Library.

Mr. Sheerman: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment what steps she is taking to ensure that part-time students with learning difficulties are not disadvantaged by undertaking non-national vocational qualification programmes under the training credits scheme. [35063]

Mr. Paice: Youth credits provide access to youth training, which supports young people with learning difficulties in making progress towards qualifications agreed in an individual training plan and tailored to their individual needs. Additional support is provided to help both full and part-time trainees achieve their agreed training aim.

Young People Leaving Care (Support Services)

Mr. Sheerman: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment what specific support services are made available by her Department for young people leaving care. [35013]

Mr. Paice: The Department works closely with the Department of Health to promote effective support to young people leaving care. There are specific provisions for this group in entitlement to income support and to youth training. Career services provide support for all young people, including those leaving care, in making informed career choices.

Actively Seeking Employment (Warning Letters)

Mr. Chidgey: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment (1) if a warning letter in respect of actively seeking employment is normally issued before a benefit disqualification; [33558]

(2) in what circumstances a warning letter in respect of actively seeking employment will be issued. [33559]

Mr. Forth: Responsibility for the subject of the questions has been delegated to the Employment Service agency under its chief executive. I have asked him to arrange for a reply to be given.

Letter from D. Grover to Mr. David Chidgey, dated 17 July 1995:

The Secretary of State has asked me, in the absence of the Chief Executive, to reply to your questions concerning the issue of warning letters in respect of actively seeking employment.

A warning letter in respect of actively seeking employment is not normally issued before a claim is referred for an adjudication decision. A warning letter is issued only when it is clear that a client has genuinely misunderstood what is expected of them and is in need of further advice on the requirement to actively seek employment.

I hope this is helpful.

Career Development Loans

Mr. Pearson: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment what representations she has received on the refusal of banks to consider career development loans applications until six weeks before the start of training or education; and if she will make a statement. [34123]

Mr. Paice: The Department has not received any representations concerning any refusal of career development loan lending banks to consider applications until six weeks before the start of training or education. There is no policy to impose any time limit on consideration of loan applications. As CDL literature clearly points out, prospective applicants are advised to apply well in advance of the course start date as it may take two or three weeks before the banks are able to make a decision. Although CDL funds cannot be released more than one month in advance of the course start date, the banks can consider applications at any time. In cases where they consider an application more than one month before the course start date, the banks may ask the applicant to confirm that his details remain the same prior to the release of funds.

Department of Employment Staff

Ms Harman: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment how many staff employed in the former Department of Employment will as a result of that Department's abolition, (a) be made redundant, (b) take early retirement, (c) be employed on a temporary contract instead of a permanent contract and (d) be employed on a part-time basis instead of a full-time basis; and if she will make a statement. [34660]

Mr. Robin Squire: The functions carried out by the former Employment Department will continue in the Departments to which they have been transferred. There may be some scope for rationalisation as a result of these changes but it is too soon to say what the effect will be. Our aim will be, if possible, to avoid compulsory redundancies, in the same way as the former Employment Department has achieved a reduction of over 4,000 staff in the last two years without compulsory redundancies.

Department of Employment Programmes

Mr. Andrew Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment which programmes formerly undertaken by the Department of Employment have been transferred to other Departments; and which have been dropped. [34668]

Mrs. Gillian Shephard: The main responsibilities transferring from the former Employment Department to other Departments are:

industrial relations policy and legislation, pay issues, redundancy payments, administration of industrial tribunals and sponsorship of the Advisory, Conciliation and Arbitration Service to the Department of Trade and Industry;

health and safety at work, including the Health and Safety Commission and Executive to the Department of the Environment; employment statistics and labour market surveys to the Central Statistical Office.

All other functions of the former Employment Department including employment, training, labour market and equal opportunities will be undertaken by the newly created Department for Education and Employment.

Access to Work Scheme

Mr. Berry: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment (1) how many applications have been made for each element of assistance under the access to work scheme since June 1994; and how many and what proportion of these were successful; [34384]

(2) what is the average amount paid under the access to work scheme (a) per applicant, (b) per element of assistance and (c) per region; [34385]

(3) how many and what proportion of applicants refused assistance under the access to work scheme have subsequently appealed against this refusal; and what are the outcomes; [34386]

(4) what is the average period between an application for assistance under the access to work scheme and the provision of assistance; [34387]

(5) how many and what proportion of applicants for access to work have been from (a) people in employment, (b) people in self-employment and (c) people signing on as unemployed. [34388]

Mr. Forth: Responsibility for the subject of the questions has been delegated to the Employment Service agency under its chief executive. I have asked him to arrange for a reply to be given.

Letter from R. M. Phillips to Mr. Roger Berry, dated 17 July 1995:

The Secretary of State has asked me, in the absence of the Chief Executive, to reply to your questions about the Access to Work programme.

The Access to Work programme was introduced in June 1994 to provide support to help disabled people overcome work-related obstacles caused by their disability so that they are able to compete for jobs and perform at work on an equal basis with non-disabled people.

Provisional figures for the period 6 June 1994 to 31 March 1995 show that the number of items approved under each element is as follows—

	Number
Special aids and equipment	10,614
Adaptations to premises	111
Personal reader service	215
Assistance with fares to work	1,418
Communicator support at interview	288
Support worker assistance	432
Adaptations to vehicles	94
Miscellaneous items of support	289

Some disabled people will have received more than one element of assistance in the period. The personal reader support and assistance with fares to work figures do not include those disabled people who received support under transitional arrangements from previous schemes and did not transfer to Access to Work until April 1995.

Statistics are not held centrally for the number of applications that were turned down in the period. However, we are currently undertaking a review of Access to Work and research to support the review will examine in detail the operation of the programme. A report of the research will be published in the normal way.

The average cost per item of support and per Region is listed in the following table.

Average cost per application by item

Assisted fares to work	1,845
Adaptations to premises	5,897
Adaptations to vehicles	1,212
Communicator support	169
Miscellaneous	403
Personal reader service	5,857
Special aids and equipment	1,008
Support workers	497

Average cost by region

Region	Spend £	Beneficiaries	Average cost £
Northern	729,133	433	1,684
Yorkshire and Humberside	1,470,175	890	1,652
East Midlands	1,633,242	978	1,670
London and South East	4,370,219	2,126	2,056
South West	1,324,317	874	1,515
Wales	664,951	517	1,286
West Midlands	1,560,407	1,061	1,471
North West	1,546,114	1,275	1,213
Scotland	1,116,383	835	1,337
Total	14,414,941	8,989	1,604

These figures do not include support for 922 disabled people on transitional arrangements from the Personal Reader Scheme, which were dealt with by Head Office and are not appropriate to the Regional figure.

Provisional figures for the year beginning April 1994 show that the average cost of support per application was £1,570 (includes the transitional cases).

Placing, Assessment and Counselling Team (PACT) managers are responsible for monitoring the operation of Access to Work and therefore the detail of other information you asked for is not currently held centrally. However, the review and research mentioned earlier will give information in these areas. A report of the research will be published in the normal way.

You may be interested to learn that three Employment Service Regions are piloting a formal operating agreement in which specific standards are set. The suggested standards are:

PACT to complete within 3 weeks of application an action plan for 80% of applicants;

PACTs to order within 2 weeks of completion of the action plan the agreed goods or services for 80% of all applicants;

PACTs to follow up all cases where goods or services are not delivered within one month of completion of order;

PACTs to follow up, by visit or telephone, 95% of applicants within 3 months of the delivery of the goods or services.

Our intention is to extend this operating agreement to all Regions for the 1996/7 operating year, subject to the experience of the pilots.

I hope this is helpful.

Employment Service

Ms Harman: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment if she will make a statement about the future of the Employment Service. [34626]

Mr. Forth: A prior options review of the Employment Service was completed in March this year. This concluded that the agency has significantly improved its performance since 1990; that it has a very important part to play in the effective operation of the labour market; and that it will perform a crucial role in implementing the jobseeker's allowance, which will be introduced next year. I refer the hon. Member to the reply given to the hon. Member for Colchester, South and Maldon (Mr. Whittingdale) on 29 March 1995, Official Report, columns 641-42, by my right hon. Friend the former Secretary of State for Employment. This set out the Government's response to the review in full and confirmed the agency status of the ES.

The ES, as part of the Department for Education and Employment, will provide as key element in our policies to improve competitiveness relating to the work force. By bringing together active labour market policy, education and training into one Department, we will build on the achievements in recent years which have helped to reduce unemployment.

Jobfinder's Grants

Mr. Byers: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment how many jobfinder's grants have been awarded since its introduction in April (a) nationally and (b) by region; what is the average level of wage received and hours worked by each recipient of a grant; and what is the lowest level of wage rate per hour. [34808]

Mr. Forth: Responsibility for the subject of the question has been delegated to the Employment Service agency under its chief executive. I have asked him to arrange for a reply to be given.

Letter from M. E. G. Fogden to Mr. Stephen Byers, dated 17 July 1995:

The Secretary of State has asked me to reply to your question about Jobfinder's Grants.

Jobfinder's Grant are one off payments, available to assist people who have been unemployed for over two years to return to work. The following table shows the number of Jobfinder's Grants awarded nationally and by Employment Service Region since the programme was introduced on 18 April (22 May in Yorkshire and Humberside Region, where a more flexible variant to the programme is being piloted) up to 7 July, the latest date for which figures are available.

Information on the average level of wage received and hours worked by recipients is not available. The programme is designed to help very long term unemployed people overcome financial difficulties that could deter them from taking relatively low paid jobs. Checks are made that the gross pay in each case is below the specified upper limit of £150 per week (£250 per week in Yorkshire and Humberside Region).

I hope this is helpful.

Benefit Fraud

Mr. Frank Field: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment to which Department the staff investigating benefit fraud have been allocated following the abolition of the Department of Employment. [35217]

Mr. Forth: Investigations of benefit fraud remains a responsibility of the Employment Service, which has transferred to the new Department for Education and Employment. This position is currently under review and an announcement will be made shortly.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Maxwell Pensioners

12. Mr. Lidington: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security if the pensions of the Maxwell pensioners are now secure. [32775]

Mr. Heald: The £276 million Maxwell settlement achieved in March has secured the position of the overwhelming majority of Maxwell pensioners. This successful outcome has been made possible by the measures taken by the Government and Sir John Cuckney's exceptional work in arranging the settlement.

Income Support

13. Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security how many people over retirement age he estimates are currently not taking up income support payments to which they are entitled. [32776]

Mr. Roger Evans: The latest estimate is that between 480,000 and 860,000 people over 60 who were entitled to income support did not take this up. This estimate is subject to the limitations of the survey data on which it is based.

The most recent estimates of income-related benefits take-up were published on 20 January 1995 and are for the year 1992.

Social Security Reforms

14. Mr. Rowe: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what assessment he has made of the long-term effect on public spending of the social security reforms he has announced so far. [32777]

Mr. Lilley: Long-term savings from reforms announced so far will amount to £14 billion a year.

Personal Pensions

15. Mr. Booth: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security if he will take steps to make personal pensions more attractive for more people. [32778]

Mr. Heald: The Pensions Bill, which has just completed its passage through Parliament, fulfils an election pledge to make personal pensions attractive across a broader age range. It makes it worthwhile for most current personal pension holders to maintain a personal pension throughout their working life.

Order Book Fraud

16. Mr. Dunn: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what measures he is taking to reduce order book fraud. [32779]

Mr. Lilley: I have recently announced a comprehensive programme of activities, which combine to secure the benefit system through increased accuracy and control and greatly reduced opportunities for abuse. The programme will virtually eliminate all instrument of payment fraud.

My Department takes order book fraud very seriously. Our investigators are increasingly effective at detecting and stopping fraud in this area. We will continue to bear down on fraud and abuse through increased use of information technology; more secure payment methods; and a robust system of verification for claims and payments.

Housing Benefit

17. Mr. Pike: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what is the total number of people in receipt of housing benefit in (a) council housing, (b) housing association properties and (c) the private rented sector. [32780]

Mr. Roger Evans: At the latest count in February 1995, the total number of people in receipt of housing benefit was 2,991,210 in council housing; 587,570 in housing association properties and 1,158, 990 in the private rented sector.

The information requested is set out in the table.

Means-tested Benefits

18. Mr. Robert Ainsworth: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security how many people he estimates will have to draw means-tested benefits as a result of the introduction of the jobseeker's allowance and incapacity benefit. [32782]

Mr. Roger Evans: We estimate that, at any one time, 75,000 claimants of income-based jobseeker's allowance would have been receiving unemployment benefit but not income support. A further 10,000 people would be entitled to council tax benefit because of the jobseeker's allowance changes.

For incapacity benefit, we estimate that throughout its first year 240,000 people on average will receive both IB and income support; and that IS will be paid on average to 35,000 people excluded from IB as a result of the new medical test.

Disability

19. Sir Michael Marshall: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what representations he has received about the steps he is taking to reduce discrimination against disabled people. [32783]

Mr. Burt: The comprehensive measures in the Disability Discrimination Bill were drawn up following wide-ranging consultation. Throughout the development of the Bill's measures, my predecessor and officials have maintained continuing communication with business and employers' groups as well as with organisations of and for disabled people.

These widely welcomed measures prove the Government's commitment to end discrimination against disabled people.

Compensation Recovery Unit

Mr. Jon Owen Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security how much had been recovered by the compensation recovery unit in the latest year for which figures are available. [32784]

26. Mr. Hutton: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security if he will make a statement about the operation of the compensation recovery unit. [32790]

Mr. Roger Evans: The compensation recovery unit was set up in 1990 to shift the advantage of recovery to the taxpayer who lost out to the insurer under the old scheme. Just over £110 million was recovered by the unit in 1994–95—over £31 million from April to June 1995.

State Pension

21. Mr. Roy Hughes: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what recent consideration he has given to the method of assessment of the state pension. [32785]

Mr. Heald: The state pension is uprated each year in line with prices, this reflects the commitment to increase all major benefits in line with inflation and is fully in line with the Government's commitment to help those in greatest need.

Claimants' Partners (Working Hours)

22. Mr. Tredinnick: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security whether partners of unemployed benefit claimants will be able to work for up to 24 hours a week without losing entitlement to benefit. [32786]

Mr. Roger Evans: Yes. From October 1996, we are increasing the number of hours which partners of income-based jobseeker's allowance claimants will be able to work from 16 to 24 hours a week. The number of hours a claimant's partner works will have no affect on entitlement to contribution-based jobseeker's allowance.

Benefits Payments (Post Office)

23. Mr. Hawkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what plans he has in respect of pensioners being able to choose to have their benefits paid through the Post Office. [32787]

Mr. Lilley: Pensioners will continue to be able to choose to have their benefits paid directly into their bank or building society accounts by automated credit transfer, or to collect it at the post office.

Plans to automate the system for paying benefit at post offices are well advanced. For customers, this will mean that order books and giros are replaced with a benefit payment card. Starting next year, this change is likely to be phased in over a period of two to three years. Pensioners and other benefit recipients will be informed of what is happening, and exactly what they will need to do, nearer the time when cards are to be issued to them. People who choose to be paid by automated credit transfer will not be affected by this change and will not need a benefit payment card.

Pensioner Incomes

24. Mr. Waterson: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what proportion of pensioners had incomes in the top half of the national income distribution in 1979 and in the last year for which figures are available. [32788]

Mr. Heald: In 1979, 23 per cent. of pensioners in the United Kingdom were in the top half of the income distribution before housing costs and 25 per cent. after housing costs. By 1992–93 these figures had increased to 30 per cent. and 35 per cent. respectively.

Child Support Agency

25. Mr. Mike O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what is his policy to reduce delays in processing inquiries by both the public and hon. Members about the Child Support Agency. [32789]

Mr. Andrew Mitchell: The processing of inquiries from both the public and from hon. Members is a matter of high priority. The agency has channelled additional resources into this area and has made considerable progress in eliminating delays. A number of hon. Members have commented on a noticeable improvement in both the speed and the quality of replies which they receive.

Occupational Pensions

27. Dr. Spink: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what steps he is taking to improve the regulation of occupational pensions. [32791]

Mr. Heald: The Pensions Bill has completed its passage through Parliament. It will greatly improve the regulation of occupational pensions without imposing undue costs on employers or schemes. It provides a clear framework of statutory obligations on employers, trustees, scheme professionals and others involved with occupational pensions and underlines the fact that it is the trustees who are responsible for running schemes. It establishes a statutory minimum funding requirement to ensure the adequacy of pension fund assets, an occupational pensions regulatory authority with robust and wide-ranging powers, and a compensation scheme to cover the loss of funds dishonestly removed.

These measures will increase confidence in occupational pension schemes and thus encourage people to build funded pension provision for their retirement.

Family Credit

28. Mr. Jacques Arnold: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what recent modifications he has made to family credit. [32792]

Mr. Roger Evans: From today, there will be a £10 increase in family credit for people working 30 hours or more a week. We estimate that 345,000 families will benefit from this increase, which will ensure that those working longer hours see a visible gain from their extra effort. This very substantial premium for full-time workers reflects the importance the Government attach to supporting families in work. Claimants who receive housing benefit and council tax benefit will receive the full value of the increase.

Claimant Education and Training

Mr. Sheerman: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what steps he is taking to ensure that the benefits system positively encourages claimants to improve their education and training skills. [32772]

Mr. Burt: The benefit rules allow people to improve their education and training skills. For example, people claiming unemployment benefits may study part time, as long as they remain available for and actively seek employment.

Compensation (Absent Parents)

Ms Corston: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security if he will make it his policy to pay compensation to men who, through mistaken identity or maladministration, receive maintenance inquiry forms or other communications from the Child Support Agency in respect of children of whom they are not the father; and if he will make a statement. [31521]

Mr. Andrew Mitchell: The Government do not accept that financial compensation should be paid in all cases to those incorrectly identified by the Child Support Agency as an alleged absent parent. However, the Child Support Agency can and does make ex-gratia payments to reimburse individuals who have incurred expenses as a result of having to correct the agency's error of identification. Requests for compensation are considered on their merits.

Funds

Mr. Pawsey: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what percentage of the population receives funds from his Department; and what was the percentage in (a) 1970, (b) 1980 and (c) 1990. [32950]

Mr. Burt: The information is not available in the form requested.

Family Credit

Ms Hodge: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what are the latest figures for take-up of the new child care disregards in family credit for (a) all families and (b) one-parent families, (i) in total and (ii) as a percentage of potential claimants. [33475]

Mr. Roger Evans: At 30 June this year, a total of 19,460 families had received higher family credit awards as a result of the help with child care charges. Of these, 18,680 were lone parents and 780 were couples. These figures do not include renewal claims from families who received the help in their previous family credit award.

No information about take-up among potential claimants is available at this stage. However, it is estimated that, in the long term, 150,000 families will benefit from the new help.

Source

Five per cent. sample of family credit awards made between 1 October 1994 and 30 June 1995. These figures do not include claims made by 30 June but decided after that date.

Regional Benefit Rates

Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what plans he has to introduce regional rates of unemployment and other benefits; and if he will make a statement. [34280]

Mr. Roger Evans: We have no such plans.

Disability Discrimination Bill

Mr. Tom Clarke: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security (1) which Secretary of State will appoint members of the National Disability Council under schedule 4 to the Disability Discrimination Bill; [34050]

(2) which Secretary of State the National Disability Council will advise under clause 34 of the Disability Discrimination Bill; [34047]

(3) which Secretary of State will make arrangements for advice and assistance under clause 23 of the Disability Discrimination Bill. [34053]

Mr. Burt: The Secretary of State for Social Security.

Mr. Clarke: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security (1) which Secretary of State will review clause 8 of the Disability Discrimination Bill; [34052]

(2) which Secretary of State shall issue codes of practice under clause 37 of the Disability Discrimination Bill. [34049]

Mr. Burt: The Secretary of State for Education and Employment.

Mr. Clarke: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security which Secretary of State will request codes of practice from the National Disability Council under clause 35 of the Disability Discrimination Bill. [34048]

Mr. Burt: The Secretary of State for Social Security, after consultation with other Secretaries of State with an interest in the area to which the request relates.

Mr. Clarke: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security which Secretary of State will issue guidance under clause 3 of the Disability Discrimination Bill. [34051]

Mr. Burt: The Secretary of State for Social Security, in consultation with the Secretary of State for Education and Employment.

Back-to-work Bonus

Mr. Nigel Evans: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what plans he has to include a back-to-work bonus in his reforms of the unemployment benefits. [32781]

Mr. Lilley: I refer the hon. Member to the reply given by the Under-Secretary of State, my hon. Friend the Member for Monmouth (Mr. Evans), on 13 June Official Report, column 494.

Pensioner Households

Sir Andrew Bowden: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what are the percentage and number of one adult pensioner households who are mainly dependent on state pensions and benefits. [34824]

Mr. Heald: It is estimated that there are 2.5 million one adult pensioner households who are [1]mainly dependent on state benefits. This represents 74 per cent. of the total population of one adult pensioner households.

Retirement Pension

Mr. Harry Greenway: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what was his most recent estimate of the average sum paid to (a) female pensioners and (b) male pensioners over their period of entitlement; and if he will make a statement. [33086]

Mr. Heald: I will write to the hon. Member shortly.

Income Support

Mr. Pike: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security (1) what provision has been made for a trawl of overlooked cases regarding entitlement to severe disability premium; and if he will make a statement; [33820]

(2) how many cases where severe disability premium should have been paid from an earlier date have been identified; what is the total figure in backdated income support payments made to these individuals and what is the average payment; what steps have been taken to ensure compensation payments are made to these individuals; and how much has been paid and what is the average amount. [33821]

Mr. Roger Evans: The administration of income support is a matter for Mr. Ian Magee, the chief executive of the Benefits Agency. He will write to the hon. Member.

Letter from Ian Magee to Mr. Peter L. Pike, dated 14 July 1995:

The Secretary of State for Social Security has asked me to reply to your recent Parliamentary Questions about the provisions which have been made for a trawl of overlooked cases regarding entitlement to severe disability premium (SDP), the number of cases where arrears of SDP have been paid and details of compensation in these cases.

A scan of the Income Support Computer System was undertaken over the weekend of 19/20 November 1994 and cases with potential entitlement to SDP were identified. Benefits Agency offices are currently examining the selected cases to identify those where an award of the SDP may have been overlooked and to pay arrears if appropriate.

At the end of the exercise we will be able to provide an estimate of the number of cases involved and the amount of arrears paid. This will be based on a statistical sample taken from 26 offices within 25 Districts.

Appropriate compensation will be considered on a case by case basis.

I hope you find this reply helpful.

Mr. Corbyn: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security how many people have been refused income support after failing the habitual residence test since its introduction in the Euston district office of Glasgow in each month since the test's introduction in August 1994; how many appeals have been lodged against the decision in each month since August 1994; and how many appeals have been won in each month. [33295]

Mr. Evans: The administration of income support is a matter for Mr. Ian Magee, the chief executive of the Benefits Agency. He will write to the hon. Member.

Letter from Ian Magee to Mr. Jeremy Corbyn, dated 14 July 1995:

The Secretary of State for Social Security has asked me to reply to your recent Parliamentary Question about the operation of the habitual residence test (HRT) for Income Support customers of the Benefits Agency (BA) District Office in Euston.

I have attached, at Annex A, a table giving details of the number of people from Euston District Office who have failed the HRT for each month from August 1994—June 1995.

The BA does not routinely collect information about the number of HRT appeals nor the decisions of the Social Security Appeal Tribunal on these appeals. The information you requested, therefore, could only be provided at disproportionate cost.

Celebration (4 July)

Mr. Skinner: To ask the Prime Minister what was the cost to public funds for the celebrations held on the evening of 4 July at No. 10 Downing street. [35018]

The Prime Minister: Any additional costs to the public purse were de minimis and, in accordance with long-standing practice, no charge will be levied.

Sir Peter Levene

Mr. Gallie: To ask the Prime Minister whether there will be any changes in the responsibilities of his efficiency adviser, Sir Peter Levene, following the recent reallocation of certain ministerial responsibilities. [36164]

The Prime Minister: Sir Peter Levene will continue to fulfil his responsibilities as efficiency adviser to the Prime Minister. In addition to this role, Sir Peter will also advise the Deputy Prime Minister on his responsibilities for the working of government and the competitiveness agenda.

French Nuclear Testing

Mr. Corbyn: To ask the Prime Minister on what dates he was contacted by President Chirac of France concerning the French proposed resumption of nuclear testing at Mururoa atoll; and if he will make a statement. [35415]

The Prime Minister: The details of these discussions with President Chirac are confidential.

Engagements

Sir Peter Tapsell: To ask the Prime Minister if he will list his official engagements for Tuesday 18 July. [33337]

The Prime Minister: This morning I had meetings with Ministerial colleagues and others. In addition to my duties in the House I shall be having further meetings later today.

Exchange Rate Mechanism

Sir Teddy Taylor: To ask the Prime Minister if it is the policy of Her Majesty's Government to advise the House and seek its advice before a decision is made to act as though sterling was in a fixed exchange rate arrangement under the EMU arrangements set out in the Maastricht treaty; and if he will make a statement. [35188]

The Prime Minister: I refer the hon. Member to the reply which my hon. Friend the Minister of State at the Department of Trade and Industry gave him on 18 April, Official Report, column 41.

LORD CHANCELLOR'S DEPARTMENT

Legal Aid (False Declarations)

Mr. Brazier: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department how many people were (a) investigated and (b) prosecuted for false declarations of means in application for legal aid in the years 1985–86 to 1994–95. [34508]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The Legal Aid Board's investigation section was set up in 1988. The information requested for the period prior to this date is not available.

The number of applicants investigated for false declaration of means in their applications for legal aid is as follows:

1987–88: Nil
1988–89: Nil
1989–90: Nil
1990–91: 6
1991–92: 5
1992–93: 8
1993–94: 15
1994–95: 25

The number of assisted persons prosecuted under section 39 of the Legal Aid Act 1988 over the same period is as follows:

1987–88: Nil
1988–89: Nil
1989–90: Nil
1990–91: Nil
1991–92: 2
1992–93: Nil
1993–94: 2
1994–95: 2

An additional case, which included other offences of obtaining Department of Social Security benefits by deception and evasion of paying poll tax, was prosecuted in 1994–95. The Crown Prosecution Service decided to institute proceedings under the Theft Act 1968 to deal with all the offences.

Small Claims

Mr. Matthew Banks: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department what plans he has to amend paragraph 4a of order 19, rule 2 of the county court rules, in line with Lord Woolf's recommendation on the scope for district judges to transfer difficult cases of the small claims procedure. [35231]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The Lord Chancellor considers it would be appropriate to widen the discretion of the district judge to transfer cases out of the small claims jurisdiction when the new "fast track" procedure recommended by Lord Woolf is implemented. To make this amendment prior to the introduction of the "fast track" would reduce litigants' certainty as to the level of costs for which they may become liable.

Mr. Banks: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department if he will list the new measures he intends to introduce in line with Lord Woolf's recommendations to ensure that district judges are properly trained to handle small claims; when these measures will start to take effect; and what account will be taken of increases in the small claims limit in determining the date of commencement. [35232]

Mr. Taylor: The Judicial Studies Board is responsible for the training of district judges. It is currently considering the need for training in handling small claims.

Legislative Plans

Mr. Kirkwood: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department what legislation he plans to introduce; and if he will make a statement. [35301]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The Government's plans for legislation will be announced in the Queen's Speech at the start of the 1995–96 Session.

TRANSPORT

A303 (Stonehenge)

Mr. Key: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what progress has been made on setting up a round table conference to consider improvements to the A303 at Stonehenge. [36209]

Mr. Watts: We are currently approaching suitable candidates for the chairmanship for the conference and I will make an announcement shortly. An exhibition showing all the routes which have been identified as possible solutions, including those shown at the earlier public consultation, will be held in Amesbury in late September. The chairman, when appointed, will make the detailed arrangements for the conference.

National Rail Timetable Information

Mr. Tyler: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will make it an essential requirement for a successful franchise bid for a rail service that the operating company participates in a national timetable information system for passengers. [34857]

Mr. Watts: Yes. Operators will be required to participate in a national telephone inquiry service to ensure that there is clear and accurate information about train services available nationwide. In addition, all operators will be required to make available at each station clear and up-to-date information about all rail services that use the station and all stations that they serve.

M3 (Bar End-Compton)

Mr. Denham: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what is the most recent estimate he has made of the number of vehicles using the M3, Bar End-Compton section. [35228]

Mr. Watts: This is an operational matter for the Highways Agency. I have asked the chief executive to write to the hon. Member.

Letter from Lawrie Haynes to Mr. John Denham, dated 11 July 1995:

As you know, the Minister for Railways and Roads, Mr. John Watts, has asked me to reply to your recent Parliamentary Question about the number of vehicles using the M3, Bar End-Compton section.

In the week beginning 3 July 1995, about 684,000 vehicles used the section of M3 between junctions 10 and 11 (an average of about 97,700 vehicles per day).

Legislative Plans

Mr. Kirkwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what legislation he plans to introduce; and if he will make a statement. [35306]

Mr. Norris: The Government's plans for legislation will be announced in the Queen's Speech at the start of the 1995–96 Session.

Public Service Vehicles

Mr. Denham: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what estimate he has made of the total number of journeys made each year by public service vehicles. [35350]

Mr. Norris: The total number of passenger journeys made each year on public service vehicles, up to 1993–94, is listed in tables 10.5 and 11.1, in the HMSO transport statistics report "Bus and Coach Statistics Great Britain: 1993–94". These figures are collected in annual surveys of public service vehicles.

Passenger journey data on non-local services—tours, excursions, express services and private hire, shown in table 10.5—were not collected after 1990–91 as they were considered less reliable than those for local bus and coach services.

Mr. Denham: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many roadside examinations of public service vehicles took place in the most recent year; and how many were found to have safety defects. [35349]

Mr. Norris: This is an operational matter for the Vehicle Inspectorate Agency. I have asked the chief executive to write to the hon. Member.

Letter from Ron Oliver to Mr. John Denham dated 18 July 1995:

The Secretary of State has asked me to reply to your question on the number of roadside examinations on public service vehicles.

In 1994/95 29,831 public service vehicles were inspected at roadworthiness spot checks (including special checks on smoke emissions). Of these 3,315 were found to have defects which warranted the issue of a prohibition notice.

Vehicle Emissions

Mr. Tony Lloyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what proposals the Government have to limit vehicle emission. [35382]

Mr. Norris: I refer the hon. Member to the reply I gave to the hon. Member for Ellesmere Port and Neston (Mr. Miller) on 17 July.

Mr. Lloyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport whether his Department attaches a higher priority to action against the worst offenders of vehicular emissions; what variation in emissions he has identified according to vehicle type and vehicle age; and what estimates have been made as to the contribution of older cars to the overall emissions. [35383]

Mr. Norris: The Government attach high priority to ensuring compliance with emissions standards for vehicles in service. Emissions are checked both at annual test and at roadside checks. Recent emissions blitz campaigns are evidence of our commitment. Particular attention is given to the worst offenders, who face automatic prosecution. Vehicles of different ages are subject to different legal standards as shown in the table:

Petrol engined cars, light goods vehicles and other vehicles in the main MOT testing scheme:

Application	Carbon monoxide Per cent.	Hydrocarbons Parts per million
First used on or after 1 January 1983	4.5	1,200
First used on or after 1 August 1975 and before 1 January 1983	6	1,200

For diesel-engined vehicles:

Application	Smoke opacity in non-turbo engine	Smoke opacity in turbo-engine
First used on or after 1 January 1979 (except taxis)	3.2m^{-1}	3.7m^{-1}
Taxis since 18 April 1995	ditto	ditto

No precise estimates have been made of the contribution of older vehicles to overall emissions, but it should be noted that well-maintained older vehicles will be no more polluting than a similarly maintained three-year-old engine and, typically, have a lower annual mileage than new vehicles.

Automatic Train Protection Systems

Ms Glenda Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will list all system-wide automatic train protection systems currently under examination by his Department with the name of their manufacturer and the projected cost of installing these systems across the rail network. [35277]

Mr. Watts: My right hon. Friend expects to receive shortly a progress report from the Health and Safety Commission on the British Rail and Railtrack strategy for tackling ATP-preventable accidents. The strategy will identify the devices or systems which could eventually be used more widely on the rail network, either singly or in combination, subject to the outcome of trials or assessments.

Departmental Contracts

Mr. Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what measures have been taken by his Department to ensure that contracts awarded by his Department represent value for money. [35059]

Mr. Norris: In purchasing goods and services, key measures applied are careful specification of requirements, securing appropriate competition and prices offered, including any maintenance costs.

Mr. Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what regulations exist regarding the awarding of contracts by his Department to firms that are not limited companies. [35061]

Mr. Norris: No regulations exist. Contracts are awarded taking into account the financial stability of a supplier and his ability to undertake the work required.

Double-decker Buses

Mr. Spellar: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what effect the extension of the whole vehicle type approval framework directive 70/156/EEC as amended by directive 92/53/EEC will have on double-decker buses. [34848]

Mr. Norris: None.

Prestwick Airport

Mr. Foulkes: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what plans he has for the restoration of controlled airspace around Prestwick airport. [34350]

Mr. Norris: The Civil Aviation Authority, CAA, has responsibility for airspace planning in the United Kingdom. It has no plans to review the requirement for controlled airspace around Prestwick airport at current traffic levels.

Channel Tunnel Rail Link

Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what estimate he has made of the costs of constructing an international and domestic station on the channel tunnel rail link at Stratford after the line has become operational. [34538]

Mr. Norris: None.

Mr. Prentice: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what percentage share he intends to take from the development gain arising from the disposal of the King's Cross railway lands in connection with the channel tunnel rail link. [34278]

Mr. Watts: The Secretary of State intends to take a share in development gain from or benefits accruing on disposal of the King's Cross railway lands.

Swindon Development Agency

Mr. Bayley: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will place in the Library copies of all papers which were presented to the British Railways Board and/or the BREL board about the case for establishing the Swindon development agency at the time of closure of the Swindon BREL works, together with the minutes of all the decisions about this matter taken by the British Rail Board and the BREL board. [34660]

Mr. Watts: These are internal management documents of the British Railways Board and are not for disclosure.

Mr. Bayley: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport when British Rail established the Swindon development agency; how much money has been invested in the agency (a) by BR and (b) from other public sources; how many former BR and BREL employees have been found alternative employment by the agency; and how many jobs for other people in the Swindon area the agency has created. [34453]

Mr. Watts: The information requested is as follows:

Name of agency	Type of agency when established	Investment by BREL	Other funding sources	How many former BREL employees found employment	How many other jobs created
Swindon development agency 1989 merged with Swindon Ent.g Trust became Great Western Enterprise	Enterprise Agency May 1986	£1.25 million	£120,000 from local business and 2 seconded Railway Managers	Numbers not available, but 6 ex-BREL staff still on payroll	To date over 3,000 business assisted job numbers not available

Mr. Bayley: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will give details of the funding and activities of agencies similar to the Swindon development agency established by the British Rail Board of BREL in other towns or the cities affected by railway job losses. [34461]

Mr. Watts: Details are given in the following table:

Name of agency	Type of agency when established	Investment by BREL	Other funding sources	How many former BREL employees found employment	How many other jobs created
Bolton Bus Ventures for Horwich Works	Enterprise agency November 1984	£500,000	£50,000 revenue funding p.a. for 3 years plus £50,000 from Bolton Metropolitan B Council	At least 173	823 jobs to October 1987 3,000 businesses assisted to date. Job numbers not available

FOREIGN AND COMMONWEALTH AFFAIRS

World Wide Web

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will make a statement on the work his Department has carried out in the past 12 months in making information about his Department available to the public via the Government world wide web server known as www.open.gov.uk and his plans and policies to make additional and new information available electronically on the server in the next 12 months. [34677]

Mr. Hanley: From 1 May 1995, the Foreign and Commonwealth Office, diplomatic wing, began publishing a range of regularly updated information material on the world wide web, including speeches and statements, press releases, consular and travel advice and a selection of other material on international issues. The service can be accessed under the address http://www.fco.gov.uk.

The Overseas Development Administration makes available material on development issues through the "one World Online" web site at the address http://www/oneworld.org/oda/. It is also actively considering ways of publishing more general information through either the Government world wide web server www.open.gov.uk or the Foreign and Commonwealth Office server detailed above."

Mr. Harry Wu

Mr. David Atkinson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what representations he has made to the Government of the Chinese People's Republic on the arrest of Mr. Harry Wu; and if he will make a statement. [34839]

Mr. Hanley: Mr. Harry Wu is a United States citizen, and the US Government are in contact with the Chinese authorities about his arrest. We share American concern about this case and hope that Mr. Wu will soon be released.

We are in discussion with European Union partners and the United States about the next steps.

Exports

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how much of his Department's annual budget is spent on the promotion of British exports; and if he will make a statement. [34936]

Mr. Hanley: I refer the hon. Member to pages 32–37 of the Foreign and Commonwealth Office's 1995 departmental report, Cm 2802, a copy of which is in the Library of the House. The cost of commercial activity is given in table 11 therein.

Pitcairn Island

Mr. Llew Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs which British mission is responsible for the protection of the dependent territory of Pitcairn island. [35167]

Sir Nicholas Bonsor: The British high commissioner in Wellington is Governor of Pitcairn.

United Nations Special Commission

Mr. Llew Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what resources are currently committed to the United Nations special commission on Iraq; and what plans he has to increase United Kingdom payments to UNSCOM. [35162]

Mr. David Davis: The UK makes a significant contribution to the work of the special commission and the International Atomic Energy Agency in Iraq by putting at their disposal a wide range of expertise and equipment. At the moment, four British nationals are in Iraq on UNSCOM inspections, a further seven are seconded to the Baghdad monitoring centre for periods of up to six months, and four are seconded to UNSCOM in

New York. In the financial year 1994–95 the total cost of UK support for UNSCOM was £1.1 million.

There are no plans to change the level of our support.

Weapons Tests

Mr. Llew Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs, pursuant to his answer of 10 July, Official Report, column 394, if he will commission an evaluation of the report prepared by Stephen Hughes MEP and C. L. Beaver for the European Parliament's environment committee on the environmental and health effects of French nuclear testing at Mururoa and Fangataufa in French Polynesia, to assess its relevance to British dependent territories in the region. [35166]

Mr. David Davis: We are naturally concerned to ensure the environmental protection of British dependent territories, but note the assurance given by President Chirac that the proposed programme of nuclear tests will cause no damage to the environment.

Mr. Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will assess the relevance to British policy of the written reply, number 1519/95 EN by the EU Environment Commissioner on 28 June to Nuala Ahern MEP, on the notifications made by France to the European Commission on nuclear testing under Article 34 of the EURATOM Treaty. [35168]

Mr. Davis: We have no current plans to carry out any further nuclear tests. The Commission's reply, to which the hon. Gentleman refers, therefore has no consequences for British policy.

Mr. Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what reports he has received regarding the welfare of British nationals on board the Greenpeace ship "Rainbow Warrior II" near the Mururoa atoll in the Pacific ocean. [35154]

Mr. Hanley: None.

We have reminded the French authorities of their obligations towards us in respect of any British nationals they detain.

Mr. Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what treaty restrictions exist on the ability of Her Majesty's Government to share with another nuclear weapons power data on nuclear weapons simulations obtained by use of the Nevada test site either independently or in collaboration with the United States Government. [35153]

Mr. Davis: In the event that such information were obtained from US sources, article VII of the 1958 UK/US mutual defence agreement states that it could not be communicated to third parties without the approval of the US Government.

Mr. Corbyn: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs which Governments have made representations to him concerning the proposed French nuclear testing at Mururoa atoll; and if he will make a statement. [35416]

Mr. Davis: We have discussed this question with a number of Governments, particularly those in the south Pacific. We have made clear our own views on several occasions.

East Timor

Mr. Andrew Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs, pursuant to his answer of 5 July, Official Report, column 264, for what reasons his answer excluded the issue of discussion about the export of British arms to Indonesia. [34855]

Mr. Hanley: We do not wish to prejudice our contacts with Timorese representatives by revealing the precise nature of our discussions.

Antarctic Secretariat

Mr. Corbyn: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs when he expects agreement to be reached on the future siting of the Antarctic secretariat. [35432]

Sir Nicholas Bonsor: The siting of the Antarctic treaty secretariat was discussed at the XIXth Antarctic treaty consultative meeting in Seoul in May. Treaty parties noted that there was still no progress on reaching a consensus on this issue. The next consultative meeting will take place in the Netherlands in April 1996, when it is expected that the matter will be taken forward.

Legislative Plans

Mr. Kirkwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what legislation he plans to introduce; and if he will make a statement. [35315]

Sir Nicholas Bonsor: The Government's plans for legislation will be announced in the Queen's Speech at the start of the 1995–96 Session.

Western Sahara

Mr. Corbyn: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs when he expects that the referendum on the future of the western Sahara will be held; and if he will make a statement. [35433]

Mr. Hanley: We hope that the referendum will be held early next year. We welcome Polisario's decision to resume its participation in the voter identification process. We call on both parties to the dispute to co-operate fully with the United Nations Secretary-General in the implementation of the UN's settlement plan for the territory, and to refrain from any further actions which may hinder implementation of the plan.

Consultants

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs, pursuant to his answer of 12 July, Official Report, column 590, if he will indicate the nature of the diplomatic wing's consultancy service and those involved in the aid programme. [35488]

Mr. Hanley: Consultancies carried out in both the diplomatic and aid wings in 1994–95 would involve some or all of the elements of consultancy contained in the Cabinet Office definition.

Westminster Foundation for Democracy

Mr. Patrick Thompson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs when the annual report of the Westminster Foundation for Democracy will be available. [36081]

Sir Nicholas Bonsor: Copies of the foundation's annual report for 1994–95 will be placed in the Libraries of the House during the week beginning 17 July.

The foundation received £2.2 million from the Foreign and Commonwealth Office for its activities in 1994–95. With this grant, it has supported 244 projects, compared with 236 projects last year. This has included a significant contribution to a wide range of media organisations in the former Soviet Union, a comprehensive programme of political party training with a range of parties throughout central and eastern Europe undertaken by UK political parties, and provided on-going support to the post-electoral structures in the new South Africa.

The foundation continues to make a valuable contribution to the promotion of democracy worldwide.

Foreign Affairs Council (Geneva)

Mr. Lidington: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will report on the outcome of the Foreign Affairs Council held in Geneva on 30 June. [36166]

Mr. David Davis: A Foreign Affairs Council was called at short notice in Geneva on 30 June to consider how the Community should respond to developments in the final stages of negotiations in the World Trade Organisation on the liberalisation of financial services. My hon. Friend the Under-Secretary of State for Trade and Technology represented the United Kingdom.

The Council noted with regret that the WTO was unable to conclude an agreement containing a high degree of commitments to multilateral and non-discriminatory liberalisation on trade in financial services and expressed concern about the position taken by the US Government in the final stages of the negotiations. The Council agreed that European Union negotiators should support the extension of the deadline for completion of the negotiations on both financial services and the movement of persons until 28 July 1995.

The Council agreed that the Community and its member states should work during this extra period to achieve maximum liberalisation on a multilateral and non-discriminatory basis, thus preserving the benefits of the great efforts made in earlier rounds of the negotiations, and called on other parties to work for the same objective.

The Council discussed how best to achieve this objective and agreed to return to the matter at its meeting in Brussels on 17 July 1995.

OVERSEAS DEVELOPMENT ADMINISTRATION

Nicaragua

Mr. Watson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will list projects funded in Nicaragua in 1994–95 through aid for (a) technical co-operation, (b) programme aid and (c) the Commonwealth Development Corporation. [33265]

Mr. Hanley: The list of bilateral projects in Nicaragua funded in 1994–95 is as follows:

(a) technical co-operation—

English language teaching project

(b) programme aid—

nil (disbursements under the £600,000 programme aid grant signed in 1991 were completed in 1993–94).

(c) Commonwealth Development Corporation—

(i) Establishment of an export warehousing operation.

(ii) Establishment of a shrimp farm.

Indonesia

Mrs. Clwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs in what respect and to what extent the police management training project in Indonesia benefits the poorest people in that country.

Mr. Hanley: A more efficient and better managed police service should benefit the population of Indonesia as a whole.

Mrs. Clwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what criteria applied to the provision of aid to police forces at the time his Department approved the police management training project in Indonesia. [34711]

Mr. Hanley: Support designed to enhance the competence and effectiveness of a national police service can play a valuable part in the general improvement of public services on which economic and social development substantially depend. The police management training project in Indonesia was approved on this basis.

Mrs. Clwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs, pursuant to his answer of 30 June, Official Report, column 803, if he will place in the Library a copy of the project completion report on the radio studios rehabilitation project in Indonesia.

Mr. Hanley [holding answer 13 July 1995]: As made clear in ODA's code of practice for open government, release of project completion reports requires the consent of the recipient Government. We are contacting the Indonesian Government accordingly.

Competitive Tendering

Mr. Watson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will make a statement on the policy of the Overseas Development Administration on involving recipient countries in the selection process during competitive tendering in respect of projects which it funds. [34840]

Mr. Hanley: Where the ODA provides financial aid, the recipient country is responsible for the tendering process, and—unlike the ODA—is a party to the contract. Under technical co-operation, where contracts are let by the ODA, the recipients' needs are fully considered in drawing up project terms of reference and in the criteria for selection. In the latter case, the views of the recipient may be sought about the relative merits of tenders submitted, but the ODA is responsible for ensuring the proposed contract award is determined by best procurement practice.

HOUSE OF COMMONS

Car Allowance

Dr. Lynne Jones: To ask the Lord President of the Council how much money would have been saved in the past year if the maximum rate that could be claimed by hon. Members for car travel was set at (i) the current middle rate, (ii) the current lowest rate and (iii) the same rate as is the maximum payable to councillors. [34778]

Mr. Newton: Detailed figures are not readily available and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

HOME DEPARTMENT

Pornography

Mrs. Ann Winterton: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) what are the divisions of responsibility for enforcing the law on pornography within the Metropolitan police force following the review of the Obscene Publications Branch-SO1(4); [35370]

(2) how many police officers within the Metropolitan police force are currently working on (a) child pornography, (b) adult pornography and (c) computer pornography of any type; and what were the figures in 1993. [35371]

Mr. Maclean: I understand from the Commissioner of the Police of the Metropolis that responsibility for enforcing the law on all aspects of pornography is shared by the clubs and vice unit on the Metropolitan police No. 1 area and the paedophile unit at New Scotland Yard.

The following are the numbers of police officers assigned to these units in 1993 and currently.

Rank	Current staffing levels	1993 staffing levels
Superintendent	1	1
Chief Inspector	2	nil
Inspector	2	2
Sergeant	11	9
Constable	20	16

"Why Civil Liberties"

Dame Jill Knight: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what direct or indirect Government funding has been provided to the Civil Liberties Trust for the making and distribution of the video pack for schools entitled "Why Civil Liberties". [35195]

Mr. Nicholas Baker: In 1992–93, the latest year for which information has currently been collated, no direct grants were made to the Civil Liberties Trust by a central Government Department. Information for 1993–94 is currently being collated. Records of individual grants made indirectly, for example by non-departmental public bodies, are not kept centrally by this Department.

Legislative Plans

Mr. Kirkwood: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what legislation he plans to introduce; and if he will make a statement. [35317]

Mr. Howard: The Government's plans for legislation will be announced in the Queen's Speech at the start of the 1995–96 Session.

CS Gas

Mr. Livingstone: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what tests and studies have been carried out since 1965 by police departments on CS gas or CS gas foam; what was the purpose of these tests; where the tests were carried out and by whom; what was the nature of these tests; when the tests were carried out; what is the Home Office's policy on the use of CS gas or CS gas foam; and what assistance the police received from the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment, Porton Down, during these tests. [35575]

Mr. Maclean: Individual police forces have not, so far as I am aware, carried out their own scientific research into CS. They do, however, have access to the results of research and to expert advice. The report of the Home Office inquiry into the medical toxicological aspects of CS, published in two parts in 1969 and 1971—Command Papers 4173 and 4775 respectively—included a thorough review of the substantial research which had been carried out into CS at that time. This has subsequently been complemented by further research which has been reported upon in the published literature. This is kept under expert review by the Home Office police scientific development branch, which in turn provides chief officers of police with advice on the operational suitability of particular products.

The police scientific development branch has, in consultation with the Department of Health and the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment, recently reviewed the latest available information in relation to proposals for the carriage of CS by police officers for self-defence. The police have for some years had access to CS for use against armed besieged criminals or as a last resort in public disorder.

It is for chief officers of police to choose which CS devices to deploy, or the medium in which the irritant is dispensed, in any given circumstances. It is planned to use hand-held canisters which spray CS in a liquid solution for police self-defence trials.

Police Complaints Authority

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what new appointments have been made to the Police Complaints Authority. [35817]

Mr. Maclean: Mrs. Caroline Mitchell and Mr. James Elliott have accepted my invitation to serve as members of the Police Complaints Authority. Mrs. Mitchell was previously senior assistant to the ombudsman at the Insurance Ombudsman Bureau and Mr. Elliott is at present divisional director of housing for the London borough of Brent. Mrs. Mitchell and Mr. Elliott will serve for three years from 22 May 1995 and 7 August 1995 respectively.

Forensic Science Service

Mr. Stephen: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department if he will lay before Parliament the annual report for the Forensic Science Service. [35818]

Mr. Howard: I have today laid before Parliament copies of the Forensic Science Service's annual report and accounts for 1994–95.

Immigration

Mr. John Marshall: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what is the outcome of the study of inter-agency co-operation on the enforcement of the immigration laws which he set up in October 1993. [35869]

Mr. Howard: The efficiency scrutiny which I announced in October 1993 was intended to examine ways in which the Government as a whole could work more effectively to strengthen immigration control and to prevent those temporarily or illegally in this country from receiving state benefits to which they should not be entitled. The scrutiny demonstrated that, in many cases, either the rules governing eligibility for benefit or the procedures for granting it were insufficiently rigorous to prevent abuse. It also showed that too often illegal immigrants were able to escape detection because procedures for identifying them were unclear.

The Government do not believe that this is acceptable. It is wrong that people who are admitted to this country on the basis that they can provide for themselves or who are here illegally should receive benefits paid for by the taxes of lawful residents. The fact that this has been possible has provided a significant incentive for abuse of our immigration laws. Our objective is to end this abuse.

The recommendations made by the scrutiny have been carefully considered. The Government have agreed proposals affecting the work of several Departments and agencies in respect of persons from abroad—a term used to mean a person who is not a national of a member state of the European Economic Area and who is not settled in the United Kingdom within the meaning of the immigration laws. The proposals, which fall into three interlinked groups, are designed:

> to ensure that people who are here unlawfully or as visitors do not receive benefits to which they are not entitled, including social security, social housing, free NHS treatment and student awards; > to ensure that staff responsible for providing benefits and services are given the necessary guidance and training to identify claimants who are ineligible because of their immigration status;
> to strengthen the arrangement for staff responsible for providing benefits and services to pass information about immigration offenders to the immigration authorities.

These proposals will be put into effect in the following ways. First, in seeking to align eligibility for benefits and services with immigration status and to ensure that procedures to check eligibility are effective:

> My right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for Social Security has already tightened up his Department's procedures to ensure that ineligible persons from abroad are excluded from income support, housing benefit and council tax benefit. My right hon. Friend is now examining the position in relation to other non-contributory benefits and hopes to make an announcement in due course;
> My right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for Education and Employment will consider the need for further steps to ensure that persons from abroad here temporarily or in breach of the immigration laws do not gain access to student awards or loans;
> My right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for the Environment has already published proposals for fairer access to social housing, under which persons from abroad temporarily in this country will not be able to obtain assistance under the homelessness legislation. My hon. Friend the Minster for Local Government Housing and Urban Regeneration has today announced in a written answer that under the proposals such people will not be entitled to social housing tenancies allocated by local housing authorities;
> My right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for Health has asked national health service staff to work closely with my Department to find better ways of controlling access to free medical treatment by persons from abroad who are not entitled to receive it;

Secondly, in improving procedures to enable the providers of benefits and services to identify ineligible persons from abroad:

> clearer instructions and appropriate training will be given, with the assistance of the Immigration and Nationality Department, to social security and Employment Service staff;
> guidance will be given to local authorities, and training will be made available to local authority staff in identifying immigration offenders after consultation with local authority associations, on the identification of immigration offenders;
> further guidance is being considered in respect of student awards and also for institutions of further and higher education;
> we shall introduce a mre effective system of notification of relevant changes in immigration status to ensure that those who should not have access to social security benefits do not receive them;
> my Department is consulting the Department for Education and Employment on whether it would be feasible to issue guidance for schools admission authorities.

Thirdly, in developing arrangements for more exchanges of information between officials in central and local government and the Immigration and Nationality Department of the Home Office, we shall be taking advantage of the opportunities which naturally arise in the daily contacts between officials and persons from abroad. So long as they are not prevented by their statutory obligations or by the sensitivities of their operational objectives, officials in central Government will pass to the immigration authorities information about suspected illegal entrants and overstayers with whom they come into contact in the course of their normal duties. In its turn the Immigration and Nationality Department will be able to give details of an applicant's status under the immigration laws when that is relevant to his eligibility for a state benefit or service. In order to make quite sure that they are operating strictly within the provisions of the data protection laws, all departments and agencies concerned will fully consult the Data Protection Registrar before implementing these arrangements.

Because I attach great importance to the maintenance of good race relations in this country, my Department will consult the Commission for Racial Equality on a set of objective criteria which may be used by Departments and agencies if it becomes necessary to seek clarification of an applicant's status under the immigration rules.

Criminal Records

Mr. Godsiff: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what consideration has been given in the White Paper he proposes to introduce that will establish a privatised criminal justice record system, Phoenix, to the rights of affected individuals to have equal access to the same information. [35367]

Mr. Maclean: Our proposals on new arrangements for access to criminal records in the employment context will be published later this year.

Phoenix, the criminal justice record service, is already operational. It will not be privatised.

Street Robberies

Mr. Stephens: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what is the average sentence (a) passed and (b) served in custody, for street robberies in each of the last three years for which figures are available. [35270]

Miss Widdecombe: The information requested is not available. Street robberies are not distinguished separately from other robberies in the information collected centrally on the prison population and court proceedings.

Relocation of Prisoners (Northern Ireland)

Mr. Beggs: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what consideration is being given to the relocation of prisoners from Great Britain to Northern Ireland prisons; and if he will make a statement. [35595]

Miss Widdecombe: The Criminal Justice Act 1961 provides for prisoners convicted in one United Kingdom jurisdiction to request permanent or temporary transfer to another United Kingdom jurisdiction.

Requests for transfer continue to be considered on their individual merits under criteria announced to the House on 23 November 1992.

Prosecution and Cautioning Data

Ms Corston: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many males aged (a) 10 to 13, (b) 14 to 16 and (c) 17 to 20 years were estimated to be in the population for England and Wales; and how many were charged with and cautioned for (i) violent offences against the person, (ii) robbery, (iii) burglary, (iv) summary offences of criminal damage and malicious damage and (v) all other offences for each year since 1983. [34464]

Mr. Maclean: As detailed information on the number of persons charged is not collected centrally, prosecution data as well as cautioning figures are given in the tables.

Data for 1994 will not be available until the autumn of 1995.

[1] A number of indictable offences were reclassified as summary on October 1988 following the Criminal Justice Act 1988.
[2] Offenders cautioned for "going equipped for stealing etc" were counted against 'burglary offences' until 1986 and against 'others' from 1987.

Immigration

Mrs. Helen Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) how many applications for entry into this country from partners of United Kingdom citizens have been refused entry wholly or partly on grounds of their sexuality, in each of the last three years; [34519]

(2) how many applications for entry into the United Kingdom there have been from partners of United Kingdom citizens in homosexual relationships in the last three years. [34518]

Mr. Nicholas Baker: The information requested is not available; such cases are not separately identified in the statistics.

Bail Hostel (Port Talbot)

Mr. John Morris: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department if he will now publish the report on the bail hostel at Port Talbot. [34352]

Mr. Nicholas Baker: The report by Her Majesty's inspectorate of probation is due to be published early next month.

Bingo

Miss Hoey: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when he will review regulations relating to the advertising of bingo to enable it to be on equal terms with the national lottery. [34450]

Mr. Nicholas Baker: The restrictions on the advertising of bingo and other forms of commercial gambling are currently under review as part of the Government's deregulation initiative.

Violent Crimes

Ms Corston: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department if he will list the research studies from his Department which have (a) reported and (b) are yet to be published on the reasons for the rise since 1985 in the number of boys and young men charged with, or cautioned, for, offences of violence against the person. [34462]

Mr. Maclean: No research reports have been published or are due for publication which deal directly with the number of boys and young men charged with, or cautioned for, offences of violence against the person. Information from Home Office statistics shows a reduction in the number of those in the under-21 age group found guilty or cautioned for offences against the person since 1985, although changes in recording of common assault, which was reclassified as summary only in 1989, will have affected the figures. Allowing for this, it would appear that there has been little change over the period.

Serious Crimes (Low-income Households)

Ms Corston: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department if he will list the research studies commissioned by his Department in the 1980s and 1990s on the relationship between low household disposal income and rates of serious criminal offences; and if he will make a statement. [34482]

Mr. Maclean: No such studies have been commissioned by the Department, although questions relating to household income are included in the "British Crime Survey". Reports of the "British Crime Survey", the latest being the 1992 British crime survey, Home Office research study No.132, are in the Library.

Police Personnel

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many police personnel per 1,000 population there are in (a) Northern Ireland and (b) other parts of the United Kingdom. [34363]

Mr. Maclean: The number of police per 1,000 population in the United Kingdom is as follows:

Northern Ireland: 7.1

Scotland: 2.79

England and Wales: 2.46

Immigration (Detention)

Mr. Thurnham: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what action he is taking to improve the efficiency of the allocation of immigration cases to detention centres. [33994]

Mr. Baker: Plans are in hand to introduce a revised detention allocation system designed to ensure that the best use is made of available space in accordance with agreed priorities.

Miss Hoey: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department if he will re-examine immigration service policy with a view to ending the detention of any person in police custody solely for having contravened immigration laws. [33996]

Mr. Baker: The initial detention of an immigration offender arrested within the United Kingdom will continue to require the use of police cells. However, the Immigration (Places of Detention) Direction 1994 limits detention in police cells under immigration powers to a maximum of five days—seven days if directions for removal within that period have been given. Every effort is made to transfer immigration detainees to more suitable accommodation as soon as this can be arranged.

Immigration (Carriers' Liability)

Mr. Thurnham: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what steps he is taking to ensure that the Immigration (Carriers' Liability) Act 1987 is properly enforced and to ensure rapid payment of any fines levied on carriers. [33995]

Mr. Nicholas Baker: Enforcement of the Act forms an integral part of the Government's strategy for ensuring an effective immigration control. The immigration service assists carriers in meeting their obligations under the Act through an extensive programme of guidance and training. It has, for example, provided training to carriers on 325 separate occasions at ports of embarkation worldwide since the Act was introduced.

At 30 June 1995 a total of £80.20 million had been incurred by carriers under the Act. Of this sum 79.7 per cent. had either been paid, £46.11 million, waived following representations by carriers, £10.60 million, or was the subject of settlement proposals, £7.20 million. The remaining 20.3 per cent., £16.29 million, is being rigorously pursued as part of an active debt recovery programme, which includes recourse to litigation where necessary.

Prisons (Disabled Visitors' Facilities)

Mr. Cox: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department if he will list the prisons in England and Wales that have disabled facilities for visitors to use when visiting prison inmates. [34079]

Miss Widdecombe: Responsibility for this matter has been delegated to the Director General of the Prison Service, who has been asked to arrange for a reply to be given.

Letter from Derek Lewis to Mr. Tom Cox, dated 18 July 1995:

The Home Secretary has asked me to reply to your recent Question about facilities for disabled visitors at prisons in England and Wales.

Prisons with facilities for disabled visitors are listed in the attached table. Such facilities include ramps, lifts, wide doors and specially adapted toilets. The listed prisons will have some or all of these.

Trainee Immigration Officers

Miss Lestor: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department if he will place in the Library a copy of the series of handouts issued to trainee immigration officers. [33300]

Mr. Nicholas Baker: I have arranged for this material to be examined with a view to placing the handouts in the Library except where disclosure would damage the effectiveness of the immigration control.

Mr. Raghbir Singh Johal

Mr. Winnick: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department if he will notify the hon. Member during the summer recess of developments in the case of Mr. Raghbir Singh Johal with particular reference to whether a final decision is made to deport him; and if he will make it his policy to ensure that such notification will allow time for further representations to him. [33682]

Mr. Nicholas Baker: Yes.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL

Performance Targets (Agencies)

Mr. Lidington: To ask the Attorney-General if he will announce the key performance targets for executive agencies in his Department for 1995–96; and if he will make a statement. [35816]

The Attorney-General: On 28 April 1994, I informed the House, Official Report, column 235, of the key performance targets which I had set for the Government Property Lawyers for 1994–95. The agency has had another successful year and it has achieved the targets I set. I congratulate the chief executive and his staff. I have set the following targets for the agency for 1995–96:

To recover the full operating cost of the Agency.

To achieve at least 6,000 new instructions from its clients.

To effect an average of 95 completions pre case-holder equivalent to a total of 6,935.

To maintain and improve the quality of service in particular by keeping the proportion of cases completed satisfactorily (i.e. without requiring rectification by reason of any fault of the Agency) on or before the target date at or above 99.5 per cent.

Over the three year period. 1993–94 to 1996–97 to achieve a reduction on operating costs of an average of 2.5 per cent. per year in real terms taking 1993–94 as the base year.

I wish the chief executive and his staff another successful year.

Serious Fraud Office

Mr. Lidington: To ask the Attorney-General when he expects to lay before Parliament and publish the annual report of the Serious Fraud Office for the year 1994–95. [35815]

The Attorney-General: The report was laid before Parliament at 11 am this morning and then published. Copies have been placed in the Libraries of both Houses.

TREASURY

Statistics (EU)

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer, pursuant to his answer of 29 June, if he will publish such information on other EU member states, official publications on public expenditure and taxation as is readily available to him. [32492]

Mr. Heathcoat Amory: Relevant documents for each of the member states are listed below, where readily available, with the usual month of publication. A number of these documents are not available in the English language.

Inheritance and Capital Transfer Taxes

Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will list the number of owners of chattels that are conditionally exempt from inheritance tax or capital transfer tax that reside in each English county. [32873]

Mr. Jack: The information requested could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Mr. Prentice: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many owners of chattels that are conditionally exempt from inheritance tax or capital transfer tax charge members of the public a fee to view their works of art. [32874]

Mr. Jack: The information requested is not available. Owners may charge members of the public a reasonable fee to review their conditionally exempt chattels, but there is no statutory power for the purpose of either tax to require owners to tell the Inland Revenue about any fee charged.

Mr. Prentice: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many owners of works of art which have conditional exemption from inheritance tax or capital transfer tax and to which the public have rights of access (a) do not list their telephone numbers in the register of conditionally exempt works of art and (b) are ex-directory. [32875]

Mr. Jack: The information requested could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Single Currency

Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) if he will list the working parties he has established to examine and plan the legislative and administrative measures required for the possible introduction of the single currency; [33528]

(2) if he will publish a detailed response to the European Commission's green paper on the practical arrangements for the introduction of a single currency. [33531]

Mr. Kenneth Clarke: The Government are currently considering how to respond to the "operational conclusions" of the Commission's Green Paper.

Pension Contributions

Ms Corston: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what percentage of households, excluding retired households, in the poorest and richest decile groups and what percentage of males and of females of economically active age in those groups as ranked by disposable income in table 34 of the family spending reports of the Central Statistical Office, are paying contributions to (a) private pension schemes, (b) occupational pension schemes, (c) the state earnings-related pension scheme and (d) national insurance (basic retirement pension); and how many are paying contributions to both (a) or (b) and (d) and to both (c) and (d). [34475]

Mrs. Angela Knight: This information could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Capital Investment

Mr. Patten: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what was the level of capital investment as a percentage of gross domestic product in each year since 1970. [34340]

Mrs. Angela Knight: The latest estimate of gross domestic fixed capital formation and gross domestic product at current and constant market prices is available on the Central Statistical Office database, which may be accessed by the House of Commons Library. The relevant database identifiers are DFDC and CAOB Library. The relevant database identifiers are DFDC and CAOB at current prices and DFDM and CAOO at constant prices.

Barings

Mr. MacShane: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer when he expects to lay before Parliament the Bank of England report into Barings. [34413]

Mrs. Angela Knight: As my right hon. and learned Friend told the House in his oral statement earlier today, he has laid the Board of Banking Supervision's report into Barings before Parliament.

Non-European Union Import Tariffs

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how much revenue the Government receive annually from tariffs imposed on imported goods from outside the EU; and if he will make a statement. [34995]

Mr. Heathcoat-Amory: Figures for receipts of customs duties by Customs and Excise are shown each year in the annual report of the Commissioners of Customs and Excise. Table A1 in the 1993–94 report shows receipts for each year from 1984–85 to 1993–94.

Value Added Tax

Mr. Sheerman: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what assessment he has made of the loss of revenue to the United Kingdom resulting from VAT rates on tourism, goods and services. [35072]

Mr. Heathcoat-Amory: The Government do not believe that there is any such revenue loss.

Mr. Sheerman: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what assessment his Department has made of the impact of VAT on tourism, goods and services in the United Kingdom; and what comparative studies he has made of other EU member states. [35071]

Mr. Heathcoat-Amory: The Government do not believe that the application of VAT discourages tourism in the UK. We have a lower standard rate than most EU member states and our zero rate is widely applied. In addition, some member states apply local tourist taxes.

National Lottery

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what estimate he has made of likely tax revenue from the national lottery in 1995–96; and if he will make a statement. [34881]

Mr. Heathcoat-Amory: The summer economic forecast estimates betting and gaming duties to bring in £1.7 billion in 1995–96 in total. It is not usual practice to disaggregate this figure.

Internal Examinations

Mr. Barry Field: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will set out the reasons for the policy allowing customs officers to require any visitor to the United Kingdom to be the subject of an internal examination carried out using reasonable force; and why this power is not available to prison governors. [35193]

Mr. Heathcoat-Amory: Customs and Excise policy on search of persons exists to prevent the illegal importation of prohibited and restricted goods, or goods on which duty has not been paid, into the United Kingdom. Customs officers have the right to search any person entering or leaving the United Kingdom where reasonable grounds exist: only when a person has been arrested under the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 and has been shown an unwillingness to co-operate can reasonable force be used. The Home Office is responsible for the powers of prison governors.

Mr. Field: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will set out the powers available to Customs officers to require any visitor to the United Kingdom to undergo an internal examination; and in what circumstances reasonable force can be used. [35191]

Mr. Heathcoat-Amory: Powers in section 164 of the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 permit the search of any person entering or about to leave the UK, provided Customs officers have reasonable grounds to suspect that the person is carrying prohibited or restricted goods, or goods on which duty has not been paid. Reasonable force may be used only under the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 where a person has been arrested and it has been established that the person to be searched is unwilling to co-operate or resists.

Resource Accounting and Budgeting

Mr. Matthew Banks: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer when he plans to make a further statement on the Government's policy on resource accounting and budgeting. [35813]

Mr. Kenneth Clarke: Last July, I published a Green Paper entitled "Better Accounting for the Taxpayer's Money: Resource Accounting and Budgeting". The Green Paper announced the Government's intention to proceed with the introduction of resource accounting for all Government Departments and a commitment in principle to introduce resource budgeting. It announced a consultation period and asked for comments on the proposals.

I have received a large number of comments from parliamentary colleagues, the accountancy profession and other interested groups. They have shown overwhelming support for the broad principles of resource accounting and budgeting. I shall publish the Government's conclusions and further proposals on 26 July, with a view to seeking parliamentary colleagues' comments in the autumn.

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will make a statement on progress in implementing and developing resource accounting in each Government Department; and what assessment he has made of the general Government financial deficit being used to aid this progress, if used as the primary measure of the budget deficit. [34201]

Mr. Clarke: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave to the hon. Member for Southport (Mr. Banks) earlier today, which announced that the White Paper on resource accounting and budgeting will be published on 26 July. An annexe in the White Paper will set out departmental implementation plans. Resource accounting and budgeting is intended to facilitate better informed decisions about overall spending priorities within the context of the Government's macroeconomic objectives.

Monetary Union

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what priority is accorded to the measures of the general Government financial deficit as a measure for European monetary union. [34197]

Mr. Waldegrave: The GGFD is relevant to the excessive deficit procedure which is set out in article 104c and the associated protocol of the treaty on European Union as amended at Maastricht. Being judged not to have an excessive deficit is one of the stage 3 convergence criteria set out in article 109j. Although the UK negotiated an opt-out on the decision on whether to join the EMU, it is well placed to meet the Government deficit and debt reference values by 1996.

Privatisation Receipts

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer by what percentage privatisation receipts have affected the overall measure of the public sector borrowing requirement since 1979. [34199]

Mr. Waldegrave: The information requested is set out in the table. Privatisation proceeds reduce the public sector borrowing requirement.

Public sector borrowing requirement (PSBR) and privatisation proceeds (PPs) as a percentage of gross domestic product (GDP)

	Per cent. of GDP
	PPs	PSBR
1979–80	0.2	4.9
1980–81	0.1	5.4
1981–82	0.2	3.4
1982–83	0.2	3.2
1983–84	0.4	3.2
1984–85	0.6	3.1
1985–86	0.8	1.6
1986–87	1.2	0.9
1987–88	1.2	–0.8
1988–89	1.5	–3.1
1989–90	0.8	–1.5
1990–91	1.0	–0.1
1991–92	1.4	2.4
1992–93	1.4	6.0
1994–95	1.0	5.2

Mr. Cunningham: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what assessment his Department has made of the benefit of accounting for privatisation receipts separately from the public sector borrowing requirement. [34200]

Mr. Waldegrave: Privatisation proceeds are always shown separately in the Financial Statement and Budget Report and are used to make positive contributions to reducing borrowing and debt.

Royal Ordnance (Shipments to Iran)

Mr. Byers: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer when Her Majesty's Customs and Excise received reports from Swedish Customs of the outcome of their investigation into shipments to Iran which mentioned Royal Ordnance; and what action it took. [35334]

Mr. Heathcoat-Amory: It would not be appropriate to reveal details of exchanges of confidential information under mutual assistance arrangements established to assist the discharge of customs' law enforcement responsibilities, other than in the course of any resultant legal proceedings. All information received under such arrangements is evaluated and followed up as appropriate.

National Debt

Mr. Malcolm Bruce: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what is his estimate of the real increase in the size of the stock of public sector debt between 1979–80 and 1995–96; and what is his current estimate of the size of the national debt. [35380]

Mr. Waldegrave: Net public sector debt is forecast to have increased by 37 per cent. in real terms between end-March 1980 and end-March 1996. As a proportion of gross domestic product, it will have fallen by 3 per cent. over the same period.

The latest available estimate of the national debt is £306.9 billion at end-March 1994.

The national debt, defined as the gross liabilities of the national loans fund, is not directly comparable to net public sector debt.

Income Tax

Mr. Malcolm Bruce: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what is his estimate of the number of taxpayers who were liable to pay income tax at a marginal rate of 40 per cent. or above in each year since 1970. [29889]

Mr. Jack [holding answer 21 June 1995]: Provisional estimates for 1993–94 onwards are contained in the table. Increase in taxpayer numbers reflects higher taxable incomes and economic growth. Prior to 1979–80 there were nine higher rates of tax, the highest being 83 per cent. Now there is only one higher rate of 40 per cent.

Taxpayers liable at 40 per cent.

	Thousands
1993–94	1,740
1995–96	2,250

Available figures for earlier years were given in the reply to the hon. Member for Sheffield, Attercliffe (Mr. Betts) on 5 May 1994.

Gilts and Bonds

Mr. Malcolm Bruce: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) if he will alter his present proposals relating to the taxation of gilts and bonds in order to (a) avoid the potential for double taxation of shareholders in investment trust companies and (b) exempt holders of zero dividend preference shares, who would otherwise be penalised by the change in the tax regime; [32952]

(2) if he will exempt existing holdings of gilts and bonds from the new proposals on the taxation of gilts and bonds, so as to remove the retrospective element involved in changing the tax treatment of existing assets; [34254]

(3) how many representations he has received on his proposals to change the taxation of gilts and bonds; how many of these requested an extension of the consultation period for consideration of the aforementioned proposals; and if he will make a statement. [34255]

Mr. Jack [holding answers 6 and 13 July 1995]: I refer to the answer given on 10 July by my right hon. and learned Friend the Chancellor of the Exchequer to the hon. Member for Southport (Mr. Banks), Official Report, columns 377–78.

Privatisation (Debts)

Mr. Byers: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what was the total amount of debt written off in privatisations since 1984; and if he will list the figures by company and type of debt. [34642]

Mr. Jack [holding answer 14 July 1995]: It is common practice for capital restructuring to be undertaken where necessary before privatisation. For some privatisations, debt is written off, for others debt is injected. The table shows the debt written off, and the type of debt concerned, and debt injected for each company privatised where either occurred. Debts shown as written off include all debt written off since 1984 in companies subsequently privatised.

DUCHY OF LANCASTER

Deregulation and Contracting Out Act 1994

Mr. Clapham: To ask the First Secretary of State what mechanism is used to determine that no necessary protection is removed when considering changes in regulations by order under the Deregulation and Contracting Out Act 1994. [34571]

The Deputy Prime Minister: The responsible Minister must consider the implications of any proposed amendment to primary legislation and, having done so, reach the view that it would remove or reduce a burden and that it would not remove any necessary protection. "Necessary protection" is not defined in the Act but could include, for example, protection for consumers or for the environment. All proposed orders will be scrutinised by the deregulation committee and the House of Lords Delegated Powers Scrutiny Committee, which will report on whether they share the Minister's view that no necessary protection would be removed by the proposed amendment. Following the period of special parliamentary scrutiny, the Minister has to consider any representations made, including by both committees, before bringing forward a draft order subject to affirmative resolution.

Office of First Secretary of State

Mr. Marlow: To ask the First Secretary of State if he will make a statement on the origins of his office. [34507]

The Deputy Prime Minister: The right hon. R. A. Butler was appointed to the office of First Secretary of State in 1962, and there have been several holders of the office since then.

Legislative Plans

Mr. Kirkwood: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster what legislation he plans to introduce; and if he will make a statement. [35303]

Mr. Freeman: The Government's plan for legislation will be announced in the Queen's Speech at the start of the 1995–96 Session.

World Wide Web

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the First Secretary of State if he will make a statement on the plan his Department has for the next 12 months to make information about his Department available to the public via the Government world wide web server known as www.open.gov.uk. [34713]

The Deputy Prime Minister: I refer my hon. Friend to the reply given by my right hon. Friend the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, on 14 July, Official Report, columns 833–34.

Small Businesses

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster if he will make a statement on the results of (a) his policies and (b) his Department in helping small businesses over the past 12 months as against the previous 12 months; and if he will publish the performance indicators by which his Department monitors those achievements and the statistical results of such monitoring. [34705]

Mr. Freeman: The Government recognise the crucial role played by small firms in the United Kingdom economy. We continue to help smaller companies by keeping inflation and interest rates low and by reducing legislative, administrative and taxation burdens. We provide direct assistance where appropriate. The competitiveness White Paper announced in May 1995 outlines a programme of measures to assist the growth and competitiveness of the small firms sector.

My Department plays a full role in the Government's policies to assist the development of small business in the United Kingdom.

During the last 12 months, we completed the first phase of the national technology foresight programme, which involved participation of businesses across all sectors of the economy. Fifteen sector reports were published between March and April this year and an overarching report was published on 22 May 1995.All the reports give valuable indicators to business as to long-range market opportunities for the UK and to the investments in science, engineering and technology which will help exploit those opportunities. The reports emphasise the value of partnerships between businesses large and small and the UK's scientists and engineers. The Office of Science and Technology, through the auspices of the research councils, has in place a number of initiatives aimed at building collaboration with, and facilitation and exploitation of, the results of research by industry in general, which includes small businesses.

My Department continues to support Government Departments and agencies in taking forward their competing for quality programmes. These include the market testing and contracting out of many activities employing between one and 20 people before tendering, thus offering opportunities for small firms to bid for work. The Government also publish a monthly bulletin, Government Opportunities (incorporating the Market Testing Bulletin), which details the opportunities for businesses of all sizes.

My Department has also been encouraging Government Departments and agencies to assist business, including small firms, through citizens charter initiatives such as the revised employers charter produced by the Contributions Agency and the charter standard statement and code of practice produced by Companies House.

The CCTA has been developing the CCTA Government information service on Internet to provide a simple electronic channel to provide a wide range of information from Government Departments. The service will open up the opportunity for the public sector to make information both on support to industry and procurement opportunities easily accessible to small businesses.

The CCTA has also been exploring the use of electronic commerce to make it easier for all businesses to get access to procurement notices and to supply to government.

The nature of the products and services purchased by HMSO are such that many contracts are suitable for small businesses. Although there is no specific monitoring, it is estimated that more than 60 per cent. of HMSO contracts are awarded to small businesses.

The Occupational Health and Safety Agency, through its network of regional offices, uses small businesses wherever possible to provide supplies and services, particularly in the area of maintenance. Further, through market testing, opportunities are offered to small firms to compete for work such as blood test analysis, internal audit services and marketing and publicity.

Consultants

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster if he will indicate which five consultancy firms have received most contracts from his Department (a) by number of contracts and (b) monetary value in the last five years for which figures are available. [33434]

Mr. Horam: The consultancy firms which have received most contracts from the Cabinet Office, OPS, its agencies, HMSO and COI, are as follows:

1993–94	1994–95
a. Number of contracts
Fordway (5 contracts)	KPMG Peat Marwick
KPMG Peat Marwick (4)	Glasgow and Associates (4)
Eider Computers (2)	Ametc Consulting (3)
Ernst and Young (2)	Coopers and Lybrand (3)

Information is not available for earlier years.

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how many contracts his Department has had with consultants; and what has been the total cost in each of the last five years. [33574]

Mr. Horam: The cost of contracts let by the Cabinet Office, its agencies, COI and HMSO is not held centrally in the form requested. The full information can be provided only at disproportionate cost.

The costs of consultancy contracts let by the Cabinet Office and its agencies in the last three financial years are as follows:

1992–93	4,054,273
1993–94	7,604,190
1994–95	8,085,264

The costs of consultancy contracts awarded by COI and HMSO in the last three financial years are as follows:

1992–93	136,460
1993–94	66,668
1994–95	162,209
HMSO
1992	410,075
1993	1,061,025

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how much his Department and its agencies have spent on computer consultancy in each of the last five years; and what is the expected expenditure over the next five years. [33853]

Mr. Horam: The expenditure on computer consultancy by Cabinet Office, Office of Public Service and its agencies and the Central Office of Information for 1993–94 and 1994–95, is as follows:

1994–95: £2,600,000

Similar information for HMSO and the information for earlier years may be obtained only at disproportionate cost. Forecast expenditure on computer consultancy is included with expenditure on computer equipment and cannot readily be identified separately.

Departmental Contracts

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster if he will list the top 10 suppliers of computer equipment to his Department and its agencies in the last five years, indicating the total value of the contracts received. [34547]

Mr. Horam: The figures include expenditure by the Cabinet Office and No. 10 Downing street and by the Office of Public Service and its agencies.

The top ten suppliers during the period 1993–94 and 1994–95, were:

Viglen	1,832
ICL	1,351
DELL	1,340
Hewlett-Packard	947
Rank Xerox	388
Kyocera	357
Elonex	243
Toshiba	122
Compaq	103
Bowe Systems Ltd	85

During this same period, expenditure on "turnkey" solutions was £12,268,000. It is not possible to identify separately the cost of equipment within these packages.

Similar information for the years 1990–91, 1991–92 and 1992–93 is not readily available and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster which firms have won computer consultancy contracts from his Department and its agencies over the last five years; and what is the number of contracts per firm. [33883]

Mr. Horam : The firms which have won computer consultancy contracts from the Cabinet Office, Office of Public Service, Recruitment and Assessment Services Agency, Occupational Health Services Agency, Chessington Computer centre, Civil Service college and Central Office of Information in 1993–94 and 1994–95 are as follows:

	1993–94	1994–95

AGRICULTURE, FISHERIES AND FOOD

Ministerial Visits

Mr. George Howarth: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food if he will list (a) details of all overseas trips made by him, or ministerial colleagues in his Department, paid for wholly or partly from public funds and (b) the purpose, destination and duration of such overseas trips, which officials accompanied him and the total cost in each case, including that of officials, to public funds for each year since 1992. [32257]

Mr. Baldry: Since 1992, MAFF Ministers have made a total of 89 overseas visits paid for wholly or partly from public funds. Forty three visits were to EC Councils of Ministers; the remaining visits were in support of bilateral relations, enlargement negotiations and trade promotion. The following details include travel and subsistence costs of MAFF officials, estimated as necessary to the nearest £50. It should be noted that the cost of travel to and from Council meetings is subsequently reimbursed by the EC, subject to certain limits. All the Council meetings involved were Agricultural or Fisheries Councils, unless otherwise stated.

Consultants

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food how many contracts his Department has had with consultants; and what has been the total cost in each of the past five years. [33564]

Mr. Boswell: The total number of contracts and their aggregate values for the past five financial years were as follows:

Financial Year	Number	Expenditure
1990–91	34	4,495,793
1991–92	71	5,374,284
1992–93	111	7,010,814
1993–94	95	12,169,785
1994–95	146	11,551,382

Common Fisheries Policy

Mr. Gill: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food if he will instruct the common fisheries policy review group to examine the principle of equal access to the common resource. [35074]

Mr. Baldry: The UK fishing and industry and other interests have been invited to put their ideas to the common fisheries policy review group, which is free to consider any constructive ideas for improving the conservation and management of fish stocks.

New Zealand Flatworm

Mrs. Wise: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food, pursuant to his letter of 10 July, what considerations led him to indicate that commercial confidentiality applies to sightings of the New Zealand flatworm. [35052]

Mr. Boswell: Although the Department has no statutory responsibilities for New Zealand flatworm, it is seeking to give some publicity to the risks which the flatworm poses and to give advice on how they can be minimised. Such advice is particularly relevant to commercial plant growers, who may act as a route for the flatworm to be spread. It is not, however, the Department's intention to publicise information with commercial implications for individual growers. Such publicity could, for example, affect customer attitudes whether or not the grower had taken steps to eliminate the problem. It would also be inappropriate to give details of reports of the New Zealand flatworm when many of these lack official confirmation.

Research and Development

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food what proportion of his Department's research and development budget is spent in (a) Wales, (b) England (c) Scotland, (d) Northern Ireland (e) abroad; and if he will make a statement. [34889]

Mr. Boswell: The Department commissions a large and continually changing range of research and development to meet its policy aims. Decisions on the placing of work are determined on the basis of scientific and financial considerations and not on the geographical location of contractors. Consequently, the Department does not keep records of its R and D contractors by location. Such information could not be obtained without incurring disproportionate cost.

European Union (Statutory Duties)

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food what proportion of his Department's statutory duties are the result of EU regulations and directives; and if he will make a statement. [34893]

Mr. Boswell: The information is not readily available and cannot be collected without incurring disproportionate cost.

Dietary Supplements

Mr. Hain: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food what information he has concerning steps which are taken by officials of DGXV to ensure that the views of the European Commission on impediments to a single market when considering the possibility of vitamin, mineral and other dietary supplements are not unduly influenced by organised campaigns by companies seeking market advantage; and if he will make a statement. [35099]

Mrs. Browning: DGXV, the consumer affairs directorate of the European Commission, is open to representations from all interested parties on areas within its remit. However, there have been no recent proposals from the Commission to regulate dietary supplements. If any such proposals appear then they shall be circulated to all interested parties for comment.

Mr. Hain: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food what steps he is taking to ensure the continued availability of vitamin, mineral and other dietary supplements to United Kingdom consumers; what steps he intends to take in the light of the forthcoming European commission consultation document on such matters to defend the interests of British consumers and nutritional therapists; and if he will make a statement. [35100]

Mrs. Browning: I refer the hon. Member to the reply given to him on 20 June, Official Report, column 189.

Mr. Hain: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food how many officials of his Department have in the past been seconded to work with DGIII; what part such secondees played in drafting the European Commission discussion document on nutritional supplements produced in December 1991; if they have now (a) returned to placement with his Department, (b) remain with DGIII or (c) obtained employment with pharmaceutical companies; and if he will make a statement. [35097]

Mr. Boswell [holding answer 17 July 1995]: Since 1991, three officials from my Department have been seconded to DGIII of the European Commission. Two of them remain there. The other official was engaged in the drafting of the EC nutritional supplements document and returned to the Department in 1992.

Sandeels

Mr. Wallace: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food what action he intends to take to ensure that exploitation rates for sandeels in the North sea are established at an early date in order to secure stocks within safe biological limits. [34916]

Mr. Baldry: The Government pressed successfully for last month's North sea conference to make commitments to investigate the possible effects of industrial fishing on the sustainability both of industrial fish species such as sandeels and of other species which feed on them. I shall press for this work to be done as soon as possible to inform future decisions on exploitation rates.

Legislative Plans

Mr. Kirkwood: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food what legislation he plans to introduce; and if he will make a statement. [35305]

Mr. Douglas Hogg: The Government's plans for legislation will be announced in Her Majesty's most Gracious Speech at the start of the 1995–96 Session.

Service Delivery Targets

Mr. Hayes: To ask the Ministry of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food what progress his Department has made in meeting service delivery targets set out in "Commitment to Service". [36066]

Mr. Douglas Hogg: I list below the percentages of cases dealt with by each regional service centre which has met the targets set in "Commitment to Service" and, from January 1995, "Commitment to Service", second edition.

[1] The total percentage has been calculated by setting the entire number of applications or claims cleared within the target time against the total number received.

[2] The period covered is January to December 1994 except for payments where the period covered is 1 November 1994 to 31 January 1995 (or three months from the end of the retention period for claims made after 1 November).

[3] The period covered is July 1994 to March 1995.

[4] The period covered is November 1994 to March 1995.

[5] ESA and FWPS Claims

Due to a combination of changes in FEOGA reimbursement dates and the difficulties of linkage with Charter targets and payment dates, all payments were made after the target date for 1994–95; most were late by two or three weeks.

[6] 1994 (new) NSA Scheme

The majority of applications were received at the end of the application period causing overload. Also, the operation of this new scheme proved more complicated than expected.

[7] The period covered is January to March 1995.

Entries have not been made where the number of cases dealt with were ten or less. However, these numbers have been included in the calculation of total percentage success rates (see footnote 1). The Agriculture and Horticulture Development Scheme and Farm Diversification Grant Scheme have both been omitted from the table as the numbers involved are de minimis.

Decommissioning

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food how many Welsh fishing vessels were scrapped in (a) 1993–94 and (b) in 1994–95 as a part of the decommissioning scheme; and if he will make a statement. [34882]

Mr. Baldry: No Welsh vessels were decommissioned under the 1994–95 scheme.

On 14 July I announced details of the 1995 scheme, for which some £12 million is available.

Agriculture Council (Luxembourg)

Mr. Robathan: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food what was the outcome of the Agriculture Council held in Luxembourg on 17 July, and if he will make a statement. [36068]

Mr. Douglas Hogg: The Council had before it a proposal from the Commission for an increase in the tariff quota for imports of third country bananas to cover consumption in the three new member states. Some member states wished to link this issue to wider changes in the present arrangements, so there was no majority for adopting the proposed increase. The Commission is now likely to increase the quota under its own powers.

The Commission had agreed, as part of the package of decisions at the June Council, to make a proposal authorising the payment of national aid to farmers who have suffered loss as a result of currency depreciation in member states other than their own. The Commissioner presented a proposal on these lines which will now go for technical examination. I agreed that this measure should be drawn in such a way as to meet only genuine losses properly attributed to excess currency fluctuations.

I warmly welcomed a statement from the Commissioner that he expected that his promised report on the treatment of calves reared for veal would be available in October. I urged that the Council should consider the report, and appropriate proposals from the Commission, as soon as possible.

During a brief discussion on the rate of set-aside for crops to be harvested in 1996, on which a proposal from the Commission is awaited, I made it clear that I would want an undertaking that the Commission would use its powers to manage the cereals market in such a way that livestock producers would not be faced with grain prices above intended support levels

Denmark presented information about the use of Avoparcin, an animal feed supplement. It was agreed that this material should be assessed as quickly as possible by the appropriate scientific committee. Meanwhile it was established that a majority of member states—Denmark, Germany, Austria, Finland, Sweden, Greece, Netherlands and Luxembourg—opposed the adoption of a Commission proposal to authorise the use of this produce in feed for dairy cows in the Community as a whole.

Set-aside

Mr. Byers: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food how many farmers have received payment under the set-aside scheme for each year since 1992 by county for (a) horse-based activities, (b) golf courses, (c) game cover for commercial shoots and (d) sports grounds; and what is the scale of the land involved and the cost to the set-aside scheme for each category by county. [35023]

Mr. Baldry [holding answer 17 July 1995]: I shall write to the hon. Member as soon as possible.

Departmental Redundancies

Mr. Ian McCartney: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food how many redundancies occurred in his Department over the past 12 months; how many were voluntary; and what was the total sum spent on redundancy payments. [34586]

Mr. Boswell [holding answer 14 July 1995]: I refer the hon. Member to the replies that I gave on 25 May 1995, Official Report, columns 683–84 and 8 June 1995 columns 321–24.

Common Agricultural Policy

Sir Teddy Taylor: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food what estimate he has made of the expenditure by the European Union on the common agricultural policy in 1995; what were the actual figures for each of the previous 10 years; and if he will list United Kingdom domestic expenditure by Her Majesty's Government on agriculture in each of these years. [34422]

Mr. Baldry [holding answer 14 July 1995]: The European Commission is forecasting that expenditure on the common agricultural policy in 1995 will be within the budget level of 36,897 mecu, £29,537 million. This is 1,047 mecu, £838 million within the EU guidelines of 37,944 mecu, £30,375 million. Expenditure in 1994 was 32,970 mecu, £25,264 million, some 3,495 mecu, £2,678 million, below the guideline. Details of expenditure on the common agricultural policy in previous years are contained in the annual financial reports on the European agricultural guidance and guarantee fund, guarantee section, copies of which have been deposited in the Library of the House. The latest available report relates to 1993.

Details of United Kingdom expenditure on agriculture from 1988–89 to 1994–95 are contained in table 9.1 of the editions of "Agriculture in the United Kingdom" and for earlier years in table 9.1 of the Government White Papers—"The Annual Review of Agriculture". These publications have also been deposited in the Library of the House.

ENVIRONMENT

Genetically Modified Organisms

Mr. Martyn Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment (1) when the Advisory Committee on Releases to the Environment was set up; when it became a statutory body; since when it has been a statutory requirement on it to produce an annual report; and if he will make a statement on the availability of earlier committee documents; [34412]

(2) what site was used for the release of genetically modified scorpion venom virus; and why this site was selected; [34409]

(3) what consultation was held with the local population before the release of genetically modified scorpion venom virus; [34410]

(4) what studies were conducted on the possible effects on (a) people and (b) wildlife of genetically modified scorpion venom virus before its release. [34408]

Mr. Clappison: The Advisory Committee on Releases to the Environment was first established by the Secretary of State in April 1990. It was then appointed on 29 January 1993 as the statutory body, under the provisions of section 124 of the Environmental Protection Act 1990.

There is no statutory requirement on the Committee to produce an annual report.

Information on the applications considered by the committee under the provisions of the Genetically Modified Organisms (Deliberate Release) Regulations 1992 is available on the public register of information maintained by the Department. Full copies of these applications, as well as those considered by the Committee prior to 1993 are available under the terms of the Environmental Information Regulations 1992. Copies of the official guidance notes produced with the advice of the Committee are available from the Department.

The site used for the release of the genetically modified baculovirus, the so-called "scorpion venom virus", was the University farm, Wytham, Oxfordshire; the site was selected by the applicant, the Institute of Virology and Environmental Microbiology.

The Genetically Modified Organisms (Deliberate Release) Regulations 1992 lay down the requirement that anyone making an application for consent to release genetically modified organisms shall publish in a newspaper circulating in the areas likely to be affected by the proposed release a notice containing the following information.

(a) the name and address of the applicant,

(b) the general description of the organisms to be released,

(c) the location and general purpose of the release, and

(d) the foreseen date of the release.

The notice invites comments and indicates that further information can be obtained from the applicant and the statutory public register of information maintained by the Department. These requirements were observed by the applicant.

The application from the Institute of Virology and Environmental Microbiology for consent to release genetically modified baculovirus, the so called "scorpion venom virus", included a detailed assessment of the possible risks of harm to human health and the environment. This assessment was based on the applicant's own studies of the virus over several years, and on other studies contained in published literature. The assessment was considered by the scientists in the relevant Departments and by the Health and Safety Executive and the Advisory Committee on Releases to the Environment, and on their recommendation a consent was issued.

British River Monitoring

Mr. Matthew Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what monitoring his Department has carried out on alkyl phenol emonxylates in British rivers. [34637]

Mr. Clappison: The Department does not monitor British rivers. Such monitoring as is appropriate is carried out by the UK regulatory authorities.

Alkyl Phenol Ethoxylates

Mr. Matthew Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment, pursuant to his answer of 13 March, Official Report, column 414, when the research on alkyl phenol ethoxylates is expected to be completed. [34656]

Mr. Clappison: The reports of a review of current information on possible oestrogenic effects of chemicals including alkyl phenol ethoxylates, entering the environment, and on the effects of sewage effluent on fish, including some data on levels on alkyl phenol ethoxylates in rivers, which are referred to in those answers, will be published in the near future.

Big Splash Site, Wandsworth

Mr. Cox: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment if he will make a statement as to the grounds on which he is allowing evidence that has already been considered or rejected by the inspector in the inquiry concerning the development of the Big Splash site in Mapleton road, Wandsworth SW18, to be reconsidered. [34348]

Mr. Robert B. Jones: It is not unusual for further representations to be made in a planning case after the inquiry is closed. If those representations do no more than repeat issues already addressed at the inquiry, no special action is required. Where new evidence is raised which appears to be material to the case, the principles of natural justice require that the parties to the inquiry have an opportunity of commenting on that evidence before any decision is made.

Mr. Cox: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment on what date he received the report from the inspector he appointed to hold a public inquiry into Wandsworth council's bid for planning permission to develop the Big Splash site in Mapleton road, Wandsworth, London SW18; when he expects to publish it; and if he will make a statement. [34346]

Mr. Jones: The inspector's report was received on 11 October 1994. The report will be published together with the decision letter. This will be as soon as possible after the parties to the inquiry have had the opportunity of commenting on the new evidence.

Mr. Cox: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment in how many planning inquiries into the use of metropolitan open land new evidence has been allowed after the inquiry has closed. [34347]

Mr. Jones: No central record of such circumstances is kept.

Ministerial Responsibilities

Mr. Matthew Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment if he will list the Ministers responsible for green issues in each Government Department. [34655]

Mr. Clappison: The Green Ministers are as follows:

Department	Minister
Agriculture, Fisheries and Food	Tim Boswell MP
Chancellor's Departments	David Heathcoat-Amory MP
Defence	The Earl Howe
Education and Employment	Robin Squire MP
Environment	The Rt. Hon. John Gummer MP
Foreign and Commonwealth Office	The Rt. Hon. Jeremy Hanley MP
Overseas Development Administration	The Rt. Hon. Jeremy Hanley MP
Health	The Baroness Cumberlege CBE
Home Office	The Rt. Hon. The Baroness Blatch CBE
Law Officers'	The Rt. Hon. Sir Derek Spencer QC MP
Lord Chancellor's	John M. Taylor MP
National Heritage	Lord Inglewood
Northern Ireland Office	Malcolm Moss MP
Office of Public Service	John Horam MP
Scottish Office	The Earl of Lindsay
Social Security	Roger Evans MP
Trade and Industry	Richard Page MP
Transport	The Rt. Hon. Sir George Young MP
Welsh Office	The Rt. Hon. William Hague MP

Construction Industry

Mr. Galbraith: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what plans he has for implementation of the Latham report on the construction industry; and if he will make a statement. [35184]

Mr. Clappison: The Government have taken a strong lead in the implementation of the recommendations in "Constructing the Team", together with other members of the Construction Industry Board. Two consultation documents have been issued by the Government on legislative proposals arising from the recommendations, and the responses are being considered. The success of the report depends ultimately on a culture change within the construction industry, which the Government are actively supporting and encouraging.

Home Renovation Grants

Mr. Alfred Morris: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment how many homes were improved with the benefit of home renovation grants, excluding minor works and disabled facilities grants, in 1994; and what were the figures for 1984. [33338]

Mr. Clappison: Information about home renovation grants in England is shown in the quarterly and annual publication "Housing and Construction Statistics". Figures of amounts paid during 1994 are shown in table 2.17 of the December 1994 issue of part 2 of the quarterly edition of this publication and those for 1984 are shown in table 7.2 of the 1983–93 issue of the annual edition of this publication.

Copies of these publications are in the Library.

Council House Investment

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what has been the standard spending assessment for council house investment for each of the last five years. [34191]

Mr. Clappison: The annual capital guidelines allocated to local authorities as part of the housing investment programme for the last five years are:

1991–92: £1,342,500 million
1992–93: £1,289,896 million
1993–94: £1,377,612 million
1994–95: £1,037.982 million
1995–96: £994.229 million

Mr. Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment in what circumstances he will make it his policy to increase investment in council housing. [34192]

Mr. Clappison: Every year, as part of the housing investment programme, local housing authorities receive their annual capital guideline allocations for capital expenditure on housing. They can also bid for resources from the housing partnership fund and the single regeneration budget challenge fund. In addition, local authorities fund capital expenditure on housing from usable capital receipts and revenue contributions to capital. It is up to local housing authorities to decide how much of their available resources should be invested in council housing according to local needs. Local authorities should also be considering transferring their stock to new social landlords since this is one of the best ways of bringing in private resources to renovate and improve social rented housing.

Housing

Mr. Raynsford: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment when he expects to issue revised planning guidance note 3. [35190]

Mr. Robert B. Jones: I have no immediate plans for issuing a revised planning policy guidance note 3 (Housing).

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what is the extent of repairs needed on local authority housing, in each region, indicating the cost of these repairs (a) per region and (b) in total. [34193]

Mr. Clappison: Figures for repairs to local authority housing are provided by the quinquennial English house condition survey. The figures from the 1991 survey are as follows:

Region	£ million
Northern	361
Yorkshire/Humberside	442
North West	541
East Midlands	259
West Midlands	424

Region	£ million
South West	265
Eastern	312
Greater London	657
South East	235
Merseyside	175
Total	3,671

Figures are in 1991 prices.

Mr. Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what is the level of funding currently provided for the provision of affordable housing in (a) the United Kingdom, (b) each European Union country and (c) each G7 country. [34194]

Mr. Clappison: In England in 1994–95, a total of £8.6 billion was spent on housing benefit to help social and private sector tenants on low incomes with their rents. Some £4.9 billion was spent on "bricks and mortar" spending to provide social housing at below-market rents and low-cost home ownership opportunities to households who might otherwise rent in the social sector and to help with the costs of maintaining and running council housing.

The comparable information requested in (b) is not available because of differing forms of subsidy in other countries. Information on levels of funding in the European Community can be found in "Statistics on Housing in the European Community 1993" which is available in the Library.

No information is readily available on levels of funding in G7 countries.

Mr. Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State what assessment he has made of the effectiveness of local authorities establishing local public housing corporations to provide affordable housing. [34195]

Mr. Clappison: Borrowing by local housing corporations to provide affordable housing, although outside some fiscal indicators, such as the general Government financial deficit, would be within the public sector borrowing requirement. Moreover, if increased borrowing were supported by higher rents, it would increase expenditure on housing benefit which is within GGFD. The establishment of local housing corporations is unlikely therefore to be a means of permitting unrestricted borrowing for any purpose. The White Paper "Our Future Homes" (Cm 2901) explains that the transfer of council housing to new landlords which are private sector bodies is an effective way of generating increased investment. This requires no changes to public borrowing conventions.

Mr. Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what discussions he has had with the Chancellor to exclude local public housing corporations from the remit of the public sector borrowing requirement. [34191]

Mr. Clappison: None.

Mr. Hinchliffe: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment, pursuant to his reply of 25 May, Official Report, column 792, what is his estimate of the additional homes which would have been provided by rehabilitation and under any other programmes under the Housing Corporation's standard headings in 1995–96, if funding levels as announced in the 1992 autumn statement had been maintained. [35175]

Mr. Clappison: The Housing Corporation estimates that the 1995–96 approved development programme would have provided a total of around 32,000 additional homes if the funding levels announced in the 1992 autumn statement had been maintained, comprising:

	Number
New Build for rent	22,000
Rehabilitation for rent	3,000
Incentives and shared ownership (400 of which would have been rehabilitation for shared ownership)	7,000

Mr. Waterson: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what plans he has to ensure that persons from abroad in the United Kingdom illegally or temporarily will not be able to obtain publicly subsidised housing. [36067]

Mr. Curry: The Government announced proposals for fairer access to local authority and housing association tenancies on 18 July 1994. The proposals envisaged that people here illegally and people who were granted entry to this country on the understanding that they will have no recourse to public funds should not be entitled to receive assistance under the homelessness legislation.

Subsequently, we have concluded that such people should not be entitled to tenancies of social housing allocated by local housing authorities. Provisions for this will be included in the legislation that we shall bring forward on access to social housing at the earliest opportunity.

Homelessness

Mr. Hinchliffe: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what provisions of housing legislation govern the priority to be given to a homeless parent without custody but with staying access; and if he will make a statement. [35138]

Mr. Clappison: The homelessness legislation—part III of the Housing Act 1985—provides that a person with whom dependent children reside or might reasonably be expected to reside has priority need for accommodation. The Homelessness Code of Guidance for Local Authorities (revised third edition), to which authorities must have regard, advised that a child may be dependent upon a homeless applicant even though the child does not live with the applicant at all times.

Nuclear Waste

Mr. Llew Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment if he will set out the timetable provided to BNFL for the submission of further proposals on waste substitution, as mentioned in paragraph 141 of the White Paper on radioactive waste management policy, CM2919. [35160]

Mr. Clappison: No timetable has yet been established.

Mr. Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what plans he has to introduce legislation to implement the proposal contained in paragraph 87 of the White Paper on radioactive waste management policy, CM 2919, to ensure full transparency and public consultation on the site selection for high-level waste disposal. [35161]

Mr. Clappison: The White Paper says that the Government propose to consider how in future they might meet concerns regarding the need for transparency of decision making and public reassurance—for instance, by setting out guidelines for the developers of repositories about the need for transparency in site selection, including the publication of research results, and the specific milestones to be covered in this process. They have no current plans for legislation.

Safe Water Standards

Mr. Hinchliffe: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment why United Kingdom safe water standards fell from 100 per cent. in urban areas to 99.6 per cent., between 1980 and 1990 according to statistics published by the World Health Organisation publication "Progress Towards Health for All." [35151]

Mr. Clappinson: The difference between the figures for 1980 and 1990 is due to the fact that the World Health Organisation revised, and made stricter, its guidelines for drinking water quality. The change does not imply that water was unsafe to drink.

Since 1990, the Drinking Water Inspectorate has checked the quality of drinking water in England and Wales against the standards set in the Water Supply (Water Quality) Regulations 1989. These standards are stricter than those recommended by the World Health Organisation in its 1984 guidelines for drinking water quality, which were current in 1989. The Drinking Water Inspectorate's latest annual report shows that in the calendar year 1994, the water companies in England and Wales carried out approximately 3.5 million tests, of which 99.3 per cent. met the relevant standard in the regulations. None of those which did not meet the standards constituted unsafe water.

Local Government Finance

Mr. Caborn: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what representations he has received on difficulties caused for local authority financing or re-financing by comments made in the case of Credit Suisse v. Allerdale; what is the Government's policy on acquiring the use of borrowed money and avoiding the impact of controls; and what comparison he has made with the decision in City Centre Leisure (Holdings) Limited v. Westminster on the issue of acquiring the use of borrowed money; [35580]

(2) what assessment the Government have made of the use by local authorities of financial structures which minimise the impact of a project on a local authority's borrowing, expenditure or credit limits; [35578]

(3) what assessment he has made of the effect of the Allerdale case on the orderly rescheduling of existing off-balance sheet obligations of local authorities by means of deferred purchase commitments or the processing of various private finance initiatives opportunities; and if he will discuss the Government's policy in this area with the Audit Commission; [35577]

(4) what assessment has been made of the difference between the position where a local authority uses a company for fund raising and where an independent contractor borrows to fund the performance of work or the provision of services to the council for reward; [35581]

(5) what assessment has been made by his Department on the extent of the use of private finance initiative to enable projects to go ahead without the costs and borrowing relating to such projects falling on the balance sheets of local authorities; and what is his Department's policy on whether their practice is appropriate. [35579]

Mr. Curry: I will write to the hon. Member.

Mortgage Indemnities

Mr. Denham: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment, pursuant to his answer of 6 July, Official Report, columns 332–33, if he will list the total number of mortgage indemnities and the average value for each local authority listed. [35440]

Mr. Clappison: I will write to the hon. Member.

County Hall

Mr. Corbyn: To ask the Secretary of State for the environment what meetings his Department has had with Shirayama Corporation on its plans for county hall in each of the last six months; and if he will make a statement. [35412]

Sir Paul Beresford: While briefing himself for the Public Accounts Committee hearing on 1 May 1995, my Department's permanent Secretary made a site visit to county hall in April during which he met Shirayama's United Kingdom representative.

Contaminated Land

Mr. Denham: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what estimate he has made of the costs to local authorities of carrying out investigations of land that my be contaminated, prior to issuing a remediation notice; and what provision exists for local authorities to recoup these costs and from whom if (a) a remediation notice is required and (b) no remediation notice is required. [35351]

Mr. Clappison: Site investigation costs vary greatly between sites, depending on the nature of the contaminants predicted to be present on the site and on the size of the site. The typical cost per hectare of investigations also varies with the overall size of the site being investigated. The Department of the Environment has commissioned consultants, WS Atkins Environment, to review the typical range of costs for different kinds of work.

Each borough or district council already has a duty, under section 79 of the Environmental Protection Act 1990, to cause its area to be inspected from time to time to detect any statutory nuisances—including such nuisances caused by contaminated land. The contaminated land provisions in part II of the Environment Bill, which will form part IIA of the Environmental Protection Act 1990, will provide a similar duty for contaminated land, as specifically defined in those provisions.

The new regime does not provide for local authorities to recover costs they incur in investigating land prior to the service of a remediation notice. However, once land has been identified as contaminated land, a remediation notice can include a requirement for a more detailed assessment of the condition of the land to be carried out by the recipient of the notice.

The supplementary credit approval programme for contaminated land provides capital resources to local authorities for site investigation and remediation work. Since the inception of the programme in 1990, some £54 million has been spent on investigation or remediation on over 800 sites.

Air Pollution

Mr. Tony Lloyd: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what information the Government have about levels of pollution in urban areas; and if he will provide the most recent available figures so as to enable a comparison to be made between Manchester and other areas. [35381]

Mr. Clappison: The Government monitor air pollution in urban areas through their automated urban network. The monitoring site in Manchester measures continuously concentrations of nitrogen dioxide and carbon monoxide. Comparisons between Manchester and other selected areas of recorded concentrations of these pollutants in 1994 are as follows:

	Nitrogen dioxide		Carbon monoxide
	Peak hourly concentration (ppb)[2]	Annual mean concentration (ppb)[2]	Peak hourly concentration (ppb)[3]	Annual mean concentration (ppb)[3]
Manchester	352	26	17.8	0.5
Liverpool	97	26	5.8	0.6
Leeds	131	28	12.8	0.7
London[1]	235	44	11.0	2.0
Cardiff	264	22	7.2	0.9
Belfast	100	21	16.3	0.7
Glasgow	132	26	7.7	0.7

World Wide Web

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment if he will make a statement on the work his Department has carried out in the last 12 months in making information about his Department available to the public via the Government world wide web server know as "www.open.gov.uk" and his plans and policies to make additional and new information available electronically on the server in the next 12 months. [34676]

Sir Paul Beresford: The Department has set up pages on the Government world wide web server known as "www.open.gov.uk." Currently, the DoE pages include information on: the Department's responsibilities; air quality information; the housing white paper; and basic credit approvals. All of the Department's press notices are published on the Central Office of Information pages—reference "http://www.coi.gov.uk/coi/depts/GNV/GNV.htm1"—and can be accessed through the DoE page.

Officials are examining the feasibility of publishing a wider range of Departmental information via the Internet.

Green Ministers

Mr. Matthew Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what plans there are for an annual report on the work of the green Ministers; and if he will make a statement. [34635]

Mr. Clappison: Green Ministers have already published a "Digest of Green Housekeeping in Government Departments" in May this year. In addition, each Department's annual report contains material on its environmental performance, including the name of the Green Minister. The Government report collectively on its sustainable development strategy in its annual environment White Papers.

Water Industry

Mr. Redwood: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what assessment he has made of whether more competition in the water industry would lower prices and increase supply. [34378]

Mr. Clappison: In his policy document "Competition in the Water Industry: inset appointments and their regulation"—Ofwat, July 1995—the Director General of Water Services states that introducing competition at the wholesale level via the ability to make inset appointments has influenced prices through the introduction of more cost-reflective tariffs for larger customers. He recommends that competition between water companies would be further facilitated by changes to legislation. My right hon. Friend will consider these proposals.

Mr. Redwood: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment if he will seek to lower the 250 megalitre limit on inset appointments for water under the Competition and Service (Utilities) Act 1992. [34377]

Mr. Clappison: The Director General of Water Services has a duty to facilitate effective competition in the water industry. In response to recommendations made by the director general at the time, the Competition and Service (Utilities) Act 1992 extended his ability to make inset appointments to existing customers supplied with 250 megalitres or more of water annually. My right hon. Friend would be happy to consider proposals for a change to this limit should the director general recommend it.

Mr. Redwood: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what plans he has to consider new proposals to allow the use of existing water pipes by other water suppliers under a common carrier agreement. [34376]

Mr. Clappison: In his recent policy paper, "Competition in the Water Industry: inset appointments and their regulation"—Ofwat, July 1995—the Director General of Water Services has suggested that there may be circumstances in which it may be practicable to place a limited common carriage obligation on water companies to supply single customer inset appointments. The director general noted that there would need to be careful consideration of the implications for water quality. My right hon. Friend will need to satisfy himself of the implications before developing any proposals for change.

Subsidence

Mr. Denham: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment, pursuant to his answer of 4 July, Official Report, column 159, if he will place in the Library (a) the extract of the British Geological Survey ground hazard assessment for Hampshire and (b) his Department's maps and database on susceptibility to subsidence for Hampshire. [35509]

Sir Paul Beresford: The British Geological Survey's ground hazard assessment programme is a commercially operated service, access to which can be obtained through the survey at Keyworth, Nottingham.

My Department's maps of landslides, mining instability and natural underground cavities in Hampshire, together with the relevant databases and the map of shrinkable clay in Hampshire will be placed in the Library when they are available.

These maps show only the information that was available to the consultants who carried out the research projects for my Department. Their interpretation to determine susceptibility to subsidence requires earth science expertise and the absence of ornamentation on any part of the map does not necessarily imply that the ground is not susceptible to subsidence.

Legislative Plans

Mr. Kirkwood: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what legislation he plans to introduce; and if he will make a statement. [35313]

Mr. Gummer: The Government's plans for legislation will be announced in the Queen's Speech at the start of the 1995–96 Session.

Probationary Tenancies

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what conclusions he has reached in the light of responses to his proposals on probationary tenancies, issued for consultation on 5 April. [36065]

Mr. Curry: The consultation exercise indicated a clear consensus that anti-social behaviour by a minority of council tenants and others is a serious problem, which needs to be tackled on a broad front. Local authorities already have a variety of means at their disposal to deal with such behaviour. The Government want to help authorities to deal more effectively with the problem and are working with the local authority associations to consider a number of measures to that end.

The consultation confirmed that the introduction of probationary tenancies would have a role to play as part of authorities' broader strategies for tackling anti-social behaviour in their areas. The Government therefore propose to legislate at the earliest available opportunity to give authorities powers to introduce probationary tenancies in their areas if they wish to do so. It will thus be for individual authorities to decide whether, in the particular circumstances of their areas, probationary tenancies—now to be called introductory tenancies at the suggestion of a number of respondents—should form part of their wider approach to the problem of anti-social behaviour. They will no doubt wish to consult their existing tenants before doing so.

A number of points were made by respondents about the practical operation of introductory tenancies, including the need to safeguard the position of vulnerable people whose behaviour is different but not necessarily anti-social. As the consultation paper made clear, the taking away of someone's home is very much a measure of last resort, which authorities will wish to use only where other measures have been tried and failed. The Government would expect authorities to act as scrupulously before issuing an introductory tenant with a notice to quit as they would before seeking to repossess the home of a secure tenant. Authorities operating a system of introductory tenancies will need to have in place fair and rigorous procedures which command the confidence of all tenants and ensure, for example, that no tenant's home could be put at risk through malicious or otherwise bogus complaints. Similarly, authorities will need to handle vulnerable tenants with particular care and sensitivity.

The Government propose to prepare guidance for local authorities, in collaboration with the local authority associations and other interested parties, on operating introductory tenancy arrangements. This will include the process whereby a tenant served with a notice to quit may ask the authority to review its decision.

The Government intend that the broad shape of the legislation should follow the proposals issued for consultation. There are, however, a number of subsidiary issues which are currently being considered in the light of comments made by respondents.

The Government believe that introductory tenancies can be a useful additional weapon for local authorities in their fight to defend tenants' rights to quiet enjoyment of their homes by enabling them to take rapid action to remove the small number of badly behaved new tenants. The responsible majority of new tenants have nothing to fear from introductory tenancies. They can expect to become secure tenants once they have served the introductory period.

Some 230 responses were received from organisations and individuals in England. About another 30 bodies responded to the separate consultation exercise held by my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for Wales. A list of respondents has been placed in the Library. Copies of the responses themselves may be inspected at 2 Marsham street in London and Cathays park in Cardiff.

Waste Disposal

Mr. Barron: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment, pursuant to his answers to the hon. Member for Rother Valley of 10 July, Official Report, columns 459–63, how many appeals to the Secretary of State for permission to create landfill sites have been (a) granted and (b) refused (i) without and (ii) following the holding of a public inquiry in each year since 1991. [34436]

Sir Paul Beresford: Responsibility for the subject of the question has been delegated to the Planning Inspectorate under its chief executive, Mr. Chris Shepley. I have asked him to arrange a reply to be given.

Letter from C. J. Shepley to Mr. Kevin Barron, dated 17 July 1995:

The Secretary of State has asked me to reply to your Parliamentary Question about:

—the number of appeals to the Secretary of State for permission to create landfill sites that have been (a) granted and (b) refused (i) without and (ii) following the holding of a public inquiry in each year since 1991.

as this is a matter that has been delegated to the Executive Agency.

The attached table shows the number of planning appeal decisions involving the creation of landfill sites made in each year since 1991, the procedure by which the appeals were determined and the outcome.

Landfill Sites: Planning Appeals

Single Regeneration Budget

Mr. Cox: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment when he intends to issue regional guidance for the second round of bidding for the single regeneration budget. [34064]

Sir Paul Beresford: Bidding guidance for the second round of the single regeneration budget challenge fund was issued on 12 April 1995 and partnerships wishing to submit bids were required to send outline bids to Government offices for the regions by 16 June. We do not intend to publish any further guidance.

Mr. Vaz: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment if he will list the outline bids received by the government offices for the regions for the second round of the single regeneration budget challenge fund by 16 June, including the lead partner, the value of the bid and a summary of the content of the bid. [34360]

Mr. Curry: Copies of the outline bids submitted by bidders in the form set out in annexe B of the bidding guidance for the second round of the single regeneration budget challenge fund, which include the information requested by the hon. Member, will be placed in the Library of the House shortly, with the exception of those bids which bidders themselves have requested should not be made public for reasons of confidentiality.

Mr. Vaz: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment if he will make a statement on the status of advice given by a Government office for the regions to a partnership submitting an outline bid for the second round of the single regeneration budget challenge fund. [34358]

Mr. Curry: The status of advice given by Government offices for the regions to partnerships submitting an outline bid for the second round of the single regeneration budget challenge fund is set out in paragraph 15 of the bidding guidance for the second round, issued on 12 April 1995, copies of which are in the Library of the House. This states that the advice given by Government offices is intended to give an indication to bidders of the extent to which their bids meet the objectives and criteria for the challenge fund and merit working up. Where bidders decide to proceed with final bids the paragraph goes on to make it clear that information and advice given by Government offices is without prejudice to Ministers' decisions on the final bids.

Mr. Vaz: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment if he will list for each region (a) the number and value of full bids submitted for the first round of the single regeneration budget challenge fund in September 1994, (b) the number and value of bids supported by the Government in the first round of allocations announced in December 1994 and (c) the number of outline bids submitted for the second round of the single regeneration budget challenge fund in June. [34356]

Mr. Curry: The information requested is in the table.

Mr. Vaz: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment if he will make a statement on the steps he has taken to achieve a consistent approach by the Government offices for the regions in handling the second round of the single regeneration budget challenge fund. [34354]

Mr. Curry: As with the first challenge fund bidding round, the availability of national bidding guidance, with common objectives and assessment criteria, provides a nationally consistent framework within which second round bids will be assessed by Government offices.

In addition, the second round bidding arrangements include a more structured outline bidding stage, with a pro-forma requiring common information from all bidders; and a requirement for bidders to prioritise the elements in their bid and to specify whether and how their bid could be scaled up or down. Three seminars have also been held for over 150 Government office staff dealing with bids at which those attending participated in case study exercises and discussed arrangements for handling second round bids. These seminars are in addition to arrangements put in place by Government offices themselves to ensure that bids are considered in accordance with the bidding guidance.

Mr. Vaz: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment if he will outline the timetable and procedure to be adopted by the Government offices for the regions in responding to the outline bids received for the second round of the single regeneration budget challenge fund. [34359]

Mr. Curry: The timetable and procedure to be adopted by Government offices for the regions in responding to outline bids received for the second round of the single regeneration budget challenge fund are set out in paragraphs 15 to 17 inclusive and annexe H of the bidding guidance for the second round, issued on 12 April 1995, copies of which are in the Library of the House.

Mr. Vaz: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment if he will outline the role of Ministers in deciding which of the partnerships submitting outline bids for the second round of the single regeneration budget challenge fund should be encouraged to submit full bids. [34357]

Mr. Curry: The arrangements for considering second round SRB challenge fund bids are set out in the bidding guidance issued on 12 April, copies of which are in the Library of the House. In particular, paragraph 15 explains that it is for Government offices to give an indication to bidders on the extent to which their bids meet the objectives and criteria for the challenge fund and merit working up. Ministers are provided with summary information about all outline bids. They take decisions on the final bids received in the light of recommendations from Government offices.

Mr. Vaz: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what representations he has received on means of improving the co-ordination of single regeneration bids at a local level; and what steps he has taken to achieve this. [34355]

Mr. Curry: The local authority associations have proposed that the Government should give priority to bids supported by local co-ordinating groups established and co-ordinated by local authorities with training and enterprise councils. Paragraph 11 of the bidding guidance for round 2 already makes it clear that local authorities and TECs can be expected to have a central role in bringing together challenge fund partnerships. The Government do not, however, wish to exclude or discourage other organisations, including the private, voluntary and community sectors, which may be capable of playing a lead role in encouraging local partnerships, and not intend to allocate to any group a privileged position in the bidding process.

Road Inquiries

Mr. Mike O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what is the longest time that a road inquiry has taken to give public evidence in the last 10 years; which was the inquiry; and when it occurred. [34338]

Sir Paul Beresford: The longest road inquiry held in recent years was the A36 Salisbury bypass inquiry conducted by Sir Peter Buchanan. It opened on 20 April 1993 and closed on 27 April 1994, having sat for 151 days.

Mr. O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment, pursuant to his answer of 27 June, Official Report, column 594, how many road inquiries have taken place in each of the last 10 years; and if he will list them and the length of time each lasted. [34339]

Sir Paul Beresford: The number of motorway, trunk road and local authority road inquiries held in England in the last 10 years for which figures are available is as follows:

April 1993–March 1994: 74
April 1992–March 1993: 72
April 1991–March 1992: 73
April 1990–March 1991: 98
April 1989–March 1990: 94
April 1988–March 1989: 81
April 1987–March 1988: 75
April 1986–March 1987: 95
January 1985–March 1986: 120
January 1984–December 1984: 110

(All figures taken from the Chief Planning Inspector's Annual Reports).

It would be very time consuming to list the inquiries and to ascertain the length of time which each lasted, and such information could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Mr. O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what assessment he has made of the adequacy of the conduct of the Birmingham northern relief road inquiry, the manner of taking evidence and the time it is taking to hear that evidence. [34339]

Sir Paul Beresford: The Birmingham northern relief road inquiry is being conducted by an independent inspector nominated by the Lord Chancellor and is proceeding in accordance with the Highways (Inquiries Procedure) Rules 1976. This is a particularly complex inquiry into the first inland tolled motorway promoted under the New Roads and Street Works Act 1991. The inquiry is expected to continue into October 1995, and there will be about three weeks of site inspections after it has closed.

NATIONAL HERITAGE

National Lottery

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage if she will express the value of instant lottery cards sold per week as a proportion of total national lottery sales; and if she will make a statement. [34945]

Mr. Sproat: This is an operational matter for the Office of the National Lottery. I have therefore asked the director-general of the national lottery, to write to the hon. Member, placing copies of his response in the Libraries of the House.

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage what proportion of national lottery tickets are sold in Wales; and if she will make a statement. [34946]

Mr. Sproat: This is an operational matter for the Office of the National Lottery. I have therefore asked the director-general of the national lottery, to write to the hon. Member, placing copies of his response in the Libraries of the House.

Sport (Expenditure)

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage what plans she has, in co-operation with the Secretary of State for the Environment, to make the role of local authorities in sports provision a separate consideration in the standard spending assessment formula, following the reorganisation of the Sports Council. [34772]

Mr. Sproat: We have no plans to make sports provision a separate consideration in the standard spending assessment formula.

Digital Broadcasting

Mr. Allen: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage (1) when she will publish the Government's paper on digital audio broadcasting; [34068]

(2) when she will announce the Government's plans for digital television. [34065]

Mr. Sproat: The Government intend to publish a policy document on digital broadcasting, including both television and radio, later this summer.

Mr. Allen: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage how she intends to extend choice and diversity in independent radio at both the local and national levels. [34072]

Mr. Sproat: This is a matter for the Radio Authority to determine. The Government are making spectrum available for digital audio broadcasting which should offer new opportunities at both national and local levels to enhance the range of choice for listeners.

Tower Hill Excavations

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage what assistance her Department is giving to the Museum of London archaeology service's excavations on Tower hill of the late Roman church; and if she will make a statement. [33632]

Mr. Sproat: My Department does, of course, give funds to the Museum of London but no extra assistance is being provided by my Department for these excavations. I am pleased to learn that provision has been made for archaeological excavation and analysis of the site, and that this has led to the discovery of Roman and later remains.

Environment Action Fund

Mr. George Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage, pursuant to her answer of 27 June, Official Report, column 598, if funds from the national lottery may be used to match grant assistance from the environmental action fund. [33702]

Mr. Sproat: I understand that the rules under which the environmental action fund is administered require applicants to secure matching funding from non-public sector sources. Funds provided by the national lottery distributing bodies are classified as public expenditure and cannot, therefore, be counted as matching funding for EAF purposes.

Regional Sports Councils

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage what are her aims for (a) the West Midlands council for sport and recreation and (b) other regional sports councils. [34771]

Mr. Sproat: On 29 March, the then Secretary of State confirmed that the present linkage between the Sports Council and the regional councils for sport and recreation will come to an end from 1 January 1996. I hope that local authorities will set up their own machinery to co-ordinate their wider regional strategies.

Mr. Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage what level of funding for the West Midlands council for sport and recreation is expected as a result of the implementation of proposals for the English Sports Council; and what is the current level. [34768]

Mr. Sproat: At present, the cost to the Sports Council of servicing the West Midlands regional council for sport and recreation is £18,500 per annum. Under our restructuring proposals, the linkage between the Sports Council and the RCSRs will cease.

Sports (Lottery)

Mr. Timms: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage if she will ask the Sports Council to review its policy of requiring the full 35 per cent. of private funding to be secured before an application for national lottery funding is submitted. [35109]

Mr. Sproat: My right hon. Friend the Secretary of State has directed all the distributing bodies to ensure that a significant element of partnership funding is forthcoming from non-lottery sources. The Sports Council does not wish to debar applicants from applying purely on the basis that they cannot raise such funds. However, demonstrating the financial commitment of other parties to a project is a powerful expression of support for the scheme, and by minimising the financial contribution from the lottery assistance can be offered to a larger number of applicants. It should be noted that the percentage is purely indicative. If the Sports Council believes that a scheme which is unable to raise the indicative percentage is worthy of support, a grant offer could still be made.

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage what amount of national lottery funds has gone to west midlands sport; and what is her estimate of funding from that source in the next financial year. [34770]

Mr. Sproat: Twenty-eight awards from the lottery sports fund, totalling £7,389,714, have been made to projects in the west midlands. It is impossible to estimate the future level of lottery funding. This will depend upon ticket sales and on the number of eligible projects that come forward.

Media Ownership

Mr. Allen: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage, when she plans to implement the changes in primary legislation set out in the cross media ownership Green Paper. [34069]

Mr. Sproat: The changes in primary legislation, set out in "Media Ownership: The Government's proposals", Cmd 2872, will be introduced at the earliest legislative opportunity. Confirmation of the Government's legislative programme is given through the Queen's Speech at the opening of each parliamentary Session.

Community Radio

Mr. Allen: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage what plans she has to encourage the development of community radio services in the United Kingdom. [34073]

Mr. Sproat: The Government support the introduction of new radio services which cater for the needs, tastes and interests of local communities. It is for the Radio Authority to determine how to achieve this expansion of listener choice. Digital audio broadcasting could offer new opportunities.

Mr. Allen: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage what plans she has to meet representatives of the Community Radio Association. [34074]

Mr. Sproat: I have no plans at present to meet representatives of the Community Radio Association, who are in regular touch with my officials.

Independent National Radio Licences

Mr. Allen: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage what plans she has to change the renewal procedure for the independent national radio licences. [34071]

Mr. Sproat: I have no plans at present to alter the licensing arrangements for independent national radio services which, under the provisions of the Broadcasting Act 1990, do not allow for renewal without competition.

Chess

Mr. Stern: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage, pursuant to his answer to the hon. Member for Hastings and Rye (Mrs. Lait), of 27 March, Official Report, column 482, when he now expects to announce his conclusions as to whether it would be appropriate and practicable for his Department to take an interest in sponsoring chess. [32688]

Mrs. Lait: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage if she will make a statement about departmental responsibility for chess. [33023]

Mr. Sproat: I can confirm that my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State has agreed with the Secretary of State for Education and Employment that from the beginning of the next financial year my Department will take on the future funding of chess.

Legislation

Mr. Kirkwood: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage what legislation she plans to introduce; and if she will make a statement. [35310]

Mr. Sproat: The Government's plans for legislation will be announced in the Queen's Speech at the start of the 1995–96 Session.

County Hall

Mr. Corbyn: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage what inspections have been made by officials of her Department of county hall SE1; and what recommendations have been made regarding listed building consent in respect of the building. [35413]

Mr. Sproat: County hall was last inspected by officials from English Heritage on 23 June. The building is weathertight and in good condition for its age. In recent years, the Secretary of State for the Environment has determined several appeals on planning and listed building consent applications for county hall.

Brodsworth Hall

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage, pursuant to her answer of 15 June, Official Report, column 605, if she will list the individuals and organisations who have been invited to the official opening of Brodsworth hall since 15 June. [33629]

Mr. Sproat [pursuant to his reply, 15 June 1995, c.605]: I have today placed in the Library a copy of the list of those guests who were invited to the official opening of Brodsworth hall after 15 June.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Ministerial Visits

Mr. Cousins: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security if he will list the foreign visits made by (a) Ministers and (b) special advisers in the last year indicating the cost of each visit. [31283]

Mr. Burt: The information requested is in the table.

Date of visit	Minister	Place and purpose of visit	Total cost £

Notes:
The Secretary of State was accompanied by his Special Adviser on his visits to Madrid and Paris.
"Total cost" includes the cost of those accompanying the Minister at public expense.

Mr. George Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security if he will list (a) details of all overseas trips made by him, or ministerial colleagues in his Department, paid for wholly or partly from public funds and (b) the purpose, destination and duration of such overseas trips, which officials accompanied him and the total cost in each case, including that of officials, to public funds for each year since 1992. [32258]

Mr. Burt: The information is in the tables.

Mortgage Protection Insurance

Mr. Dewar: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security (1) what measures he will take to ensure that the members of the Association of British Insurers adhere to future guidance on mortgage protection insurance; and if he will produce a report on the development of this part of the insurance market before October; [34266]

(2) when he expects the Association of British Insurers to publish its guidance on mortgage protection insurance. [34267]

Mr. Roger Evans: The Association of British Insurers advises that its guidance to good practice on mortgage protection insurance should be available in late summer. It is currently discussing with its members the status of the guidance. The development of the new arrangements for income support mortgage interest, including compliance with this voluntary guidance, will be monitored. I have no plans to report on this part of the insurance market.

World Wide Web

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security if he will make a statement on the work his Department has carried out in the last 12 months in making information about his Department available to the public via the Government world wide web server known as "www.open.gov.uk" and his plans and policies to make additional and new information available electronically on the server in the next 12 months. [34689]

Mr. Burt: DSS agencies and headquarters are currently identifying opportunities for using the Government information service provided by CCTA. Items already on the Internet include citizens charter information and press releases. The recent earnings top-up pilot scheme consultative document can also be accessed via the GIS and the Department has invited comments to be returned to its Internet E-mail address. The Department is now developing a set of home pages that will provide more general information on benefits, contributions and child support.

Small Businesses

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security if he will make a statement on the results of (a) his policies and (b) his Department in helping small businesses over the last 12 months as against the previous 12 months; and if he will publish the performance indicators by which his Department monitors those achievements and the statistical results of such monitoring. [34694]

Mr. Burt: The Government recognise the crucial role played by small firms in the UK economy. The Government continue to help smaller companies by keeping inflation and interest rates low and by reducing legislative, administrative and taxation burdens. They also provide direct assistance where appropriate.

The White Paper announced in May 1995 outlines a programme of measures to assist the growth and competitiveness of small firms sector.

Measures introduced by the Department of Social Security over the last 12 months to assist small businesses include:

reductions in national insurance contributions from April of 0.6 per cent. for employers of lower paid employees (earnings under £205 a week). The earnings brackets for each of the three lower rates were also increased by more than the rate of inflation.

changes to the reimbursement arrangements for statutory sick pay from April. The new percentage threshold scheme will help any employer with a large proportion of his work force off sick at the same time. It reimburses SSP costs exceeding 13 per cent. of the monthly national insurance bill. The scheme is straightforward to operate and will protect the cash flow of the businesses covered more effectively. Small businesses will continue to receive the lion's share of SSP reimbursement.

Other measures aimed at business in general, which should help small businesses, include:

From October 1994, employers are no longer required to arrange for persons engaged in certain specified occupations involving a risk of pneumoconiosis to submit themselves for medical examination saving staff time and administrative costs for employers.

In his November Budget statement, the Chancellor announced that the Contributions Agency will accept dispensations for expenses payments already agreed with the Inland Revenue for tax purposes, provided the circumstances under which they were issued have not changed. The CA will also now consider any reasonable form of evidence to determine the profit element of expenses payments. Previously only logs detailing actual expenses were acceptable.

The Contributions Agency has also initiated a number of customer service improvements, including:

the publication of a code of practice on 6 April. This code is sent to employers prior to a survey of their national insurance records to explain what they can expect from the CA and what the CA would like from them. The aim is to help employers prepare in advance so that the survey can be carried out more quickly and with the minimum disruption to the employer.

the appointment of an independent adjudicator on 1 June to investigate complaints where a customer remains dissatisfied following consideration by the chief executive.

there are plans to expand further the provision of information for businesses and the self-employed on the Internet.

the extension and streamlining of the call answering capacity of the telephone helpline for employers, SSALE.

the provision of information on the availability of Payroll Bureaux assistance in the latest edition of the employers guide issued in March.

the provision of information to interested parties on national insurance matters including SSP and statutory maternity pay through talks, presentations and seminars held by local customer service managers.

The Department has a system to monitor proposals which have an impact on small businesses to ensure that the needs and costs to small businesses are taken into account, but there are no performance indicators specifically for monitoring achievements in this area. However, we attach particular importance to action taken to help small businesses and continue to explore ways of doing so.

Incomes

Ms Corston: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what was the change in real disposable income, by quintile group, including the self-employed, before and after housing costs, following table A1 and appendix 10 of the latest households below average income report; and what was the equivalised income per household in each quintile group, for households with children, in April 1995 prices. [34481]

Mr. Andrew Mitchell: The information is in the tables.

Changes in real income by quintile group 1979–1992/93, including the self-employed

Percentage

	Quintile 1 Bottom 20	Quintile 2 20–4-	Quintile 3 40–60	Quintile 4 60–80	Quintile 5 Top 20
Before housing costs	7	14	26	34	50
After housing costs	–4	10	27	37	53

Notes:
Percentage growth estimates are calculated from the median income of each quintile. All estimates are subject to sampling error.

Money values of quintile medians for households with children 1979 and 1992–93

After housing costs
1979	88	119	144	175	232
1992–93	78	120	174	234	359

Notes:
The figures relate to the median income level in each quintile.
The figures given are for equivalised income and are given to the nearest whole £.
Small changes are unlikely to be statistically significant.
All estimates are subject to sampling error.
Monetary amounts are given in March 1995 prices in order not be comparable with those shown in the latest edition of Households Below Average Income. Estimates are for weekly income and should not be converted into annual amounts.

Ms Corston: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security how many children were in households living on incomes (a) below the 1979 bottom decile and (b) below 50 per cent. of 1979 average income, in 1979 and in 1992–93, following tables 11.1 and 11.5 of the latest households below average income report; and what was the value of the thresholds in these years. [34479]

Mr. Mitchell: The information is in the tables.

Numbers of children below fixed income thresholds

Thousands

	1979 Actual	1979 Adjusted	1992–93
(a) Below 1979 Bottom Decile Median
Before Housing Costs	820	770	810
After Housing Costs	860	810	1,180
(b) Below 50 per cent. of 1979 Average Income
Before Housing Costs	1,230	1,150	1,220
After Housing Costs	1,430	3,340	1,910

Notes:

The 1979 adjusted column shows the numbers of children before fixed income thresholds based on grossing the total numbers of children in 1979 to the total number of children in 1992–93. This is done to remove the effect of the change in the total number of children.

All Estimates are subject to sampling error.

Estimates are shown to the nearest 10 thousand.

Ms Corston: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what was the equivalent monetary value in £ per week at April 1995 prices, following table A2 of the latest households below average income report, in 1979 and 1992–93, before and after housing costs, of the decile means and medians of the two poorest decile groups and the richest decile group, and the total population mean of (a) single adult and couples with (b) no children, (c) one child aged three, (d) one child aged 16, (e) two children aged three and eight, (f) three children aged three, eight and 11 and (g) three children aged 11, 16 and 17 years. [34474]

Mr. Mitchell: The information is not available in the precise form requested. Such information as is available is in the table. The estimates provided follow those in table A2 of households below average income and show the median of each decile group and the whole population mean. Reliable estimates of means of decile groups are not available.

Monetary amounts are given in March 1995 prices as in table A2 of the latest edition of households below average income to allow comparison. Estimates are for current weekly income and should not be converted into annual amounts.

Child Support Agency

Ms Walley: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what assessment he has made of Child Support Agency compliance with the Data Protection Act 1984; and if he will make a statement. [33622]

Mr. Andrew Mitchell: The Child Support Agency is registered under the Data Protection Act 1984 and is fully aware of the requirements and obligations that this places on staff in relation to the recording and use of personal data.

The agency has taken all necessary measures to ensure that confidentiality is maintained and members of staff are obliged to maintain confidentiality at all times. The chief executive regularly meets the Data Protection Registrar, in view of the particularly sensitive nature of this area of work.

Ms Lynne: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security if he will update table G2.01 of the social security statistics 1994 by reference to the most recent date from the case-load of the Child Support Agency. [34438]

Mr. Mitchell: The information is contained in "Child Support Agency Statistical Information". Copies for the periods 1 April 1994 to 31 March 1995 and 1 April 1995 to 2 June 1995 are in the Library.

Correspondence

Mr. Sheerman: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security (1) if he will make it his policy that hon. Members will continue to receive individually researched replies to their inquiries to Ministers; [35066]

(2) what representations he has received regarding the effectiveness of the pilot central correspondence section. [35067]

Mr. Burt: All letters from hon. Members receive an individual reply which answers their specific queries. There are no plans to change this level of service.

To my knowledge no representations have been received regarding the effectiveness of the pilot correspondence unit. However, as at 13 July 1995, 36 hon. Members have written requesting further information about the pilot unit following the circular letter issued by the general secretary of the National Union of Civil and Public Servants. Since the unit began operations in March this year, 2,356 replies have been issued to hon. Members. In addition, the unit has sent 1,995 replies direct to members of the public. There have been no complaints about the standard of these replies.

Mr. Hinchliffe: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security (1) if it is his policy to provide standard replies to individual letters on behalf of constituents from hon. Members; and if he will make a statement; [35150]

(2) if he will make it his policy that hon. Members will continue to receive specific responses to individual inquiries relating to constituents' problems following the establishment of a central correspondence section. [35149]

Mr. Burt: All letters from hon. Members receive an individual reply which answers their specific queries. There are no plans to change this level of service.

Housing Benefit

Mr. Spellar: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what has been the cost of the administration of housing benefit in each of the last five years. [34847]

Mr. Roger Evans: The information is set out in the table.

Social Security Departmental Report 1995 (Table 2 page 100).

Mr. Bradley: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what is the latest estimate of the average amount of housing benefit payable to people in receipt of (a) unemployment benefit, (b) severe disablement allowance and (c) incapacity benefit. [35295]

Mr. Evans: The available information is set out in the table:

Benefit with which Housing Benefit paid:	Average weekly housing benefit May 1994 £
Unemployment Benefit	38.85
Severe Disablement Allowance	39.24
Sickness Benefit	34.77
Invalidity Benefit	31.53

Notes:
Payment of the other benefit may be to either the claimant or the partner.
Figures for Sickness Benefit and Invalidity Benefit are given as Incapacity Benefit was only introduced in April 1995 and information is not yet available.Housing Benefit Management Information system, Annual 1 percent. sample May 1994.Source:

Disability Living Allowance

Mr. Bradley: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security (1) what is the average length of time (a) between a request for a disability living allowance review and a decision being made and (b) between lodging a disability allowance appeal and the date of a tribunal hearing; [35297]

(2) what was the number and percentage of disability living allowance decisions where the adjudication officer required (a) an examining medical officer's report, (b) a general practitioner's factual report and (c) any other evidence, between February 1994 and February 1995; [35299]

(3) how many requests for disability living allowance appeals (a) were received by his Department and (b) were outstanding in each month between February 1994 and February 1995 inclusive. [35300]

Mr. Andrew Mitchell: The information is not available in the format requested. Clearance times on reviews for the 1994–95 year was 82 per cent. cleared in 55 working days and 92 per cent. in 75 days against a target of 60 per cent. in 55 days and 80 per cent. in 75 days. For appeals, only one figure is held by the Independent Tribunal Service for both disability living allowance and disability working allowance. From the lodgement of the appeal to the first hearing, the average time in 23 weeks.

Nursery Vouchers

Mr. Win Griffiths: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security if he plans to disregard the value of the nursery voucher for four-year-olds for the purposes of income support and family credit. [35395]

Mr. Roger Evans: I shall write to the hon. Member shortly.

National Insurance

Mr. Malcolm Bruce: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what is his estimate of the number of (a) people and (b) firms, which pay national insurance contributions of type (i) class 1—employees, (ii) class 2—self-employed, (iii) class 3—voluntary contributions, (iv) class 4—self-employed and (v) class 1—employers. [35354]

Mr. Heald: The information is as follows:

(i) 18.3 million[1]

(ii) 2.4 million[1]

(iii) 0.19 million[1]

(iv) 1.7 million

(v) The Contribution Agency estimates that it will receive between 1.1 and 1.3 million sets of PAYE returns from employers for the 1993–94 tax year. Some employers may send in more than one set of returns.

Notes:

[1] Average number paying in any week.

1. Separate details of the number of self-employed people working on their own account or as an employer are not available. The numbers of self-employed people who send in PAYE returns for their employees is included in (v).

Mr. Bruce: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what are his estimates of the total annual revenue raised from national insurance contributions of both contracted out and non-contracted out type for (a) class 1—employees, (b) class 2—self-employed, (c) class 3—voluntary contributions, (d) class 4—self-employed and (e) class 1—employers. [35355]

Mr. Heald: The current estimates for 1994–95 are in the table:

	£ million
(a) Gross	19,725
Contracted-out rebate[1]	1,950
Net	17,775
(b)	680
(c)	55
(d)	815
(e) Gross	26,575
Contracted-out rebate[1]	3,300
Net	23,275

Notes:

[1] In respect of contracted-out occupational pension schemes only.

[2] It is estimated that employers will also pay some £475 million due in respect of company cars and fuel for their employees.

Incapacity Benefit

Mr. Bradley: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security how many people have failed the all work test of incapacity (a) in total, (b) by region and (c) by gender; and how many of these are signing on as unemployed. [35252]

Mr. Burt: At 31 May, the latest date for which figures are available, 28 people had failed the all work test of incapacity. A breakdown of this figure by region and gender is not available.

Mr. Bradley: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security how many people since April have failed to qualify for an increase in incapacity benefit for an adult dependant. [35246]

Mr. Burt The information is not available and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Mr. Bradley: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security how many people now receive incapacity benefit; and how many receive age allowances (a) at the higher rate, (b) at the middle rate and (c) at the lower rate. [35245]

Mr. Burt: At 31 May this year, the latest date for which figures are available, 1,994,891 people were in receipt of incapacity benefit. Two rates of age addition are payable with incapacity benefit. People in receipt of one of the three age additions payable with invalidity benefit prior to 13 April, will continue to receive the addition with incapacity benefit. Information on how many of those are in payment at the higher, middle and lower rates, is not available and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Mr. Bradley: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security (1) how many (a) men aged 65 and (b) aged 60 years have had their incapacity benefit withdrawn since April; [35247]

(2) how many people who have claimed incapacity benefit since April 1995 also receive income support. [35255]

Mr. Burt: The information is not available.

Pensions

Mr. Denham: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security, pursuant to his answer of 12 July, Official Report, column 623, on money purchases schemes, on what grounds it is assumed that the number of holders of APPs will fall between 2010 and 2030. [35513]

Mr. Heald: The introduction of age-related rebates will mean that the majority of current appropriate personal pension holders are able to maintain their plans until retirement. The new system will also reduce the financial incentives for younger people to take out an APP for the first time, so it is predicted that the level of take-up of new APPs will fall, leading to a gradual drop in the overall numbers of APP holders. However, the rebate will be regularly reviewed, and the changes to the contracting out system make it very difficult to predict future take up of APPs.

The detailed assumptions used in the figures are given in the Government Actuary's report on the Pension Bill 1995 (CM 2714).

Mr. Corbyn: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what discussions he has held with pension organisations on the future calculation of the retirement pension; and if he will make a statement. [35414]

Mr. Heald: I refer the hon. Member to the reply given by the previous Under-Secretary of State to the hon. Member for Walsall, North (Mr. Winnick) on 27 June, Official Report, columns 585-86.

Income Support

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security, pursuant to his answer of 12 July, Official Report column 621, if he will provide such monthly (a) regional, (b) territory and (c) district information as is available since April 1993 on severe hardship. [35514]

Mr. Roger Evans: Such information as is available from the Benefits Agency has been placed in the Library. However, the data are provisional and subject to amendment.

Mr. Bradley: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security (1) what was the number of recipients of income support who were subject to direct payments from income support in 1994–95 and in each of the five preceding years, listing the type of payment and relating each category of payment to the percentage of the total number of recipients of income support; [35242]

(2) what was the number of recipients of income support who were subject to deductions from benefit in 1994–95 and in each of the five preceding years, listing the reason for the deduction and relating each category of deduction to the percentage of the total number of recipients of income support. [35243]

Mr. Roger Evans: The information requested is in the tables.

Notes:

Deductions from Income Support are of two kinds: direct payment to third parties like the utility companies and deductions for social fund and overpayment recovery.

[1] For 1989 and 1990 includes service charges for fuel and water included in rent.

[2] Community charge not introduced until 1991—separated on data sets from 1992 by higher and lower rates.

[3] Council tax not collected until 1994.

[4] Fines recovery not collected prior to 1994.

[5] Social fund recovery data not available for 1993.

[6] Child support not introduced until 1994.

[7] Board and lodging deductions no longer made from 1990 onwards.

[8] Other deductions "—" less than 1000 cases for 1994.

[10] Deductions for electricity, gas, mortgage interest, other housing costs were not separated prior to 1992.

Mr. Bradley: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what was the total number of recipients of income support who were subject to more than one deduction from benefit, excluding mortgage interest payments, in 1994–95 and in each of the five preceding years; if he will give a breakdown of the total number of recipients of income support who were subject to more than one deduction from income support by the number of deductions; and if he will list the average value of these deductions for each group. [35244]

Mr. Evans: The information is in the table.

Housing Benefit

Mr. Bradley: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what is the average amount of housing benefit payable to people with earned income. [35248]

Mr. Roger Evans: At May 1994, the latest available date, the average weekly amount of housing benefit paid, were either claimant or partner had earned income, was £32.29.

Severe Disablement Allowance

Mr. Bradley: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security how many people now receive severe disablement allowance; and how many receive age allowances (a) at the higher rate, (b) at the middle rate and (c) at the lower rate. [35249]

Mr. Andrew Mitchell: As at 3 April 1993, the latest year for which actual figures are available, there were 316,000 recipients of severe disablement allowance. The numbers entitled to the higher, middle and lower rate age allowances were 211,000; 54,000 and 45,000 respectively.

Energy Efficiency Programme

Ms Lynne: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security if interest loans taken out for the purposes of energy conservation to a dwelling occupied as the home will be eligible for payment through income support under the Social Security (Income Support and Claims and Payments) Amendment Regulations 1995; and if he will make a statement. [32925]

Mr. Roger Evans [holding answer Tuesday 11 July]: Income support will continue to be able to help with the interest on loans taken out to provide insulation for the dwelling occupied as the home, provided the work is necessary to maintain the fitness of the home for human habitation. The Government's principal energy efficiency programme for householders aged 60 or over and those on a low income is the home energy efficiency scheme. It provides grants for draught proofing and loft, tank and pipe insulation and energy advice.

Disability Working Allowance

Mr. Bradley: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security if he will list how many people have been refused an award of disability working allowance on renewal by reasons for disallowance. [35254]

Mr. Andrew Mitchell: The information is in the table:

Reasons for disallowing renewal claims for disability working allowance, for the period 1 November 1992 to 31 January 1995[1]

Reason for disallowance	Total disallowed
Not resident in Great Britain	1
Capital exceed £16,000	10
Not in remunerative work	558
Income exceeds DWA level	515
No qualifying benefit	343
Disability test	99
Receiving Family Credit	32
DWA claim made more than six weeks before end date of DWA award	[2]465
Claimant has withdrawn claim	143
Other reasons	16
Total	1,574

[1] 1 November is the first date of receipt for DWA renewal claims.[2] This figure includes claims that have been disallowed because the renewal claim was made more than six weeks before the current claim ends. Some of these may have been subsequently disallowed for another reason, and therefore recorded more than once in the above table.

Mr. Bradley: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security if he will list how many (a) men and (b) women received each of the qualifying benefits for disability working allowance. [35253]

Mr. Andrew Mitchell: The information is in the table:

Caseload as at 31 January 1995	All cases	Males	Females
Disability living allowance—higher rate	2,399	1,376	1,023
Disability living allowance—middle rate	928	573	355

Some people may have more than one qualifying benefit. In these circumstances the most advantageous qualifying benefit is used as it may passport the person through the disability test.

Legislative Plans

Mr. Kirkwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what legislation he plans to introduce; and if he will make a statement. [35312]

Mr. Burt: The Government's plans for legislation will be announced in the Queen's Speech at the start of the 1995–96 session.

Administration Costs

Mr. Bradley: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what is the administration cost per claimant of (a) unemployment benefit, (b) severe disablement allowance and (c) incapacity benefit. [35250]

Mr. Burt: Information on the administration costs of benefits is not available in the format requested. Available information, as published in the 1995 Social Security Department report, is as follows:

Estimated administration costs 1993–94

	Administration cost £ million	Estimated number of beneficiaries at a particular time Thousands	Average weekly administration cost per beneficiary £
Unemployment benefit	[1]288	607	9.10
Severe disablement allowance	35	[2]329	2.05
Sickness and invalidity benefits	359	[2]1,868	3.70

[1] Includes the cost of administering National Insurance credits for clients who do not receive any social security benefit.
[2] Estimated numbers—actual caseload figures not yet available.
Information on incapacity benefit is not available.

Performance Targets

Mr. Coe: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what performance targets he has set his Department's agencies for 1995–96; and if he will make a statement. [18010]

Mr. Lilley [pursuant to his reply, 30 March 1995, c. 780–82]: I have today laid before Parliament the 1994–95 annual reports and accounts for the Benefits, Child Support, Contributions, Information Technology services and War Pensions Agencies. Copies of these, and the Resettlement Agency's annual report, have been placed in the Library.

I have also today published "Child Support Agency—National Client Satisfaction Survey 1994" and copies have been placed in the Library.

NORTHERN IRELAND

Forestry

Mr. Spellar: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what proposals his Department has for the future management and conservation of forests in Northern Ireland; and if he will make a statement. [34268]

Mr. Ancram: Future management and conservation of state forests in Northern Ireland will be subject to the conclusions drawn from a prior options study of all forest service activities which is currently under way. The outcome is expected to be reported to Ministers in the autumn of this year.

Water Executive

Mr. Spellar: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what steps his Department is taking to safeguard the rights of employees in the Water Executive in respect of pension entitlements, redundancy entitlements and other contractual terms and conditions of employment. [34271]

Mr. Moss: On 1 April 1996 a next steps agency will be created which will deal with the work currently carried out by the Water Executive of the Department of Environment (NI). This is an interim step towards the Government's ultimate goal of privatising the work of the Water Executive, but that goal will not be attainable in the lifetime of the present Parliament. In the meantime the Government are proceeding with plans to manage the Water Executive as an agency within the Department of the Environment (NI).

Agency staff will be employees of the Department and as such will continue to be civil servants and will enjoy the terms and conditions laid down by the Northern Ireland civil service code and the pension entitlements under the principal civil service pension scheme (Northern Ireland).

The Agency will be expected to make further improvements in the quality and cost-effectiveness of water and sewerage services to its customers. Through market testing, the chief executive will wish to examine whether parts of the agency's activities can be delivered more efficiently and economically by the private sector. Should the chief executive decide that a service could be better provided by the private sector, he will have to consider whether Transfer of Undertakings (Protection of Employment) Regulations apply in any transfer of the service. This will depend on the particular terms and conditions contained in any bid from the private sector, but where the regulations do apply the existing terms and conditions of employment will transfer with staff to the new employer. Where they do not apply, staff may opt not to transfer to the new employer and to remain with the Department either to be redeployed or possibly to face redundancy. In either case, existing terms and conditions will apply.

Pension entitlements are protected by employment law, not by TUPE, and in a case of transfer of service both the Department and successful contractor must so arrange things that pension rights enjoyed by staff after the transfer are broadly comparable in value with those enjoyed before.

Mr. Spellar: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland, pursuant to his answer of 29 June, Official Report, column 779, on the future of the water service in Northern Ireland (a) which bodies were consulted before the decision to establish the next steps agency and (b) what factors influenced his decision. [34451]

Mr. Moss: In July 1992, in accordance with Government policy, it was announced that the water service of the Department of the Environment (NI), as it was then known, would be privatised in 1995–96. Due to a number of technical difficulties the Government announced in April 1993 that it would not be practicable to effect the privatisation within the lifetime of the present Parliament. On 29 June 1994 the Minister of State with responsibility for DOE (NI) announced that privatisation of water and sewerage services remained the ultimate goal of the Government, but, in the interim, plans were proceeding to establish the Water Executive as a next steps agency within the Department by 1 April 1996.

These arrangements are entirely in keeping with the well established concepts of the next steps initiative through which the Government seek to improve the delivery of public services. As such, no external consultation was necessary.

The main consideration in deciding to pursue agentisation was the search for ever-increasing improvements in economy, efficiency and effectiveness in the delivery of water and sewerage services in Northern Ireland.

Schools (Capital Expenditure)

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what was capital expenditure on (a) primary; and (b) secondary schools in real and constant price terms in each year since 1979. [34030]

Mr. Ancram: I refer the hon. Member to the answer which I gave him on 16 May, Official Report, columns 195–96.

Small Businesses

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland if he will make a statement on the achievements of (a) his policies, and (b) his Department in helping small businesses over the last 12 months as against the previous 12 months; and if he will publish the performance indicators by which his Department monitors those achievements and the statistical result of such monitoring. [34697]

Mr. Ancram: Assistance towards small firms in Northern Ireland is delivered for the Department of Economic Development by its agency, the Local Enterprise Development Unit.

LEDU's strategy forms an integral part of the Government's approach to encourage competitiveness and growth among small businesses. I am encouraged that LEDU had another successful year in 1994–95. LEDU client companies' turnover increased by 11 per cent. in real terms compared with 9.5 per cent. in 1993–94 and had a net increase in full-time employment of 3,500 or 11.9 per cent.—Northern Ireland average 2.6 per cent.—compared with an increase of 5.8 per cent. recorded in the previous year.

Key results are as follows

Performance indicators	1994–95 targets	1994–95 results
Business start training (numbers)	3,000	3,732
Small business accommodation	8,200 sq m	6,169 sq m
Growth implementing contracts signed	152	159
Contracts to companies engaged in projects to overcome barriers to growth	760	1,049

Department of Public Prosecutions

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what has been the change in the workload of the legal staff of the Department of Public Prosecutions over the past five years; and what changes there have been in delays in the legal process as a result. [34369]

Sir John Wheeler: The number of case files received by the Department of the Director of Public Prosecutions for Northern Ireland in each of the five years from 1990 to 1994 is as follows:

1992: 11,538

1994: 11,982

Since 1 July 1992 the progress of serious indicatable cases has been monitored under the administrative time limits scheme. I refer the hon. Member to the answers my right hon. and learned Friend gave the hon. Member for Belfast, South (Rev. Martin Smyth) on 23 November 1993, Official Report, columns 19–20, and my hon. Friend the Member Bolton, North-East (Mr. Thurnham) on 6 December 1994, Official Report, columns 165–66, regarding the results of that scheme. The workload of legal staff in the Department of the Director of Public Prosecutions is one of a number of factors increasing the delay in bringing an accused person to trial.

Legislative Plans

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what are the present legislative proposals of his Department that will require consideration by the House during the next year. [34370]

Mr. Kirkwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what legislation he plans to introduce; and if he will make a statement. [35311]

Sir Patrick Mayhew: The Government's plans for legislation will be announced in the Queen's Speech at the start of the 1995–96 Session.

In addition I shall be writing to the Northern Ireland party leaders and to the Opposition spokesmen on Northern Ireland at the start of the Session to outline our proposals for Orders and Orders-in-Council.

School Curriculum

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland if he will make a statement on progress being made to change the requirements of key stages 1, 2 and 4 in the school curriculum. [34371]

Mr. Ancram: Between September 1994 and February this year the Northern Ireland Council for the Curriculum, Examinations and Assessment prepared revised programmes of study for the subjects of the Northern Ireland curriculum and undertook a wide consultation on them, involving all schools in the Province, between March and June. These revised programmes of study reduce the statutory curriculum requirements for all pupils and the council will submit its final recommendations to the Department of Education in October. The Department will make the new programmes of study available to schools in January 1996 and they will become compulsory in September 1996.

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland if he will make a statement about revised assessment arrangements of the national curriculum for the 1995–96 school year. [34741]

Mr. Ancram: I announced on 28 March that I had decided not to introduce statutory assessment until the 1996–97 school year. This will ensure that the assessment arrangements relate directly to the revised curriculum which will take effect in that year and will allow time for further consultation. I have, therefore, asked the Northern Ireland Council for the Curriculum, Examinations and Assessment to take views of teachers on what should happen in statutory assessment, and to advise me by Christmas on the form which it should take. I intend to make an announcement early in 1996 about the statutory arrangements which will apply in 1996–97.

Special Education

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland if he will make a statement on his proposals for changes in special education and the likely timetable for legislative and executive enactment. [34372]

Mr. Ancram: The Government intend to bring before Parliament later this year a draft Education (Northern Ireland) Order which will include new provisions relating to special education similar to those introduced in England and Wales by the Education Act 1993. Consultation on the proposed legislation has recently taken place and responses are currently under consideration. The Government's decisions on the form of the draft order and its proposed implementation will be announced as soon as possible.

GP Surgeries

Mr. John D. Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what is the role of (a) the area health board and (b) the local general practitioner in providing the surgeries at (i) Newry, (ii) Portadown, (iii) Lurgan, (iv) Tandragee, (v) Keady, (vi) Newtownhamilton, (vii) Moy, (viii) Tynan and (ix) Armagh. [34335]

Mr. Moss: General medical practitioners are independent contractors and, in any area, the provision of their surgery premises is a matter for agreement between the GPs and the relevant health and social services board. GPs may provide their own surgery premises or they may rent accommodation either in a health centre run by the board or from a third party. In all cases GPs receive reimbursement from the board which can be related to the cost of providing premises, the actual rent being paid or the current market rental value of the accommodation.

Armagh Hospitals

Mr. John D. Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland (1) what proposals there are to relocate services at Mullinure hospital, Armagh, from other locations; [34333]

(2) what is the estimated cost at each location in Armagh city of completing the transfer of existing services at Tower Hill hospital, Armagh; [34336]

(3) what hospital services are proposed to be transferred from the site at Tower Hill, Armagh city, and at which location at Armagh each of these services will be relocated. [34332]

Mr. Moss: The Armagh and Dungannon unit of Management is currently undertaking a wide-ranging public consultation exercise on the implementation of the Southern health and social services board's recent review of health and social care services in Armagh.

The consultation period will close on 14 August and in the light of the comments received the board will decide on the shape and location of hospital services in the Armagh area including services currently provided on the Tower Hill and Mullinure sites.

Until the board makes its decision it is not possible to estimate the cost of transferring any services from the Tower Hill site.

Robbery and Burglary Detection Rates

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what have been the detection rates for robbery and burglary in Northern Ireland over the past five years; and what proposals he has to improve it. [34364]

Sir John Wheeler: The proper way to fight crime is through the continuing development and improvement of anti-crime strategies, in partnership between the Government, citizens, and the police. The detection rates for robbery and burglary in Northern Ireland are given in the table:

	1990	1991	1992	1993	1994	1990–94
Robbery offences known	1,205	1,329	1,512	1,361	1,373	6,780
Percentage cleared	19.5	19.6	17.8	15.7	19.4	18.3
Burglary offences known	14,609	16,268	16,888	15,512	16,692	79,969
Percentage cleared	21.5	20.4	18.0	18.8	18.6	19.4

Note:
Figures include attempts.

There has been a substantial decrease in the number of robberies and burglaries in the first five months of 1995, accompanied by an increase in detection rates, resulting from the increase in proactive patrolling by the police, both overt and covert, using manpower previously employed on security duties. Other serious crime shows a similar reduction, with all violent crime falling by 972 in the 10 months since the ceasefires compared to the previous 10-month period.

Comparative figures for robberies and burglaries January-May 1994 and 1995

1994 January-May	1995 January-May
Burglary 6939 offences known percentage cleared 17.7	Burglary 6624 offences known percentage cleared 18.7
Robbery 614 offences known percentage cleared 15	Robbery 494 offences known percentage cleared 22.3

The Royal Ulster Constabulary, fully supported by Government, will continue to build on this improvement. Specific initiative such as the formation of a robbery squad in Belfast, and the amalgamation of the serious crime squad and the anti-racketeering squads, have been introduced by the RUC positively and efficiently to increase their ability to react to the increased flow of information from the public since the ceasefires.

This is in addition to crime prevention schemes, such as the Northern Ireland Tobacco and Alcohol Security Group, which have proved their worth with significant reductions in the amount of high-value goods stolen over the last three years.

Most recently, I announced a major crime prevention initiative on 1 May this year. This anti-burglary programme highlights six ways to beat the burglar and is a joint venture between the police, the Northern Ireland office and Northern Ireland Electricity, which is providing sponsorship for the programme.

Prisoners (Costs of Detention)

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what is the current annual cost of keeping a prisoner in each of Northern Ireland's prisons. [34366]

Sir John Wheeler: Responsibility for the subject of the question has been delegated to the Northern Ireland Prison Service under its chief executive, Mr. Alan Shannon. I have asked him to arrange for a reply to be given.

Letter from A. D. Shannon to Mr. Tony Worthington, dated 17 July 1995:

The Secretary of State for Northern Ireland has asked me to reply to your Parliamentary Question about the current annual cost of keeping a prisoner in each of Northern Ireland's prisons.

The latest available figures relate to 1994/95 and are:

HMP Belfast	77,900
HMP Maze	71,980
HMP Maghaberry	86,566
HMP Magilligan	73,553
HM, YOC	58,246

I hope this information is helpful.

World Wide Web

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland if he will make a statement on the work his Department has carried out in the last 12 months in making information about his Department available to the public via the Government world wide web server known as ww.open.gov.uk and his plans and policies to make additional and new information available electronically on the server in the next 12 months. [34682]

Sir John Wheeler: Northern Ireland departments were given a "home page" on the CCTA world wide web server—open.gov.uk—in February this year; this provided some general information on Northern Ireland as well as information on the citizens charter and a copy of the joint framework document.

In early June, the Department of Finance and Personnel established a WWW server of its own–address: nics.gov.uk—to provide an electronic publishing service for Northern Ireland departments and their associated bodies. There is an automatic pointer from the CCTA menu to the NI server.

An interdepartmental steering group has been established to develop and co-ordinate the use of this new facility and of information super-highways generally. The aim will be to make maximum use of the potential of information super-highways to make information available to the public and to meet the business needs of Northern Ireland departments.

Department of Finance and Personnel

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what was the proportionate change in the level of expenditure of the Department of Finance and Personnel between 1993–94 and 1994–95; and what factors led to this change. [34999]

Sir John Wheeler: Public expenditure by the Department of Finance and Personnel, on the basis of the latest available figures, increased by some 24 per cent. between 1993–94 and 1994–95. The increase is mainly attributable to increases in redundancy payments, around £7 million, and the buying out of future year liabilities for redundancy costs—£6 million. Both these items are borne by DFP in relation to redundancies in Northern Ireland Departments and the Northern Office.

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how much was spent on consultancy services by the Department of Finance and Personnel in 1994–95; on what projects the money was spent; and which consultancy firms were employed. [35007]

Sir John Wheeler: Expenditure of £164,915 was made on the following projects;

Scoping study for possible Market Testing of Telecoms
NICS Telecom Projects
X400 Project (E-Mail)
Government Loans
VALCOM
User Group Conference

Youth Service

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what have been the number of full-time professional staff employed in the youth service over the past 10 years. [35005]

Mr. Ancram: There are currently 243 full-time professional workers employed in the youth service. Details for the past 10 years are not held centrally and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what is the current capital expenditure on the youth service in Northern Ireland; and if he will list the projects funded. [35003]

Mr. Ancram: Planned expenditure on capital grant to voluntary youth in 1995–96 is £2,000. In addition the five education and library boards have estimated that, in total, they plan to spend £409,000 in 1995–96 on capital works—major works, minor works and the purchase of furniture, equipment and property. The total includes provision for starting one major new capital project, Taghnevan youth and community centre, Craigavon. Details of individual minor projects and other expenditure are not available.

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what has been the expenditure per head on the youth service in Northern Ireland in constant price terms over the past 10 years. [35004]

Mr. Ancram: In the 10-year period 1983–84 to 1993–94, the expenditure per young person aged five to 25 on the youth service in Northern Ireland, at constant 1993–94 prices was:

1983–84: £22.94
1984–85: £23.64
1985–86: £23.14
1986–87: £23.87
1987–88: £23.95
1988–89: £23.60
1989–90: £23.05
1990–91: £23.42
1991–92: £25.19
1992–93: £28.82
1993–94: £31.07

The figures from 1992–93 include the youth element of education and library board administration costs.

Mott MacDonald Ltd. and NatWest Markets

Mr. Spellar: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland, pursuant to his answer of 10 July, Official Report, column 446, what is the value of the contract for the consortium of Mott MacDonald Ltd. and NatWest Markets. [35019]

Mr. Moss: The answer is £244,850.

Student Funding

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what was the cost in cash and real terms of a full-time equivalent student in further education in each of the past 10 years; and if he will make a statement. [34744]

Mr. Ancram: The information is available only from 1991–92 to 1993–94 on a comparable basis and is as follows:

Net institutional funding per full-time equivalent student

Financial year	Cash £	1993–94 prices £
1991–92	2,520	2,701
1992–93	2,463	2,538
1993–94[1]	2,374	2,374

University Lecturers

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland if he will list the age profile of lecturing staff in each university in Northern Ireland. [34740]

Mr. Ancram: The percentage age profile of staff for the academic year 1984–85 to 1993–94 for each of the two universities in NI is as follows:

	Mean age (years)		Percentage aged
			Under 35 years		55 years and over
	Queens University Belfast (QUB)	University of Ulster (UU)	QUB	UU	QUB	UU
1984–85	41.5	41.5	24.8	21.2	11.3	8.4
1985–86	41.5	41.5	21.1	21.2	9.3	7.8
1986–87	42.3	42.2	20.2	17.8	10.5	8.3
1987–88	42.8	42.7	18.8	16.5	10.8	9.1
1988–89	43.3	43.0	15.6	16.0	11.8	8.7
1989–90	43.3	43.3	16.7	15.2	12.3	8.6
1990–91	43.4	43.7	17.2	15.0	12.3	10.9
1991–92	43.8	44.0	17.8	15.0	13.6	11.5
1992–93	44.1	44.1	17.5	15.4	14.6	12.1
1993–94	44.0	44.8	17.9	14.0	15.1	14.0

Four-year-olds (Primary Schools)

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what proportion of four-year-old children are in primary schools. [34747]

Mr. Ancram: At 31 December 1994, 49.8 per cent. of four-year-old children were at primary school.

Higher Education Buildings

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what is the size of the backlog of maintenance in higher education buildings in Northern Ireland which needs to be undertaken to meet statutory requirements; and what proposals he has to carry out the work. [34749]

Mr. Ancram: The KDK report of 1992 identified a backlog of maintenance in the Northern Ireland universities, of which some £12.5 million related to meeting statutory requirements.

Since 1992, the universities have spent £15 million on backlog maintenance, of which the Department has provided grant of £7 million.

Livestock Premium Schemes

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what was the cost of the beef special premium scheme in 1994–95; and if he will make a statement. [34979]

Mr. Ancram: The outturn for the 1994–95 financial year was £37.499 million.

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what was the cost of the sheep annual premium scheme in 1994–95; what proportion of the United Kingdom figure this represents; and if he will make a statement. [35124]

Mr. Ancram: The cost of the sheep annual premium scheme in 1994–95 was £28.5 million. This amount is £7.2 million of the total figure for the UK.

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what is the estimated cost of the suckler cow premium scheme for 1994–95; and if he will make a statement. [34980]

Mr. Ancram: The outturn for the 1994–95 financial year was £36.4 million.

Department of Education (Compulsory Competitive Tendering)

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland which activities of the Department of Education are currently under consideration for compulsory competitive tendering. [35006]

Mr. Ancram: There are no plans at present for further compulsory competitive tendering in the Department of Education for Northern Ireland.

Surplus School Places

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what proposals there are for a rationalisation programme by the removal of school places during the coming school year. [34742]

Mr. Ancram: The education and library boards and the Council for Catholic Maintained Schools have been asked to review the position of all primary schools with an enrolment of fewer than 60 pupils and secondary schools with an enrolment of fewer than 300 pupils.

At present there are no specific proposals for the rationalisation or closure of schools in the coming school year.

Higher Education

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland if he will make a statement on his strategic plan for higher education in the further education sector. [34743]

Mr. Ancram: Criteria setting a framework for the development of higher education courses in further education colleges were announced in February 1993. In addition, an advisory group was set up to advise on the development of such work in this sector. That group reported in December 1994, recommending a control on growth in full-time higher level provision of some 5 per cent. to 10 per cent.

In line with the policy of consolidation in the number of full-time higher education students throughout the United Kingdom, overall intake levels for such courses in further education in 1995–96 will be allowed to rise by no more than 10 per cent. as compared with 1994–95. Colleges can, though, develop programmes through the part-time mode, subject to normal approval procedures.

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what specific proposals he has for expanding the number of higher education places in Northern Ireland. [34748]

Mr. Ancram: None. In line with present Government policy for the United Kingdom, full-time undergraduate higher education places in Northern Ireland universities are constrained to a level consistent with the 1993–94 age participation index.

Part-time and postgraduate places are not subject to this constraint.

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what (a) numbers and (b) percentage of Northern Ireland students who have gained places in higher education institutions studied outside the Province in each of the past 10 years. [35328]

Mr. Ancram: The information is available only for the years 1985–86 to 1993–94 for new entrants to higher education courses, and is as follows:

	Total new entrants	Total studying outside NI	Percentage studying outside NI
1985–86	11,857	2,552	21.5
1986–87	11,803	2,677	22.7
1987–88	12,581	2,928	23.3
1988–89	13,537	3,406	25.2
1989–90	14,816	4,015	27.1
1990–91	15,952	4,184	26.2
1991–92	17,168	4,312	25.1
1992–93	18,949	5,078	26.8
1993–94	20,410	5,494	26.9

Universities (Student:Staff Ratio)

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what changes there have been in the student:staff ratio in Northern Ireland universities in the past 10 years. [34745]

Mr. Ancram: The information is as follows:

Year	Student staff ratio
1984–85	12:0
1985–86	12:1
1986–87	12:2
1987–88	13:0
1988–89	13:9

Year	Student staff ratio
1989–90	13:8
1990–91	14:4
1991–92	15:5
1992–93	15:5
1993–94	16:5

Nursery Education

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how his new initiative on nursery education will be affected by the fact that the school starting age in Northern Ireland is different from England. [34746]

Mr. Ancram: I refer the hon. Member to the reply I gave him on 11 July, Official Report, columns 519-20.

Class Sizes

Mr. Bayley: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what is the average size in (a) primary and (b) secondary schools in (i) Northern Ireland and (ii) each local education authority area in Northern Ireland. [35182]

Mr. Ancram: The information is not available for secondary schools.

The information requested for primary schools is as follows:

Area
i. Northern Ireland	24.1
ii. Area Board
Belfast	25.2
Western	23.9
North-Eastern	24.4
South-Eastern	23.9
Southern	23.4

Ports (Privatisation)

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what action is being taken either by him or the port authorities about the privatisation of ports in Northern Ireland. [35288]

Mr. Moss: The Ports (Northern Ireland) Order came into effect on 2 January 1995. This would enable the privatisation of the Northern Ireland trust ports. It also provides reserve powers for the Department to initiate the privatisation of a port with a turnover in excess of £5.4 million, but these powers are not exercisable until two years after the order came into effect. The port authorities in Northern Ireland are currently examining the implications of this legislation.

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland for what financial support from the European Union the ports of Northern Ireland would become ineligible if they were privatised. [35290]

Mr. Moss: European Union structural funds grants which are currently available to public sector ports in Northern Ireland would continue to be available in the event of privatisation.

Prison Sentences (Remission)

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what assessment he has made of specific changes to which legislation is necessary to bring levels of remission on prison sentences in Northern Ireland into line with practice in England and Wales; and what plans he has for such changes. [35374]

Sir John Wheeler: To bring the law on release of prisoners in Northern Ireland in line with England and Wales would require provisions equivalent to those in part II of the Criminal Justice Act 1991, together with the creation of a parole board for Northern Ireland. The Government have no plans to make these changes at this time.

Ports (European Financial Assistance)

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what action is being taken by Northern Ireland ports to seek financial assistance through the European Union. [35289]

Mr. Moss: The ports of Belfast, Londonderry, Warrenpoint and Larne have all submitted applications for European regional development fund assistance to the transportation sub-programme which is part of the Northern Ireland single programme. Several projects at each of the ports have been given preliminary acceptance to the sub-programme and letters of offer have already been issued for four projects at Londonderry and one at Larne.

Londonderry and Warrenpoint have also submitted projects to the Interreg II initiative and these will be considered in due course.

Northern Ireland Railways

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what have been the findings of the study he commissioned to investigate ways in which private sector elements could be introduced into Northern Ireland railways operations. [35291]

Mr. Moss: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave my hon. Friend the Member for Colchester, North (Mr. Jenkin) on 11 January, Official Report, column 146.

British Fluoridation Association

Mr. Hume: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what funds he or his agencies have provided to, and what purchases they have made from the British Fluoridation Association. [34395]

Mr. Moss: The question is taken as referring to the British Fluoridation Society. The Department of Health and Social Services has paid an annual grant to the society since 1992–93. The amounts were as follows:

Year	Amount £
1992–93	1,795
1993–94	1,850
1994–95	1,924
1995–96	1,982

The Eastern health and social services board made a one-off payment of £150 to the society in January 1995 towards the cost of a conference on water fluoridation. Health and social services boards and the Health Promotion Agency for Northern Ireland purchase information leaflets from the society. Details of such purchases are not held centrally and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Inward Investment

Mr. Morgan: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland if he will list the Northern Ireland share of Inward Investment projects coming into the United Kingdom in each of the past 10 years as measured by (a) the number of projects and (b) number of jobs to be created. [35173]

Mr. Ancram: The inward investment projects secured by the Industrial Development Board over the past 10 years are set out in the table and are shown as a percentage of projects notified to the Department of Trade and Industry's Invest in Britain Bureau.

	Inward Investment projects		Jobs promoted
		UK share Percentage		UK share Percentage
1994–1995	10	2.4	1,969	5.4
1993–1994	13	3.1	2,309	5.8
1992–1993	10	3.0	1,945	12.3
1991–1992	11	3.1	430	1.9
1990–1991	13	3.6	1,294	5.4
1989–1990	14	3.8	1,977	5.5
1988–1989	7	2.1	1,856	7.0
1987–1988	12	3.3	867	2.6
1986–1987	21	5.9	799	4.1
1985–1986	22	6.3	813	2.7

Health Service Providers

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland, pursuant to his answer of 9 December, Official Report, column 388, if he will update the figures on non-NHS provider spending. [35442]

Mr. Moss: The information requested is not available. The final accounts of the health and social services boards for 1994–95 are not completed.

The expenditure of health and social services trusts on the purchase of health and personal social services from non NHS/HPSS providers cannot be separately identified from the final accounts of the trusts.

Private Patients

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland, pursuant to his answer of 25 November 1994, Official Report, column 406, if he will update the figures on private patient income. [35491]

Mr. Moss: The information is not available in the exact form requested. The accounts of the health and social services boards are not yet available. The table gives income from private patients for each health and social services trust for 1994–95. This information has been extracted from the 1994–95 accounts of the health and social services trusts These accounts are as yet unaudited and therefore the figures supplied may be subject to change.

Since the original information was supplied a further seven trusts were established on 1 April 1994.

Table 1: Private patient income by health and social services trust for 1994–95 (provisional)

NHS Trusts

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland, pursuant to his answer of 8 December 1994, Official Report, column 325, if he will update the figures on trust start-up costs. [35503]

Mr. Moss: The additional figures for trust start-up costs in Northern Ireland since 8 December are as follows:

Operational date 1 April 1995	£
Causeway HSS Trust	215,000
Northern Ireland Ambulance Service HSS Trust[1]	214,000

[1] This trust was established following the dissolution of the Eastern Ambulance Service HSS Trust on 1 April 1995

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland if he will list by wave and by region (a) the number of non-executive directors and (b) the number of chairs of NHS trust boards by salary band. [35505]

Mr. Moss: Since regional authorities do not exist in Northern Ireland, it is not possible to provide the information in the form requested. Information on appointments to HSS trusts in Northern Ireland is set out in the table:

	Non-executive directors	Chairmen Band 1 £19,285	Band 2 £17,145	Band 3 £15,125
Wave 1	5	1	—	—
Wave 2	43	3	4	2
Wave 3	[1]14	—	1	2
Wave 4	[1]9	—	1	1

[1] One non-executive director post remains to be filled.

GP Fundholders

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what have been the costs of assisting general practitioner fundholders with information technology expenditure in each year since 1991–92. [35388]

Mr. Moss: The GP fundholding scheme in Northern Ireland commenced in April 1993. The figures given for the first four years in the table represent the actual costs of the assistance given to GP fundholders in respect of information technology. The figure given for 1995–96 represents the total allocation made for this purpose to the four health and social services boards, from which fundholders will be reimbursed.

Year	Amount £
1991–92	nil
1992–93	617,879
1993–94	751,558
1994–95	427,399
1995–96	775,000

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how much was allocated to GP fundholders in management allowances in each year since the start of the scheme. [35390]

Mr. Moss: The information requested is given in the table. The figures for the first three years represent the management allowance payments made to GP fundholders. The figure for 1995–96 represents the total allocation made to the four health and social services boards for management allowances purposes, from which fundholders will be reimbursed.

Year	Amount £
1992–93	345,215
1993–94	1,042,725
1994–95	1,652,692
1995–96	3,207,117

Unfair Dismissal

Mr. Ian McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many unfair dismissal cases were brought against his Department during the last 12 months; how many were successful; and what were the total costs including legal fees and compensation. [34608]

Sir John Wheeler [holding answer 14 July 1995]: In the last 12 months, one case of unfair dismissal was brought against the Department of Finance and Personnel. The case was withdrawn before it came to hearing. Legal costs of £2,966.52, including VAT, were incurred by the Department; no compensation was paid to the officer dismissed. One unfair dismissal case was brought against the Department of Environment for Northern Ireland and it was successful. The total cost, including legal fees and compensation, was £3,300.

One officer in the Northern Ireland Office has made an application for unfair dismissal to the office of the industrial tribunal. This case has not come to hearing.

Sickness Absence

Mr. Ian McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many days were lost in sickness absence in the last 12 months by employees in his Department (a) in total and (b) as a proportion of the number of days worked; and what was the cost of this absence. [34609]

Sir John Wheeler [holding answer 14 July 1995]: In 1994–95 358,059 days were lost through sick absence, representing 6.6 per cent. of the total number of potential working days. It is estimated that the cost of sick absence in 1994–95 was £24.8 million.

These statistics exclude industrial staff whose records are not held centrally.

Hypothermia (Deaths)

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many deaths from hypothermia took place among (a) men aged 65 years and over and (b) women aged 60 years and over in each year from 1990, by region. [34172]

Mr. Moss [holding answer 13 July 1995]: The figures are as follows:

Deaths from hypothermia

SCOTLAND

Civil Servants

Mrs. Ray Michie: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will list for the Agriculture and Fisheries Department in the Scottish Office (a) civil servants who have left the service and their grade, (b) voluntary redundancies and their grade, (c) compulsory redundancies and their grade and (d) those given early retirement and their grade for (i) 1993, (ii) 1994 and (iii) 1995 expressed as a number and a percentage. [33668]

Mr. Michael Forsyth: This information could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Mrs. Michie: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will list the number of staff in the Scottish Office Agriculture and Fisheries Department by grade, for (a) 1993, (b) 1994 and (c) 1995. [33669]

Mr. Forsyth: The number of permanent staff in the Scottish Office Agriculture and Fisheries Department excluding its executive agencies by grade is shown in the table. The figures relate to 1 April in the years from 1993 to 1995.

Habitats Directive

Mr. Macdonald: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will extend the consultation period on the habitats directive to allow objectors to marine sites to make further representations to the Government; and if he will publish the list of sites to which objections have been received and from whom. [33757]

Mr. Kynoch: The Government are presently considering responses received to the consultation exercise on the list of possible marine special areas of conservation under the EC habitats directive. Once this is complete, the Government will announce how we propose to take matters forward.

In line with normal procedure, full sets of the responses received will shortly be made available for public inspection in departmental libraries, apart from any instances where respondents asked for their comments to be kept confidential.

Health Care International

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland which members of the Scottish Industrial Development Advisory Board were present when Health Care International was considered and approved (a) in April 1988 and (b) in February 1990. [34017]

Mr. Kynoch: As regards the consideration of the Health Care International project by the Scottish Industrial Development Advisory Board in April 1988 I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave to the right hon. Member for Derby, (Mrs. Beckett) on 4 July, column 143. As regards the board's consideration of the project in February 1990, I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave to him on 17 February, column 863, in which I listed the board's membership at the date concerned: all the members were present at the February 1990 meeting with the exception of Mr. A. K. Smith.

Mr. Canavan: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland whether he will list those health boards which have contracts with Health Care International, Clydebank, for the provision of services; indicating the services provided in each case, the cost or estimated cost of each contract for the financial years (a) 1994–95 an (b) 1995–96, and the total costs already incurred for (i) in-patient and (ii) out-patient treatment. [34752]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: The table lists the available information on the contracts between Scottish NHS bodies and HCI up to 1 June 1995.

New Zealand Visitors

Mr. McFall: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will list the dates and purposes of visits by officials or Ministers from New Zealand to the Scottish Office Education Department in the last three years. [34127]

Mr. Raymond S. Robertson: The information is as follows:

Date	Visitors	Purpose of visit
2–6 November 1992	Ms Patricia Niven Reviewer, Management Education Review Office Christchurch	To discuss management of educational institutions and the review, audit and inspection of these institutions.
18 March 1994	Mr. Alan Male New Zealand Qualifications Authority Wellington	To discuss models of quality audit and quality assessment.
12–13 May 1994	Dr. Judith Aitken Chief Review Officer Education Review Office Wellington	To discuss school planning self-review and performance indicators.

Small Businesses

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will make a statement on the results of (a) his policies and (b) his Department in helping small businesses over the last 12 months as against the previous 12 months; and if he will publish the performance indicators by which his Department monitors those achievements and the statistical results of such monitoring. [34695]

Mr. Kynoch: The Government recognise the crucial role played by small businesses in the UK economy. The Government continue to help small companies by keeping inflation and interest rates low and reducing legislation and administrative burdens. They also provide direct assistance where appropriate.

The White Paper published in May 1995 outlines a programme of measures to assist growth and competitiveness of the small firms sector.

Measures operated directly by my Department to assist small businesses include regional selective assistance, regional enterprise grant for investment and regional enterprise grant for innovation. For the period 1994–95, my Department made 219 offers of RSA to the value of £68 million to small companies—those employing fewer than 250. This contributed to the creation of 9,607 planned new jobs and the safeguarding of 1,780 existing jobs. Under both the investment and innovation elements of the regional enterprise grants scheme, 258 offers to the value of £3.7 million were made in Scotland in 1994–95 to companies contributing to the creation of 969 planned new jobs and the safeguarding of 628 existing jobs. RIG is available to companies with fewer than 25 employees while RIN is open to companies employing less than 50 people.

During the same period, my Department also made 27 SMART awards to small businesses with less than 50 employees and nine SPUR grants to companies with up to 250 employees to help them to develop highly innovation new products and processes. The values of these offers were respectively £1.2 million and £1.1 million.

In addition, Scottish Enterprise, Highlands and Islands Enterprise and their network of 22 local enterprise companies have at their disposal a wide range of measures through which they are able to support new and established small businesses.

Following major research involving Scotland's business community, the media, the finance and education sectors and the business support networks, SE published in 1993 its business birth rate strategy. The strategy aims to stimulate the encouragement of entrepreneurship and help improve the environment for new and small businesses. It is guided by a number of themes: to unlock the potential of Scottish entrepreneurs; to improve access to finance; to widen the entrepreneurial base; and to develop and support growth in key sectors.

I am greatly encouraged by the number of recent initiatives which have been generated or informed by the strategy and which are targeted at factors which SE's research identified as constraining the birth and growth of businesses. These include the establishment of the Scottish business shop network in partnership with the local authorities, chambers of commerce and colleges. The network in partnership with the local authorities, chambers of commerce and colleges. The network now comprises 31 first-stop business advice shops operating throughout Scotland, and which in 1994–95 handled a total of 60,000 enquiries. The small business loan scheme, operated in partnership with the Scottish banks, provides capped interest rate loans for start-up companies and existing small businesses. The LINC Scotland initiative provides an advisory service for young and growing companies seeking private investors. SE's strategy has taken particular account of the need to make support available to under-represented groups, including women, non-home owners and the under-35s.

I am very pleased that the number of new companies formed in Scotland in the six months to April 1995 is 32 per cent. higher than over the same period a year before. I believe that the initiatives which have flowed from SE's business birth rate strategy have made a major contribution to that achievement.

Actual and planned performance indicators for the enterprise bodies in Scotland, including advice to businesses and new businesses start-ups, are published in their annual report and in the expenditure plans for the Departments of the Secretary of State.

World Wide Web

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will make a statement on the work his Department has carried out in the last 12 months in making information about his Department available to the public via the Government world wide web server known as "www,open.gov.uk" and his plans and policies to make additional and new information available electronically on the server in the next 12 months. [34684]

Mr. Michael Forsyth: Over the past 12 months, my Department has made available to the public via the government world wide web server information on a number of aspects of its work. These include information on:

- educational research in Scotland;
- summaries of the available Scottish Office Factsheets;
- sample statistics including:
  - Scottish Statistics 1994
  - Index of Production and Construction in Scotland; and
- outlines of the functions of the my Department's Social Work Services Group and Her Majesties Industrial Pollution Inspectorate.

Information is also available on the Scottish Office pages for the Royal Commission for Ancient and Historic Monuments in Scotland.

My Department will review the usage of the service in due course before deciding what additional and new information will be made available this way.

Schools (Fundraising)

Mrs. Fyfe: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what estimate he has as to how much has been raised by fund-raising activities by schools in each education authority, in order to purchase basic classroom materials. [34488]

Mr. Raymond S. Robertson: No information is available centrally on which to base an estimate.

Mrs. Fyfe: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what is his policy in respect of schools engaging in fund–raising activities in order to purchase new reading books. [34489]

Mr. Robertson: Local authorities spend around £2.5 billion a year on education of which around £9 million is spent on text and library books for schools. Schools have for many years undertaken fund–raising activities to provide additional funding across a wide range of activities.

Forestry Commission (Sales)

Mr. Tipping: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will list Forestry Commission land and woodlands disposed of since 31 December 1992. [34809]

Mr. Kynoch: Lists giving details of forestry land sold by the Forestry Commission in 1993 and 1994 are in the Library. A list of all the areas of land sold in 1995 will be placed in the Library early next year.

NHS Trust Boards

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will list by wave and region (a) the number of non-executive directors and (b) the number of chairs of NHS trust boards by salary band. [35508]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: I shall write to the hon. Member as soon as possible.

Private Patient Income

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland, pursuant to his answer of 24 November 1994, Official Report, columns 333-36, if he will update the figures on private patient income. [35492]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: The figures on private patient income for the period up to 1993–94 provided in the previous answer have subsequently been confirmed as final. Income figures for 1994–95 are currently not available.

Roads Budget

Mr. McAllion: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how much was spent on the roads budget in Scotland in each year since 1979. [35656]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: The information for total Government spending since 1979 on the motorway and trunk road network, which is the responsibility of my right hon. Friend, is set out in the table below. The table does not include expenditure by local authorities on local roads which are their responsibility.

NHS Expenditure

Mr. McAllion: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how much was spent on public relations by the NHS in Scotland in each year since 1989. [35653]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: The information requested is not held centrally.

Scottish Fisheries Protection Agency

Mr. Gallie: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland whether he has reached a conclusion on the prior options study of the Scottish Fisheries Protection Agency, and if he will make a statement. [36158]

Mr. Michael Forsyth: The prior options study has systematically and thoroughly examined the various options for reform of the Scottish Fisheries Protection Agency. I am satisfied that the scope for possible alternative options for the delivery of functions currently undertaken by the agency has been carefully considered and I have concluded that the Scottish Fisheries Protection Agency should remain an executive agency for the next five years. The aims and objectives set for SFPA in the initial framework document were robust and sufficiently clear to be testable. The agency's framework document is now being reviewed and will take account of an evaluation of the agency's performance since launch, which was completed in May 1994. This concluded that the trend in the performance of the agency had been upwards and its targets for 1993–94 were substantially achieved. Further information about the agency's performance will be contained in the 1995 annual report.

Historic Scotland

Mr. Gallie: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland when the annual report and accounts of Historic Scotland for 1994–95 will be published. [36159]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: Historic Scotland's annual report and accounts for 1994–95 have today been laid before both Houses of Parliament.

Scottish Agricultural Science Agency

Mr. Gallie: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland when he intends to publish the annual report and accounts of the Scottish Agricultural Science Agency for 1994–95. [36159]

Mr. Raymond S. Robertson: The annual report and accounts of the Scottish Agricultural Science Agency for 1994–95 have today been laid before both Houses of Parliament.

Local Government Finance

Mr. Gallie: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will indicate the date after which existing local authorities must have the agreement of their successors before entering into major financial transactions. [36161]

Mr. Kynoch: Following consultations with Scottish local authorities, I have today made the Local Government (Relevant Date) (Scotland) Order 1995 which requires existing local authorities, joint boards and the Central Scotland Water Development Board, from 1 September 1995, to have the agreement of the relevant successor bodies before disposing of land or entering into revenue or capital contracts above specified values. Where the successor body is a joint police or fire board, the date in question will be 28 days after the establishment of the relevant board.

In deciding on these dates, I have given careful consideration to the views of existing and new councils. There is clearly a need to avoid possible disruption to local government services while at the same time protecting the interests of incoming councils. I believe that the date of 1 September provides new councils with the opportunity to set in place appropriate mechanisms for dealing expeditiously with requests for their consent.

Court Waiting Periods

Mr. Gallie: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what objectives for reducing court waiting periods have been established; what targets have been set for 1995–96

in respect of court waiting periods for the Supreme and Sheriff courts; and if he will make a statement about the performance of the Supreme courts and each of the Sheriff courts in 1994–95. [36162]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: The programming of court business is a matter for the judiciary. Acting in co-operation with the judiciary in the Supreme and sheriff courts, the Government seek to provide the resources which will allow speedy access to justice. Having regard to the time required by parties to have their cases properly prepared the following objectives have been adopted:

> the Lord President of the Court of Session has accepted the recommendations of a committee chaired by Lord Maxwell relating to the reduction of waiting periods in the Supreme courts: the target is to reduce waiting periods to the recommended levels and, subject to any acceleration in the rate of increase in court work, maintain waiting periods at that level: for certain categories of hearing, additional targets involving much reduced waiting periods, have been set;
> Sheriffs principal have agreed to overall targets of reducing waiting periods for summary criminal trials in the Sheriff courts to 12 weeks or less and to hold them at that level; and to maintain waiting periods at 12 weeks or less for civil cases in the Sheriff courts.

Targets for the Scottish Court Service for 1995–96 are set out in the reply to the hon. Member for Aberdeen, South (Mr. Robertson) on 31 March 1995, Official Report, columns 803–84. Performance against those targets will be published in the annual report of the Scottish Courts Service which was established as an executive agency from 3 April 1995.

The main targets for waiting periods for 1994–95 are set down in the table—"waiting period" is the period between a trial or proof being requested or an appeal being received and the date assigned expressed in weeks—and national performance for that year is noted in the second column in the table:

		1994–95 Target	Performance
Criminal Appeal Business	Summary prosecutions: Notes of Appeal against Sentence and Stated cases (accused in custody)	4	3
Court of Session	(a) Ordinary proofs	20	21
	(b) Defended Consistorial proofs	17	17
Sheriff Courts (National average) as at March 1995	(a) civil proofs/debates	12	13.0
	(b) Summary Criminal Trials	12	16.1

In 1994–95 waiting periods of 12 weeks or less were achieved for civil debates-proofs in 88 per cent. of sheriff courts.

Waiting periods of 12 weeks or less were achieved for summary criminal business in 76 per cent. of sheriff courts.

Performance of individual sheriff courts at 31 March 1995 is set out in the table:

In addition, the sheriffs principal have agreed that sheriff court programmes should be designed to ensure that the number of trials adjourned due to lack of court time should not exceed 5 per cent. of the total number set down, a target met in 73 per cent. of sheriff courts.

Sheriff and Supreme Courts (Office Business)

Mr. Gallie: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what targets have been set for completing office business in the sheriff courts and Supreme courts; and what performance was secured in 1994–95. [36163]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: The targets set for completion of office business in the sheriff courts in 1994–95 are set out in the table. The percentage figures following each target indicate the proportion of sheriff courts achieving the target figures or better in the course of the year. More detailed information on the performance of individual court offices will be made available to local court advisory committees. Similar targets applied in the Supreme courts and 95 per cent. of these were achieved in 1994–95, with the remaining 5 per cent. achieved in part.

Targets for the Scottish Court Service for 1995–96 are set out in the reply to the hon. Member for Aberdeen, South (Mr. Robertson) on 31 March 1995, Official Report, columns 803–4. Performance against those targets will be published in the annual report of the Scottish Court Service which was established as an executive agency from 3 April 1995.

Crofters

Mr. Wallace: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland which meetings Ministers in his Department have held with representatives of the Scottish Crofters Union to discuss changes to the crofter building grants and loans schemes. [34665]

Mr. Michael Forsyth [holding answer 17 July 1995]: My right hon. Friend the Member for Dumfries (Sir H. Monro), as Minister for Agriculture and the Environment in Scotland, met representatives of the Scottish Crofters Union on 20 October 1994 at which a number of matters were discussed including the crofers etc. building grants and loans scheme.

Mr. Wallace: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what changes he is proposing to make to the crofter building grants and loans schemes; and if he will make a statement. [34664]

Mr. Forsyth [holding answer 17 July 1995]: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given by my right hon. Friend the Member for Dumfries (Sir H. Monro), to the hon. Member for Caithness and Sutherland (Mr. Maclennan) on 22 June, column 426.

Post-natal Paediatricians

Mr. McAvoy: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what steps he is taking to ensure that enough people are being trained as post-natal paediatricians. [34805]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton [holding answer 17 July 1995]: The senior registrar establishment in medical paediatrics in Scotland has been increased from 25 to 28 in 1995, and funding has been provided for the additional posts.

Mr. McAvoy: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what representations Greater Glasgow health board has made to him on difficulties in recruiting post-natal paediatricians. [34803]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton [holding answer 17 July 1995]: Concern has been expressed about difficulties in recruiting medical staff in various specialties. This reflects trust's increased demand for doctors.

Mr. McAvoy: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how many vacant posts for post-natal paediatricians there are (a) in the Greater Glasgow health board area, (b) in the Lanarkshire health board area and (c) in Scotland. [34804]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton [holding answer 17 July 1995]: Information is not available for the sub-speciality of neonatal paediatrics. In medical paediatrics as a whole there were nine vacant consultant posts in Scotland at the end of 1994.

Glasgow Royal Infirmary

Mr. McAvoy: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will estimate the capital costs of building a new maternity hospital at the royal infirmary as proposed by Greater Glasgow health board. [34799]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton [holding answer 17 July 1995]: Initial estimates received from Glasgow Royal Infirmary NHS trust indicate a capital cost of £21.195 million spread over four years. As the trust has yet to complete an outline business case for the project which will involve testing for private finance, the figure cannot be confirmed at this stage.

Rutherglen Maternity Hospital

Mr. McAvoy: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will consult Lanarkshire health board on the proposal by Greater Glasgow health board, to close Rutherglen maternity hospital. [34800]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton [holding answer 17 July 1995]: Lanarkshire health board was fully consulted by Greater Glasgow health board about the proposals for the future of Rutherglen maternity hospital.

Mr. McAvoy: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland when he expects to make a decision on the recommendation from Glasgow health board to close Rutherglen maternity hospital. [34798]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton [holding answer 17 July 1995]: Greater Glasgow health board has not yet submitted its proposals for the future of Rutherglen maternity hospital to my right hon. Friend for his consideration.

Hospital Closures

Mr. McAvoy: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what are the criteria he uses when deciding whether or not to endorse a recommendation from a health board to close a hospital. [34802]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton [holding answer 17 July 1995]: Before approving closure of any hospital, my right hon. Friend needs to be satisfied that the health board has consulted about its proposals in accordance with established guidance; and that it has considered fully the responses to consultation. My right hon. Friend also takes into account any further relevant information brought to his attention.

Unfair Dismissal

Mr. Ian McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how many unfair dismissal cases were brought against his Department during the last 12 months; how many were successful; and what were the total costs including legal fees and compensation.

Mr. Michael Forsyth [holding answer 14 July 1995]: There have been five complaints of unfair dismissal lodged with industrial tribunals against my Department in the last 12 months; none of these cases is concluded and I am unable therefore to give a figure for costs.

Trees (Planting)

Mr. McMaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will list in descending order, and by both botanical and common names, his best estimate of the (a) acreage and (b) hectacreage of (i) softwood and (ii) hardwood species planted throughout forests in the United Kingdom; what new trends are likely over the next (1) 10, (2) 25, (3) 50 and (4) 100 years; and if he will make a statement. [31381]

Mr. Kynoch [holding answer 10 July 1995]: The information is set out in the table. We expect the planting of conifers and broadleaves to continue to increase as a result of the Government's policy, which is designed to achieve a steady expansion of the forest area. The precise trends will depend on many factors including the objectives of individual landowners and the policies of the Government of the day.

HEALTH

Consultant Oncologists

12. Mrs. Dunwoody: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will make a statement on the number of consultant oncologists working in the NHS. [33190]

Mr. Malone: The latest available information shows that there were 226 clinical oncology and 59 medical oncology consultants working in the National Health Service in England on 30 September 1993. However, a number of other specialties are involved in the treatment of cancer, including general surgery and anaesthetics.

The Government seek to ensure an adequate supply of appropriately trained doctors in each specialty, including those involved in the treatment of cancer.

Waiting Times (Leeds)

13. Mr. Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will make a statement on hospital waiting times in Leeds. [33191]

Mr. Malone: Waiting times for in-patient and day case treatment in Leeds have improved considerably over the last year. Only 675 patients out of 13,492 were waiting more than a year for treatment at the two main hospitals this March compared with 2,501 out of 17,252 last March. Along with the rest of the country, Leeds hospitals are working towards achieving the new patient's charter standards for first out-patient appointments so that everyone is seen within 26 weeks of written referral by their general practitioner, with nine out of 10 patients seen within 13 weeks, as soon as possible.

Fundholders

14. Mr. Luff: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will make a statement on the level of fundholding GP practices in Hereford and Worcester. [33193]

Mr. Malone: There are currently 54 fundholding practices with 263 general practitioners in the Hereford and Worcester family health services authority area providing fundholding services to approximately 70 per cent. of the population. We expect many more GPs to join the scheme next year.

St. Bartholomew's Hospital

15. Dr. Goodson-Wickes: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what account he has taken of revised statistics relating to Professor Tomlinson's study in assessing the viability of St. Bartholomew's hospital. [33194]

Mr. Malone: The decision on the future of health services in east London was made on the basis of full assessment of the available data.

NHS Trusts (North Thames)

16. Mr. John Marshall: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will make a statement on the performance of NHS trusts in the North Thames region shown in the latest performance tables. [33195]

Mr. Malone: The performance tables highlight strengths and weaknesses in the performance of national health service trusts in North Thames region. Some of the best figures in the country are achieved in day surgery procedures and there have been real gains in accident and emergency assessment. However, more work is needed to improve performance on waiting times and cancelled operations.

Mental Health

17. Mr. Hutton: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what progress is being made to meet "The Health of the Nation" targets relating to mental health. [33197]

Mr. Bowis: Good progress is being made towards the target of reducing the overall rate of suicide by at least 15 per cent. by 2000. Figures based on estimates provided by the Office of Population Censuses and Surveys show that the suicide rate in England fell by about 6 per cent. between 1993 and 1994.

Work is in hand to quantify progress towards the other two health of the nation targets relating to mental health.

Blood Transfusion Service

18. Mr. Spellar: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will make a statement about the operation of the blood transfusion service. [33198]

Mr. Sackville: The National Blood authority has undertaken a thorough and widespread consultation on its proposals. The authority's revised proposals have recently been submitted and are being studied carefully. An announcement will be made in due course.

Air Ambulance

19. Mr. Tony Banks: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many times on average the air ambulance has been used in London during the past 12 months. [33199]

Mr. Bowis: This information is not collected centrally. The management of the helicopter emergency medical service is a matter for the Royal Hospitals National Health Service trust. The hon. Member may wish to contact the trust chairman for details.

Doctors and Dentists (NHS Work)

20. Sir David Knox: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many doctors and dentists undertook NHS work at the most recent count; and what were the comparable figures in 1979. [33200]

Mr. Malone: The information requested is shown in the table:

Doctors and dentists in England in 1979, 1993 and 1994

	1979		1993		1994
	Doctors	Dentists	Doctors	Dentists	Doctors	Dentists
Hospital and community health service	45,700	3,900	56,300	3,500	[1]—	[1]—
General practitioners	23,100	12,100	28,500	15,800	28,700	15,900

Notes:

1. All figures rounded to nearest 100.

2. The figures for dentists in general practice include principals, assistants and vocational trainees. Some dentists may have contracts with more than one Family Health Services Authority. These dentists have been counted only once.

3. Some general medical and dental practitioners also do hospital sessions. Theses are included in the hospital and community health services figure. Adding the two rows in the table will produce an element of double counting.

4. All figures exclude locums.

[1] The 1994 figures for hospital and community health service staff should be published in week commencing 24 July 1995.

London Hospital Closures

21. Mr. Dowd: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will name all the hospitals closed in London since April 1991 and those that he plans to close in the next 10 years. [33201]

Mr. Malone: I refer the hon. Member to the reply I gave the right hon. Member for Derby, South (Mrs. Beckett) on 18 April, Official Report, column 120. An updated list of closures and changes of use referred to Ministers for the period of January 1992 to June 1995 will be placed in the Library.

GP Fundholding

22. Mr. Matthew Banks: To ask the Secretary of State for Health when he next expects to meet representatives of the National Association of Fundholding Practices to discuss expansion of fundholding; and if he will make a statement. [33202]

Mr. Malone: I meet regularly with the National Association of Fundholding Practices to discuss the continued successful development of the fundholding scheme. General practitioner fundholding has brought significant benefits to patients by reducing waiting times, bringing more services closer to patients and freeing up resources through efficiency savings. The Government want to see these benefits extended to all patients and that is why we are expanding the range of options for GPs to join fundholding from April 1996.

Haemophiliacs (Hepatitis C)

23. Mr. Tipping: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what recent representations he has received on the level of compensation to haemophiliacs who developed hepatitis C from blood products. [33203]

Mr. Sackville: Representations this year about payments to those who have developed hepatitis C through blood products, include six earlier parliamentary questions, a short debate in another place, and four early-day motions. There was also an adjournment debate on 11 July. In addition, Ministers have received 240 letters. Not all these representations were concerned solely or primarily with haemophiliacs.

Prescription Costs

24. Mr. Pike: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what is the average cost per prescription item. [33204]

Mr. Malone: The average total cost to the national health service of a prescription item dispensed in 1994–95 in England was £8.62.

Doctors (Clinical Practice)

25. Mr. Bayley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how NHS doctors are held accountable for the quality of their clinical practice. [33205]

Mr. Malone: The medical profession is governed by self-regulation and the General Medical Council has been given the powers it needs to perform this task. The General Medical Council already has powers to erase, suspend or attach conditions to a doctor's registration in cases of serious misconduct. Under the terms of the Medical (Professional Performance) Bill currently being considered in another place, the General Medical Council will be able to suspend or attach conditions to a doctor's registration in cases of seriously deficient professional performance.

Members of the profession know what standard should be met. Advice and guidance is available to doctors from the General Medical Council in the form of its "blue book"—"Professional Conduct and Discipline: Fitness to Practise."

The medical royal colleges are responsible for setting the standards for postgraduate medical training and influence clinical standards by, for instance, publishing protocols for the management of common conditions.

In addition, doctors employed in the national health service are held accountable in a variety of ways. Junior doctors are accountable to their consultants for their clinical actions. Consultants in most trusts will be accountable to a clinical director for their medical competence. They are also accountable through the NHS procedures for complaints and disciplinary action for poor performance. These procedures may lead to the doctor's suspension or termination of contract.

Community Health Services (Lancashire)

26. Mr. Elletson: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will make a statement about community health services in Lancashire. [33206]

Mr. Malone: North West Lancashire health authority is currently developing proposals for continuing health care needs. They will form the basis of a public consultation exercise which is expected to begin on 29 September 1995. They are also planning to boost general practitioner services along the Fylde coast by providing intensive rehabilitation services and primary care support centres.

Community Care

27. Mr. William O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health when he last met organisations representing carers to discuss the impact of the community care changes. [33207]

Mr. Bowis: I frequently meet carers and organisations representing carers and discuss a range of matters including community care. Most recently we have worked together to achieve the parliamentary progress of the Carers (Recognition of Services) Act, 1995.

Early Retirement

Mr. Spellar: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many NHS staff took early retirement in 1994–95; and what was the cost to the NHS. [32814]

Mr. Sackville: I shall write to the hon. Member.

Speech Therapists

Mr. Campbell-Savours: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) how many speech therapists there are for each health district in the United Kingdom. [33509]

(2) what is the proportion of speech therapists per 1,000 head of population in each health district in the United Kingdom. [33510]

Mr. Malone: Information on the numbers of speech and language therapists will be placed in the Library.

Hospital Visiting (Reimbursements)

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will establish a fund for the reimbursement of the hospital visiting costs of the immediate family where they are on low incomes; and if he will make a statement. [33663]

Mr. Bowis: We have no plans to establish such a fund, as it would divert resources away from direct patient care and would impose a considerable administrative burden on the NHS.

Hospital Discharge

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will sponsor a national programme of research into (a) the incidence of inappropriate hospital discharge, including the extent to which this leads to re-admission to hospital and (b) hospital discharge arrangements which will identify examples of good practice and promote these through the publication of national guidelines; and if he will make a statement. [33662]

Mr. Sackville: We have already supported the unit of health care epidemiology at the university of Oxford to carry out work on readmissions.

General good practice guidance on hospital discharge procedures–"Hospital Discharge Workbook—a manual on hospital discharge procedures" was issued in 1994 to all health authorities, local authorities, general practitioners, hospital and community health services, copies of which are available in the Library.

Teenage Conceptions

Mr. Hendry: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many conceptions there were in England in 1992 by girls aged under 16 years; and what were the comparable figures for 1991. [34511]

Mr. Sackville: The information is given in the table. The figures for 1992 update the provisional ones given in my answer of 13 February 1995, Official Report, column 497 to the hon. Member for Gower (Mr. Wardell) with final figures.

Number and rate of conceptions to girls aged under 16 in England

Year	Number of conceptions	Conceptions per 1,000 girls aged 13–15
1991	7,362	9.3
1992	6,786	8.4

Residential Homes

Mr. Sykes: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what assessment he has made of the number of residential homes providing care in North Yorkshire owned (a) privately and (b) by the county council; [34499]

(2) what percentage of referrals by North Yorkshire county council are to council-owned residential homes owned by that council. [34500]

Mr. Bowis: In North Yorkshire at 31 March 1994, there were 307 residential care homes owned by the private sector, 66 by the voluntary sector and 70 by the local authority, excluding local authority children's homes.

I understand that, in the financial year to 31 March 1995, North Yorkshire county council arranged 577 permanent admissions to residential care homes. Of these, 245, or 42 per cent., were to local authority residential homes. A further 668 placements were in independent sector nursing homes. In the period 1 January to 31 March 1994, the latest for which central information is available, 76 per cent. of short stay admissions of such residents were to homes owned by the local authority.

Mr. Sykes: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what assessment he has made of the economic impact on the independent sector of referrals by North Yorkshire county council to residential homes owned by that council. [34503]

Mr. Bowis: My Department does not collect such information but we have made it clear, through conditions on the special transitional grant, that the bulk of the resources transferred to local authorities for their new community care responsibilities must be spent in the independent sector.

Schizophrenia (Stroop Test)

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what research his Department has carried out into monitoring response to therapeutic intervention in schizophrenia using the Stroop test; what have been the results; and if he will make a statement. [34730]

Mr. Bowis: Our research programme is designed to support strategic policy development, not to test the effectiveness of specific therapeutic interventions for individual disorders. The main agency through which the Government support biomedical and clinical research is the Medical Research Council, which receives its grant-in-aid through the office of my right hon. Friend the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster.

Folic Acid

Mr. Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what link has been ascertained between the lack of folic acid in the diet and the incidence of spina bifida and anencephaly; and what recommendations the Medical Officer of Health has made on this matter. [35135]

Mr. Bowis: There is no good evidence that the incidence of neural tube defects—NTDs—is related to an habitual lack of folic acid in the diet. However, a Medical Research Council—MRC—trial published in 1991 showed that supplements of 5 mg daily of folic acid reduce the rate of recurrence of NTD in babies of women who have already had an affected pregnancy. The Chief Medical Officer wrote to doctors in August 1991 advising them to prescribe a folic acid supplement for the purpose of preventing reoccurrence of NTDs. Further data since then suggest that supplements as low as 0.4 mg daily might also reduce the risk of first occurrence.

Following the publication of the MRC trial results, the chief medical officers of the UK health Departments set up an expert advisory group. Its report "Folic Acid and the Prevention of Neural Tube Defects", published in 1992, confirmed that, for the prevention of recurrence, women should take folic acid supplements of 5 mg daily, or 4 mg when these became available. For the prevention of first occurrences, the expert advisory group recommended that all women planning pregnancy should consume additional folate/folic acid prior to conception and during the first 12 weeks of pregnancy by eating more folate rich foods including those fortified with folic acid, and by taking a daily supplement of 0.4 mg of folic acid.

The chief medical officers wrote to all doctors and to other health professionals in December 1992 commending the expert advisory group's recommendations.

A copy of the expert advisory group report is available in the Library.

National Blood Service

Mr. Pike: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) when he proposes to meet the chairman of the National Blood Authority to discuss the future of the service; and if he will make a statement. [35137]

(2) what changes have taken place in the past 12 months in each blood service centre in its (a) staffing (b) service provided; and when he proposes to announce the future pattern of service provision by the national blood transfusion service. [35136]

Mr. Sackville: Ministers have regular meetings with the chairman of the National Blood Authority. Staffing of the national blood service and details of services provided by each blood centre are a matter for that authority.

The National Blood authority has undertaken a thorough and widespread consultation on its proposals. The authority's revised proposals have recently been submitted and are being studied carefully. An announcement will be made in due course.

Waiting Lists (Gynaecology)

Ms. Janet Anderson: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) how many women are currently awaiting an appointment with a specialist gynaecologist in each NHS trust area in England and Wales; [34738]

(2) what is the current maximum waiting time to see a specialist gynaecologist for each NHS trust in England and Wales. [34739]

Mr. Malone: This information is not available centrally for England. Information relating to Wales is a matter for my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for Wales.

GP Fundholders (Preston)

Mrs. Wise: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many general practitioner fundholders there are in Preston covering how many patients; and how many general practitioner non-fundholders there are in Preston covering how many patients. [35053]

Mr. Malone: This information is not available centrally. The hon. Member may wish to write to the chairman of the North West regional health authority for details.

Leaving Care

Mr. Sheerman: To ask the Secretary for Health what action he is taking to ensure the welfare of young people leaving care. [35012]

Mr. Bowis: Local authorities have a statutory duty to prepare young people for leaving care and give them continuing support. The Department has commissioned studies which will assist in determining how best an effective service can be delivered and a national inspection by our social services inspectorate of leaving care and aftercare is planned. We have also funded conferences on care leavers and work with care leavers by organisations such as First Key, Who Cares? Trust and the Royal Philanthropic Society.

NHS Organ Donor Register

Mr. Pike: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if the publicity material produced by his Department supporting the national health service organ donor register is still currently being distributed; what plans there are to increase the scope of publicity for the register; and if he will make a statement. [35378]

Mr. Sackville: We are continuing to distribute a substantial volume of publicity material and registration forms in response to consistent high demand. We shall continue to promote the national health service organ donor register and to support publicity campaigns for this important initiative.

Blood Bags

Mr. Godsiff: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what guidance he proposes to issue to hospitals on the purchase of blood bags; and if he will make a statement. [35357]

(2) what were the reasons for the switch by the National Blood Authority to the purchase of blood bags from Tuta; and if he will investigate whether the National Blood Authority ignored warnings that there were problems with the new supply of blood bags. [35329]

Mr. Sackville: The supply of blood to hospitals, including the purchase of bags to be used for the collection of blood, is managed by the National Blood Authority.

The National Blood Authority's national contract for blood bags was intended to replace 14 regional contracts to strengthen the negotiating position with the previous monopoly supplier, and to introduce one or more alternative sources of supply with no change in product specification.

Isolated problems with Tuta bags which arose last year were resolved by the National Blood Authority as part of the normal monitoring and validation process which takes place on such a product change.

Tuta is a global concern. It supplies about 20 per cent. of the bags used in England. Its products had been used successfully in other parts of the UK for almost 30 years.

When the problem with Tuta bags became apparent, the NBA advised their use be discontinued. I understand that the National Blood Authority's investigation is continuing.

Hospital Drug Infusion

Mr. Nicholas Brown: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what assessment his Department has made of the risks to patients of accidental overdoses from hospital drug infusion machines; and if he will make a statement; [35269]

(2) if safety guidelines issued by his Department concerning the use of hospital drug infusion machines include a requirement to keep accurate records of the machine use; [35274]

(3) if he will place in the Library a list of the incidents involving accidental overdoses from hospital drug infusion machines, including dates and locations; [35272]

(4) what action he is taking in response to the recent incidents involving accidental overdoses from hospital drug infusion machines; [35271]

(5) what safety guidelines his Department issues to health authorities and NHS trusts concerning the use of hospital drug infusion machines; and by what means he ensures that they are passed on to staff who operate the machines. [35273]

Mr. Sackville: One hundred and sixty three incidents involving overdoses from infusion systems have been reported to the Medical Devices Agency over the past five years. A list of the dates and reports of incidents will be placed in the Library.

The agency has investigated these reports and issued individual safety warnings and the recommendations for corrective action as necessary. In addition, the agency has recently issued its revised comprehensive advice to the Health Service (Device Bulletin DB 9503 May 1995). This makes recommendations, based on experience gained from investigating these reports, on safety, training, purchasing and management, including user record keeping. Copies of this document are available in the Library. Health service managers are responsible for passing on this information to their appropriate staff.

Drug Addicts and Alcoholics

Mr. Godsiff: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many local authority areas meet the Government requirements in respect of supporting drug addicts and alcoholics; and if he will list those which do not or only in part fulfil those requirements. [35287]

Mr. Bowis: If is for each local authority to decide what services to provide for substance misusers in the light of guidance issued by the Department.

Residential Care for Older People

Mr. Sims: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will make a statement on the need for, and the provision of, social care in England with particular reference to an assessment of the quality of residential care for older people. [36197]

Mr. Bowis: The annual report of the chief inspector of social services provides such an assessment. It was published on 10 July and copies are available from the Library.

The report highlights the fact that people are living longer and enjoying a better quality of life. This includes those who at an early stage of life have experienced handicaps of one kind or other. I pay tribute to the growing number of carers in our society and the contribution that they make to the quality of life of those who, for one reason or another, need help and support. As the report states,

"Experience shows that social care touches the lives of most people at some time. It may be within the family or through friends or neighbours, but most of us are aware of at least someone who because of age, illness, disability or family disruption needs care and assistance in daily living.

As the demographic changes continue to have an impact it is vitally important that social care becomes not only better established but better able to work within a framework of inter-agency and multi-disciplinary planning and assessment of need".

A great deal of progress is being made by local authorities in working with the other statutory services such as health, housing and education and with a wide range of voluntary organisations and private agencies.

The Social Services Inspectorate's—SSI—"Inspection of Hospital Discharge Arrangements for Older People Being Placed in Residential or Nursing Home Care" showed great commitment by health and social services staff to implementing new assessment and care management changes. Most users were satisfied with the help they had received and placement arrangements. In addition the SSI "Inspection of Residential Care for Older People" showed that in most homes the quality of care was good to excellent and in many homes there was an emphasis on choice.

Solvent Misuse

Mr. Trotter: To ask the Secretary of State for Health when solvent misuse mortality figures for 1993 will be available. [36198]

Mr. Bowis: "Trends in Death Associated with Abuse of Volatile Substances—Report No 8" has now been published by St. George's hospital medical school. Copies will be placed in the Library. It gives solvent misuse mortality data for 1993 and shows an encouraging further reduction in deaths, a fall of 13 per cent. from 84 deaths in 1992 to 73 deaths in 1993. This follows the fall of 31 per cent. from 1991 to 1992 and is a further encouraging sign that the Government's initiative in this area is bearing fruit.

Tobacco Advertising

Mr. Duncan: To ask the Secretary of State for Health when he will publish the eighth annual report of the Committee for Monitoring Agreements on Tobacco Advertising and Sponsorship. [36210]

Mr. Sackville: The chairman of the Committee for Monitoring Agreements on Tobacco Advertising and Sponsorship has submitted the eighth report to Health Ministers and the Secretary of State for National Heritage. Copies will be placed in the Library. I am very grateful to the committee and the chairman, Sir Clive Whitmore GCB CVO, for their valuable work in monitoring the agreements. The report shows that the industry has continued to honour its commitments.

Typhoid and Malaria

Mr. Dalyell: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will make a statement on his responsibilities to the World Health Organisation in relation to typhoid and malaria. [33287]

Mr. Bowis: The United Kingdom plays a full and active role in the work of the World Health Organisation including help to identify programmes of high priority. Although contributions to the regular programme budget are not associated with a particular programme, the United Kingdom, through the Overseas Development Administration supports WHO's tropical disease research and control of tropical diseases programmes, whose highest priority is malaria. The ODA contributed £2.90 million over the two years 1993–94 and 1994–95.

The responsibilities which fall to the Department of Health under article 19 of the international health regulations for malaria require that we provide annual information about the measures taken to keep airports and their surrounding areas free from malaria-carrying mosquitoes in both their adult and their immature stages.

Article 18 of the regulations require ships and aeroplanes to be "disinsected" if they visit a malarious area. If the port health authorities are not satisfied that such "disinsecting" has been carried out while the ship was abroad visiting another port, they may disinsect the aeroplane or ship.

There are no requirements under the international health regulations that apply to typhoid.

Single-sex Wards

Mr. Harry Greenway: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what further steps he is taking to increase the number of single-sex wards; and if he will make a statement. [33336]

Mr. Sackville: It is for trusts and health authorities to decide for themselves how to use the resources available to them. However, the revised patient's charter makes it clear that patients must be told in advance if they are to be admitted to a mixed-sex ward and patients' wishes should be taken into account wherever possible.

Kernow House Nursing Home

Mr. Hinchliffe: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what representations he has received regarding the Kernow house nursing home in Launceston. [35148]

Mr. Bowis: None.

Radiation

Mr. Llew Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what experiments have been conducted on civilians to assess the effects of radiation; and what information he has to the explanations given to the subjects of such research. [35157]

Mr. Bowis: The Department has funded a programme of work on radiological protection at the then United Kingdom Atomic Energy Authority, UKAEA, now AEA Technology, AEA, since April 1986, when funding on this programme by the Department of Energy was transferred to the Department of Health. The Department also contributes to funding of research conducted by the National Radiological Protection Board, NRPB. Under these programmes, a number of experiments have been conducted on a small number of human volunteers to provide information on the metabolism and dosimetry of radionuclides which will improve knowledge on the health risks from radiation. These experiments involve trace levels of radiation which present a very low risk from radiation. These experiments involve trace levels of radiation which present a very low risk to health. The AEA research is published in AEA's annual report on radiological protection, copies of which are available in the Library. The NRPB publishes the results of its research in a number of board publications and a copy of its annual corporate plan is in the Library. Like AEA it also publishes in scientific journals.

The studies are all approved by ethics committees which operate according to World Health Organisation guidelines, and informed consent from the volunteer is a prerequisite. The consent form cannot be signed until the nature, purpose and possible hazards of the study are explained to the volunteer. In addition, all studies using radioactivity in humans require a certificate issued by Health Ministers. The Administration of Radioactive Substances Advisory Committee advises Health Ministers on the granting of such certificates and the committee specifically considers the radiation hazards.

NHS Dentistry (Deregistration)

Mr. Tyler: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many patients have been deregistered for NHS dentistry treatment in each of the health authority areas within South West region for the past 52 weeks for which figures are available; and what those totals represent as a proportion of the total population in each case. [34856]

Mr. Malone: The information is shown in the table. Family health service authorities can help patients to find national health service dentists.

Vehicle Emissions (Asthma)

Mr. Tony Lloyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what information Her Majesty's Government have and what assumptions are made on relations between the level of asthma and the level of vehicle emissions; and what information he has on the effect of diesel vehicle emissions. [35384]

Mr. Sackville: High levels of motor vehicle, including diesel, emissions may trigger attacks in some asthmatic people. There is no conclusive evidence that motor vehicle, including diesel, emissions cause asthma. The independent expert Committee on the Medical Effects of Air Pollutants, COMEAP, advises the Government on the health effects of air pollution. In 1993, COMEAP, at the request of the Department of Health, established an expert sub-group to undertake a major review of the association between asthma and air pollution. The committee's report is expected to be published in September 1995.

NHS Administrative Costs

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Health, pursuant to the answer of 16 December 1994, Official Report, columns 833-34, if he will update the figures on NHS administrative costs. [35497]

Mr. Malone: The provisional information given in my answer of 16 December 1994, Official Report, columns 833-34, in respect of 1993–94 administrative costs is now confirmed as final expenditure. Information for 1994–95 will not be available until later this year.

NHS Trust Boards (Salaries)

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will list by wave and region (a) the number of non-executive directors and (b) the numbers of chairs of NHS trust boards by salary band. [35504]

Mr. Malone: Details of chairmen and non-executive directors of national health service trusts, by region and wave, are shown in the tables.

All non-executive directors of National Health Service trusts receive remuneration of £5,000 per annum. Information about the banding of chairmen of National Health Service trusts is not held centrally.

Residual Estate

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) pursuant to the answer of 12 July, Official Report, column 551, what plans he has to dispose of parts of the residual estate of the NHS. [35501]

(2) pursuant to the answer of 12 July, if he will list the property and other assets not transferred to NHS trusts, indicating where possible an estimated value. [35500]

Mr. Sackville: A list of property and assets not transferred to trusts is maintained at regional level and is not available centrally. However, existing use value of these assets is estimated at £3.48 billion from the information provided through the capital charging arrangements. Property which is declared surplus to operational requirements is sold as soon as possible. Regions implement disposal programmes to achieve the best price possible on the open market. Proceeds are used for reinvestment in the provision of healthcare.

Private Patient Income

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the answer of 6 December 1994, Official Report, column 195, if he will update the figures on private patient income. [35493]

Mr. Sackville: The figures for 1993–94 are no longer provisional. Figures for 1994–95 are not yet available.

Gorton Medical Centre

Mr. Kaufman: To ask the Secretary of State for Health, pursuant to the answer of 21 June, Official Report, column 260, with regard to Gorton medical centre, if he will state the latest position both with regard to the judgment of the High Court and with regard to financial assistance to improve the premises of the centre. [35241]

Mr. Malone: I refer the right hon. Member to the replies I gave him on 21 June Official Report, column 260 and to the reply I gave my hon. Friend the Member for Windsor and Maidenhead (Mr. Trend) on 14 July.

Clinical Negligence Claims

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Health, pursuant to the answer of 6 March, Official Report, columns 41–3 if he will now provide final rather than provisional figures for the costs of clinical negligence settlements by region in 1994–95. [35499]

Mr. Malone: Final figures for the period 1994–95 are not yet available.

Health Care Purchasing

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Health, pursuant to the answer of 9 December 1994, Official Report, column 401, if he will update the figures on non-NHS provider spending. [35495]

Mr. Sackville: Updated information is expected to be available in December 1995.

NHS Staffing

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many (a) general and senior managers, (b) administrative and clerical staff and (c) nursing and midwifery staff were employed in each health region in 1994. [35385]

Mr. Malone: This information is not yet available.

GP Fundholding

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Health, pursuant to his answer of 2 December 1994, Official Report, column 916, if he will update the figures on general practitioner fundholding management allowances. [35490]

Mr. Malone: Information on the level of expenditure on fundholding management allowances in 1994–95 is not yet available.

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Health, pursuant to the answer of 25 January, Official Report, columns 259–60, on computer costs associated with general practitioner fundholding, if he will now provide comparable figures for 1994–95. [35498]

Mr. Malone: The information is shown in the table.

Legislative Plans

Mr. Kirkwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what legislation he plans to introduce; and if he will make a statement. [35307]

Mr. Bowis: The Government's plans for legislation will be announced in the Queen's Speech at the start of the 1995–96 Session.

NHS Management (Salary Costs)

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Health, pursuant to the answer of 13 December 1994, Official Report, column 616, if he will now update the figures on NHS salary costs.

Mr. Malone: The information is shown in the table. The increase in general and senior management costs are largely a result of (a) the reclassification of staff from professional and administrative groups, including many senior nurses, as managers; (b) the devolution to trusts of areas of work formally covered by district health authorities or regional health authorities (c) deliberate strengthening of the management of corporate functions and clinical support.

Annual financial returns of regional, district and special health authorities for the London postgraduate teaching hospitals, and NHS trusts.

Notes:

1. Salaries and wages costs incurred by family health services authorities and the special hospitals service authority (HQ London, Broadmoor, Ashworth and Rampton hospitals) and the UK transplant support service are excluded as corresponding costs are not identified on the same basis.

2. Managerial staff consists of general and senior managers.

3. These final figures are based upon gross costs including employers' National Insurance and superannuation contributions.

NHS Trusts

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Health, pursuant to the answer of 9 December 1994, Official Report, column 396, if he will update the figures on NHS trust financial performance. [35502]

Mr. Sackville: I refer the hon. Member to the reply I gave him on 12 June, Official Report, column 359. There are no changes to this information.

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Health, pursuant to the answer of 14 December 1994, Official Report, columns 679–80, if he will update the figures on NHS trust start-up costs. [35496]

Mr. Sackville: The information will be placed in the Library.

London Hospitals

Mr. Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will consider again proposals to close St. Bartholomew's and other London hospitals. [33192]

Mr. Malone: No. The decisions made are in the best interests of patients and will ensure that London's health services meet future health needs.

Cardiac Mortality

Mrs. Ewing: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what was the cardiac mortality rate for each year between 1989 and the most recent year; and if he will provide a breakdown by (a) region and (b) health authority area in England. [33326]

Mr. Bowis [holding answer 12 July 1995]: The information is shown in the table:

Smoking

Mr. Sheerman: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what steps he is taking to encourage restrictions on smoking in public areas frequented by children. [35021]

Mr. Clappison: I have been asked to reply.

The Government's code of practice on smoking in public places, which provides practical guidance to owners and managers of public places on implementing smoking policies, advises that smoking should be prohibited in all public places frequented by children and other young people.

Community Nurses

Mrs. Beckett: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many (a) health visitors, (b) district nurses, (c) community psychiatric nurses and (d) school nurses were employed in each region of England on 30 September 1993, and for the latest date available, expressed as whole-time equivalents and actual numbers; and if he will list the same information for student health visitors and student district nurses. [33250]

Mr. Bowis [holding answer 17 July 1995]: The information relating to the number and whole-time equivalent number of health visitors, district nurses, community psychiatric nurses and school nurses employed in each region of England on 30 September 1993 is shown in the tables. This is the latest available information.

For the number of student health visitors and district nurses in each region in 1993, I refer the right hon. Member to the English National Board for Nursing, Midwifery and Health Visiting annual report for 1993–94, copies of which are available in the Library.

Listeriosis

Mr. Alfred Morris: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many babies died or had serious illnesses due to listeriosis from July 1985 to the date of the Department's warning about the risk posed to the foetus and new-born babies from listeriosis resulting from the consumption of certain foods. [34309]

Mr. Sackville [holding answer 13 July 1995]: It is not possible to derive a single underlying cause of stillbirth or neonatal death from the stillbirth or death certificate. However, between 1 July 1985 and 31 January 1989, there were 11 stillbirths and 23 infant deaths, babies dying under one year of age, in England and Wales where listeriosis was mentioned on the certificate[1] Information on serious illnesses associated with listeriosis is not available centrally.

[1] Since 1 January 1986 in England and Wales, a different certificate has been in use for stillbirths and neonatal deaths (babies dying under 28 days). In these cases the certifier is able to record both main fetal and main maternal conditions leading to the death without giving precedence to one particular condition. The certifier may also record other fetal and maternal conditions which contributed to the death without directly leading to it. Owing to these changes in certification it is not possible to derive a single underlying cause of stillbirth or neonatal death.

Non-United Kingdom Staff

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many (a) hospital doctors, (b) nurses and midwives, (c) general practitioners and (d) managers currently working in the NHS are from (i) European Union countries other than than the United Kingdom and (ii) non-EU countries. [34784]

Mr. Malone [holding answer 17 July 1995]: The available information is shown in the tables.

Hospital doctors and general practitioners (unrestricted principals) country of birth: as at 30 September 1993 and 1 April 1993 respectively[1]

Training (Doctors and Nurses)

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many (a) doctors and (b) nurses have been in training in each of the last five years. [34785]

Mr. Malone [holding answer 17 July 1995]: The available information on doctors is shown in the table. For the number of nurses who have been in training in each of the past five years, I refer the hon. Member to the English National Board for Nursing, Midwifery and Health Visiting annual reports for each year from 1989–90, copies of which are available in the Library.

LORD PRESIDENT OF THE COUNCIL

World Wide Web

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the Lord President of the Council if he will make a statement on the work his Department has carried out in the past 12 months in making information about his Department available to the public via the Government world wide web server known as "www.open.gov.uk" and his plans and policies to make additional and new information available electronically on the server in the next 12 months. [34671]

Mr. Newton: The Privy Council Office does not use the Internet and, hence, the server, and has no plans to do so.

DEFENCE

Naval Stores Depots (Closure)

Mr. Steen: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what plans he has for the closure of Royal Naval victualling depot, Wrangaton, and the transfer of the Royal Naval clothing storage task. [36268]

Mr. Soames: I announced decisions to implement the findings of the "Front Line First" studies as they affected future naval stores support to the Royal Navy on 14 February 1995, Official Report, column 611–12. These included the closure of RNVD Wrangaton by 31 March 1997.

The Defence Clothing and Textile Agency, DCTA, purchases and controls stock management of all service clothing. Financial savings would have arisen from the collocation of Navy clothing with Army clothing at Bicester under DCTA control due to the ability to rationalise stockholdings and by sharing the same IT system. However, at the time of consultation we have not been able to identify sufficient spare storage capacity at Bicester to collocate Royal Navy clothing with the Army bulk stocks already held there. It has subsequently been confirmed that sufficient storage capacity will now be available.

The proposal will now be subject to consultation. If it is confirmed, it would be implemented by 31 March 1996, which is now the planned closure date for RNVD Wrangaton.

Gulf War Veterans

Mrs. Currie: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he has received the independent medical audit report from the Royal College of Physicians of the assessments on Gulf war veterans; if he intends to publish it; and if he will make a statement. [34917]

Mr. Soames: The Royal College of Physicians' independent medical audit report to the Surgeon General on my Department's Gulf war medical assessment programme has been received and its recommendations are currently being considered. It is intended that the report will be made public shortly and I will arrange for copies to be placed in the Library of the House.

Contracts (Privatisation)

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many contracts and for what total sum were awarded by his Department and agencies for which it is responsible to (a) Coopers and Lybrand and its subsidiaries, (b) Peat Marwick and its subsidiaries, (c) Ernst and Young and its subsidiaries, (d) Arthur Andersen and its subsidiaries, (e) Price Waterhouse and its subsidiaries, (f) Grant Thornton and its subsidiaries, (g) Stoy Hayward and its subsidiaries, (h) Robson Rhodes and its subsidiaries, and (i) Pannell Kerr Forster and its subsidiaries, for privatisation, market testing and management advice, accounting, audit, consultancy and other services in 1993–94 and 1994–95. [34104]

Mr. Arbuthnot: The Ministry of Defence has contracts with a number of the companies listed. However, details of the contracts and the values are a matter of commercial confidentiality between the Ministry of Defence and the companies concerned. Records held centrally by the Ministry of Defence Procurement Executive does not include details of any contracts placed by the various agencies, nor do they indicate the precise nature of the individual contracts. To obtain the information would incur disproportionate cost.

Napalm

Mr. Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what is the current policy on the production and use of napalm; on what date his Department adopted this policy; and what had been the previous policy with regard to the production and use of napalm [35085]

Mr. Arbuthnot: The UK holds no stocks of napalm, the use of which is restricted by protocol III of the 1981 United Nations weaponry convention.

Contamination

Mr. Denham: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will make it his policy to ensure that his Department (a) discloses all knowledge of contamination and (b) takes appropriate measures to tackle contamination before disposing of surplus military sites. [35352]

Mr. Soames: My Department is already subject to the provisions of the Environmental Information Regulations 1992, which provide freedom of access to, and the dissemination of, environmental information it holds. Decontamination of my Department's land is undertaken where there is a significant risk to health and safety or the environment, or where land is being sold. In the latter case, decontamination work is limited, generally, to the removal of ordnance and other contaminants such as chemical warfare agents, radioactive and microbiological materials, in respect of which a civilian contractor could not be expected to have the appropriate expertise.

Military Sites (Sales)

Mr. Denham: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many surplus military sites are currently on the market in Hampshire; how many he expects to place on the market in the next five years; and if he will name them. [35353]

Mr. Soames: The information requested is not immediately available. My noble Friend the Under-Secretary of State for Defence will write to the hon. Member and a copy of his letter will be placed in the Library of the house.

World Wide Web

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will make a statement on the work his Department has carried out in the past 12 months in making information about his Department available to the public via the Government world wide web server known as www.open.gov.uk and his plans and policies to make additional and new information available electronically on the server in the next 12 months. [34673]

Mr. Soames: In the past 12 months, a MOD world wide web—(WWW)—server has been set up at the Internet address www.mod.uk with the specific aim of disseminating information about the Department. Liaison with the CCTA has ensured that the MOD home page on the server is accessible via the Government service WWW server at www.open.gov.uk.

Information made available to date has included summary biographies and pictures of MOD Ministers, recruitment information for the individual services and MOD press releases. In addition, the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency has a number of WWW pages accessible from the MOD home page which publicises topical items from the defence research programme.

It is planned in the next 12 months to increase the number of MOD WWW pages to make further information available to the public, one example being the coverage of major defence policy speeches.

Dundrennan

Mr. Llew Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will place in the Library the most recent environmental and radiological surveys undertaken at the Dundrennan test range. [35159]

Mr. Arbuthnot: I shall write to the hon. Member.

Nevada Nuclear Test Site (Payments)

Mr. Llew Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what payments have been made to date to the United States Government to cover land remediation and the clear-up of toxic and radioactive contamination at the Nevada nuclear test site, arising from the use of the facility to test British nuclear warheads. [35155]

Mr. Arbuthnot: Charges negotiated in respect of the small proportion of tests conducted in the US involving UK-owned devices have included a site overhead element which, in its turn, has allowed for relevant waste disposal costs. The latter element has not, however, been separately identified.

Chemical Weapons (Storage)

Mr. Llew Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what information he has as to the present environmental status of sites in Wales used to store surplus chemical weapons before disposal at sea. [35164]

Mr. Soames: RAF Llandwrog was the only site in Wales to store surplus chemical weapons before disposal at sea. After the disposal operation in 1956, the site was returned to private ownership following the issue of the standard clearance certificate confirming that it was free from explosive or chemical contamination.

Gulf War Veterans (Blood Donations)

Mr. Llew Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what restrictions now exist on the use of blood donated by British Gulf war veterans; and if he will make a statement on the original reason for implementing restrictions. [35163]

Mr. Soames: No restrictions have ever been imposed on the use of blood donated by British Gulf war veterans.

Nuclear Weapons (A1)

Mr. Home Robertson: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence on how many occasions oncoming traffic was stopped by Ministry of Defence police to facilitate the passage of the nuclear weapons convoy on the A1 road between Musselburgh and Morpeth on 10 July; what is his assessment of the rise of road traffic accidents on that section of single carriageway road; and if he will seek to avoid routing such conveys on that part of the A1 road during peak or holiday traffic periods in future. [34428]

Mr. Soames: It is not our practice to discuss the details of particular military movements. However, as a matter of long-standing policy, the routing of individual nuclear weapon convoys is always agreed in advance with local civil police forces. Traffic management is undertaken as necessary by the Ministry of Defence police officers who form part of such a convoy. The incidence of road traffic accidents is a matter for my right hon. Friends the Secretaries of State for Transport and for Scotland.

Chemical and Biological Weapons

Mr. Livingstone: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what were the reasons for extending the memorandum of understanding on chemical and biological defence between the United States of America, the United Kingdom and Canada in (a) November 1994 and (b) October 1984. [35567]

Mr. Arbuthnot: The memorandum of understanding—MOU—on chemical and biological defence between the United States of America, the United Kingdom and Canada was extended in October 1984 and November 1994 in order to ensure that the current activities conducted under the MOU could continue.

Mr. Livingstone: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence, pursuant to his answer of 6 July, Official Report, column 369, when the Committee on the Safety of Human Experiments exercised its right to veto studies, and why. [35613]

Mr. Arbuthnot: Although the committee had the right of veto it was more importantly concerned with the modification of protocols and maintaining the register of the work carried out. For these reasons it is difficult from the records available to identify specific occasions on which this right was exercised.

Mr. Livingstone: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence, pursuant to his answer of 6 July, Official Report, column 370, if he will list the current members of the independent ethics committee; and if he will consider placing in the Library copies of the minutes of this committee with the matters of commercial and defence sensitivity removed. [35614]

Mr. Arbuthnot: With respect to listing the names of the current members of the ethics committee, I shall write to the hon Member. Concerning the placing of copies of the minutes of this committee with matters of commercial and defence sensitivity removed, such a document would be meaningless and I see no reason therefore to do so.

Mr. Livingstone: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence, pursuant to his answer of 6 July, Official Report, column 369, what is the function of the defence nuclear biological and chemical centre at Winterbourne Gunner; when it was set up; and which agency controls it. [35612]

Mr. Arbuthnot: The original unit, which now forms the defence nuclear biological and chemical centre—DNBCC—at Winterbourne Gunner was set up in 1916. The DNBCC's function is to be the focal point for tri-service NBC defence matters, including training of selected personnel of all three services and foreign and Commonwealth forces in NBC defence measures on land. It also carries out staff studies and trials on all aspects of NBC defence and on equipment and procedures. The centre is sponsored by the inspector general training on behalf of the armed services.

Mr. Livingstone: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence, pursuant to his answer of 5 July, Official Report, column 279, which sites have been visited by officials formulating the draft declaration; and which Departments other than the Ministry of Defence are helping to formulate this declaration. [35608]

Mr. Arbuthnot: Officials formulating the draft declaration have visited a number of sites. They include MOS Randle, CDRE Sutton Oak, CDE Nancecuke, MOS Valley, MOS Rocksavage, MOS Hillhouse, MOS Springfields, Barnham Heath, Norton Disney, Lord's Bridge and West Cottingwith. It is not anticipated that all of these sites will need to be declared under the terms of the chemical weapons convention. Officials from the DTI, the FCO and MAFF are involved in formulating this declaration.

Mr. Livingstone: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what were the conclusions and recommendations of the meetings held in (a) May 1969 and (b) April 1990 of the sub-group E on chemical and biological defence of the technical co-operation programme. [35571]

Mr. Arbuthnot: I will write to the hon. Member.

Mr. Livingstone: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how Britain's decision to abandon production of chemical weapons contributed towards the signing of the chemical weapons convention; for what reasons Britain decided to abandon production of chemical weapons; and if this decision to abandon chemical weapons was taken in consultation with the United States of America. [35572]

Mr. Arbuthnot: The United Kingdom's decision in the 1950's to abandon its retaliatory offensive chemical weapons production capability and stocks of CW munitions was taken after reassessment of the most effective deterrents to aggression in keeping with national financial capabilities. The decision was not taken in consultation with the United States of America.

The UK has long supported the implementation of international agreements on the control, destruction and the eventual abolition of these weapons, as is now offered by the chemical weapons convention, but we also accepted that in the absence of such an agreement, some retaliatory capability within NATO was a necessary deterrent.

Mr. Livingstone: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence, pursuant to his answer of 6 July, Official Report, column 368, when the combined therapy auto-injector to combat the post-attack symptoms of nerve agent poisoning was issued for use by the armed forces; what antidotes can be used in the auto-injector and what is the effect of these antidotes; when the studies to develop the auto-injector took place with service volunteers; how many service volunteers took part in these studies; and what these studies entailed. [35611]

Mr. Arbuthnot: The current combined therapy auto-injector entered into service between January and July 1990. The injector contains Atropine, which directly counteracts the effects of excess Ach, nerve messenger; Pralidoxine Mesylate to reactivate inhibited acetylcholinesterase and Avizafone which acts as an anti-convulsant.

Studies to develop this therapy have been conducted over many years, and to provide details of all the studies would involve disproportionate cost.

Mr. Livingstone: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence in what ways the work of sub-group E on chemical and biological defence of the technical co-operation programme has promoted the successful collaboration in chemical and biological defence research between the United Kingdom, the United States of America, Canada and Australia; how many meetings of this sub-group have been held since 1993; where they were held; which countries took part; and who represented the British Government. [35604]

Mr. Arbuthnot: The technical co-operation programme—TTCP—provides a means of acquainting the participating countries with each others' defence research and development programmes so that each national programme may be planned to avoid unnecessary duplication. It promotes action to identify and close gaps in the collective technology base. It also assures each country of the best technical advice available for their Governments and military forces.

Sub-group E covers all aspects of chemical and biological defence including, inter alia, detection, survivability and medical treatment. It meets once a year to review programmes and exchange information and to oversee a number of collaborative research programmes.

Three meetings have been held since 1993; Washington, 1993; Toronto, 1994; Melbourne 1995. Countries taking part were the United States of America, Canada, Australia and the UK. The UK representative was the Director (Physical Sciences) CBDE, now Director of the Chemical and Biological Defence Sector of CBDE.

Mr. Livingstone: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what facilities exist underground at the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment, Porton Down; when each of these facilities was built; and what are the functions of each of these facilities. [35562]

Mr. Arbuthnot: This is a matter for the chief executive of the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency. I have therefore asked him to reply.

Letter from John Chisholm to Mr. Ken Livingstone, dated 18 July 1995:

Your Question to the Secretary of State for Defence concerning the underground facilities belonging to the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment (CBDE) has been passed to me to reply as the Chief Executive of the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency (DERA) which now includes CBDE as one of its Divisions.

A small number of sampling chambers were constructed underground at CBDE between the First and Second World Wars. These were used in trials to determine the dispersion of chemical agents. They have now fallen into disuse.

I hope this information is helpful.

Mr. Livingstone: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) pursuant to his answer of 5 July, Official Report, column 276, if he will list the titles and subject matter of each of the 17 unclassified papers in the Porton technical papers series; and what was the name of the series of papers which replaced the Porton technical papers after they were closed. [35609]

(2) how many scientific papers in the series called Nancekuke reports were produced by the Chemical Defence Establishment at Nancekuke since 1965; when this series started and finished; and how many of them are unclassified. [35564]

(3) pursuant to his answer of 16 March, Official Report, columns 716–17, on what dates staff from the biological division and the chemistry and decontamination division of the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment published the results of their research in the scientific journals named. [35618]

(4) pursuant to his answer of 16 March, Official Report, column 709, what was the conclusion of the research work on the nerve agent GB at Nancekuke to study the impurities and by-products found in the GB product; when this conclusion was reached; which by-products were studied; and when the results of this research were exchanged with the United States of America, Canada and Australia. [35621]

(5) how many scientific papers in the series called Porton notes were produced by the Chemical Warfare Establishment at Porton Down since 1965; when this series started and finished; and how many of them are unclassified. [35565]

(6) what research has been carried out on the nerve agent GF at the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment at Porton Down since the closure of the nerve agent plant at Nancekuke; what quantity of the nerve agent GF has been used in this research at Porton Down; what was the aim of the research; when the results of this research were exchanged with other countries; and under which defence agreement the results were shared. [35615]

Mr. Arbuthnot: This is a matter for the chief executive of the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency. I have therefore asked him to reply.

Letter from Elizabeth Reeve to Mr. Ken Livingstone, dated 18 July 1995:

I am writing to let you know that because of the research required I shall not be able to reply to a number of your priority written questions within the normal timescale. The questions concerned are as follows:

> Pursuant to answer of 16 March (Col 716–7), the dates on which CBDE staff published the results of their work;
> How many "Porton Notes" series papers were produced since 1965;
> How many papers in the Nancecuke Reports series were produced by CBDE since 1965;
>
> Titles & subject matter of "Portion Technical Papers" & name of series which replaced "Portion Technical Papers";
> Research on nerve agent GF;
> Conclusion of work on nerve agent GB at Nancekuke.

I will of course let you have replies as soon as possible. I am sorry if this causes any inconvenience.

Mr. Livingstone: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence, pursuant to his answer of 5 July, Official Report, column 279, when the studies with service volunteers with nerve agent GB were conducted; how many service volunteers were involved; what was the purpose of the studies; what was the conclusion of the studies; and if the amount of GB used in these studies needs to be approved at ministerial level. [35619]

Mr. Arbuthnot: This is a matter for the chief executive of the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency. I have therefore asked him to reply.

Letter from Elizabeth Reeve to Mr. Ken Livingstone, dated 18 July 1995:

Your Question to the Secretary of State for Defence asking for further details of the research carried out with the nerve agent GB involving Serving Volunteers has been passed to me to reply as the Chief Executive of the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency (DERA) which now includes the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment (CBDE) as one of its Divisions.

Various nerve agent studies involving the use of Service Volunteers have taken place at CBDE since the late 1940's and have involved some 300 volunteers. The most recent series of studies which were completed in 1989 were carried out in order to ascertain the effects of exposure to low levels GB. The conclusions of the studies have resulted in enhanced protective measures for UK service personnel. The details of specific experiments are not subject to ministerial approval.

I hope this information is helpful.

Mr. Livingstone: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence, pursuant to his answer of 5 July, Official Report, column 278, what was the conclusion of the studies with mustard gas to determine the effectiveness of decontamination procedures and protective measures; what was the highest amount of mustard gas applied in small drops in patch tests; if this amount needs to be approved at ministerial level; and in what year the last study involving mustard gas and service volunteers was conducted. [35620]

Mr. Arbuthnot: This is a matter for the chief executive of the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency. I have therefore asked him to reply.

Letter from John Chisholm to Mr. Ken Livingstone, dated 18 July 1995:

Your Question to the Secretary of State for Defence concerning the studies conducted with mustard agent using Service Volunteers has been passed to me to reply as the Chief Executive of the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency (DERA) which now includes the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment (CBDE) as one of its Divisions.

The studies referred to in my reply of 5 July, which were carried out over a number of years formed an integral part of the research programme at CBDE. I am unable to discuss the conclusions of this work in detail but can say that it has led to the introduction of more effective protective and decontamination measures for the UK Armed Forces. The amount of mustard applied in patch tests was determined after sensitivity tests had been carried out on the volunteer. This sensitivity test involved the application of one drop of a dilute solution of mustard to the forearm. Mustard agent had been used in studies at the research establishments at Porton Down since the First World War and we are unable to determine if Ministerial approval was sought before the work commenced. No studies involving the use of mustard agent with Service Volunteers have been carried out since 1979.

I hope this information is helpful.

Mr. Livingstone: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what tests and studies have been carried out by the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment, Porton Down, on CS gas foam; what was the purpose and conclusions of these tests with the foam; when the tests were carried out with the foam; and if the tests involved service volunteers. [35573]

Mr. Arbuthnot: This is a matter for the chief executive of the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency. I have therefore asked him to reply.

Letter from John Chisholm to Mr. Ken Livingston, dated 18 July 1995:

Your Question to the Secretary of State for Defence concerning the use of CS foam in studies carried out by the Chemical and Biological Establishment (CBDE) has been passed to me to reply as the Chief Executive of the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency (DERA) which now includes CBDE as one of its Divisions.

The Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment has not carried out any studies on CS foam.

I hope this information is helpful.

Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment (Scientific Journals)

Mr. Livingstone: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many times staff in (a) the medical division and (b) the defence microbiology division of the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment, Porton Down, published the results of their work in scientific and other journals in the past two years; on what dates they were published; and in which journals they were published. [35566]

Mr. Arbuthnot: This is a matter for the chief executive of the defence Evaluation and Research Agency. I have therefore asked him to reply.

Letter from John Chisholm to Mr. Ken Livingstone, dated 18 July 1995:

Your Question to the Secretary of State for Defence asking how many times staff in the medical and defence microbiology divisions of the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment have published the results of their work in scientific journals has been passed to me to reply as the Chief Executive of the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency (DERA) which now includes CBDE as one of its Divisions.

Staff from these two Divisions of CBDE have had a number of papers published in scientific journals in 1993 and 1994. A list of the journals and volume of numbers appears below:

Journals
Applied and Environmental Microbiology	60(11), 1994
British Journal of Surgery	81(2), 81(3), 1994
FEMS Symposium No. 73 Proceedings	1994, 3 papers

Origins of Life and Evolution of the Biosphere	23(1), 1993
Vaccine	11(12), 1993; 12(15), 1994

It is possible that other results have been published, but it has not been possible to identify these from central records in the time available to answer your question.

I hope this information is helpful.

Nuclear Weapon Tests

Dr. David Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) what is Her Majesty's Government's policy on whether a comprehensive test ban treaty should prohibit any underground explosive testing which produces a fission yield; [35417]

(2) what is his Department's policy on a low threshold test ban treaty as an alternative to a comprehensive test ban treaty; [35418]

(3) if it is Her Majesty's Government's policy that some further explosive nuclear testing should be permitted under the terms of a comprehensive test ban treaty;. [35425]

(4) if it is Her Majesty's Government's policy to retain the ability to conduct further underground nuclear tests after it has signed a comprehensive test ban treaty; [35431]

(5) what is his Department's assessment of whether a comprehensive test ban treaty that included a provision for small-scale testing would be compatible with the commitments made by the United Kingdom at the non-proliferation treaty extension conference. [35423]

Mr. Arbuthnot: Our aim is to establish an effective and verifiable comprehensive nuclear test-ban treaty — CTBT—commanding universal adherence as soon as practicable. We have noted the statement in the nuclear non- proliferation treaty review conference document "Declaration on Principles and Objectives for Nuclear and Non-Proliferation and Disarmament" calling for the conclusion of negotiations on a CTBT by the end of 1996, and for the nuclear weapon states to exercise restraint until that time. The United Kingdom has no plans at present to carry out any nuclear weapon tests. However, we have made it clear that the CTBT must not prohibit those activities required to fulfil our responsibility to maintain the safety and reliability of our nuclear stockpile.

Dr. David Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) which of the Anglo-US joint working groups have met to discuss nuclear testing issues during the past three months; and what were the names and rank of those officials from his Department involved; [35419]

(2) what representations his Department has made to officials of the United States Government concerning a resumption of nuclear testing prior to negotiation of a comprehensive test ban treaty; [35428]

(3) what discussions officials from his Department have had with officials from the United States Government concerning a United Kingdom requirement to conduct further underground nuclear tests prior to signing a comprehensive test ban treaty; [35426]

(4) what discussions representatives from the Atomic Weapons Establishment have had with officials from the United States Government concerning nuclear testing issues in the last three months. [35427]

Mr. Arbuthnot: We have no plans to conduct further underground nuclear tests prior to the introduction of a comprehensive test ban treaty. Officials of this Department and the Atomic Weapons Establishment hold regular discussions with United States authorities on a wide range of nuclear issues. Including matters relating to nuclear testing.

LSD Experiments

Dr. David Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence where the regard and small change experiments involving service volunteers and LSD took place. [35106]

Mr. Soames: This matter is for the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency, DERA, under its framework document. I have asked the chief executive to write to the hon. Member.

Letter from John Chisholm to Dr. David Clark, dated 18 July 1995:

Your Parliamentary Question to the Secretary of State for Defence asking where the Regard and Small Change studies took place has been passed to me to reply as the Chief Executive of the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency (DERA) which now includes the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment (CBDE) as one of its Divisions.

There has been no study named Regard involving Service Volunteers and LSD carried out by CBDE. There was, however, a study with LSD called Recount. That and study Small Change took place on the trials range at CBDE Porton Down.

I hope this information is helpful.

Dr. David Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will place in the Library copies of reports and laboratory data outlining the results of experiments in respect of the projects (a) Moneybags, (b) Recount and (c) Small Change carried out at the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment Porton Down on service personnel; and if he will make a statement. [34852]

Mr. Soames: This matter is for the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency, DERA, under its framework document. I have asked the chief executive to write to the hon. Member.

Letter from John Chisholm to Dr. David Clark, dated 18 July 1995:

Your Question to the Secretary of State for Defence asking if he will place the reports of the studies called Moneybags, Small Change and Recount in the House of Commons Library has been passed to me to reply as the Chief Executive of the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency (DERA) which now includes the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment (CBDE) as one of its Divisions.

The use of LSD in studies with Service Volunteers has been public knowledge for decades and a film of Operation Moneybags was shown to the media and public during the Open Days held in 1969. Newspapers on 12 June 1969 carried detailed stories on the LSD trials and, more recently, replies to parliamentary questions have provided a great deal of information. The reports of the actual studies themselves are, however, well over 10 years old. It is not clear at the moment, and in the time available, whether the contents of them can now be released. I will look into this and write to you again.

I hope this information is helpful.

Dr. Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if service volunteers taking part in experiments at the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment Porton Down called (a) Moneybags, (b) Recount and (c) Small Change were specifically told that they were to be given LSD; and in what terms they were advised of the possible (i) long-term and (ii) short-term effects of LSD. [34853]

Mr. Soames: This matter is for the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency, DERA, under its framework document. I have asked the chief executive to write to the hon. Member.

Letter from John Chisholm to Dr. David Clark, dated 18 July 1995:

Your Parliamentary Question to the Secretary of State for Defence asking if Service Volunteers involved in the studies using LSD were informed that they would be exposed to LSD and given indications of its long and short term effects has been passed to me to reply as the Chief Executive of the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency (DERA) which now includes the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment (CBDE) as one of its Divisions.

The purpose of the Moneybags, Small Change and Recount trials was to identify the effects of the drug LSD on behaviour in military operations. The Volunteers were briefed prior to the study as to the nature of the drug which would be administered. They were also informed that some of them would be given a placebo rather than the active drug so as to provide controls for the investigation. Prior to the study the Volunteers were not told specifically which individuals would have the drug rather than the placebo as this would have negated the validity of the study. After the exercise was completed the individuals were told whether they had had the drug or placebo administered.

The short term effects of the administered LSD were not suggested to the Volunteers prior to their exposure because of the risk that their response would be modified to meet the expected effects. No long term effects for single or low doses of LSD had been identified in clinical medicine and there were no possible effects to advise on.

I hope this information is helpful.

Dr. Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how long the service volunteers involved in the Moneybags experiments who were given 200 micrograms of LSD were affected by the dose. [34854]

Mr. Soames: This matter is for the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency, DERA, under its framework document. I have asked the chief executive to write to the hon. Member.

Letter from John Chisholm to Dr. David Clark, dated 18 July 1995:

Your Parliamentary Question to the Secretary of State for Defence asking how long Service Volunteers involved in the Moneybags experiments were affected by the dose of LSD they had been exposed to has been passed to me to reply as Chief Executive of the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency (DERA) which now includes the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment (CBDE) as one of its Divisions.

All the Volunteers who were exposed to LSD had fully recovered from the effects of the drug within 24 hours of their exposure.

I hope this information is helpful.

Dr. Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence who decided the amounts of LSD given to volunteers at the Chemical and Biological Establishments at Porton Down; if permission at ministerial level was required for the amounts and the experiments; and if he will make a statement. [35105]

Mr. Soames: This matter is for the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency, DERA, under its framework document. I have asked the chief executive to write to the hon. Member.

Letter from John Chisholm to Dr. David Clark, dated 18 July 1995:

Your Question to the Secretary of State for Defence asking who decided on the amount of LSD given to volunteers and if permission at Ministerial level was required to conduct this work has been passed to me to reply as the Chief Executive of the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency (DERA) which now includes the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment (CBDE) as one of its Divisions.

Prior to beginning any programmes of work with Service Volunteers a review of the proposed study is conducted to assess the military requirement and the acceptability of the procedures. Since 1991 this reviewing role has been fulfilled by an Independent Ethics Committee but prior to this date a Committee of medical practitioners from the then Chemical Defence Establishment at Porton Down, known as the Committee on the Safety of Human Experiments (COSHE), carried out this function. The protocols approved by this Committee were then considered by the ethical sub-group of the Medical Committee of the Defence Scientific Advisory Council which included independent experts.

The studies involving the use of LSD with Service Volunteers began in the early 1960's and were completed in 1968. The studies would have been reviewed by COSHE. They would also have been approved by the then Director of the Establishment who had overall responsibility for the running of the Establishment. At this distance in time we are unable to say whether Ministers were involved in the detailed decisions on dosage levels but consider this unlikely.

I am sorry that I could not be more helpful.

Dr. Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what experiments involving LSD and service volunteers other than Moneybags, Recount and Small Change were carried out at the Chemical and Biological Establishment at Porton Down. [35107]

Mr. Soames: This matter is for the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency, DERA, under its framework document. I have asked the chief executive to write to the hon. Member.

Letter from John Chisholm to Dr. David Clark, dated 18 July 1995:

Your Parliamentary Question asking the Secretary of State for Defence what experiments involving LSD and Service Volunteers, other than Moneybags, Recount and Small Change, were carried out at CBDE has been passed to me to reply as the Chief Executive of the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency which now includes the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment (CBDE) as one of its Divisions.

In addition to the studies mentioned above a small number of Volunteers were exposed to LSD under medical supervision in the establishment medical facilities. These studies, which have no generic name, were carried out between 1962 and 1968.

I hope this information is helpful to you.

Dr. Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence when was the last time that medical checks were carried out on the service volunteers who took part in tests and studies involving LSD at the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment at Porton Down, to assess whether the tests had any long-term effect on the mental or physical health of the volunteers. [35101]

Mr. Soames: This matter is for the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency, DERA, under its framework document. I have asked the chief executive to write to the hon. Member.

Letter from John Chisholm to Dr. David Clark, dated 18 July 1995:

Your Parliamentary Question to the Secretary of State for Defence asking when was the last time that service personnel involved in studies with LSD were medically checked to assess whether there were any long term effects on the mental and physical health of the volunteers has been passed to me to reply as Chief Executive of the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency (DERA) which includes the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment (CBDE) as one of its Divisions.

The Service Volunteers were medically screened for their suitability prior to their participation in the studies involving LSD. All Volunteers are medically examined on completion of their attendance at CBDE and this included those who participated in the LSD studies. As published clinical studies had not identified long term effects with single, low doses of LSD, it was not therefore considered appropriate to recall Volunteers for further assessment.

I hope this information is helpful.

Mutual Defence Assistance Programme

Mr. Livingstone: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence when Britain and the United States of America set up the mutual defence assistance programme; what was the scope and aim of the programme; why it was set up; when it ended; and which branches of his Department were involved in the programme. [35574]

Mr. Soames: The United States and United Kingdom concluded a mutual defence assistance agreement on 27 January 1950, which provided for either Government to make available to the other equipment, materials or other military assistance designed to promote the integrated defence of the north Atlantic area and to facilitate the development of defence plans under the North Atlantic treaty. The agreement, presented to Parliament as Cmd 7894, was made as part of the US Government's action at that time to provide military aid to Europe, in accordance with the US Military Defence Assistance Act signed by President Truman on 6 October 1949. The agreement remains in force. It is not possible at this time to identify particular branches of the Ministry of Defence that may have been involved in the programme.

Service Volunteers Programme

Mr. Livingstone: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) what arrangements have existed to warn service personnel who took part in tests and studies in the service volunteers programme at the chemical warfare establishment at Porton Down since 1965 of the risks to their health, both in the short-term and long-term, of the experiments; when these arrangements were put in place; and if they have conformed to the Nuremberg code and Helsinki declarations on medical research on humans. [35570]

(2) what arrangements have been made by the chemical warfare establishment at Porton Down to obtain the voluntary informed consent of service personnel who have participated in tests and studies in the service volunteers programme since 1965; when these arrangements were set up; and what steps he has taken to ascertain whether they conformed to the Nuremberg code and Helsinki declarations on medical research on humans. [35563]

Mr. Soames: These matters are for the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency, DERA, under its framework document. I have asked the chief executive to write to the hon. Member.

Letter from John Chisholm to Mr. Ken Livingstone, dated 18 July 1995:

Your Questions to the Secretary of State for Defence asking about the arrangements since 1965 for warning Service Volunteers about the nature of the research in which they participate and what steps were taken to obtain their consent, have been passed to me to reply as the Chief Executive of the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency (DERA) which now includes the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment (CBDE) as one of its Divisions. This reply covers both questions.

All work with Service Volunteers since 1991 has required the approval of the Independent Ethics Committee before the study can begin. Protocols submitted for review by this Committee include a lay statement which is read to the volunteers by a military officer prior to them participating in the investigation. The lay statement explains the purpose, nature and any discomfort which may be experienced. Further briefing by the investigators carrying out the study is also carried out and the volunteers can withdraw from the study at any time without requiring to give a reason. Prior to the creation of the Independent Ethics Committee all studies involving the use of Service Volunteers were subject to review by the Committee on the Safety of Human Experiments (COSHE). Similar methods were used to acquaint the volunteers with the nature of the investigation in which they participated.

All work involving the use of Service Volunteers since 1965 has conformed to the Nuremberg code and Helsinki Declaration on the use of humans in medical research.

I hope this information is helpful.

Mr. Livingstone: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence, pursuant to his answer of 16 March, Official Report, column 714–15, what the studies to investigate the physiological load imposed by wearing the mark 4 NBC suit in various climatic conditions entailed; what exercises and tasks were performed by service volunteers; where these studies took place; what chemicals were used in the studies; and what was the conclusion of the studies. [35606]

Mr. Soames: This matter is for the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency, DERA, under its framework document. I have asked the chief executive to write to the hon. Member.

Letter from John Chisholm to Mr. Ken Livingstone, dated 18 July 1995:

Your Question to the Secretary of State for Defence concerning the physiological studies on the Mk1V NBC suit has been passed to me to reply as the Chief Executive of the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency (DERA) which now includes the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment (CBDE) as one of its Divisons.

Physiological studies on the MkIV NBC suit conducted at CBDE involve performing various levels of exercise under different conditions of humidity and ambient temperature. The nature of the exercise includes walking on a treadmill or lifting loads of varying weights. All such studies are carried out with constant physiological monitoring and under medical supervision. Volunteers are encouraged to drink water and are provided with food while participating in the investigations. No chemical agents have been used in these studies. The conclusion of these studies have led to recommendations on the level of workload and its duration for personnel wearing protective clothing under different climatic conditions.

I hope this information is helpful.

Mr. Livingstone: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) pursuant to his answer of 6 July, Official Report, columns 367–68, if the policy of the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment, Porton Down, is such that service personnel who took part in the service volunteers programme at the establishment can have copies of the original laboratory reports and data held by the establishment on the experiments in which they participated; and if he will make a statement; [35610]

(2) what records are held by the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment, Porton Down, on service personnel who take part in tests and studies in the service volunteers' programme; what details are kept in these records; and if these records are kept in a computer or on paper. [35569]

Mr. Soames: These matters are for the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency DERA, under its framework document. I have asked the chief executive, to write to the hon. Member.

Letter from John Chisholm to Mr. Ken Livingstone, dated 18 July 1995:

Your Questions to the Secretary of State for Defence asking about the records of Service Volunteer studies held by the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment (CBDE) and also if they could be released to the individuals involved has been passed to me to reply as the chief executive of the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency which now includes CBDE as one of its Divisions. I am replying to both questions in this letter.

It is currently the practice to keep records of the personal details of the volunteer, including name, rank, service number, unit, date of birth and age at the time of the study, as part of a paper folder raised for each volunteer. This folder also includes full details of the volunteer's medical history, the results of the pre and post study medical examinations and details of any medical condition arising co-incidental to the study. In order to facilitate administration the name, rank and service number of volunteers is held on computer but not the medical details contained in an individual's folder.

My answer to your previous question about records, dated 5 July, covered CBDE's long standing policy concerning the release of information held on Service Volunteers.

I hope this information is helpful.

Mr. Livingstone: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) what tests and studies have been carried out since 1965 at the Chemical Warfare Establishment at Porton Down on service volunteers with Lewisite; what was the aim of these experiments; how the vesicant was administered to volunteers; what was the conclusion of these experiments; when these tests were carried out; how many service volunteers were involved in these tests and studies; and where and what dates the results of these tests were published in open literature. [35568]

(2) what tests and studies have been carried out since 1965 at the Chemical Warfare Establishment at Porton Down on service volunteers with compound cyclohexyl methylphosponefluoridate; what was the purpose of these tests; how the compound was administered to volunteers; what were the conclusions of these experiments; when these tests were carried out; how many service volunteers were involved in these experiments; and where and on what dates the results of these tests were published in open literature. [35617]

Mr. Soames: These matters are for the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency, DERA, under its framework document. I have asked the chief executive to write to the hon. Member.

Letter from John Chisholm to Mr. Ken Livingstone, dated 18 July 1995:

Your Question to the Secretary of State for Defence asking what studies with Service Volunteers have been carried out since 1965 with the chemical warfare agents Lewisite and cyclohexyl methylphosphonofluoridate (GF) have been passed to me to reply as the Chief Executive of the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency (DERA) which now includes the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment (CBDE) as one of its Divisions.

There have been no studies involving Service Volunteers using either Lewisite or GF since 1965.

I hope this information is helpful.

Cost Sharing Agreement

Mr. Livingstone: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence pursuant to his answer of 16 March, Official Report, column 723, how much money was owed by the United States Government under the bilateral cost-sharing agreement on (a) 31 March 1994 and (b) 31 March 1995; what percentage of the annual expenditure under this agreement this figure represented on each date, excluding administration costs; and whether, under this agreement, the United States Government refund the cost of construction and maintenance carried out at their request and pay 7.5 per cent. of the works expenditure as a contribution towards the administration costs of the Ministry of Defence, Defence Works Service (United States Forces). [35616]

Mr. Soames: Bills with the US Government for payment amounted to £5,400,000 on 31 March 1994 and £3,600,000 on 31 March 1995 representing 6.5 per cent. and 3.6 per cent. respectively on the annual expenditure on US works under the cost sharing agreement. The US Government refund the cost of construction and maintenance carried out at its request by Ministry of Defence, Defence Works Service (USF) and pays 7.5 per cent. of the works expenditure as a contribution towards the adminstration costs of hte MOD, Defence Works Service (USF).

Safety Audits

Mr. Livingstone: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence, pursuant to his answer of 5 July, Official Report, column 274, if he will place in the Library copies of the 21 safety audits with the classified information removed. [35607]

Mr. Arbuthnot: This is a matter for the chief executive of the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency. I have therefore asked him to reply.

Letter from John Chisholm to Mr. Ken Livingstone, dated 18 July 1995:

Your Question to the Secretary of State of Defence asking if copies of the safety Aduits with the classified information removed will be placed in the Library has been passed on to me to reply as the Chief Executive of the Defence evaluation and Research Agency (DERA) which now includes the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment (CBDE) as one of its Divisions.

The Safety Audits of CBDE by the Ministry of Defence are valuable because they deal in a frank and detailed manner with a range of complex safety issues. Publication of the reports would be unhelpful, not only because the removal of classified information would make the documents unbalanced and possibly unintelligible, but also because the knowledge of publication would inevitably affect to the content of reports. For these reasons I am not prepared to publish even edited Audits in the way you suggest.

I am sorry I could not be more helpful.

Ballistic Missiles

Mr. Livingstone: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence, pursuant to his answer of 3 February, Official Report, column 888, in which month the contract from the Directorate of Science (Ballistic Missile Defence) is due to end; whether the further option of one year on the contract is to be taken up; how much this option is worth; how many staff at the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment are working on the contract and what their work entails; and how the contract is progressing. [35603]

Mr. Arbuthnot: This is a matter for the chief executive of the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency. I have therefore asked him to reply.

Letter form John Chisholm to Mr. Ken Livingstone, dated 18 July 1995:

Your Question to the Secretary of State for Defence asking for further information concerning the contract between the Directorate of Science (Ballistic Missile Defence) and the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment (CBDE) has been passed to me to reply as the Chief Executive of the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency (DERA) which now includes CBDE as one of its Divisions.

The then Director General of CBDE wrote to you on this matter on 3 February. The option of a further year on the contract has been taken up by the US and the contract end date is now May 1996. The total value of the work (including the further option year) is $11.2 million. Thirty five staff at CBDE are employed for some of their time on this contract. The nature of the work is as previously described, namely technological research into the defeat of attacks by ballistic missiles with chemical or biological warheads. The programme of work is progressing well. I hope this information is helpful.

Small Arms (Sales)

Dr. David Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence, pursuant to his answer of 10 July, Official Report, column 468, what were the total receipts in each of the last three years received from the sale of surplus small arms, handguns and rifles. [35436]

Mr. Arbuthnot: Receipts from the sale of surplus small arms, handguns and rifles in the last three years were:

1992–93: £142,500

1993–94: £168,250

1994–95: £200,260

Dr. David Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what reports he has received that surplus small arms sold by his Department have come into the possession of criminals. [35439]

Mr. Arbuthnot: I have been informed by the Chief Constable of the Ministry of Defence Police that the possession of surplus small arms by criminals, after they had been sold by the Ministry of Defence, is being investigated by the South Yorkshire police.

Nuclear Warheads (Reliability)

Dr. David Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) what is his Department's assessment on whether the safety and reliability of Britain's nuclear warheads can be maintained only through a continuation of testing that produces a fission yield. [35420]

(2) what assessment he has made of the implications for the development of new nuclear warheads of the United Kingdom signing a comprehensive test ban treaty which prohibited any further nuclear testing which produced a fission yield; and if he will make a statement. [35421]

Mr. Arbuthnot: I have nothing to add to the answer I gave the hon. Member on 10 July 1995, Official Report, column 469.

Small Arms (Disposal)

Dr. David Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence, pursuant to his answer of 10 July, Official Report, column 469, if he will specify the cost in each of the last three years for the destruction of small arms. [35437]

Mr. Arbuthnot: The annual cost, in each of the past three years, for the destruction of small arms is in the order of £90,000.

Dr. David Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence, pursuant to his answer of 10 July, Official Report, column 468, what assessment he has made of his Department's disposal methods of surplus small arms; and if he will make a statement. [35438]

Mr. Arbuthnot: Current policy and procedures guard against unauthorised disposal. Ministry of Defence police investigations are under way to ascertain whether these controls have been properly observed.

Nuclear Weapon Tests

Dr. David Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) what is his Department's assessment of whether a comprehensive test ban treaty that prohibits nuclear tests below 1 kiloton would be verifiable; [35424]

(2) what is his Department's assessment of the minimum yield of a nuclear test that could be adequately verified under a comprehensive test ban treaty. [35430]

Mr. Arbuthnot: The ad hoc committee on a nuclear test ban of the conference of disarmament is examining a narrow range of options for an international monitoring system which would be capable of providing assurance to the states parties to a comprehensive nuclear test-ban treaty that any explosion of 1 kiloton or more would be detected, identified and located. There is general agreement that it would be impractical to undertake global monitoring below this level.

Dr. David Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what is his Department's current definition of what constitutes a nuclear weapon test. [35422]

Mr. Arbuthnot: This term has hitherto been applied to nuclear weapon tests of the sort that the UK has previously carried out at the Nevada underground test site.

Green Minister

Dr. David Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence, pursuant to his answer of 11 July, Official Report, column 530, who the green Minister is within his Department. [35435]

Mr. Soames: My noble Friend the Under-Secretary of State for Defence is the green Minister in my Department.

Engineering Bases and Workshops

Dr. David Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will list the locations of his Department's engineering bases and workshops in each of the three services. [35358]

Mr. Soames: I shall write to the hon. Member and place a copy of the letter in the Library of the House.

Official Residences (Costs)

Mr. Byers: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what was the amount spent on (a) maintenance and building works, (b) furniture and fittings, (c) domestic staff costs and (d) entertaining and hospitality for each official service residence for 1994–95. [34432]

Mr. Soames: The information requested could not be collated within the time available. My Department is, however, in the process of gathering this information for internal reporting purposes and for work that is in hand as a result of recommendations contained in Sir Peter Cazalet's report into representational entertainment in the armed forces. I shall write to the hon. Member as soon as the information is available.

Royal Ordnance (Memorandum of Understanding)

Mr. Byers: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will place in the Library a copy of the memorandum of understanding agreed by his Department with Royal Ordnance in December 1994. [35340]

Mr. Arbuthnot: The memorandum of understanding between the Secretary of State for Defence and the chairman of Royal Ordnance plc was published in the Comptroller and Auditor General's report "Ministry of Defence: Incorporation of the Royal Ordnance Factories" published in April 1985 (HC 343).

Royal Ordnance (Iran)

Mr. Byers: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will make a statement on the information and reports received by his Department concerning the shipment of goods from Royal Ordnance to Iran between 1984 and 1988. [35337]

Mr. Arbuthnot: Such information, if it existed and if it pointed to potentially illegal activity, would have been passed to Her Majesty's Customs and Excise as the enforcement authority.

Mr. Byers: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence when his Department received reports from Swedish customs of the outcome of their investigation into shipments to Iran which mentioned Royal Ordnance; and what action it took. [35336]

Mr. Arbuthnot: No arrangements exist for the provision of information by overseas customs authorities to the Ministry of Defence. Any such information would be provided to HM Customs and Excise.

Supplies to Iran

Mr. Byers: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what reports his Department received concerning the shipping of goods to Iran in September 1985 by MV Sea Trader, June 1986 by MS Jotun and in August 1986 by MV Gritt Clipper IV; and if he will make a statement. [35343]

Mr. Arbuthnot: My Department is unable to trace any such reports.

Royal Ordnance

Mr. Byers: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence on what date Royal Ordnance joined the Federation of European Explosives Manufacturers; which other companies were in membership at the same time; and what contracts and with which countries were entered into under the auspices of the federation. [35344]

Mr. Arbuthnot: This information is not available from within the Ministry of Defence.

Mr. Byers: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many shares his Department held in Royal Ordnance from 1 January 1985 to 1 January 1987; and what percentage this was of the total share issue. [35341]

Mr. Arbuthnot: Royal Ordnance plc was incorporated on 2 January 1985, with an authorised share capital of £60 million, in shares of £1, all issued. Until its privatisation in April 1987, all 60 million shares were owned by the Secretary of State for Defence.

Mr. Byers: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what trading agreements were entered into by Royal Ordnance from January 1985 to January 1987 which required the agreement of the Secretary of State; and what were the countries involved, the subject matter and precise dates on which such agreements were given. [35339]

Mr. Arbuthnot: I am not aware of any trading arrangements which required the agreement of the Secretary of State for Defence under the terms of the memorandum of understanding between the Secretary of State and the Chairman of Royal Ordnance plc.

Private Soldier (Cost)

Mr. Byers: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what is the average annual cost, excluding wages and wage on-costs, of maintaining a private in the army. [34810]

Mr. Soames: Based on current capitation rates, the average annual cost, excluding wages and wages on-costs, of maintaining a private in the Army in £14,019.

Radiation Tests on Humans

Mr. Martyn Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what investigations his Department is making into research relating to radiation tests on humans. [34476]

Mr. Soames: This subject has been investigated and no evidence has been found of any Ministry of Defence involvement in unethical radiation experiments on humans.

Cadets (Education)

Mr Hicks: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many officer cadets were educated in the (a) private and (b) public sectors of education; and what were the corresponding figures for non-commissioned ranks for the last three years for which figures are available for (i) male and (ii) female recruits into the Royal Navy. [34215]

Mr. Soames: This matter is for the Naval Recruiting and Training Agency under its framework document. I have asked the chief executive to write to the hon. Member.

Letter from A. L. Chilton to Mr. Robert Hicks, dated 18 July 1995:

The Secretary of State for Defence has asked the Chief Executive of the Naval Recruiting and Training Agency to reply to your Parliamentary Question, about the number of Naval officer cadets and ratings, expressed in terms of male and female recruits, who were educated in both the private and public sectors of education for the last three years for which figures are available. I am replying in the absence of the Chief Executive.

I must advise you that, whilst the Directorate of Naval Recruiting records basic details of the school, college or university history of all officer and rating recruits, it does not record whether these institutions are based in the private or public sector. I regret, therefore, that it is not possible to provide you with this information.

Employment

Mr. Hicks: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what was the number of service personnel and civilians employed at RN College, Dartmouth and HMS Raleigh, Torpoint, for the last three years for which figures are available; and if he will make a statement on their contribution to their local economies. [34216]

Mr. Soames: This matter is for the Naval Recruiting and Training Agency under its framework document. I have asked the chief executive to write to the hon. Member.

Letter from A. D. Ferguson to Mr. Robert Hicks, dated 18 July 1995:

The Secretary of State for Defence has asked the Chief Executive of the Naval Recruiting and Training Agency to reply to your Parliamentary Question about the number of Service personnel and civilians employed at the Britannia Royal Naval College at Dartmouth and at HMS Raleigh, and the economic contribution that these establishments make to their respective local economies. I am replying in the absence of the Chief Executive.

The number of Service and civilian employees at the establishments for the last three years is as follows:

	1992–93	1993–94	1994–95
BRNC Dartmouth
Service personnel	n/a	120	119
MOD civilian personnel	n/a	186	165.5
HMS Raleigh
Service personnel	600	565	553
MOD civilian personnel	154	122	120

It is impossible to accurately quantify the contribution of Naval shore training establishments to their local economies. Both establishments provide local employment and the spending power of establishment personnel and students contributes to the local economy and that of the surrounding area. In the case of BRNC in particular, the College is the major employer for the isolated town of Dartmouth and also provides opportunities for trade to local businesses and shops. This is especially important during winter months as the town's micro-economy is principally based on tourism.

Recruits

Mr. Hicks: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what is the projected intake of officer cadets and ratings into the Royal Navy for each of the next three years. [34217]

Mr. Soames: This matter is for the Naval Recruiting and Training Agency under its framework document. I have asked the chief executive to write to the hon. Member.

Letter from A. L. Chilton to Mr. Robert Hicks, dated 18 July 1995:

The Secretary of State for Defence has asked the Chief Executive of the Naval Recruiting and Training Agency to reply to your Parliamentary Question concerning the projected intake of officer cadets and ratings into the Royal Navy for each of the next three years. I am replying in the absence of the Chief Executive.

The projected target figures for the recruitment of RN officers and ratings for each of the next three years, are shown below. It should be recognised that these figures are projections only and as such are subject to periodic revision in order to reflect variations in outflow and requirement.

	1996–97	1997–98	1998–99
RN officers	252	337	349
Ratings	2,500	2,700	2,800

RN College, Dartmouth

Mr. Hicks: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what was the cost to public funds, excluding capital projects, of RN college, Dartmouth; and if he will list the nature and number of the courses provided, the number of officers, ratings and students involved in these courses and the average annual occupancy of the resident accommodation at the college for each of the past three years for which figures are available. [34218]

Mr. Soames: This matter is for the Naval Recruiting and Training Agency under its framework document. I have asked the chief executive to write to the hon. Member.

Letter from A. D. Ferguson to Mr. Robert Hicks, dated 18 July 1995:

The Secretary of State for Defence has asked the Chief Executive of the Naval Recruiting and Training Agency to reply to your Parliamentary Question about the cost to public funds, excluding capital projects, of Britannia Royal Naval College (BRNC), Dartmouth and the nature and number of the courses provided, the number of officers, ratings and students involved in these courses and the average annual occupancy of the resident accommodation at the college for each of the past three years for which figures are available. I am replying in the absence of the Chief Executive.

The Cash Costs of BRNC Dartmouth, excluding Capital Costs, Sea Training costs and VAT, for the Financial Years' 1993/94 to 1995/96 is as follows:

1993–94: £11.8M

1994–95: £11.2M

1995–96: £11.3M

BRNC Dartmouth provides 22 Courses, instructed by 28 RN Officers, 28 Civilian Lecturers and 17 RN Ratings (excluding Support Staff). Information relating to Students is now only available for 1994/95 and 1995/96. This data, together with the list of College courses, is as follows:

	Student Intake
	1994–95	1995–96
Naval General Training Course	127	125
SD Officers Pre-Qualifying Course	26	49
Naval Studies Course	100	39

Undergraduates' Strategic Studies Course	12	8
Surgeon S/Lt Naval Introductory Course	0	19
Bursars' Acquaint Course	27	21
Engineering Sponsorship Scheme Acquaint	0	0

[1] Included in NGT Course.

The average annual occupancy of the resident accommodation at the college since 1992/93 is as follows:

1992–93: 99.7% of capacity

1994–95: 68% of capacity

In the context of student throughput, you will also wish to be aware that the Agency is developing initiatives with private industry and academic institutions to market the unallocated irreducible training capacity that exists at the shore training establishments which is caused by fluctuating recruiting levels.

HMS Raleigh, Torpoint

Mr. Hicks: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what was the cost to public funds, excluding capital projects, of HMS Raleigh, Torpoint; and if he will list the nature and number of the courses provided, the number of officers, ratings and students involved in these courses and the average annual occupancy of the resident accommodation at the college for each of the past three years for which figures are available. [34219]

Mr. Soames: This matter is for the Naval Recruiting and Training Agency under its framework document. I have asked the chief executive to write to the hon. Member.

Letter from A. D. Ferguson to Mr. Robert Hicks, dated 18 July 1995:

The Secretary of State for Defence has asked the Chief Executive of the Naval Recruiting and Training Agency to reply to your Parliamentary Question about the cost to public funds, excluding capital projects, of HMS Raleigh and the nature and number of the courses provided, the number of officers, ratings and students involved in these courses and the average annual occupancy of the resident accommodation at the college for each of the past three years for which figures are available. I am replying on behalf of the Chief Executive.

The Cash Cost to public funds, excluding capital projects, of HMS Raleigh for the last three years is as follows:

1992–93: £16.8M

1993–94: £18.5M

1994–95: £19.5M

HMS Raleigh's Course Catalogue currently lists some 140 courses that range in duration from 2 days to 13 weeks. The nature of the courses provided falls into the following categories:

Part 1 and New Entry Courses

Nuclear, Ballistic and Chemical Defence Courses

Seamanship Courses

Supply Specialisation Courses

The total number of establishment personnel employed overall in support of the training task for the last three years was:

HMS Raleigh	1992–93	1993–94	1994–95
Service personnel	600	565	553
MOD civilian personnel	154	122	120

Total student throughput expressed in Student-days for the years 1992–93 to 1994–95 was as follows:

1992–93: 28,896

1994–95: 25,084

Records concerning occupation of resident accommodation are only retained for two years. It is not possible, therefore, to provide figures for 1992–93. The average daily occupancy of the resident accommodation at HMS RALEIGH over the past two years was:

1993–94: 526

1994–95: 470

In the context of student throughput, you will wish to be aware that the Naval Recruiting and Training Agency is developing initiatives with private industry and academic institutions to market the unallocated irreducible training capacity that exists at the shore training establishments caused by fluctuating recruiting levels.

Contaminated Land

Mr. Matthew Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what is his Department's policy on contaminated land. [34654]

Mr. Soames: My Department has instituted a land quality assessment procedure for all sites being considered or allocated for disposal. In addition, steps are being taken to prioritise the rest of the defence estate for future assessment work. Decontamination of my Department's land is undertaken where there is a significant risk to health and safety or the environment, or where land is being sold. In the latter case, decontamination work is generally limited to the removal of ordnance and other contaminants such as chemical warfare agents, radioactive and microbiological materials in respect of which a civilian contractor could not be expected to have the appropriate expertise.

Submarine Allowance

Ms Walley: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what is the current level of submarine allowance; what changes he plans to make; and if he will make a statement. [34016]

Mr. Soames: Submarine pay is paid to assist in the recruitment and retention of suitable naval personnel into the submarine service. The levels of submarine pay for 1995–96 are between £8.41 and £13.54 per day, depending on rank and responsibilities, for active submarine service. An additional £5.59 or £8.21 per day is paid to senior rate nuclear propulsion watchkeepers. A reserve band of between £8.05 and £10.72 per day is paid to submariners who have a continuing liability for submarine service after three years in a shore appointment. As I announced on 26 June, Official Report, column 503, my Department is studying the recommendations of the independent review of service career and manpower structures and terms of service, which included a recommendation that a number of additional pay items, including submarine pay, should be assimilated into the basic pay structure. I shall keep the House informed of progress.

Naval Vessels (Running Costs)

Mr. Trotter: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what are the latest available annual running costs for each of the classes of vessel currently in service with the Royal Navy. [34232]

Mr. Soames: The 1994–95 figures for the average annual running costs of each class of vessel currently in service with the Royal Navy are given below. These are an average of the annual operating costs of each individual vessel within a class, based on those vessels' activities over the preceding six years.

Class of Vessel	£ million
Resolution Class Submarine	21
Vanguard Class	[2]—
Swiftsure Class Submarine	25
Trafalgar Class Submarine	19.5
Invincible Class Carrier	35
Landing Platform Docks	17
Type 22 Frigate (Batch 1)	17
Type 22 Frigate (Batch 2)	19.5
Type 22 Frigate (Batch 3)	15
Type 23 Frigate	15.5
Type 42 Destroyer (Batch 1)	17
Type 42 Destroyer (Batch 2)	17.5
Type 42 Destroyer (Batch 3)	17
Hunt Class MCMV	3.5
Sandown Class MCMV	2.5
Castle Class Offshore Patrol Vessel	3
Island Class Offshore Patrol Vessel	3
Hong Kong Patrol Craft	1
River Class Patrol Craft	1
Coastal Training Craft	0.5
Royal Yacht	10

Class of Vessel	[1]£ million
Ice Patrol Ship	6.5
Ocean Survey Vessels	6
Coastal Survey Vessels	3

Notes:
[1] Figures rounded to nearest half million.
[2] Figures not available for VANGUARD Class.

Nimrod (Loss)

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what is his assessment of the impact on United Kingdom defence capability of the recent loss of a Nimrod R.1 aircraft; what plans he has to replace the aircraft; and what is the estimated cost. [35644]

Mr. Soames: The Nimrod R aircraft which was lost in the Moray firth on 16 May was one of a fleet of three aircraft which provide the UK with an airborne reconnaissance capability, the details of which are classified. The potential loss of capability resulting from the crash is being managed by adjusting the maintenance programme of the remaining two aircraft. Whilst there will therefore be no immediate effect on the United Kingdom defence capability, it is important that the aircraft is replaced as soon as possible. Our plans are to retrieve a reserve Nimrod airframe from storage and have it converted to the reconnaissance role. Contractual negotiations for this work are under way, therefore details of costs are at present commercially sensitive.

Nuclear Submarine Decommissioning (Workshop)

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many personnel from his Department, and of what grades, participated in the NATO advanced research workshop on nuclear submarine decommissioning held in Moscow from 19 to 22 June; and if he will make a statement on the impact of the workshop on the development of his policy on storage and disposal of decommissioned nuclear submarines. [35629]

Mr. Arbuthnot: No Ministry of Defence personnel attended this NATO workshop. Our policy remains that decommissioned nuclear-powered submarines are stored safely afloat at a suitable berth, pending eventual disposal.

Legislative Plans

Mr. Kirkwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what legislation he plans to introduce; and if he will make a statement. [35308]

Mr. Soames: The Government's plans for legislation will be announced in the Queen's Speech at the start of the 1995–96 Session.

Rapid Reaction Force (Insurance)

Mr. Murphy: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what arrangements he has made for insurance facilities for members of the armed forces currently serving with the rapid reaction force in Bosnia. [34811]

Mr. Soames: In addition to the cover given to all personnel as members of the armed forces pension scheme, the following insurance facilities are available to service men serving with the rapid reaction force in Bosnia. Personnel are able to enrol in PAX+ personal accident insurance in theatre. Also available are the forces safeguard life insurance scheme and membership of the relevant dependants fund appropriate to their particular branch of the services; these are available in theatre. Prior to embarcation or deployment, and throughout their service career, all personnel are thoroughly briefed on the availability and advisability of taking out life, personal accident and kit cover.

Mr. Murphy: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what arrangements he has made for insurance facilities for the families of members of the armed forces currently serving with the rapid reaction force in Bosnia. [34812]

Mr. Soames: All members of the armed forces, including those serving with the rapid reaction force in Bosnia, are able to obtain personal accident and optional life insurance cover for themselves and their families by enrolling in the PAX+ personal accident insurance scheme. It is a matter for individual service personnel as to whether they take out family insurance and, if so what company, policy and level of cover they choose.

Mr. Murphy: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what facilities for insurance arrangements, through PAX+ insurance he is making available to members of the armed forces currently serving with the rapid reaction force in Bosnia. [34813]

Mr. Soames: Like other members of the armed force,s those serving with the paid reaction force in Bosnia can obtain insurance within the PAX+ scheme. The facility to enrol in this scheme is available in theatre. PAX+ provides cover 365 days a year, 24 hours a day whether on or off duty. This scheme, started in 1989, gives a range of benefits covering both death and disability as a result of an accident with the level of cover dependent on the number of units purchased by the service person. PAX+ was set up specifically for service personnel and gives cover for military service up to and including general war. The MOD will refund a proportion of a life premium loading for hazardous duties.

Uranium Projectiles (Eskmeals and Kirkcudbirght)

Mr. Jenkin: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence whether he has received the environmental impact assessment on the trials of depleted uranium projectiles at Eskmeals and Kirkcudbright announced on 1 July 1993. [35819]

Mr. Arbuthnot: The report was received by my officials from the contractor, W. S. Atkins Environment, on 20 January 1995. I have today arranged for a copy of the full report, together with the MOD's response to its findings and recommendations, to be placed in the House of Commons Library.

Defence Evaluation and Research Agency

Mr. Evennett: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will make a statement on the formation of the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency; and what targets he has set for the Agency for 1995–96. [35820]

Mr. Arbuthnot: The Defence Evaluation and Research Agency, DERA, was launched as a trading fund on 1 April 1995, and is an enlargement of the former Defence Research Agency, DRA. It remains a defence agency headed by a chief executive who derives his authority from, and is directly accountable to, the Secretary of State for Defence. Its aim is to provide independent, high quality, efficient and cost effective advice and support for its customers, primarily within the MOD. DERA personnel remain civil servants.

The DERA comprises all the MOD's major non-nuclear evaluation and research organisations, in particular those establishments listed below, together with the existing DRA organisation and certain smaller scientific units:

The Director General of Test and Evaluation

The Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment, Porton Down

The Defence Operational Analysis Centre, West Byfleet

The Centre for Human Sciences

The British Underwater Test and Evaluation Centre

The DERA is structured as four operating divisions, supported by a number of service sectors:

The Centre for Defence Analysis

The Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment

The Defence Research Agency

The Defence Test and Evaluation Organisation

The Secretary of State for Defence invited John Chisholm to continue as chief executive of the enlarged agency until his present contract expires in 1996.

The targets set for the DERA in 1995–96 are as follows:

(a) To meet profit and cash targets consistent with an average 6 per cent. return in capital employment over a period of three years, the target for 1995–96 being 4.7 per cent.

(b) To achieve divisional utilisation of 68 per cent. in DRA, 49 per cent. in DTEO, 61 per cent. in CBDE, 67 per cent. in CDA and 57 per cent. for the DERA overall.

(c) To achieve on time divisional milestone delivery of 85 per cent. in DRA, 80 per cent. in DTEO and 90 per cent. in CBDE and CDA.

(d) From the December DRA 1994 customer survey baseline, while maintaining an overall level of performance at 22 per cent. above average, to improve quality and project management from 4.8 per cent. and 12 per cent. above average to 15 per cent. above average and to conduct similar surveys in DTEO, CDA and CBDE.

(e) To improve scientific quality in the DRA, as measured by the external assessment of the MOD's corporate research programme, by 2 per cent. and to produce similar measures for CBDE and CDA.

(f) To meet by 31 March 1996 all the 1995–96 rationalisation project milestones.

(g) To achieve a non-MOD income of £98 million in 1995–96.

(h) To achieve formal quality certification to ISO 9000 for an additional five DRA sectors and two DERA service sectors by 31 March 1996.

(i) To have implemented the reward management review project processes in DRA and CDA by 31 October 1995.

(j) To complete by 30 September 1995, a strategic review of all DERA business and project support functions making an assessment of the scope to introduce private capital, outsourcing and market testing and to publish this as part of the corporate plan.

BMARC

Dr. David Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) pursuant to his answers of 4 April, Official Report, column 1097, and 19 June, if he will list the companies other than Astra/BMARC to which the documents discovered on 16 June referred; [30225]

(2) on what date he was informed by his Department's police that further documents have been found relating to BMARC and Astra plc; whether these documents included sales documentation of arms exports by BMARC and Astra; and if he will make a statement. [30049]

Mr. Soames [holding answer 22 June 1995]: The documents and files were seized by the Ministry of Defence police, MDP, pursuant to powers given by the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984. In the case of Marcel (1992 Ch. 225), the Court of Appeal decided that where documents were seized by the police under those powers, the police owed a private law duty of confidence to the owners of the documents and that this private law duty had the effect that no further disclosure of the documents by the police was permitted unless the disclosure was for a purpose contemplated by the 1984 Act, or was necessary in the public interest. The Department has received legal advice that the same principles apply to a description of the documents by categories. Having regard to that advice I do not propose to list or describe the documents seized by the Ministry of Defence police.

A re-sort of the seized property store, expedited by the deputy chief constable of the MOD police, has accounted for all schedules of documents seized from the Astra group of companies by the MDP during the course of corruption investigations involving those companies. All Astra company documents have been returned to the liquidators; other documents belonging to other owners have been or are shortly to be returned to their rightful owners. No papers have been or are being destroyed by MOD police.

Mr. Wilson: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) if he will list under convenient headings the categories of documents and files taken by the staff of his Department from Astra plc or any of its subsidiaries between 1 January 1989 and 31 December 1991; and which of them have been (a) retained and (b) destroyed; [30101]

(2) what information he has on the whereabouts of documents relating to the Paveway bomb, as referred to in the minutes of BMARC on 2 November 1988. [30113]

Mr. Soames [holding answer 27 June 1995]: The documents and files were seized by the Ministry of Defence police, MDP, pursuant to powers given by the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984. In the case of Marcel (1992 Ch. 225), the Court of Appeal decided that where documents were seized by the police under those powers, the police owed a private law duty of confidence to the owners of the documents, and that this private law duty had the effect that no further disclosure of the documents by the police was permitted unless the disclosure was for a purpose contemplated by the 1984 Act, or was necessary in the public interest. The Department has received legal advice that the same principles apply to a description of the documents by categories. Having regard to that advice I do not propose to list or describe the documents seized by the Ministry of Defence police.

A re-sort of the seized property store, expedited by the deputy chief constable of the MDP police, has accounted for all schedules of documents seized from the Astra group of companies by the MOD during the course of corruption investigations involving those companies. All Astra company documents have been returned to the liquidators; other documents belonging to other owners have been or are shortly to be returned to their rightful owners. No papers have been or are being destroyed by MOD police.

Mr. Wilson: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will list those occasions on which Ministers were in contact with Ministry of Defence police concerning the affairs of Astra plc between 1989 and 1991, naming the Minister in each case. [30109]

Mr. Soames [holding answer 27 June 1995]: So far as is known, there are none.

Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence who was the person directly responsible for losing the BMARC documents which were found on Saturday 17 June; and who rediscovered them. [30610]

Mr. Soames [holding answer 29 June 1995]: An inquiry has been initiated by the Deputy Chief Constable of the Ministry of Defence Police into the separation by MDP in its property store of documents relating to its investigations into the Astra group of companies. I shall write to the hon. Member when the report is finalised.

Ministry of Defence Police

Mr. Wilson: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence which Minister in his Department had responsibility for the Ministry of Defence police on 27 January 1993. [30104]

Mr. Soames [holding answer 27 June 1995]: The Ministry of Defence police is an independent police force with full constabulary powers operating under the Ministry of Defence Police Act 1987. The responsibility of the Secretary of State is limited to his general superintendence of MDP under the Act and through the mechanisms of the MOD police committee, delegated to the Minister of State for the Armed Forces, who on 27 January 1993 was my right hon. Friend the Member for Epsom and Ewell (Sir A. Hamilton).

EDUCATION AND EMPLOYMENT

Training

Mr. Ian McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment what were the results from the training for working leavers survey for the period September 1993 to August 1994 or most recent 12 months for each training and enterprise council area in England and Wales and each local enterprise company area in Scotland broken down to show the number and proportion of leavers who (a) had been entered for a vocational qualification, (b) had obtained a vocational qualification, (c) had failed to obtain a vocational qualification and (d) were awaiting their results; what was the number and proportion of training for work leavers who six months after leaving were (i) in a full-time job with their work experience employer, (ii) in a full-time job with another employer, (iii) employed in their own business, (iv) in a part-time job, (v) in voluntary work, (vi) on another Government training programme, (vii) on a full-time education or training course, (viii) unemployed and claiming benefit, (ix) unemployed and not claiming benefit, (x) in a jobclub and (xi) doing something else; what was the number and proportion of training for work leavers who had completed the training agreed in their initial action plan; and if she will make a statement; [34054]

(2) what were the results of the YT leavers survey for the period September 1993 to August 1994 or the most recent 12 months for each TEC area in England and Wales and each LEC area in Scotland broken down to show the number and proportion of YT leavers who (a) were in full-time work with the same employer, (b) were in full-time work with a different employer, (c) were in part-time work, (d) were on a full-time course at a college/training centre, (e) were on another YT scheme, (f) were doing something else, (g) were unemployed and (h) had obtained a vocational qualification; what was (i) the number of questionnaires issued, (ii) the usable percentage response rate and (iii) the percentage of respondents who were early leavers; and if she will make a statement; [34057]

(3) what were the results from the training for work leavers survey on the number and level of NVQs and SVQs gained by people leaving training for work for the period September 1993 to August 1994 or the most recent 12 months, for each region and for Great Britain as a whole, for all leavers, and by ethnic group, disability and gender; and if she will make a statement; [34059]

(4) what were the results of the YT leavers survey for the period September 1993 to August 1994 or the most recent 12 months for each TEC area in England and Wales and each LEC area in Scotland broken down to show the number and proportion of YT leavers who (a) were in full-time work with the same employer, (b) were in full-time work with a different employer, (c) were in part-time work, (d) were on a full-time course at a college/training centre, (e) were on another YT scheme, (f) were doing something else, (g) were unemployed and (h) had obtained a vocational qualification; if she will list (i) the number of questionnaires issued, (ii) the usable percentage response rate; and (iii) the percentage of respondents who were early leavers; and if she will make a statement; [34055]

(5) what were the results from the youth training leavers survey on the number and level of NVQs and SVQs gained by people leaving training for work for the period September 1993 to August 1994 or the most recent 12 months, for each region and for Great Britain as a whole, for all leavers, and by ethnic group, disability and gender; and if she will make a statement; [34058]

(6) what were the results of the training for work leavers survey for each region and for Great Britain as a whole, for the period between September 1993 and August 1994 or the most recent 12 months for all leavers and separately for male and female, for each ethnic group, and for those with a disability or health problem, the number and proportion of training for work leavers who (a) had been entered for a vocational qualification, (b) had obtained a vocational qualification, (c) had failed to obtain a vocational qualification or (d) were awaiting their results; what was the number and proportion of training for work leavers who six months after leaving were (i) in a full-time job with their work experience employer, (ii) in a full-time job with another employer, (iii) employed in their own business, (iv) in a part-time job, (v) in voluntary work, (vi) on another Government training programme, (vii) on a full-time education or training course, (viii) unemployed and claiming benefit, (x) in a jobclub and (xi) doing something else; what was the number and proportion of training for work leavers who had completed the training agreed in their initial action plan; and if she will make a statement. [34056]

Mr. Paice: As this information is contained in a large number of tables, I will write to the hon. Member and place a copy of my reply in the Library.

World Wide Web

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment if she will make a statement on the work her Department has carried out in the last 12 months in making information about her Department available to the public via the Government world wide web server know as "www. open. gov. uk" and her plans and policies to make additional and new information available electronically on the server in the next 12 months. [34675]

Mr. Robin Squire: The then Department for Education created a site on the Government world web server on 24 April 1995 with the launch of "Superhighways for Education" consultation paper on broadband communications. The site had a brief note on the aims and objectives of the then Department for Education. It will shortly carry departmental press notices and the 1994 schools and colleges performance tables. The jobseekers, parents, further education and higher education charters are available on the citizen's charter unit site. In addition, an announcement on the launch of Socrates, the European Community's new education programme, was placed with a UK educational Internet newsgroup. The Department's policy for future use and business potential is under consideration following the recent merger of the Departments for Education and Employment.

Employment Service

Mr. Pawsey: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment if she will make a statement on the work of the Employment Service in 1994–95. [36080]

Mrs. Gillian Shephard: I am pleased to announce that the Employment Service achieved excellent results in 1994–95. It placed over 1.87 million unemployed people into work, of whom 29.7 per cent. had been out of work for six months or more. It also exceeded its targets for placing people with disabilities and people in inner cities.

The ES has exceeded all but one of its targets this year giving unemployed people a record level of help. Its results in placing people into work are excellent and it has made steady improvements over the last five years.

The targets agreed for 1995–96 will enable the ES to build on its exceptional results last year, and help yet more unemployed people while preparing for the introduction of jobseeker's allowance.

These targets include placing 1.9 million unemployed people into jobs, of whom at least 560,500 should be people unemployed for six months or more; and 76,000 should be people with disabilities—the highest total yet.

Exclusions (Lincolnshire Schools)

Sir Kenneth Carlisle: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment what are the numbers of exclusions from Lincolnshire schools for the most recent year for which data are available, and if she will give the figures of the two previous years. [34830]

Mr. Robin Squire: This information is not held centrally.

Nursery Education

Mr. Spearing: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment (1) what steps she is taking to ensure that her plans are listed in her press statement to de-regulate standards in respect of child:adult ratios, premises and equipment are consistent with her policy of maintaining standards as found within the current requirements of the Children Act 1989 and other relevant Acts; [35559]

(2) which of the four bodies listed in her answer of 14 June, Official Report, column 520, as favouring introduction of a voucher scheme for pre-school education, advocated or had consented to her plans for de-regulation as described in her oral statement on 6 July, Official Report, columns 517–19; [35556]

(3) by what means she expects to publicise the de-regulated or lower standards of provision for nursery education and play group provision she announced in her oral statement of 6 July. [35558]

Mr. Robin Squire: My right hon. Friend and the Secretary of State for Health are jointly consulting on whether the existing Children Act guidance on child; adult ratios, premises and equipment remains appropriate for institutions registered to exchange vouchers for pre-school education.

In addition, my right hon. Friends and the Secretary of State for Wales announced on 14 July their intention to consult on a new set of school premises regulations. Those regulations apply to all maintained schools, including maintained nursery schools. They will continue to do so.

All essential health and safety requirements in the current Children Act guidance and school premises regulations will be retained.

None of the written responses to the consultation advocated deregulation, but most of them were received before deregulation became an issue for debate. A number of informal requests were made to deregulate existing requirements on child:adult ratios premises and equipment, planning, and publication of statutory proposals to establish nursery places at maintained schools.

My right hon Friend plans to publish a consultation document on quality assurance shortly.

Mr. Spearing: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment by what means the relevant proportion of voucher value is assigned to four-year-olds attending local authority infant schools to be deducted from the value of parental purchasing power arising from her proposed scheme for financial assistance for four-year-olds. [35557]

Mr. Squire: The parents or guardians of all four-year-olds will receive a voucher worth around £1,100 with which to purchase three terms of good-quality pre-school education before compulsory school age if they wish.

Mr. Spearing: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment what consultations she initiated with the 74 bodies listed in her answer to the question of the hon. Member for the City of Durham (Mr. Steinberg), of 7 February, Official Report, columns 145-47, in respect of her plan announced on 6 July for pre-school provision. [35576]

Mr. Squire: The head of the official task force on under-fives wrote to the majority of the bodies listed on the day of the announcement, requesting their views.

Mr. Spearing: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment, pursuant to her oral answer to the hon. Member for Stratford-on-Avon (Mr. Howarth), of 6 July, Official Report, column 522, if the value of the proposed education vouchers will be subject to assessment of income support and family credit. [35605]

Mr. Squire: No.

Mr. Blunkett: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment, pursuant to her oral statement of 6 July, Official Report, columns 517-19, on pre-school education, what is the average (a) pupil: adult ratio and (b) pupil: qualified adult ratio in (i) reception classes in primary schools, (ii) nursery classes in primary schools, (iii) nursery schools classes and (iv) playgroups. [34110]

Mr. Squire: The available information is shown in the table.

Pupil: staff ratios in maintained nursery schools and nursery classes in maintained primary schools in England

January 1994

	Teaching staff[1]	All adult staff[2]
Nursery schools	19.4	8.8
Nursery classes	26.8	11.7

[1] Includes all qualified teaching staff.
[2] Includes all teaching staff and nursery assistants.

Mr. Blunkett: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment, pursuant to her oral statement of 6 July, Official Report, columns 517–19, what changes are planned in the training of primary and early years' teachers to take account of the expansion of pre-school provision for all four-year-olds. [35510]

Mr. Squire: My right hon. Friend has no plans to revise the criteria for primary ITT courses set out in DFE circular 14/93.

We are currently reviewing targets for intakes to initial teacher training for 1996–97 onwards, and the Teacher Training Agency will take account of the Government's plans for the education of under-fives in carrying out its responsibilities for initial and in-service teacher training.

Teacher Training

Mr. Blunkett: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment how many places in teacher training for primary and early years' teachers were available in (a) 1990, (b) 1992, (c) 1994 and (d) 1995; and what plans she has for an expansion in places for primary and early years' teachers, following her oral statement of 6 July, Official Report, columns 517–19. [35511]

Mr. Robin Squire: The number of places for primary teachers in England for the years requested is as follows:

	1990	1992	1994	1995
Intake target	11,313	12,078	12,950	12,115
Actual intake	13,155	16,658	13,713	—

The targets did not distinguish between courses specialising in early years—three to seven—and other primary ITT courses.

We are currently considering whether the targets for intakes into initial teacher training courses given to the Teacher Training Agency for 1996–97 onwards need to be revised to take account of new information and policy developments. The agency will take the Government's plans for the education of under-fives into account when allocating student numbers from 1996–97 onwards.

Mr. Blunkett: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment what provision is made in the training of primary and early-years teachers for the study of early child development. [35434]

Mr. Squire: The competences expected of newly-qualified primary teachers are set out in DFE circular 14/93. It is for course providers to determine course content, in order to ensure that newly qualified teachers have the ability to teach effectively and to secure effective learning.

Legislative Plans

Mr. Kirkwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment what legislation she plans to introduce; and if she will make a statement. [35309]

Mrs. Gillian Shephard: The Government's plans for legislation will be announced in the Queen's Speech at the start of the 1995–96 Session.

Postgraduate Students

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment what is the number of state-funded postgraduate students in the United Kingdom as a proportion of the entire United Kingdom higher education student population; and if she will make a statement. [34965]

Mr. Forth: In the academic year 1992–93, the latest year for which information is available, there were 44,500 postgraduate award holders in the United Kingdom—3 per cent. of all home students in higher education and 25 per cent. of the postgraduate population.

In addition, an unknown number of postgraduate students will have received state support from other sources including access funds and student loans—where studying for a postgraduate certificate in education.

Youth Service

Mr. Khabra: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment what plans she has to safeguard the funding of the youth service in the next Budget. [34455]

Mr. Paice: The local authority financial settlement for 1996–97 is currently under consideration. It will be for individual authorities to decide how to fund different parts of their education services, including the youth service, in the light of their assessment of local needs and priorities.

Further Education Colleges

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment what has been capital expenditure on colleges of further education in both cash and constant price terms in every year since 1979. [34022]

Mr. Paice: The information requested is available only since 1989–90, and is set out in the table.

Capital expenditure at colleges of further education in England, 1989–90—1993–94

Year	£ million (cash)	£ million (1994 prices)
1989–90	141	173
1990–91	123	140
1991–92	98	105
1992–93	107	110
1993–94	261	261

Notes:

[1] Expenditure between 1989–90 and 1992–93 was incurred by local authorities. It does not include expenditure at sixth form colleges, for which separate data are not available.

[2] The 1993–94 figure shows expenditure incurred by colleges, including sixth form colleges, in the further education sector between April 1993 and July 1994 (16 months).

[3] All the cash figures show outturn expenditure from all sources. Those for 1989–90—1992–93 are derived from local authorities' expenditure returns to DOE. That for 1993–94 has been aggregated by FEFC from colleges' accounts.

Young People in Care

Mr. Flynn: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment what research her Department has carried out into the employment histories of young people who have left care. [33836]

Mr. Paice [holding answer 12 July 1995]: The Department has not commissioned research on the employment histories of young people after they have left local authority care.

WALES

Nursery School Places

Mr. Win Griffiths: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what is the cost of each local education authority of providing (a) a nursery school place and (b) a nursery class place; and what element of the cost relates to capital expenditure. [35406]

Mr. Richards: This information is not collected centrally.

Mr. Griffiths: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales if he plans to continue to fund all the places that local education authorities currently provide for (a) three-year-olds and (b) four-year-olds. [35404]

Mr. Richards: Provision is currently at the discretion of local education authorities. The local government revenue settlement is unhypothecated in Wales and it is for local authorities themselves to decide how that settlement is spent.

Mr. Griffiths: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how many (a) three-year-olds and (b) four-year-olds in each local education authority had (i) a full-time place or (ii) a part-time place in a nursery school or class in (1) 1980, (2) 1990 and (3) the last date for which figures are available; and what percentage of the age group this was in each year. [35408]

Mr. Richards: The following table shows pupil numbers at local education authority nursery or primary schools. For primary school pupils, all pupils aged three or four are included irrespective of whether they are taught in nursery or ordinary classes. Comparable figures for part-time pupils are not available for 1980.

Pre-school Places

Mr. Win Griffiths: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what estimate he has made of the additional staff required to ensure that all four-year-olds will have a pre-school place in April 1997, listing teaching and other support staff separately and indicating the qualifications that staff in a typical pre-school establishment will be expected to have. [35405]

Mr. Richards: We will be consulting further on such issues as staff:pupil ratios and staff qualifications. There are no plans to impose new qualification requirements.

Mr. Griffiths: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales (1) if he will make a statement about his proposals for deregulation in the pre-school sector, and what effect his proposals will have on the level of child:adult ratios, the quality of premises provided and the equipment which should be available; and [35403]

(2) if he will make a statement about the inspection framework he intends to establish to cover pre-school places provided under the nursery voucher scheme and what will be the relative roles of ACAC, Office of Her Majesty's Chief Inspector and local authority social services and education departments. [35401]

Mr. Richards: These matters are still under consideration and will be the subject of further consultation with interested bodies. I intend to issue a document outlining final details of implementation in the autumn.

Mr. Griffiths: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what estimate he has made of the cost of administration and inspection of pre-school places eligible for the nursery voucher scheme when it is in full operation. [35399]

Mr. Richards: No final decisions regarding administration arrangements and inspection regimes have been taken. I do not expect administration overhead costs to be significant in relation to the value of the voucher.

Mr. Griffiths: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how much he estimates will be recouped from each local education authority of the money already spent on pre-school places to finance the nursery voucher scheme when it is fully in operation; and what percentage this will represent of the money currently provided for pre-school places. [35398]

Mr. Richards: Details of the arrangements for recoupment will be the subject of further consultation with local authorities. Final decisions will depend on the outcome of the public expenditure survey although of course no specific provision is made within the local authority revenue settlement for pre-school education.

Pre-school Play Groups

Mr. Win Griffiths: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how many three and four-year-olds had a place in a pre-school play group in each local education authority in (a) 1980, (b) 1990 and (c) the last date for which figures are available; what was the percentage of the age group in each year; and what was the average number of sessions attended by a child in each year. [35407]

Mr. Richards: The number of places provided in pre-school playgroups at 31 March each year is shown in the table. Information is not collected centrally on the number of children who attend or on the number of sessions attended.

Places in playgroups at 31 March

	1980	1990	1994
Clwyd	3,802	4,394	5,140
Dyfed	2,443	3,371	3,089
Gwent	2,277	2,843	3,193
Gwynedd	2,418	3,107	3,348
Mid Glamorgan	2,163	3,517	3,928
Powys	1,067	1,491	1,513
South Glamorgan	2,695	3,502	4,093
West Glamorgan	888	1,247	1,318
Wales	17,753	23,472	25,622

Note:
Places in playgroups provided by a local authority, registered private playgroups and in playgroups exempt from registration, e.g. those on Crown property, are included.

Mr. Griffiths: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how much funding he provides for pre-school playgroups in Wales; how this is shared between recipient organisations; and what is the average amount per child attending playgroups run by recipients of Welsh Office funding. [35396]

Mr. Richards: Wales Pre-School Playgroups Associations and Mudiad Ysgolion Meithrin have been awarded departmental grants in 1995–96 of £164,400 and £152,872 respectively towards their core administrative costs. Mudiad Ysgolion Meithrin has also been awarded a grant of £537,000 in 1995–96 under the scheme of support for the Welsh language. Local playgroups are not funded directly by the Department. Therefore, there are no figures on average departmental funding per child.

Mr. Griffiths: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how much each local authority provides for funding to the Wales Pre-School Playgroups Association and Mudiad Ysgolion Meithrin; and what is the average amount of funding for each place the respective organisations provide. [35402]

Mr. Richards: This information is not held centrally.

Firland's Training

Mr. Morgan: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what consultations he has had with the chairman of the South Glamorgan training and enterprise council in relation to the termination of the youth training and training for work 1995–96 contracts with Firland's Training; what representations he has received in relation to these contracts; and if he will make a statement. [35239]

Mr. Hague: I have had no consultations with the chairman of South Glamorgan training and enterprise council and have received no representations on this matter.

Contracts between training and enterprise councils and their training providers are a matter for the contractual parties concerned.

Legislative Plans

Mr. Kirkwood: To ask the Sectretary of State for Wales what legislation he plans to introduce; and if he will make a statement. [35302]

Mr. Hague: The Government's plans for legislation will be announced in the Queen's Speech at the start of the 1995–96 Session.

General Practitioner Fundholders

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how much has been allocated to general practitioner fundholders in management allowances in each year since the start of the scheme. [35386]

Mr. Richards: I shall write to the hon. Member as soon as possible and place a copy of my reply in the Library of the House.

NHS Trust Boards (Salaries)

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales if he will list by wave and region (a) the number of non-executive directors and (b) the number of chairs of NHS trust boards by salary band. [35506]

Mr. Richards: The number of (a) non-executive directors and (b) chairs of NHS trusts by salary band, by wave, is as follows:

	Number of non-executive directors	Number of chairmen in band
		1	2	3
First wave (1992)	5	—	1	—
Second wave (1993)	62	5	7	1
Third wave (1994)	43	2	5	3
Fourth wave (1995)	17	2	1	2

Note:
Remuneration of chairmen is:
Band 1 £19,285 p.a.
Band 2 £17,145 p.a.
Band 3 £15,125 p.a.

Nursery Vouchers Scheme

Mr. Win Griffiths: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what estimate he has made of the value of the voucher for four-year-olds in Wales under the provision for regional variations in value. [35397]

Mr. Richards: The voucher will initially be worth £1,100. Further consideration will be given to the desirability of regional variations in its value in the light of experience.

Welsh Development Agency

Mr. Morgan: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what proposals he has to review the participation of the Welsh Development Agency in urban development schemes following the 29th report of the Committee of Public Accounts on the Welsh Development Agency; what consultations he has had with the chairman of the Welsh Development Agency concerning compensation to affected third parties and the future of joint venture schemes. [35588]

Mr. Hague: The Government will be responding to the 29th report of the Committee of Public Accounts in the usual way in the form of a Treasury Minute.

The Welsh Development Agency's participation in urban development and joint venture schemes is governed by guidelines which were revised in March this year. The revised guidelines took full account of the recommendations of the Grant Thornton report, and were subject to consultation between the WDA and my Department. Copies of the revised guidelines were placed in the Library of the House. The agency has also revised its procedures.

Welsh Language

Mr. Win Griffiths: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what consideration he will be giving to the role of the Welsh language in places provided under the nursery voucher scheme. [35400]

Mr. Richards: I will be giving the matter full consideration following consultation with interested bodies and advice from ACAC.

Dental Students

Mr. Morgan: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales if he will list the number of places for dental students in Wales, in each of the past 10 years; and if the trend in the number of dental student places in Wales differs from the figures for the United Kingdom as a whole. [35233]

Mr Hague: Forty five until the intake in October 1989, and 55 since that date. Following the last review of medical and dental manpower in 1982, there has been an expansion of 20 per cent. at the Welsh dental school compared with a reduction of 10 per cent. elsewhere.

Cardiff Bay Opera House

Mr. Morgan: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales on what date his Department first received representations in relation to the acquisition of land from Associated British Ports for the purposes of constructing the proposed Cardiff bay opera house; on what date representations were received with particular reference to potential conflicts of interest; on what date the Cardiff bay opera house trust transaction with Associated British Ports was completed; and on what date the conflict of interest issue was resolved. [35234]

Mr. Hague: The acquisition of land for the proposed Cardiff bay opera house is an operational matter for Cardiff bay development corporation. At the end of 1992, the Welsh Office became aware that a site owned by Associated British Ports was being considered. A possible conflict of interest was raised with the Welsh Office and resolved in September 1993. The heads of terms agreement between CBDC and Associated British Ports was signed on 9 December 1994.

Welsh Health Common Services Authority

Mr. Morgan: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what consultations he has had with the chairman of the Welsh health common services authority regarding the inclusion of an in-house bid in the feasibility studies for the market-testing of the estatecare division of the authority; and if he will make a statement. [35237]

Mr. Hague : None.

Butetown Link

Mr. Morgan: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what consultations he has had with the chairman of the Cardiff bay development corporation concerning the level of grant-in-aid to South Glamorgan county council for the Butetown link and its intended completion as a fixed-price contract; and if he will make a statement. [35238]

Mr. Hague: None.

Mr. Morgan: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what representations he has received concerning overspending on the Butetown link road; what impact this has had on the calculations of transport supplementary grant; and what amount has been paid under this heading in each financial year during which there has been significant public expenditure on the Butetown link road. [35240]

Mr. Hague: I have received no representations. Revisions to the cost of the scheme have been taken into account in the annual transport grant settlement. Grant has been made available as follows:

	£ million
1987–88	2.4
1988–89	2.2
1989–90	2.2
1990–91	6.2
1991–92	14.0
1992–93	13.2
1993–94	14.1
1994–95	11.8
1995–96[1]	1.3

National Health Service

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales, pursuant to his answer of 9 December, Official Report, column 420, (1) if he will update the figures on non-NHS provider spending and; and [35441]

(2) pursuant to his answer of 9 December 1994, Official Report, column 422, if he will update the figures on private patient income. [35507]

Mr. Richards: The information is not yet available. I shall write to the hon. Member as soon as possible, and place a copy of my reply in the Library of the House.

National Health Service (Staff)

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how many (a) general and senior managers, (b) administrative and clerical staff and (c) nursing and midwifery staff were employed in each health region in 1994. [35410]

Mr. Richards: The information is given in the table. Staff employed by NHS trusts are included in the health authority area in which they are situated.

Staff in post (whole-time equivalents) at 30 September 1994

Health authority area	General and senior managers	Administrative and clerical staff[1]	Nursing and midwifery staff[2]

[4] Includes staff employed by Dyfed FHSA.
[5] Includes staff employed by the South and East Wales Ambulance Trust.
[6] Includes staff employed by Health Promotion Authority for Wales.

NHS Trusts

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales, pursuant to his answer of 8 December 1994, Official Report columns 346-47, if he will update the figures on trust start up costs. [35589]

Mr. Richards: The following contributions have been made available for the shadow running periods of NHS trusts established in Wales in 1995:

£250,000 to: Cardiff Community Healthcare NHS Trust;

University Dental Hospital NHS Trust;

University Hospital of Wales Healthcare NHS Trust.

£275,000 to: West Wales Ambulance NHS Trust.

£75,000: Glan-y-Mor NHS Trust.[1]

Note:

[1] This figure represents interim costs only. Cost details for shadow running in 1995–96 are awaited.

European Charter for Regional and Minority Languages

Mr. Wigley: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales on what date the Welsh Office first considered whether to sign the European charter for regional and minority languages; what meetings have taken place between Welsh Office Ministers and (a) representatives of the European Union, (b) members of the Welsh Language Board and (c) other interested parties on the matter since the Government first considered the issue; and if he will make a statement on Government policy on this matter. [35626]

Mr. Richards: The charter was opened for signature in November 1992, and the Government have had the matter under consideration since that time. The question of signature is not one for the Welsh Office to consider independent of other Government Departments, since any signature by the Government would be for the United Kingdom as a whole.

Welsh Office Ministers have had no meetings with representatives of the European Union on this matter. The charter is a product of the Council of Europe rather than of the European Union. Officials have discussed the charter with officials of the Welsh Language Board on a number of occasions since the board was established in 1993.

Slaughterhouses

Mr. Wigley: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what proportion of the slaughtering capacity that currently exists in Wales conforms to EU required standards; and what proportion of the animals that are currently slaughtered in Wales can be slaughtered in slaughterhouses that conform to EU standards. [35627]

Mr. Gwilym Jones: The proportion of the slaughtering capacity that currently exists in Wales that is licensed for trade with European Union member states, is approximately 75 per cent. It would be possible for those abattoirs to accommodate the current levels of throughput at other Welsh slaughterhouses, on an annual basis.

Panteg Monitoring Project (Rechem)

Mr. Sweeney: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales when he will publish the results of the final phase of monitoring work by the university of East Anglia on polychlorinated biphenyls and dioxin contamination in the Panteg area of Pontypool. [36074]

Mr. Gwilym Jones: I have today published the outcome of the final elements of monitoring work commissioned by the Welsh Office on contamination levels in the Panteg area of Pontypool. I have arranged for copies of the report to be placed in the Library of the House, together with a commentary from Professor Roberts, the Secretary of State's independent adviser for this study.

This report—the seventh in the series of reports which have been published since the study began in January 1991—contains the results of additional poultry produce and grass sampling. It represents the conclusion of a most significant piece of environmental research, meticulously undertaken by independent experts. The results have helped considerably to resolve uncertainties and concerns over possible PCB and dioxin contamination in the vicinity of the Rechem incinerator at Pontypool.

The main part of the study was completed and published in April 1993 and the overall findings were reassuring. No evidence of widespread contamination in the Panteg area was found. A small area with elevated concentrations was revealed close to the Rechem plant and the company identified as a source of this localised contamination. Although the levels of contamination detected were not considered to pose any significant risk to public health or to the food chain, some additional monitoring was recommended to clarify certain points. This work was quickly put in hand by the Welsh Office and the subsequent results have been published as they have become available.

In addition, over the past two years or so, considerable improvements have been made on the Rechem site itself, including significant investment in new incineration and emission control plant. This should reduce emissions from the site and monitoring is taking place in order to verify this.

The seventh report concludes the environmental investigation. This report and the earlier results have shown that, with the exception of eggs from one property neighbouring the Rechem plant, estimated human exposure to PCBs and dioxins in the Panteg area is similar to that in other areas. The additional research has also provided useful reassurance that locally produced fruit and vegetables are safe to eat. No further monitoring in the wider Panteg area is therefore proposed, a view fully endorsed by the technical steering group which has been overseeing this project, and by Professor Roberts. However, some additional monitoring in relation to the one property mentioned above is recommended and this will be followed up by Her Majesty's inspectorate of pollution. Meanwhile, earlier advice to the owners of this property not to consume produce from their poultry is being updated in the light of the latest findings.

World Wide Web

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales if he will make a statement on the work his Department has carried out in the last 12 months in making information about his Department available to the public via the Government World Wide Web server known as www.open.gov.uk and his plans and policies to make additional and new information available electronically on the server in the next 12 months. [34688]

Mr. Hague: My Department has made available information, in both English and Welsh languages, on private finance initiative projects within Wales via the CCTA Government Information Service. The portfolio "Investment Opportunities in the South Wales Valleys" will also be published shortly via the CCTA service.

The Department continues to review information suitable for dissemination via the Internet and expects to make greater use of it in the near future.

Consideration is currently being given to the Welsh Office being an Internet information site in its own right.

Baglan Hospital

Mr. John Morris: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales on what grounds there has been a delay in inviting tenders for contracts for financing and building the new hospital at Baglan; how much slippage is involved and when the advertisements for tenders will be ready for publication. [34353]

Mr. Richards: The Glan-y-Mor NHS trust is producing the outline business case for the new hospital at Baglan. They expect to submit the document within four weeks. Subject to the acceptability of the proposals, the trust hopes to be in a position to advertise for expressions of interest in August or September.

Small Businesses

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales if he will make a statement on the results of (a) his policies and (b) his Department in helping small businesses over the last 12 months as against the previous 12 months; and if he will publish the performance indicators by which his Department monitors those achievements and the statistical results of such monitoring. [34690]

Mr. Hague: The Government recognise the crucial role played by small firms in the United Kingdom economy. It continues to help smaller companies by keeping inflation and interest rates low and by reducing legislative, administrative and tax burdens. It also provides direct assistance where appropriate.

The White Paper published in May 1995 outlines a programme of measures to assist the growth and competitiveness of the small firms sector.

My Department works with local authorities, training and enterprise councils, the development agencies and local enterprise agencies in providing a range of services for small businesses in Wales. We have established eight business development consortia to streamline the assistance available and to make it more easily accessible through a single all-Wales telephone number. I expect that service to be fully operational within the next 6 months.

Some of the specific measures promoted by my Department are as follows:

Enterprise Promotion

In 1994–95, TECs helped 2,235 people to start their own businesses, compared with 2,200 in 1993–94. The number of counselling sessions undertaken by business start up scheme applicants/participants increased from 10,438 in 1993–94 to 13,569 last year.

The Welsh design advisory service which was launched in December 1994 provides advice on all aspects to small businesses throughout Wales.

Grant Support

The Welsh Office continues to provide grant support for small firms, having regard to the level of demand in each year. During the year ending June 1995, 122 firms employing under 200 people accepted offers of regional selective assistance totalling £11.676 million. The grants were forecast to help create or safeguard 2,501 jobs and generate £72 million private sector investment. In the previous year, 130 firms accepted offers totalling £16.876 million, forecast to create or safeguard 3,411 jobs and help generate £100 million private sector investment. Also in the year ending 30 June 1995, 74 small firms—those with fewer than 25 employees for investment grant and fewer than 50 for innovation grant—accepted offers of regional enterprise grant totalling £1.346 million. The grants were forecast to help generate £3.91 million private sector investment. In the previous year,138 firms accepted offers totalling £2 million with forecast private sector investment totalling £7.16 million.

My Department is also continuing with an active programme under the small firms merit award for research and technology—SMART. In the last two years, small firms from Wales have done well, gaining 17 and 21 awards respectively—approximately 9 per cent. of the UK total. Under the support for products under research scheme—SPUR—grant support for small firms in Wales fell from £1.21 million in 1993–94 to £0.9 million in 1994–95 but utilised the full balance remaining for the initial three year programme.

Elsewhere, the national "Managing in the 90's" best practice awareness programme, which is aimed primarily at small and medium-sized enterprises—SME's—has recently been relaunched with a new three year, £15 million package. My Department supports local activities under the programme including workshops and seminars, plus the acclaimed "Inside Welsh Industry" programme of free visits to exemplar companies. Last year seven highly successful workshops were organised in Wales on best practice themes attracting over 200 delegates. Meanwhile, visits were arranged to 10 exemplar companies involving some 120 visitors representing Welsh SMEs. Also of specific interest to Welsh SMEs are the Welsh Office technology transfer facilitation grants which encourage close collaboration between industry and academia involving new and emerging technologies. Eight grants were awarded under this programme last year.

In addition, there have been 14 new teaching company scheme programmes started in Wales since July 1994.

Grants to business formerly made available by the DBRW and WDA are now the responsibility of local authorities.

Deregulation

The Welsh Office is continuing to contribute actively to the Government's drive to reduce the burden of regulations on business. No Wales-only regulations have been identified as placing a burden on business.

Sport

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales if he will express general Government expenditure in Wales on sport as a proportion of the corresponding United Kingdom figure; and if he will make a statement. [35127]

Mr. Gwilym Jones: In 1993–94 the amount of grant in aid paid to the Sports Council in Wales represented about 9 per cent. of comparable expenditure in the United Kingdom.

Food-Related Industries

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what contribution in percentage terms (a) the fishing industry, (b) agriculture, (c) catering, (d) food and drink distribution and (e) food and drink manufacturing make to the Welsh GDP; and if he will make a statement. [34964]

Mr. Gwilym Jones: In 1993 agriculture accounted for 2 per cent. of Welsh GDP according to estimates from the Central Statistical Office. The latest available data for food, drink and tobacco manufacturing are for 1992, when these industries accounted for 2.7 per cent. of Welsh GDP. Equivalent information for fishing catering, and food and drink distribution is not available.

Flooding and Coastal Erosion

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how much his Department spent on action to alleviate flooding and coastal erosion in (a) 1993–94 and (b) 1994–95; and if he will make a statement. [34972]

Mr. Gwilym Jones: The amounts of grants provided by the Welsh Office to the National Rivers Authority and local authorities in Wales for action to alleviate flooding and coastal erosion in (a) 1993–94 and (b) 1994–95 were £3,513,326 and £1,418,632 respectively.

CADW Expenditure

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales if he will express general government expenditure in Wales on historic buildings and ancient monuments as a proportion of the corresponding United Kingdom figure; and if he will make a statement. [35128]

Mr. Gwilym Jones: Provision for assistance towards the conservation of ancient monuments and historic buildings is made available via Cadw: Welsh Historic Monuments executive agency. Expenditure by Cadw in the year 1993–94, including running costs, represented 8 per cent. of comparable costs in the United Kingdom.

Film Funding

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how much money is spent annually promoting the film industry in Wales; and if he will make a statement. [34961]

Mr. Richards: I will write to the hon. Member as soon as possible and place a copy of my reply in the Library of the House.

Beef Special Premium

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what is the estimated cost of the beef special premium scheme for 1994–95; and if he will make a statement. [34992]

Mr. Gwilym Jones: £17,220,370, including extensification premium of £3,867,761.

Management Allowances

Mr. Rowlands: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what have been the estimated costs of management allowances for GP fundholders to date. [34737]

Mr. Richards: The estimated cost over the financial years 1990–91 to 1994–95, is £8.9 million.
Source: Family Health Services Receipts and Payments returns.

Mr. Rowlands: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what has been the estimated costs of the management allowances for the preparatory year for GP fundholders since their introduction. [34736]

Mr. Richards: The estimated cost over the financial years 1990–91 to 1994–95 is around £2 million.

Agricultural Labour Force

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what proportion of the total Welsh agricultural labour force works on land with less-favoured area status; and if he will make a statement. [34971]

Mr. Gwilym Jones: According to the agricultural census in 1994, approximately 67 per cent. of persons engaged in work on main agricultural holdings, work on holdings with less-favoured area status—that is those with a majority of the land within their boundaries defined as less-favoured areas. This includes spouses of farmers, partners and directors.

Slaughterhouses

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what is the average hygiene assessment system score for Welsh slaughterhouses; and if he will make a statement. [34977]

Mr. Gwilym Jones: The last set of health assessment scores for Welsh red meat slaughterhouses gave an average score of 58.

Milk Licence Holders

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what is the number of contracted milk licence holders in Wales; what proportion of the total figure for England and Wales this represents; and if he will make a statement. [34976]

Mr. Gwilym Jones: Licences for the sale of untreated milk are no longer required under the Dairy Products (Hygiene) Regulations 1995.

Welsh Language

Mr. Dafis: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales (1) how much money has been given by his office each year since 1990 to youth organisations that promote the Welsh language; [35487]

(2) how much of the money that has been given each year since 1990 to youth organisations that actively promote the Welsh language by the Welsh Office comes from Europe; and from what scheme it is paid. [35485]

Mr. Richards: I will write to the hon. Member as soon as possible and place a copy of my reply in the Library of the House.

Mr. Dafis: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how much money was given by his office to voluntary organisations that teach the Welsh language to adult learners in each year since 1991–92. [35486]

Mr. Richards: Since 1 April 1993, the Further Education Funding Council for Wales has been able to fund voluntary organisations via sponsorship and franchise arrangements with further education institutes. The funding council does not hold information on the level of funding that voluntary organisations receive for Welsh adult provision. However, the Welsh Office and the Welsh Language board have made the following contributions to the National Language centre at Nant Gwrtheyrn since 1991–92.

1992–93: £79,000
1993–94: £93,600
1994–95: £105,000

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what proportion of the Welsh Language board's budget is spent on administration; and if he will make a statement. [34978]

Mr. Richards: The Welsh Language Board's running costs for 1995–96 are £1,123,000. Within that allocation central administration costs, accommodation costs and the salaries of the staff employed on central administrative duties are estimated to be £400,000, about 20 per cent. of the board's total budget for the year.

Class Sizes

Mr. Bayley: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what is the average class size in (a) primary and (b) secondary schools in (i) Wales and (ii) in each local education authority area in Wales. [35208]

Mr. Richards: The information requested is published in tables 3.06 and 4.13 of "Statistics of Education and Training in Wales: Schools No. 3 1995", a copy of which is in the Library of the House.

TRADE AND INDUSTRY

Coal Authority

Mr. Ashby: To ask the President of the Board of Trade when the annual report and accounts of the Coal Authority will be laid before Parliament. [36073]

Mr. Page: I have today laid a copy before each House of Parliament.

Lloyd's of London

Mr. Duncan: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if he will give details of ministerial responsibilities toward Lloyd's of London. [36071]

Mr. Lang: I am an underwriting member of Lloyd's for 1995, and I have instructed my underwriting agents to give immediate notice that I shall cease underwriting at the end of 1995. Until such time as my outstanding open syndicate commitments have been closed, I have instructed my officials and ministerial colleagues not to brief me on Lloyd's issues, and I shall stand aside from all decisions concerning Lloyd's. The Minister for Trade will have responsibility for Lloyd's, assisted by the Minister for Competition and Consumer Affairs.

Regional Policy

Mr. Hawkins: To ask the President of the Board of Trade when his Department will respond to the fourth report from the Trade and Industry Select Committee of Session 1994–95, HC 356, on regional policy. [36075]

Mr. Eggar: I have today published a command paper setting out the Government's response to this valuable report and announcing measures to improve the delivery of RSA by the Government offices for the English regions.

National Weights and Measures Laboratory

Mr. Jessel: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if the review of the National Weights and Measures Laboratory has been completed, and if he will make a statement. [36077]

Mr. Lang: On 22 July 1994, my predecessor informed the House of his decision that, following a prior options review, the National Weights and Measures Laboratory should remain an executive agency of the DTI. An evaluation report on the performance of the laboratory has now been completed and a revised framework document has been prepared. Copies of these documents, which complete the agency review process, have been placed in the Libraries of both Houses.

Petroleum Licensing

Mr. Mans: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if he will make a statement about further inshore petroleum licensing. [36076]

Mr. Richard Page: I am today inviting oil and gas companies to apply for licences in all unlicensed areas of onshore Great Britain in the seventh landward petroleum licensing round. This new round will encourage exploration particularly in new areas where more field may be discovered.

It is now three years since the last onshore licencing round and much has changed since then. Last month the Minister for Industry and Energy announced the new landward areas licensing regulations which will enable companies to obtain a single licence, the petroleum exploration and development licence covering all stages of activity. This round is the first opportunity for companies to apply under this new, more flexible regime put in place by the regulations.

Privatisation of British Coal has also taken place since the previous onshore licensing round so ownership of unworked coal has passed to the Coal Authority, which has a duty to have regard to the desirability of exploiting coalbed methane where that is economically viable. This change will assist those companies seeking to exploit coalbed methane and I am very keen that the potential of this new source of energy should be realised.

Holders of existing exploration, appraisal and production licences can also apply to convert their existing licences to the new petroleum exploration and development licences to take advantage of this opportunity to extend the duration of their licences. In order to obtain a new licence, the holders of these existing licences will need to provide to my Department an acceptable programme of work which they will undertake in exploring for and developing onshore fields in their licensed area.

Application for the seventh round will need to be considered carefully, in particular the proposed work programmes, before I am able to announce licence awards.

I will now publish in the Official Journal of the European Communities, a formal announcement giving the detailed terms for the seventh round, including the format of applications, the information required with the application and the basis on which awards will be made. This is the first time the Official Journal has been used to announce a licensing round and follows our implementation of the EU hydrocarbons licensing directive at the end of June. The closing date for applications will be announced in the Official Journal.

I will place copies of this announcement in the Libraries of both Houses.

Payment of Bills

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what proportion of bill are paid on time by Government Departments and their agencies. [36070]

Mr. Page: Government Departments and their agencies are required to monitor their payment performance and publish the results in their departmental or annual reports. The following table lists, by Department, the proportion of bills paid within the agreed credit period, or within 30 days where no credit period has been agreed, for 1994–95.

The Government recognise that late payment is a serious problem, particularly for small businesses. It is essential that the Government set and example of prompt settlement of bills. The Government expect all other public sector bodies to follow their lead. I do not regard my own Department's performance as satisfactory and intend to ensure that it improves.

Assistance for Exceptional Projects Scheme

Mr. Stephen: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if he will make a further statement about the future of the assistance for exceptional projects scheme of financial support for investment and research and development projects. [36072]

Mr. Eggar: Assistance for exceptional projects operated in all areas of Great Britain under section 8 of the Industrial Development Act 1982. The House will know that AEP has been suspended since March 1993 because of the Government's doubts about the effectiveness of the scheme. A further announcement about its continued suspension was made in March 1994. During the five years 1988-89 to 1992–93 that the scheme was open for applications, only three projects met the very exacting criteria for support out of 60 applications made. The Government continue to be satisfied that it has the necessary means to support exceptional projects and has concluded that the AEP facility should not be reintroduced.

Military Exports (Licences)

Mr. Byers: To ask the President of the Board of Trade on what dates the details of export licences covering military list applications in (a) 1985 and (b) 1986 were destroyed; and who authorised their destruction. [35345]

Mr. Oppenheim: These records have not been destroyed.

BMARC

Mr. Byers: To ask the President of the Board of Trade, pursuant to the President of the Board of Trade's oral statement on BMARC of 13 June, Official Report, column 595–97, in what month in 1986 the first intelligence report was received and which other companies, countries and subject matter were mentioned. [35346]

Mr. Oppenheim: It is not Government practice to comment on intelligence matters. The Trade and Industry Select Committee is now undertaking an inquiry into the BMARC affair. I shall consider in due course what information can be given to the Committee for the purposes of that enquiry.

Overseas Projects Board

Mr. Clapham: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what assessment he has made of the success of the Overseas Projects Board at helping small businesses to win overseas work. [34533]

Mr. Nelson: It is not possible to apportion to the Overseas Projects Board an amount of overseas work successfully won by small businesses. Nevertheless, I am confident that the success of the board and of the Overseas Trade Services in general has been invaluable to small businesses in winning overseas work.

Staff

Mr. Clapham: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what was the average annual salary of staff seconded to his Department from the private sector; what are the salaries of (a) private sector staff seconded to the DTI and (b) civil servants performing similar duties; and if he will make a statement. [34529]

Mr. Jonathan Evans: Staff seconded to the Department from the private sector remain the employees of their parent companies, who determine their remuneration. Civil service salaries may vary considerably as any given grade; and the provision of details of the salaries of civil servants performing similar duties to secondees could therefore be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Mr. Clapham: To ask the President of the Board of Trade how many of the exporters seconded from the private sector have come from small and medium-sized enterprises. [34532]

Mr. Evans: Since the launch of the export promoter initiative, 120 export promoters have been seconded from the private sector to the DTI. To determine what proportion of these secondees have come from small and medium sized enterprises could be achieved only at disproportionate cost.

Mr. Clapham: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what criteria his Department uses to determine the remuneration of staff seconded from the private sector. [34531]

Mr. Evans: Staff seconded to the DTI from the private sector remain the employees of their companies, who determine their remuneration.

Mr. Clapham: To ask the President of the Board of Trade how many staff were seconded from the private sector to his Department in 1994. [34530]

Mr. Evans: During 1994, a total of 186 people were seconded from the private sector to the Department.

Business Investment

Mr. Clapham: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what assessment he has made of what constitutes an appropriate level of business investment; and what are the equivalent figures for ASEAN countries. [34534]

Mr. Nelson: The appropriate level of investment is a matter for business, not Government, to decide. Since 1980 business investment as a share of GDP in the UK has similar to other major economies, apart from Japan. Figures for ASEAN countries are not available on a comparable basis.

Life Companies (Distribution of Funds)

Mr. Denham: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if he will list those life companies which have applied to vary the distribution of long-term funds between shareholders and policyholders, in the past year, and provide in each case, the sum involved and the agreed distribution ratio. [35347]

Mr. Oppenheim: On 24 February 1995, United Friendly Insurance plc announced the basis on which it proposed to allocate surplus from then on. This followed discussions, starting in 1992, on how the rules in section 30 of the Insurance Companies Act—governing variations between the shareholders' and policyholders' share of distribution surplus—should apply to the circumstances of the company. Policyholders will be entitled to receive 90 per cent. of surplus arising on those parts of United Friendly's business in respect of which it had been determined that they were eligible to share in such surplus.

On the same day, my hon. Friend the Under-Secretary set out the Department's general approach to such issues in his reply to my hon. Friend the Member for Shoreham (Mr. Stephen), Official Report, column 362–63.

Following that announcement, each of the companies listed below has announced that it would be approaching my Department for similar discussions:

Britannic Assurance plc;

Legal and General Assurance Society Ltd.;

Refuge Assurance plc.

Some other companies have also approached the Department on a commercially confidential basis at this stage. The outcome of all such discussions will be made public, if they appear to have a bearing on policyholders' reasonable expectations in respect of allocation of surplus.

Southern Electric

Mr. Denham: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what was the profit or loss reported by the retail activities of Southern Electric in the last financial year prior to privatisation. [35348]

Mr. Eggar: In 1989–90 Southern Electric reported operating profits for its appliance retailing business of £1.8 million—current cost accounting—or £1.9 million—historic cost accounting.

Brent Spar

Mrs. Fyfe: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what requests have been made to Shell by his Department for reports on onshore dismantling of Brent Spar by Smit Engineering and Heeremac; and if he will make a statement. [34662]

Mr. Eggar: My Department has made no such requests. As indicated in the answer I gave to the hon. Member for Perth and Kinross (Ms Cunningham) on 4 July 1995, Official Report, column 154, two reports dealing with onshore disposal, one by McDermott Engineering (Europe) Ltd. the other by Heerema Engineering Services (UK) Ltd. were submitted to my Department by Shell in support of its abandonment programme.

Mrs. Fyfe: To ask the President of the Board of Trade (1) how many tests have been conducted on the radioactivity of the scale on the inside of the Brent Spar; how many samples of sludge from the Brent Spar's six tanks were analysed; and if he will give the reasons for the amount of testing; [34509]

(2) how many samples were taken, and what analysis was conducted, on the Brent Spar and its waste water at any stage since shell indicated its wish to remove it from its former site. [24510]

Mr. Eggar: Independent surveys were carried out which enabled Shell to assess the contents of the Spar and to satisfy Government that deep-sea disposal is the best practicable environmental option.

Oil Installations (Dumping at Sea)

Mrs. Fyfe: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what studies his Department has carried out into the cumulative effect of dumping 50 to 60 oil installations at sea. [34661]

Mr. Eggar: Such matters will be addressed in considering any particular case.

Liquefaction Plant, Point of Ayr

Mr. Hanson: To ask the President of the Board of Trade (1) what assessment he has made of the future use of the liquefaction plant site at Point of Ayr, Clwyd; and if he intends to initiate further discussions on the site and its future; [34879]

(2) if he will make it his policy to prevent demolition of the liquefaction plant site at Point of Ayr, Clwyd; and if he will list the representations he has received on this subject to date; [34880]

(3) what has been the total investment to date (a) by his Department and (b) by British Coal in the liquefaction plant at Point of Ayr, Clwyd. [34878]

Mr. Page: The future of the liquefaction plant at Point of Ayr is a matter for British Coal. The coal liquefaction R and D project has successfully completed the demonstration of technology to produce high grade petrol and diesel fuels from a wide range of coals. British Coal has explored in some considerable detail the options for alternative uses of the site now that this R and D project has been completed, but unfortunately these have proved not be commercially viable. My Department has received no representations on this subject.

My Department, along with the industrial participants in the project, has been consulted on all the assessments on the future use of the site by British Coal. The Department has no plans to initiate any further discussions on the future of the site. However, I understand that Delyn borough council has recently expressed an interest to British Coal in developing the site offices, laboratories and workshops.

The total investment in the Point of Ayr coal liquefaction project by the participants is as follows:

	£ million
Department of Trade and Industry	5.413
British Coal Corporation	20.602
European Commission (DGXVII)	14.354
Industry and other contributions	3.947
Total cost	44.316

Note:

Theses figures are the projected outturn cost of the project.

National Engineering Laboratory

Mr. Ingram: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if he will list those companies or organisations which have expressed an interest in purchasing the National Engineering Laboratory. [34567]

Mr. Ian Taylor: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave him on 25 January 1995, Official Report, column 225.

Legislative Plans

Mr. Kirkwood: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what legislation he plans to introduce; and if he will make a statement. [35314]

Mr. Lang: The Government's plans for legislation will be announce in the Queen's Speech at the start of the 1995–96 Session.

Loan Guarantee Scheme

Mrs. Liddell: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what is the current level of (a) the margin and (b) the premium payable by firms on funds obtained under the Government's loan guarantee scheme for small firms. [34504]

Mr. Page: The margin over base is a commercial matter between the lender and the borrower. However, for variable rate lending most lenders are generally charging 2 to 2.5 per cent. over base.

The premium payable to the government is 1.5 per cent. a year of the outstanding balance for variable rate loans and 0.5 per cent. a year for loans at a fixed rate of interest. Borrowers who trade in the inner city task force and city challenge areas pay 0.5 per cent. a year for both fixed and variable rate lending

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what was the value of loans given to Welsh firms under the small firms loan guarantee scheme in 1994–95; and if he will make a statement. [34938]

Mr. Page: A total of 310 loans valued at £11 million were given to Welsh firms in 1994–95.

Inward Investment

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what was the number of jobs created or safeguarded by inward investment in each year since 1992–93; and if he will make a statement. [35009]

Mr. Eggar: According to figures notified to my Department's Invest in Britain Bureau, for the financial years from 1992–93 to 1994–95, the number of jobs created or safeguarded by inward investment projects are as follows:

Year	New jobs	Safeguarded jobs
1992–93	17,822	43,825
1993–94	30,536	69,754
1994–95	36,876	51,113

These figures are based on information provided by companies at the time of the announcement of the decision to invest, and take no account of subsequent developments.

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what proportion of inward investment into (a) the United Kingdom and (b) Wales comes from the USA; and if he will make a statement. [34957]

Mr. Eggar: According to figures notified to my Department's Invest in Britain Bureau, for the financial year 1994–95, there were 434 inward investment decisions to locate in the UK, of which 212—48.8 per cent.—were from the USA with Wales's share of USA projects being 25—11.7 per cent. These figures are based on information provided by companies at the time of the announcement of the decision to invest, and take no account of subsequent developments.

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what proportion of total inward investment into the United Kingdom went to Wales in each year since 1992–93; and if he will make a statement. [34948]

Mr. Eggar: According to figures notified to my Department's Invest in Britain Bureau, for the financial years 1992–93 to 1994–95 the proportion of inward investment decisions that went to Wales are as follows:

Year	Number of projects	Per cent. of UK total
1992–93	66	19.8
1993–94	64	14.8
1994–95	50	11.5

These figures are based on information provided by companies at the time of the announcement of the decision to invest, and take no account of subsequent developments.

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what proportion of the total number of jobs created or safeguarded in the United Kingdom as a result of inward investment were created or safeguarded in (a) Wales, (b) Northern Ireland, (c) Scotland and (d) England in each year since 1992–93; and if he will make a statement. [34949]

Mr. Eggar: According to figures notified to my Department's Invest in Britain Bureau, for the financial years 1992–93 to 1994–95 the proportion of the total number of jobs created or safeguarded in Wales, Northern Ireland, Scotland and Wales are as follows:

1992–93	Number of jobs	Percentage of overall total
Wales	7,321	11.8
Northern Ireland	6,099	9.8
Scotland	8,695	14.1
England	39,532	64.1
Total	61,647
1993–94
Wales	6,564	6.5
Northern Ireland	3,631	3.6
Scotland	12,274	12.2

These figures are based on the number of projects notified to the Invest in Britain Bureau at the time of the decision to invest. Companies are under no obligation to notify their investment decisions and the figures take no account of subsequent developments.

Mr. Wigley: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what proportion of jobs created or safeguarded by inward investment in each of the last three years were in Wales; and if he will make a statement. [35025]

Mr. Eggar: According to figures notified to my Department's Invest in Britain Bureau, for the financial years 1992–93 to 1994–95 the proportion of jobs created or safeguarded by inward investment in Wales are as follows:

Year	New jobs	Safeguarded jobs	Total jobs
1992–93	2,382	4,939	7,321 (11.8 per cent. of UK total)
1993–94	3,913	2,651	6,564 (6.5 per cent. of UK total)
1994–95	2,989	2,014	5,003 (5.6 per cent. of UK total)

These figures are based on information provided by companies at the time of the announcement of the decision to invest, and take no account of subsequent developments.

Small Businesses

Mr. David Martin: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what measures have been taken in each of the years since 1992–93, to help the creation and survival of small businesses. [34756]

Mr. Eggar: The annual report "Small firms in Britain," produced by this Department, contains the information requested. A copy of the 1994 report is in the Library of the House. The 1995 report will be published shortly and a copy will be sent to all Members of Parliament.

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if he will make a statement on the results of (a) his policies and (b) his Department in helping small businesses over the last 12 months as against the previous 12 months; and if he will publish the performance indicators by which his Department monitors those achievements and the statistical results of such monitoring. [34693]

Mr. Page: "Helping Smaller Firms," published as a companion document to the new White Paper "Competitiveness—Forging Ahead" sets out in detail the progress that has been made since the publication of the 1994 competitiveness White Paper in helping small businesses. It also annouces a new package of support, aimed largely at smaller firms, and amounting to over £200 million over 4 years.

The DTI report "Small Firm in Britain 1995" due to be published shortly sets out current Government policy for small businesses and includes key statistical indicators. It will be distributed to all Members, as was the 1994 small firms report."

Consultants

Mr. Milburn: To ask the President of the Board of Trade how many contracts his Department has had with consultants; and what has been the total cost in each of the last five years. [33569]

Mr. Lang: The answer is as follows:

Number of consultancy contracts let centrally by the Department of Trade and Industry, 1990–94, plus value (including amendments)

Year	Number	Value £
1990	517	27,620,000
1991	597	38,491,000
1992	543	36,612,000
1993	402	29,369,000
1994	184	8,901,000

The above figures exclude consultancy contracts let independently by the Department's executive agencies.

Gas Regulation

Mr. O'Neill: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what safeguards will be put in place in respect of review and appeal procedures with regard to decisions made by the Director General of Ofgas in the granting of licences and operating mechanisms following enactment of the Gas Bill. [30074]

Mr. Eggar: The Director General of Gas Supply has followed an open, pro-competitive and consultative approach in reaching regulatory decisions. In the light of her policy on this, and of the safeguards already in the Bill, we would not envisage a need for further statutory procedures to be imposed.

However, we are considering whether it is appropriate for the Bill to provide for an explicit reserve power which would enable the Secretary of State to prescribe procedures for consultation before taking decisions and the giving of reasons in writing afterwards, should the situation change.

Departmental Property

Mr. Redwood: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what plans his Department has to dispose of leasehold and freehold obligations and interests in the central London area. [34375]

Mr. Jonathan Evans: The DTI plans to pass back to Property Holdings the leasehold obligations for Ashdown house, 123 Victoria street, London SW1E 6RB and for 1 Palace street, London SW1E 5HE.

DTI's Radiocommunications Agency is relocating from Waterloo Bridge house, Waterloo road, London SE1 8UA, to South quay III, 189 Marsh wall, London E14 9SX. If another use cannot be found for Waterloo Bridge house, the lease will be surrendered to the landlord.

This reply does not take account of the recent machinery of Government changes.

Mr. Redwood: To ask the President of the Board of Trade which properties in central London his Department will vacate and which they will continue to occupy on the completion of 1 to 19 Victoria street. [34374]

Mr. Evans: The central London buildings which will be vacated by the Department of Trade and Industry after the re-occupation of 1 Victoria street is complete are:

Ashdown house, 123 Victoria street, London SW1E 6RB

1 Palace street, London SW1E 5HE

The Department will then continue to occupy, in central London:

Bridge place, 88–89 Eccleston square, London SW1V 1PT

151 Buckingham Palace road, London SW1W 9SS

Kingsgate house, 66–74 Victoria street, London SW1E 6SW

1 Victoria street, London SW1H OET

10–18 Victoria street, London SW1H ONN

There are a number of central London buildings occupied by the Department's executive agencies which are not affected by the re-occupation of 1 Victoria street. These are:-

Insolvency Service

21 Bloomsbury street, London WC1B 3QW

Patent Office

25 Southampton buildings, London WC2A 1AY

Hazlitt house, 45 Southampton buildings, London WC2A 1AR

Radiocommuications Agency

Waterloo Bridge house, Waterloo road, London SE1 8UA

This reply does not take into account any consequences which might result from the recent machinery of Government changes.

Late Filing Penalties

Ms Ruddock: To ask the President of the Board of Trade how much has been recovered under section 242a of the Companies Act 1985 in penalties and how much has been claimed in penalties and is still outstanding; how many claims for payment of a civil penalty under section 242a have ben made; and in how many cases the Registrar of Companies has exercised his discretion under subsection (3) of section 242a. [35230]

Mr. Oppenehim: Responsibility for the subject of the question has been delegated to Companies House under its chief executive, David Durham, I have asked him to arrange for a reply to be given.

Letter from David Durham to Mrs. Joan Ruddock, dated 18 July 1995:

I have been asked to reply to your Question about late filing penalties.

The late filing penalty system was introduced on 1 July 1992 and details of the information you requested are set out in the table below.

	Penalties recovered £ million	Penalties claimed £ million	Penalties outstanding £ million	Penalties claimed (Number)	Penalties waived (Number)
July 1992–June 1995	42.2	55.9	9.1	259,878	8,853

I hope this is helpful.

Manufacturing Industry

Mr. Sheerman: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what new initiatives he is planning to make funds available for the expansion of manufacturing industry. [35069]

Mr. Eggar: The second competitiveness White Paper "Forging Ahead", published on 22 May 1995, set out a range of policies designed to help UK manufacturing industry, and other parts of UK industry and commerce, improve their performance and compete in world markets. It announced a package of new support for industry worth around £240 million over four years.

Radiation (Effects on Humans)

Mr. Llew Smith: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what experiments have been conducted on civilians in Wales without their knowledge by the Medical Research Council to assess the effects of radiation on humans. [35156]

Mr. Ian Taylor: Since at least 1963, it has been the Medical Research Council's established practice to obtain consent from volunteers, patients or otherwise, and to explain the procedures, in relation to all studies which are not specifically geared to contributing to the benefit of the patient. This includes studies assessing the effects of radiation on humans. The MRC has issued its own statement.

Nuclear Power (Privatisation)

Mr. Llew Smith: To ask the President of the Board of Trade (1) what is his best assessment of the net present value of the seven advanced gas-cooled reactor nuclear plants which are earmarked for privatisation; [35172]

(2) what is his best estimate of the net present value of the Sizewell B nuclear plant; [35171]

(3) what assumptions are built into his assessment of the net present value of the nuclear plants earmarked for privatisation in regard to (a) reactor lifetimes, (b) average annual load factors, (c) future annual savings in operating costs, (d) future electricity prices, (e) the discount rate for operational cash streams and (f) the discount rates for liability cash streams. [35169]

Mr. Eggar: These figures are not available. The prospectus and listing particulars, which it is intended will be issued in advance of the flotation of the company that will own the UK's AGR and PWR power stations, will contain the information needed by potential investors to form a judgement about the value of the business.

Mr. Smith: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what assessment he has made of the appropriateness of the 6 per cent. discount rate in the evaluation of the back-end of the nuclear fuel cycle activities by the consultants KPMG in its report prepared for the nuclear review for his Department, at paragraph 3.4.3. [35165]

Mr. Eggar: The 6 per cent. pre-tax is the rate specified by HM Treasury as an appropriate rate to be used for evaluating investment projects for organisations not operating in commercial markets. KPMG considered this at length and concluded that 6 per cent. was an appropriate rate in the medium-term for the purposes of this study.

Child Labour

Mr. Spellar: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what action he proposes to take to prevent imports from countries where child labour is employed. [34272]

Mr. Nelson: The Government are fully committed to international action to stop the exploitation of child labour, but do not believe that preventing imports from countries where it occurs is the answer. The best way of tackling the problem is by raising living standards in developing countries. Restricting imports would be counter-productive, as it would deprive such countries of the income from trade.

Civil Plutonium

Mr. Llew Smith: To ask the President of the Board of Trade when he plans to publish the 1995 compilation of civil plutonium production and storage figures, and if he will place a copy in the Library. [35158]

Mr. Eggar: The information requested was published on 13 July and copies of the press release have been placed in the Library of the House.

Iran and Iraq (Arms Exports)

Mr. Alfred Morris: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what inquiry he has conducted into whether any United Kingdom bank contravened mandatory UN resolutions by facilitating the export of arms to Iran or Iraq during the period covered by the Scott inquiry (a) for profit or (b) for any other reasons; and if he will make a statement. [34321]

Mr. Oppenheim [holding answer 14 July 1995]: There are no mandatory UN resolutions covering the export of arms to Iran and Iraq during the period covered by the Scott inquiry. If the hon. Member has any information concerning a possible breach of export controls, he should inform my Department.

Unfair Dismissal

Mr. Ian McCartney: To ask the President of the Board of Trade how many unfair dismissal cases were brought against his Department during the last 12 months, how many were successful; and what were the total costs including legal fees and compensation. [34617]

Mr. Jonathan Evans [holding answer 14 July 1995]: One case of unfair dismissal against DTI was concluded in the last 12 months. The case was unsuccessful. Total costs amounted to £5,251.17.

Departmental Staff

Ms Harman: To ask the President of the Board of Trade how many staff employed in the former Department of Employment as a result of that Department's abolition, (a) will be made redundant, (b) will take early retirement, (c) will be employed on a temporary contract instead of a permanent contract and (d) will be employed on a part-time basis instead of a full-time basis, and if he will make a statement. [34659]

Mr. Lang [holding answer 17 July 1995]: The detailed arrangements for the transfer of staff from the former Employment Department to the DTI are under discussion. It is not currently expected that the employment status of the staff concerned will change as a result of the transfer. All DTI posts are subject to regular review in the annual MINIS process.

Minewater Discharges

Mr. Clapham: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if he will list those research projects into the effect of the discharge of minewater which are currently supported by the Natural Environment Research Council; and how much funding the council provides for each project. [33556]

Mr. Ian Taylor [holding answer 12 July 1995]: The Plymouth Marine Laboratory—an institute of the Natural Environment Research Council—as apart of its longer-term studies of the Cornish rivers and estuaries is studying metal contamination of estuarine and coastal environments, much of which derives from past local mining activity in south-west England.

No systematic assessment of the environmental impact of coalfield abandonment has been commissioned from the NERC.

Business Links

Mr. Clapham: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what arrangements his Department has considered to respond to the financial collapse of an individual business link. [33277]

Mr. Page [holding answer 10 July 1995]: The DTI has not considered arrangements to respond to the financial collapse of an individual business link because the Department is not aware of any instances where a business link is facing or is likely to face this situation.

Nevertheless I would expect the board of any business link facing or likely to face financial difficulties to consider all the options for continuing to provide business support in its locality, including a reduction in overheads and the potential for increasing income.

My officials would be ready to assist in any such examination.

Indonesia

Mrs. Clwyd: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what consideration led him to diverge from his policy of not divulging details of export licences granted or applications for export licences in his answer to the hon. Member for Teignbridge (Mr. Nicholls), of 2 March, Official Report, column 716, on the export of armoured vehicles to Indonesia. [35146]

Mr. Oppenheim [holding answer 17 July 1995]: An exception was made in this case because the Government were satisfied that it was in the public interest to make a statement. The exporter had also made an announcement to the Stock Exchange about this particular contract.

Privatisation (Advisers)

Mr. Byers: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if he will list those companies providing advice on the privatisation of (a) the coal industry, (b) the electricity industry and (c) the gas industry and the total amounts paid to the date for the advice in each industry. [34643]

Mr. Lang [holding answer 14 July 1995]: The answers are as follows:

(a) Coal

The advisers to the Department of Trade and Industry and the former Department of Energy on coal privatisation were listed in reply to a question from the hon. Member for Stoke-on-Trent North (Ms Walley) on 21 July 1994, Official Report, columns 522-23.

Total net expenditure on coal privatisation advisers in 1991–1992 to 1993–1994 was £15.8 million. Provisional outturn in 1994–95 was £16.7 million and £4.3 million has been provided for 1995–96.

(b) Electricity

The advisers to the former Department of Energy on privatisation of the electricity supply industry in England and Wales were listed to a question in reply from the hon. member for Holborn and St. Pancras (Mr. Dobson) on 23 January 1992, Official Report, columns 281-84.

Total net expenditure on electricity privatisation advisers to the former Department of Energy was £51.5 million.

(c) Gas

The advisers to the former Department of Energy on gas privatisation were:

N.M. Rothschild

Cazenove

Slaughter and May

Touche Ross

Price Waterhouse

Engage Resource Consultants

The following bodies advised both the former Department of Energy and British Gas:

Goldman Sachs

Wood Gundy

Swiss Bank Corporation

Nomura

Dewe Rogerson

Young and Rubicam

Total net expenditure for gas privatisation advisers was given in a reply to the hon. Member for Neath (Mr. Hain) on 8 December 1993, Official Report, column 231

Digital Television

Mr. Allen: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if it is his policy that additional regulation is needed to ensure fair access to conditional access services. [31915]

Mr. Ian Taylor: At present, conditional access services for subscription or pay television are provided by cable TV operators and by the satellite operator, BSkyB. The activities of these companies in respect of conditional access services are subject to general competition law, as well as conditions contained in the relevant licences issued under the Telecommunications Act 1984. The Government consider this sufficient to deal with any anti-competitive behaviour which might arise.

The introduction of digital television services will mean a greater role for conditional access services and associated subscriber management systems. The Government are keen to encourage the substantial investment needed to establish digital services in the United Kingdom, and to provide consumers with wider choice of programming.

The Government therefore welcome the agreement reached last week among EC member states on a draft directive on advanced television services. This will allow important technical standards to be established, paving the way for digital services. The directive also contains reference to the regulation of conditional access services, as a result of an amendment proposed by the European Parliament. The Government have secured agreement from all other member states and the Commission to interpretative declarations, making clear that this will provide an appropriate level of regulation for conditional access services—but not transmission networks—without leading to an unwelcome open access requirement, which would deter investment and delay the launch of innovative new services. Definitive versions of these declarations will shortly be released by the Council secretariat, and a copy will then be placed in the Libraries of both Houses.

Mr. Allen: To ask the President of the Board of Trade (1) what the Government are doing to encourage the development of a common digital platform; [31912]

(2) what assessment he has made of (a) whether conditional access systems will remain proprietary and (b) when a common digital platform will be developed; [31913]

(3) what steps the Government have taken to encourage the major media organisations in the United Kingdom to develop a common digital set-top box as opposed to proprietary systems. [31955]

Mr. Ian Taylor: I am replying to these questions because of my responsibility for policy on broadcasting technology.

The United Kingdom Government have played an active role in bringing into being the European digital video broadcasting project—DVB–a body which now comprises about 150 organisations, including major media organisations in the UK. The DVB has been developing specifications for the transmission and reception of digital television signals, and, as a result, European standards for satellite, cable and terrestrial digital television, based on DVB specifications, have been agreed or are in prospect. The DVB has been successful in ensuring a high degree of commonality in these standards, which will greatly ease the development of set-top boxes designed to receive signals over more than one transmission medium.

The Government have also supported the adoption of a directive on the use of standards for the transmission of television signals. This stipulates that digital television services in the EU use a transmission system which has been standardised. The Government's earlier concerns that European Parliament amendments to this directive would deter investment in digital services have now been met by declarations to be adopted by the Council and Commission.

The directive also follows DVB recommendations on the provision of a common descrambling system in set-top boxes which have conditional access facilities. The DVB recognised that the most practicable way of countering the threat to pay-TV braodcasters' revenues from "piracy" was by using proprietary conditional access systems and have developed a "common interface" which, if fitted to a set-top box, would enable the use to "plug in" additional conditional access systems.

In general, the Government look to private investment to develop future digital conditional access or subscription television systems as part of the more general move by the broadcasting industry to introduce digital television services. Such systems are likely to include a proprietary element.

The Government's policy is to avoid impediments to private sector investment in digital television, whether terrestrial or satellite transmission. The advantages to UK-based industry and to the consumer of an early move to digital television are considerable.

FOREIGN AND COMMONWEALTH AFFAIRS

Bosnia

Mr. John Townend: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what will be the monthly cost to the Exchequer of aid and military costs in Bosnia after the full deployment of the rapid reaction force. [34493]

Sir Nicholas Bonsor: After the full deployment of the rapid reaction force, the monthly cost to the United Kingdom of our military contributions to UNPROFOR, and our financial contributions to the UNPROFOR budget will be about £26.1 million. Total UK aid for the current financial year is projected to total some £38.5 million.

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what is his estiamte of the proportion of food and medical supplies used in the recent offensives by Bosnian Muslim Government troops supplied and paid for by the United Nations as humanitarian aid. [35268]

Sir Nicholas Bonsor: We have no way of knowing. The food and medical supplies being carried by ODA convoys, which represent a significant proportion of total UN deliveries, are being delivered to their proper destinations. There is no way that the UN can stop legitimate recipients of aid from sharing it with relatives who may also be combatants.

Mr. Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what reports he has received as to the use of the safe areas in Bosnia by the Bosnian Government for launching attacks against Bosnian Serbs. [36227]

Sir Russell Johnston: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs (1) what estimate the European Union has been able to make of civilian casualties in Srebrenica, during the taking of the town by the Bosnian Serbs; [36321]

(2) what information he has about the involvement of the Yugoslav Government in the military activities of the Bosnian Serbs and the Serbs in Krajina; and if he will make a statement. [36320]

Ms Quin: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what information he now has as to the whereabouts and circumstances of those people detained by the Bosnian Serbs in their capture of Srebrenica. [36230]

Sir Nicholas Bonsor: I shall write to the hon. Members shortly.

Unfair Dismissal Cases

Mr. McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many unfair dismissal cases were brought against his Department during the last 12 months; how many were successful; and what were the total costs including legal fees and compensation. [34593]

Mr. Hanley [holding answer 14 July 1995]:

Foreign and Commonwealth Office

Two unfair dismissal cases have been brought against the FCO in the last 12 months, neither of which has so far been resolved.

Overseas Development Administration and the Natural Resources Institute

There were no unfair dismissal cases brought against the ODA in the last 12 months. The Natural Resources Institute chief executive will write direct to the hon. Member with the information requested.

Redundancies

Mr. McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many redundancies occurred in his Department over the last 12 months; how many were voluntary; and what was the total sum spent on redundancy payments. [34595]

Mr. Hanley [holding answer 14 July 1995]:

Foreign and Commonwealth Office

In the year 1994–95 there no redundancies.

Overseas Development Administration and the Natural Resources Institute.

In the year 1994–95 there were 49 redundancies, all compulsory, at a total cost of £1,311,335.

Kashmir

Mr. Godsiff: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what is his Department's policy in respect of issuing guidance to British tourists visiting Kashmir; if the two Britons held captive recently in Kashmir received such guidance; and what measures have been taken to ensure the safe return of the kidnapped Britons. [35372]

Mr. Hanley: We have advised visitors not to travel to the states of Jammu and Kashmir for a number of years. The kidnapping of two Britons travelling in Kashmir in 1994 has been pointed out in the travel advice notice for India since it occurred. Travel advice notices are widely distributed throughout the travel industry via electronic information and ticketing systems. They are also available on BBC2 Ceefax and can be accessed on Internet. Advice on travelling to India is available on an automated telephone answering service and members of the public may also contact the FCO's travel advice unit direct between 09.30 and 16.00 hours Monday to Friday. We do not know whether the two Britons being held in Kashmir received advice not to travel there. We are co-operating closely with the Indian and other Governments concerned to secure the early and safe release of the hostages. We will continue to work, largely behind the scenes, through contacts with all those we think may be able to help resolve this situation.

Mr. Max Madden: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will make further inquiries to ascertain the timetable for the introduction by the Government of Azad-Kashmir of an ordinance whereby those held in prison for two years without trial may apply for release; and if he will make a statement. [36262]

Mr. Hanley: I shall write to the hon. Gentleman shortly.

English Language Training

Mr. Nicholas Winterton: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what is the total value of funding for English language training in eastern Europe which has been dispensed by Her Majesty's Government to the British Council; what proportion of these resources has been used to finance facilities of services directly managed by the British Council; and what proportion has been put out for competitive tender to other private sector commercial firms or suppliers in the years 1991–92, 1992–93, 1993–94 and 1994–95. [35623]

Mr. Hanley: The council's grant-in-aid from the FCO was enhanced from 1991–92 to support a co-ordinated strategy to promote English teaching and learning in central and eastern Europe. The total operational funding over the period 1991–92 to 1993–94 was £12.2 million. Funding was at a similar level in 1994–95 but detailed figures are not yet available. This initiative supports 43 resource centres, maintains 120 specialist posts in 98 key ministries, reaches 37,000 teachers of English, and supports 400 senior English language professionals.

The council has additionally managed know-how fund projects to a total value of £700,000 over the period and administered English language teaching for the armed forces of 13 countries on behalf of the FCO to a value of £350,000.

Forty per cent. of total expenditure in 1991–92 to 1993–94 consisted of the appointment on contract of freelance ELT specialists.

Activity worth £3.17 million was subcontracted through open tendering. The council estimate that up to 85 per cent. of all grant-in-aid expenditure was devoted to the procurement of British goods and services, particularly books, training and freelance support.

Civil Service

Ms Armstrong: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will list for each civil service grade in his Department the number of (a) male and female (i) full-time and (ii) part-time employees. [35457]

Mr. Hanley: The numbers of permanent industrial and non-industrial staff in the FCO on 1 April 1995 were:

EU Foreign Policy

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs whether he will veto the proposed appointment of an EC foreign affairs supremo to promote an EC foreign policy. [35196]

Mr. David Davis: The Government will oppose any measures that have the effect of undermining the principle of intergovernmentalism in the conduct of the EU's common foreign and security policy—CFSP. Any proposals to appoint a senior figure to promote CFSP would need to be judged in this light. Responsibility for the formulation and execution of EU foreign policy is and must remain a matter for EU member states.

Equal Opportunities

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what measures his Department has taken to encourage the promotion of women into senior positions within his Department and its executive agencies. [35674]

Mr. Hanley: The FCO is committed to equality of opportunity for all its employees. Women make up 35 per cent. of non-industrial civil servants employed by the FCO and the proportion of women is increasing at all management levels. The proportion of women at executive officer level—first management level—has increased from 30 per cent. in 1985 to cover 44 per cent. in 1995. Numbers of women at DS5—middle management level—have risen by 30 per cent. in the last four years. There are six female heads of mission.

The FCO has an active programme of measures to encourage promotion of women into senior grades.

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will list (a) the number of (i) male (ii) female employees, (b) the number of officials employed at each of the principal grades and the numbers and percentages of women employed at these grades and (c) the numbers of staff employed at administrative grades and the number and percentages of these staff that are women, in his Department and each of its executive agencies for each year since 1985. [35663]

Mr. Hanley: The information requested by the hon. Member for 1992, 1993, 1994 and 1995 is as follows:

Filipinos

Mr. Geoffrey Robinson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many Filipino wives of United Kingdom husbands applied from Manila for settlement visas in the United Kingdom in (a) 1992, (b) 1993 and (c) 1994; and how many were refused. [35659]

Mr. Hanley: The information is not available in the form requested .

Application for settlement visas were received in Manila as follows:

	Received	Refused
1992	917	359
1993	702	321
1994	807	257

These will include applications from wives and other settlement categories.

Mr. Robinson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if the number of refusals of applications for permanent settlement made from Manila is in line with refusals from other overseas posts. [35660]

Mr. Hanley: The settlement refusal rate for Manila in 1994 was 31.8 per cent. The global average was 21.6 per cent. and the average for south east Asia was 18.4 per cent.

Entry Clearance

Mr. Geoffrey Robinson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what monitoring of overseas posts takes place by his Department to ensure that particular posts are not refusing abnormally large numbers of applicants for either visitors' visas or permanent settlement visas. [35658]

Mr. Hanley: Statistics on both settlement and non-settlement entry clearance applications are monitored closely by the migration and visa department. Refusal rates are included in these statistics, which are published annually in the "Command Paper on Immigration Statistics". Applicants refused entry clearance for settlement or other long-term categories have a right of appeal to the independent appellate authorities. Entry clearance refusals in categories which no longer have a right of appeal following passage of the Asylum and Immigration Appeals Act, 1993 are reviewed, in all cases, by entry clearance managers in posts. Additionally a scientifically random sample of those refusals is reviewed by Dame Elizabeth Anson, the independent monitor of entry clearance refusals, who will present her next report in November.

World Conference on Women

Mr. Tony Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs (1) what will be the membership and leadership of the Government's delegation to the fourth world conference on women in Beijing; [35760]

(2) if the Government will support paragraph 97 of the draft platform of action at the fourth world conference on women in Beijing; [35761]

(3) if the Government will support the draft programme of action at the fourth world conference on women in Beijing that there should be equal relationships between women and men in matters of sexual relations and reproduction, with particular reference to (a) full respect for physical and mental integrity, (b) mutual respect and (c) shared responsibility for sexual behaviour. [35762]

Mr. David Alton: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs (1) if his Department will guarantee the safety of those attending the UN conference on women in Beijing; and if he will make a statement; [36084]

(2) if he will make a statement on the US State Department's policy that they are unable to guarantee the safety of US citizens attending the UN conference on women in Beijing; [36085]

(3) what assessment he has made of the threats by Sweden and Norway to boycott the UN International Women's Conference in Beijing. [36106]

Sir Nicholas Bonsor: I shall write to the hon. Gentlemen shortly.

Sri Lanka

Mr. Mike Gapes: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs (1) what steps Her Majesty's Government will take to support and assist the resumption of the peace process in Sri Lanka; [35966]

(2) if it is his policy to support a permanent ceasefire between the Sri Lanka Government and the Tamil Tigers; [35959]

(3) how much military assistance and training have been given to the Sri Lankan Government in the last year; [35964]

(4) if he will make a statement on the breakdown of the ceasefire in Sri Lanka; [35957]

(5) if he will make a statement on British Sri-Lankan relations; [35967]

(6) what steps her Majesty's Government are taking to press for a peaceful solution to the war in Sri Lanka; [35963]

(7) when the British ambassador to Sri Lanka or other British diplomats last visited Jaffna; [35958]

(8) what representations have been made to the Government of Sri Lanka about human rights abuse in Sri Lanka in the last year. [35965]

Mr. Hanley: I shall write to the hon. Gentleman shortly.

China (Human Rights)

Mr. Alton: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs (1) what advice he will give to British citizens planning to attend the UN conference on women in Beijing with regard to their personal safety if they are known to have been critical of China's human rights record; [36086]

(2) what advice his Department has issued in the last 10 years to British citizens, who are known to have been critical of China's human rights record, or human rights activists, when travelling to China. [36087]

Mr. Hanley: I shall write to the hon. Gentleman shortly.

Mrs. Resham Bi

Mr. Max Madden: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs when a decision is to be taken by the post in Islamabad on the application to enter the United Kingdom by Mrs. Resham Bi (Ref.IMM/C2414); and if he will make a statement. [36266]

Mr. Hanley: I shall write to the hon. Gentleman shortly.

Mr. Ghazanfer Ali

Mr. Max Madden: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will request the post in Islamabad to arrange to visit Mr. Ghazanfer Ali, a prisoner in Mirpur district prison, who has been admitted to a local hospital. [36265]

Mr. Hanley: I shall write to the hon. Gentleman shortly.

Iraq (UNSCOM Report)

Mrs. Clwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many British companies have been referred to in the UNSCOM report. [36328]

Mr. David Davis: I shall write to the hon. Lady shortly.

Mrs. Clwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many prosecutions of British companies are pending subsequent to the United Nations Special Commission on Iraq—UNSCOM—report [36329]

Mr. Heathcoat-Amory: I have been asked to reply.

I regret that it has not been possible to provide a substantive answer before the summer recess. I shall write to the hon. Member shortly and place a copy in the Library.

Wrong Doing

Mrs. Clwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs, pursuant to his answer of 17 July, what is his definition of wrong doing. [36375]

Mr. David Davis: I shall write to the hon. Lady shortly.

Foreign Affairs Council

Mr. Sykes: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will make a statement on the recent meetings of the Foreign Affairs Council. [36380]

Mr. David Davis: The Council opened with a general debate on the presidency's programme for their term of office. My right hon. and learned Friend the Secretary of State made a statement, the text of which is available in the Library of the House.

The A points listed in document 8853/95, which will be deposited in the Library of the House as soon as it is available, were adopted unanimously.

The Council took note of the European Parliament resolutions in documents 8507/95 (PE-RE 49) and 8160/95 (PE-RE 45). Copies of these documents will be deposited in the Library of the House as soon as they are received.

Members of the Council acting as an inter-governmental conference reappointed six judges and replaced one judge on the court of first instance.

The EU/Tunisia Euro-Mediterranean Association agreement and the EC/Vietnam co-operation agreement were signed in the margins of the Council.

The proposed EU/Croatia trade and co-operation agreement was referred to COREPER for further work.

On Bosnia, future aid requirements were discussed, and Council conclusions agreed.

The EC/Russia interim agreement was signed in the margins of the Council.

Second meetings of association councils with Hungary and Poland took place. Discussions in both focused on the pre-accession process.

Agreement was reached on terms for concluding the negotiations with Israel for a new agreement with the EU.

The Commission gave a brief progress report on the negotiations for new agreements with Morocco and Egypt.

The Council confirmed the appointment of Mr. Carl Lidbom, a former Swedish Minister, as head of the EU electoral unit for the Palestinian elections.

The Commission presented a communication on the future of EU/Cuba relations, which was remitted to COREPER for further work.

The presidency reported on an informal trilogue that had taken place on 12 July between themselves, the Commission, and the European Parliament.

The Council agreed that the presidency should acknowledge the requests for accession by Romania and Slovakia.

The Council reached agreement in principle on a proposal to provide food aid to certain Republics of the Former Soviet Union.

The Commission reported that it was working on a communication on EU/US relations, to be delivered at the October Council.

The Council agreed conclusions on export credits which envisage a substantive debate at the October Council.

Agreement was reached in principle on the EURATOM/US agreement on nuclear trade.

Finally, the Council agreed unanimously that the Commission should pursue an interim agreement in the WTO financial services negotiations.

A copy of the Council conclusions will be placed in the Library of the House as soon as they are received by the Foreign and Commonwealth Office.

Embassies

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs, pursuant to his answer of 6 July, Official Report, column 326, if he will provide a breakdown of the figures for vehicles bought for posts abroad, specifying where possible the post and type of vehicle. [34290]

Mr. Hanley [holding answer 13 July 1995]: A list broken down by post and type, showing FCO, including ODA, purchases of official vehicles over the last five financial year is being placed in the House Library.

PRIME MINISTER

Michael John Smith

Mr. Blair: To ask the Prime Minister if he has received the report of the Security Commission on the case of Michael John Smith. [36331]

The Prime Minister: My right hon. Friend the Lord President announced on 11 January 1994 that after consultation with the late leader of the Opposition, I had asked the Security Commission to investigate the circumstances in which breaches of security had, or might have, occurred arising out of the case of Michael John Smith, who was convicted on 18 November 1993 of offences under section 1 of the Official Secrets Act 1911; and to advise in the light of that investigation whether any change in security arrangements was necessary or desirable.

An appeal by Smith against his conviction was dismissed by the Court of Appeal (Criminal Division) on 8 June 1995, but his appeal against sentence was allowed and the sentence was reduced from 25 years to 20 years. The Commission has now submitted its report to me and it is being published this afternoon as a Command Paper, with the exception of some technical and procedural details which it would not be in the public interest to publish on national security grounds. I am most grateful to the Chairman, Lord Lloyd, and to Sir John Blelloch, Sir Derek Boorman and Lord Tombs.

The Commission has fully examined the period of Smith's career in defence-related work. The Commission was critical of the initial failure by the Security Service to match Smith's record as a communist with his application for security clearance at EMI in 1976. The Commission felt that there was an unwarranted delay between Smith's identification as a potential threat and these facts being communicated to the Ministry of Defence and Smith's employer. It was concerned about the Security Service's eventual decision to relax its recommendations about Smith when he was put forward for clearance for work at GEC in 1986. It was also unhappy with the way in which the Ministry of Defence agreed to Smith having access to confidential information at GEC.

However, the Commission recognises that much has changed since these events took place. The threat from subversive organisations is much lower. The Soviet Union and the Warsaw pact no longer exist. In addition, the Commission has been called upon to investigate a number of other security breaches since 1978 when Smith's clearance was withdrawn and its recommendations have led to significant improvements in the areas of vetting, and more widely, in the field of protective security. Over the same period, Government Departments have also taken initiatives to improve protective security practices. In the light of all this, the Commission has made a number of recommendations. These, in summary, are:

(a) that the Security Service should continue to keep its organisation and internal lines of communication under review;

(b) that in cases where candidates lie during the security clearance procedure there should be a very strong presumption against the granting or reinstatement of a clearance;

(c) that an interview with a subject should be used where appropriate to resolve doubts about a security clearance;

(d) that the written levels of assessment of an individual should be unambiguous and that all relevant information should be made available to the relevant Government Department before a decision is made on an individual clearance;

(e) that decisions on the clearance of individuals working on contracts involving access to protectively marked assets in an industrial concern should be taken by Government Departments only after appropriate consultation with the employer;

(f) that levels of access granted to individuals in industry should be clear and capable of effective implementation;

(g) that in any case where a security clearance is subject to any limitation, that individual's behaviour and performance should be monitored and reviewed regularly by the Security Service with the employing company;

(h) that judgements based on experience should not be given excessive credence in work of the Security Service; and

(i) that appeal arrangements against a decision to withhold or limit clearance both in the civil service and in industry may need to be strengthened.

The recommendations of the Security Commission have been accepted in principle by the Government subject to further consideration of some detailed points: and work is now in hand to ensure that they are effectively implemented within government and in industry.

I announced to the House on 15 December 1994 that following a comprehensive review of protective security arrangements generally, a new system for the security vetting of Government employees and contractors would be introduced from 1 January 1995. This will provide the opportunity to consider how best to implement the recommendations of the Security Commission.

Exchange Rate Mechanism

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Prime Minister what considerations led to the policy he adopted towards the ERM in October 1990. [35260]

The Prime Minister: The decision to participate in the ERM from October 1990 was taken in order to reinforce the Government's counter-inflationary policy at that time.

Consultants

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Prime Minister how many contracts and for what total sum were let out by his department and agencies for which it is responsible to (a) Coopes and Lybrand and its subsidiaries, (b) Peat Marwick and its subsidiaries, (c) Ernst and Young and its subsidiaries, (d) Arthur Andersen and its subsidiaries, (e) Price Waterhouse and its subsidiaries, (f) Grant Thornton and its subsidiaries, (g) Stoy Hayward and its subsidiaries (h) Robson Rhodes and its subsidiaries and (i) Pannell Kerr Forster and its subsidiaries for privatisation, market testing, management advice, accounting, audit, consultancy and other services in 1993–94 and 1994–95. [33910]

The Prime Minister: None.

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Prime Minister (1) if he will indicate which five consultancy firms have received most contracts from his Department by (a) number of contracts and (b) monetary value in the last five years for which figures are available; [33442]

(2) how many contracts his Department has had with consultants; and what has a been the total cost in each of the last five years. [33568]

The Prime Minister: For this purpose my office is part of the Cabinet Office. I refer the hon. Member to the reply given by my hon. Friend the Parliamentary Secretary, Office of Public Service, on 18 July.

'Mr. Milburn: To ask the Prime Minister which firms of consultants employed by his Department over the last year have been paid more than £1,000 per day. [33931]

The Prime Minister [holding answer 12 July 1995]: For this purpose, my office is part of the Cabinet Office. I refer the hon. Member to the reply given by my hon. Friend the Parliamentary Secretary, Office of Public Service on Monday 17 July, Official Report, column 903.

Small Businesses

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the Prime Minister if he will make a statement on the results of (a) his policies and (b) his Department in helping small businesses over the last 12 months as against the previous 12 months; and if he will publish the performance indicators by which his Department monitors those achievements and the statistical results of such monitoring. [34696]

The Prime Minister: The Government recognise the crucial role played by small firms in the UK economy and aim to help them by providing sound economic conditions—keeping inflation and interest rates low; reducing legislative, administrative and taxation burdens; and where appropriate provide direct assistance in the forms of specialist advice and support and easing access to finance.

The recently announced White Paper "Forging Ahead" outlines a programme of measures to assist the growth and competitiveness of the small firms sector.

Specific measures to assist small firms are the responsibility of my right hon. Friends, the President of the Board of Trade, the Secretary of State for Scotland and the Secretary of State for Wales. For details of specific programmes, I refer the hon. Member to their replies today.

Mr. Ghanzanfer Ali

Mr. Madden: To ask the Prime Minister if he will urge the Government of Azad-Kashmir to release from Mirpur district prison Mr. Ghanzanfer Ali to obtain medical treatment in the United Kingdom. [36263]

The Prime Minister: Ghanzanfer Ali was admitted to a civil hospital in Mirpur 10 days ago. Our High Commission in Islamabad is obtaining details of his medical condition.

Millennium Commission

Mr. Chris Smith: To ask the Prime Minister in what capacity the membership of the First Secretary of State of the Millennium Commission has now been confirmed. [25710]

The Prime Minister: There has been no change in the status of the First Secretary of State as a member of the Millennium Commission since his appointment by HM the Queen on 17 February 1994.

Scottish Education Department

Mr. John McFall: To ask the Prime Minister what consideration was given to the role of the Scottish Office Education Department during the merger of the Department of Employment and the Department for Education. [34132]

The Prime Minister: My right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for Scotland has ensured that ministerial responsibility for education and training in the Scottish office are combined. In addition, he has agreed with my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for Education and Employment arrangements to ensure close consultation on labour market issues, including agreement of the annual performance targets for the Employment Service and new initiatives to help unemployed people.

Advertising of Government Posts

Mr. Michael: To ask the Prime Minster if it is his Government's policy to advertise posts in its employ on the basis of offering a salary but inviting applications from those willing to work on a volunteer, unpaid basis. [36605]

The Prime Minister: I have asked my right hon. Friend the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster to write to the hon. Member.

Single Currency

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Prime Minister what considerations underlie his decision to hold open the possibility of the United Kingdom accepting a single currency in the future. [35204]

The Prime Minister: I believe that we should judge whether or not to join a single currency on the basis of our national interest, given the circumstances of the time. We do not know what those future circumstances might be. It is therefore too early for us to make a decision one way or the other. Furthermore, as I told the House on 28 June, Official Report, columns 893–94, I believe that it is essential for this country to participate fully in the debate over economic and monetary union, to make our practical views count and to stand up for our interests in Europe. We would forfeit our influence over the debate if we exercised our opt-out now. That would not be in our interests.

Computer Equipment and Consultancies

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Prime Minister (1) if he will list the top 10 suppliers of computer equipment to his Department and its agencies in the last five years, indicating the total value of the contracts received; [34549]

(2) which firms have won computer consultancy contracts from his Department or its agencies over the last five years, indicating the number of contracts per firm; [33929]

(3) how much his Department or its agencies have spent on computer consultancy in each of the last five years; and what is the expected expenditure over the next five years. [33930]

The Prime Minister [holding answers Wednesday 12 July and Friday 14 July]: For this purpose my office is part of the Cabinet Office. I refer the hon. Member to the reply given by my right hon. Friend the Parliamentary Secretary, Office of Public Service, on 18 July.

Honours (Civil Service Secretaries)

Mr. Berry: To ask the Prime Minister (1) how many honours in the birthday list were awarded to personal secretaries in the civil list; [34390]

(2) how many honours in the birthday list were awarded to (a) civil servants, (b) local government officials, (c) local authority councillors and (d) police officers. [34391]

The Prime Minister [holding answer Monday 17 July 1995]: My recommendations for the birthday honours list contained 1,055 names. Of these 434 were given specifically for their voluntary service, and many others had also given voluntary service which supported their other claims. The list included 10 personal secretaries in the civil service out of a total of 171 civil servants at all grades, including many working for agencies. The list also included 11 local government officials, 13 local authority councillors and 28 police officers.

Arms Sales (Iraq and Iran)

Mr. Alfred Morris: To ask the Prime Minister if any United Kingdom bank involved in the sale of arms to Iran or Iraq during the Scott inquiry acted during that time in the service of Her Majesty's Government; and in what capacity. [34320]

The Prime Minister: [holding answer Friday 14 July 1995]: I am not aware of any such involvement. If the right hon. Member has any relevant information on this subject he will wish to make it available to the appropriate authorities.

TREASURY

Friendly Societies

Mr. Kirkwood: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many friendly societies have closed recently and how many of the closures were attributed to the regulatory requirements imposed by the Financial Services Act 1986. [34402]

Mrs. Angela Knight: So far this year, to June 1995, 10 societies have closed. Two of these were LAUTRO members and therefore subject to the regulatory requirements of the Financial Services Act regime. The reasons for closure are for the societies themselves to determine.

Trade Deficit

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what assessment he has made of the reasons for the change in the deficit on visible trade in the six months to April and of the likely effect on output, employment and investment in United Kingdom manufacturing; and if he will make a statement. [35197]

Mrs. Angela Knight: The Government's latest assessment of the factors affecting the visible trade deficit was given in chapter 1 of the Treasury's summer economic forecast, published on 28 June 1995. Net trade directly accounted for over half of the growth of GDP in the year to the first quarter of 1995. It is not possible to isolate the overall effects of trade performance on output, employment and investment.

Monetary and Exchange Rate Policies

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what is his estimate of the likely effect of his monetary and exchange rate policies on output, employment and investment in the manufacturing industry in 1996–97. [35199]

Mrs. Angela Knight: The Government's macroeconomic policies are designed to maintain a stable macroeconomic environment and strengthen the long-term performance of the economy and outlook for jobs, in order to promote rising prosperity based on sustained economic growth.

Trade Balance

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what is his estimate of the fall in the rate of exchange against the ecu which would be required to eliminate the visible trade deficit with EEC countries within a period of 12 months. [35201]

Mrs. Angela Knight: The balance of trade with the EU depends on a variety of factors, including competitiveness. The key to sustained gains in competitiveness is control over costs, and policies directed at permanently low inflation and competitive markets provided the best environment in which to achieve this. A policy of deliberate devaluation would only raise inflation and be damaging to long-run economic performance.

Chemical Industry

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what assessment he has made for the reasons for the difference between the rate of return in the United Kingdom chemical industry and that in other industrial countries. [35203]

Mrs. Angela Knight: There are no internationally comparable official figures available on the rates of return specific to the chemical industry in the United Kingdom and other industrial countries.

Company Returns

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) if he will list for the UK, Germany and the USA the pre-tax rates of return for manufacturing and non-financial corporations in each year since 1980; [35360]

(2) what has been the rate of return on manufacturing since 1970 (a) in the United Kingdom and (b) in other main industrial countries. [35256]

Mrs. Angela Knight: Information on United Kingdom net rates of return for manufacturing companies since 1970 is available from the CSO's shared database, which can be accessed through the Library of the House. Latest data were published on 11 July 1995 in the CSO "First Release" on 'Profitability of UK Companies' (CSO (95) 136). Information on rates of return in other main industrial countries since 1970 is published in Table 14 of the OECD's "National Accounts, Volume II".

Interest Rates

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) what has been the accuracy of Bank of England forecasts of the effect on the balance of trade of increases in real interest rates over the past 12 months; [35257]

(2) what has been the accuracy of (a) the Bank of England and (b) the Treasury forecast of the effect on output and employment of the changes of interest rates of the last 12 months. [35258]

Mrs. Angela Knight: Forecasts of output, employment and the balance of trade depend on many factors. It is not possible to isolate the effect of changes in interest rates.

Visible Trade Balance

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what has been the effect of monetary policy (a) in the last two years and (b) since the summer of 1994 on the visible trade balance. [35259]

Mrs. Angela Knight: It is not possible to isolate with any confidence the effects on the visible trade balance stemming from monetary policy. However, the Government's commitment to deliver permanently low inflation will provide a stable climate within which British industry can compete successfully, in both world and domestic markets.

EU Common Currency

Mr. Mills: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will make a statement about the targets agreed for timing of a common currency for European Union members after the recent EU conference. [30642]

Mrs. Angela Knight: I refer my hon. Friend to the remarks made by my right hon. Friend the Prime Minister on 28 June, during his statement to the House on the meeting of the European Council in Cannes, Official Report, columns 893–909.

Minimum Wage

Mr. William Powell: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what calculations he has made on the implications for public expenditure if a national minimum wage of (a) £3 per hour, (b) £3.50 per hour and, (c) £4 per hour, (d) £4.50 per hour and (e) £5 per hour were to be introduced on 1 September and for the fiscal year 1996–97; and if he will make a statement. [32872]

Mr. Waldegrave: A national minimum wage would destroy private sector jobs, leading to an increase in public expenditure on social security benefits for the unemployed. In the public sector, aggregate control of running costs in the civil service and our wider approach to pay means that higher spending on pay would have to be offset by spending cuts elsewhere.

Single Currency

Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer to what extent he was consulted by the European Commission about the contents of the Green Paper on the practical arrangements for the introduction of the single currency prior to its publication on 31 May. [33530]

Mrs. Angela Knight: The European Commission's Green Paper was discussed at ECOFIN on 22 May.

Mr. Prentice: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many civil servants are seconded to work with the European Commission on single currency issues. [33529]

Mrs. Knight: As of 3 July 1995 there was one United Kingdom civil servant seconded to the European Commission and working in Directorate-General II, Economic and Financial Affairs, the responsibilities of which include work on economic and monetary union.

Consultancies

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will estimate the cost of employing consultants in connection with privatisation programmes in which his Department has been engaged since 1980. [33450]

Mrs. Angela Knight: Information prior to 1991 is not held centrally and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost. Information for 1991 to date is as follows:

	£000
1991–92	8 891
1992–93	1,429
1993–94	5,019
1994–95	4,500

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many contracts his Department has had with consultants; and what has been the total cost in each of the last five years. [33499]

Mrs. Knight: I regret that information prior to 1991 can be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

The table gives the number and value of consultancy contracts awarded by HM Treasury by financial year from 1991–92 to 1994–95. In addition the Department has also incurred expenditure on professional fees in connection with the privatisation programme. These are shown separately.

	Consultancy contracts		Privatisation contracts
Year	Number of contracts	Value (excluding VAT) £000	Number of contracts	Value (excluding VAT) £000
1991–92	14	'258	10	8,891
1992–93	92	1,029	14	1,429
1993–94	70	1,404	12	5,019
1994–95	37	997	13	4,500

' August–March.

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer which firms of consultants employed by his Department over the last year have been paid more than £1,000 per day. [33869]

Mrs. Angela Knight [holding answer 12 July 1995]: The information requested is not held in a form that is readily accessible and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will indicate which five consultancy firms have received most contracts from his Department (a) by number of contracts and (b) monetary value in the last five years for which figures are available. [33431]

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many contracts and for what total sum were let out by his Department and agencies for which it is responsible to (a) Coopers and Lybrand and its subsidiaries, (b) Peat Marwick and its subsidiaries, (c) Ernst and Young and its subsidiaries, (d) Arthur Andersen and its subsidiaries, (e) Price Waterhouse and its subsidiaries, (f) Grant Thornton and its subsidiaries, (g) Stoy Hayward and its subsidiaries and (h) Robson Rhodes and its subsidiaries and (i) Pannell Kerr Forster and its subsidiaries for privatisation, market-testing, management advice, accounting, audit, consultancy and other services in 1993–94 and 1994–95. [33917]

Mrs. Angela Knight: I regret that is has not been possible to provide a substantive answer before the summer recess. I shall write to the hon. Members shortly and place a copy of the letters in the Library.

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) how much his Department and its agencies have spent on computer consultancy in each of the last five years; and what is the expected expenditure over the next five years; [33864]

(2) which firms have won computer consultancy contracts from his Department and its agencies over the last five years; and what is the number of contracts per firm. [33896]

Mrs. Angela Knight [holding answer 12 July 1995]: Details of consultancy contracts are held on the Treasury contracts database. But as the database cannot identify computer consultancy separately, the information requested could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Capital Gains

Mr. Denzil Davies: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what would be the total cost in a full year of charging individuals, companies and trusts at the rate of 25 per cent. on their capital gains while increasing the annual gross exemption and the chattels exemption to £10,000 in all cases. [34209]

Mr. Jack: The cost of charging individuals, companies and trusts at the rate of 25 per cent. on their capital gains while increasing the annual exempt amount for individuals to £10,000 and trusts to half this amount is estimated to be £450 million for 1996–97 liabilities, rising to £700 million in a full year in the medium term. It is not possible to estimate the cost of increasing the chattels exemption to £10,000, but this is likely to be very small in comparison with the figures of £450 million or £700 million.

Estimates given take account of the likely effect of changes on the volume of disposals in a full year, caused by changes in taxpayers' behaviour.

Inheritance Tax

Mr. Denzil Davies: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what would be the total cost in a full year of increasing the nil band of inheritance tax to £250,000, reducing the 40 per cent. band to 25 per cent. and exempting from tax all lifetime gifts except those made within three years of death. [34208]

Mr. Jack: The full year cost in 1996–97, measured against an indexed base, of increasing the inheritance tax threshold to £250,000, reducing the rate of tax from 40 per cent. to 25 per cent., and exempting from tax all lifetime gifts made more than three years before death is estimated to be just over £1 billion.

Machinery and Plant Investment

Mr. Sheerman: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer for which periods in the last 30 years 100 per cent. capital allowances for investment in machinery and plant have been available. [35070]

Mr. Jack: One hundred per cent. capital allowances were available for expenditure on machinery and plant incurred between 22 March 1972 and 13 March 1984.

One hundred per cent. capital allowances were also available between 27 October 1970 and 21 March 1972 for expenditure on the provision of a new ship or on new non-mobile machinery or plant for use for industrial purposes in a development area or Northern Ireland. The requirement that the machinery or plant had to be used for industrial purposes was removed between 20 July 1971 and 21 March 1972.

One hundred per cent. first year capital allowances were phased out as part of the Government's 1984 business tax reforms. The purpose of these reforms was to create a more neutral tax regime based on significantly lower rates of tax, with allowances for depreciation more closely reflecting useful asset life.

As a result of these reforms, the main rate of corporation tax has been reduced from 45 per cent. to 33 per cent. and the small companies rate is down from 30 per cent. to 25 per cent. since 1984.

EU Unemployment

Sir Teddy Taylor: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer on what grounds he voted at the Council of Ministers on 10 July for sanctions to be applied to EC states which were not proceeding effectively towards the convergence criteria; what is the current level of unemployment in the states concerned; and what estimate he has made of the effect on unemployment if the convergence criteria were adhered to by the nations concerned. [35187]

Mrs. Angela Knight: The ECOFIN Council on 10 July made confidential recommendations to each of the member states with an excessive deficit. No sanctions have been applied to any member state. Member states which receive support form the cohesion fund and also have an excessive deficit—Greece, Portugal and Spain—may be liable to have their cohesion funding suspended under article 6 of the cohesion fund regulation, but this is a decision for the Commission, not the Council.

The latest OECD standardised estimate of the unemployment rate in Greece in November 1994 is 4.7 per cent., in Portugal in April 1995 is 7.2 per cent., and in Spain in the first quarter of 1995 is 22.8 per cent. The Government believe that the best way to reduce unemployment is by increasing labour market flexibility and creating a stable macro-economic environment. Thus, adhering to the convergence criteria would be consistent with efforts to reduce unemployment in these countries.

Sir Teddy Taylor: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what is the latest estimate of total unemployment within the European Union; and what assessment he has made of the effect on this total of the implementation of the convergence criteria. [35186]

Mr. Waldegrave: The OECD's standardised estimate of the unemployment rate within the European Union in April 1995 is 9.6 per cent. The Government believe that the best way to reduce unemployment is by increasing labour market flexibility and creating a stable macroeconomic environment. The convergence criteria are consistent with the creation of a stable macroeconomic environment.

Firearms

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many firearms which had been purchase abroad were brought into the United Kingdom by private individuals in each year since 1992; and what were their categories, classes and types. [36125]

Mr. Heathcoat-Amory: I regret that the information is unavailable.

Manual Workers

Mr. Steinberg: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will list the average wage for manual workers in each of the regions of the United Kingdom. [36109]

Mr. Angela Knight: Analysis of average earnings for full-time manual workers in the regions of Great Britain is published in part A, table X5.1 of the "New Earnings Survey" report. Information for part-time manual females within the regions is contained in part F, table 180.1. Copies of the reports are available in the Library.

Labour Statistics

Mr. Byers: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will list (a) the percentage of males aged 50 to 65 in full-time employment and (b) the percentage of females aged 50 to 60 years in full time employment. [36122]

Mrs. Angela Knight: Over the quarter ending February 1995 56 per cent. of males aged 50 to 65 were in full-time employment compared with 28 per cent. of females aged 50 to 60 years.

Valuation Office

Mr. Matthew Banks: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer whether the three-year review of the Valuation Office as a next steps agency is now complete; and if he will make a statement. [36342]

Mrs. Angela Knight: Following the decision earlier this year that the Valuation Office should continue as a next steps agency in the public sector and within the Inland Revenue, the second and final stage of the three year review of the Valuation Office has been concerned with an evaluation of its performance to date, of the framework within which it operates and of the appropriate senior management structure for it.

The review is now complete. It has found that the Valuation Office has established an impressive track record since its formation as an agency in 1991, successfully completing a number of important operational tasks. The review has identified a number of areas where further improvements would be possible and proposes a comprehensive set of measures to enhance standards of customer service and increase the Valuation Office's overall efficiency and value for money. Details of these are described in an Inland Revenue press release published today.

I congratulate the Valuation Office on its work to date and I welcome and endorse the review's recommendations.

The review has also examined the potential for greater involvement of the private sector in the Valuation Office's work. In the light of this, it is proposed to undertake some carefully controlled experiments to use the private sector on rating and council tax work. The first pilots will take place during the early part of 1996–97. Details of the pilots will be developed in consultation with representatives of the valuation profession, and of other organisations and bodies directly interested.

As a result of a number of recent changes the senior management structure of the Valuation Office has been reduced from 25 posts at 1 January 1994 to 18 now. No further changes are currently proposed but it is planned to invite a non-executive member to join its management board. An appointment will be announced later this year.

No immediate changes to the Valuation Office's financial framework are proposed—but its suitability for establishment as a trading fund will be further considered.

No fundamental changes are proposed to the Valuation Office's operating framework, but some updating of its framework document is desirable. A new edition, together with a summary of the review, will be published later this summer.

There will be a period of consultation with staff and the trade unions to consider the detailed implementation of the proposals.

Tax Changes

Mr. Matthew Banks: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will update the information given in the July 1994 "Tax Ready Reckoner and Tax Reliefs" booklet. [36343]

Mr. Kenneth Clarke: The Treasury is today publishing a booklet containing estimates of the effects of various illustrative tax changes on tax receipts in 1996–97 and 1997–98 and estimates of the costs of the main tax reliefs in 1994–95 and 1995–96. Copies are being placed in the Libraries of both Houses.

Debt Management Review

Mr. Matthew Banks: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will make a statement on the outcome of the debt management review. [36381]

Mrs. Angela Knight: The debt management review was announced by the then Minister of State to the Treasury on 10 November 1994. It had the following terms of reference:

> "To review the existing arrangements for the setting of debt management policy, the selling of Government debt and the management of outstanding debt."

The review was conducted by the Treasury and involved an extensive process of consultation. It was conducted in close co-ordination with the Bank of England. The review covered gilt issuance only. It did not cover national savings.

The report of the review which I am today publishing jointly with the Bank of England contains the conclusions of the review and discusses a number of other current developments in the gilts market. In particular, the report outlines a number of proposals which represent a further move to an open, predictable and transparent gilts issuance policy, and which promote the liquidity and efficiency of the gilts market.

The Government and the Bank of England believe that, taken together, these changes will reduce funding costs, to the ultimate benefit of taxpayers. Copies of the report have been placed in the Libraries of the House.

Oil Installations

Mr. Alistair Darling: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what proposals he has to change the taxation of oil companies operating in the North sea; and what proposals he has to alter current rules governing reliefs companies may claim in respect of decommissioning or scrapping of oil installations. [31225]

Mr. Jack [holding answer 28 June 1995]: A number of structural changes to the rules for petroleum revenue tax were made in 1993 and my right hon. and learned Friend has no proposals for further major changes to that tax. The cost of decommissioning North sea oil installations is one of the costs of extracting oil in the North sea. As it is the profits of North sea oil companies that are taxed, it is right that tax reliefs should be given for relevant decommissioning costs.

Privatisation

Mr. Byers: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what was, for each company privatised since 1979, the highest number on the share register indicating the date, the date of the privatisation and the present size of the share register. [35093]

Mr. Jack [holding answer 17 July 1995]: The information requested is not held centrally and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost. The current size of individual company share registers is a matter for the companies themselves and their registrars.

Mr. McNamara: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will list those parts of his Department or departmental agencies which were privatised without an in-house bid; if he will indicate the expertise which was absent in his Department or departmental agencies which prevented an in-house bid taking place; which future parts of his Department or departmental agencies he intends to privatise; and which of them do not have the necessary in-house expertise to mount an in-house bid. [29416]

Mrs. Angela Knight: I regret that it has not been possible to provide a substantive answer before the summer recess. I shall write to the hon. Member shortly and place a copy of the letter in the Library.

Departmental Fraud

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer, pursuant to his answer of 14 February, column 576, if he will update the figures on fraud in Government Departments. [35515]

Mr. Jack [holding answer 18 July 1995]: Departmental returns on frauds and suspected frauds committed by departmental and agency staff in 1994–95, including cases where staff have colluded with outsiders, are being collated at present. The 1994–95 figures are expected to be available in early autumn.

Legislation

Mr. Kirkwood: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what legislation he plans to introduce; and if he will make a statement. [35316]

Mr. Jack [holding answer 18 July 1995]: The Government's plans for legislation will be announced in the Queen's Speech at the start of the 1995–96 Session.

Income Tax

Mr. Malcolm Bruce: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what are his estimates of the number of individuals who paid income tax at a top marginal rate of 40 per cent. or above in each year since 1979–80. [35359]

Mr. Jack [holding answer 18 July 1995]: Information was given in my reply to the hon. Member on 18 July.

Female Employees

Ms Armstrong: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will list for each civil service grade in his Department the number of (a) male and (b) female (i) full-time and (ii) part-time employees. [35461]

Mrs. Angela Knight: The numbers of permanent non-industrial staff on 1 April 1995—before the recent machinery of government changes—for HM Treasury, by grade, on a head count basis were as follows:

	Male		Female
	Full-time	Part-time	Full-time	Part-time

Taxation (Self-assessment)

Mr. MacShane: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what safeguards exist to ensure that tax details on people about to begin self-assessment tax returns do not fall into the hands of (a) General Motors, (b) Mr. Ross Perot and (c) American-based employees of the EDS computer company. [33524]

Mr. Jack: The Inland Revenue is responsible for the confidentiality of taxpayer records. Under the terms of its IT services contract with EDS Ltd. that company is required to maintain the Department's security and confidentiality standards while the Inland Revenue will monitor performance against those standards.

EDS does not process, handle or store taxpayer information outside the United Kingdom without the Department's consent;

EDS's employees and its agents and subcontractors sign the appropriate statutory undertaking not to disclose taxpayer information;

EDS reminds its employees, agents and subcontractors every six months of their obligations under the non-disclosure arrangements, and monitors compliance.

The Inland Revenue has the following safeguards built into the contract and will regularly inspect to ensure:

EDS reports to Inland Revenue all breaches of undertakings and the disciplinary action taken;

EDS maintains the security standards set out in the Inland Revenue's security manual;

EDS observes any departmental requirement not to use specified individuals on Revenue business;

EDS obtains security clearance for all personnel handling classified information; and

EDS ensures that all persons involved in delivering the Department's business are aware of their obligations under the Official Secrets Act 1911.

Legal sanctions—section 182 of Finance Act 1989, on conviction, a fine or imprisonment or both—apply to unauthorised disclosure of personal tax data whether for civil servant or private sector staff.

Mr. Ross Perot does not own EDS Ltd. It is a subsidiary of a US parent company, EDS Corporation, which is owned by General Motors.

Ms Quin: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many of the job losses envisaged as arising under the system of assessment will be redeployed to the fields of compliance and customer service under the change agreement signed between the Inland Revenue Staff Federation and the department of Inland Revenue; and if he will give the figures (a) in total and (b) by region and district. [36213]

Mr. Jack: When self-assessment is bedded down the Inland Revenue currently expects to employ around 3,000 fewer staff. This will be achieved only after implementation and is net after the expected deployment of staff into customer service and compliance work.

As the Inland Revenue gains a better understanding of the way self-assessment will work in practice, it is constantly reviewing those net savings. At present, the figures are not sufficiently developed to permit an estimate to be provided on the basis requested.

But in accordance with the change agreement, the Inland Revenue has offered to share the detail of that thinking with the main trade union involved—the Inland Revenue Staff Federation. The Inland Revenue remain committed to avoiding compulsory redundancies wherever possible.

Ms Quin: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what additional costs in excess of original estimates have been incurred in connection with the introduction of self-assessment of taxation. [36219]

Mr. Jack: No additional costs have been incurred to date.

Ms Quin: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if his Department expects to have identified every taxpayer to whom self-assessment will apply by the start date for the scheme; and if he will make a statement. [36214]

Mr. Jack: Yes, the Inland Revenue aims to identify all taxpayers to whom self-assessment will apply by the start date of its scheme.

Ms Quin: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will make a statement as to how the system of self-assessment will comply with the (a) compliance, (b) cost efficiency, (c) customer services and (d) caring for staff elements of the taxpayer's charter. [36212]

Mr. Jack: Self-assessment will be a clearer, more straightforward system. It has been designed following extensive consultation so that taxpayers will find it straightforward to understand and easier to meet their obligations. This will reduce costs for both taxpayers and the Revenue, provide a better customer service and improve compliance. The new arrangements will enable the Inland Revenue to focus its staff more on skilled customer service and compliance activity and less on routine processing activity, thereby enriching jobs under self-assessment.

Ms Quin: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) if he will publish details of the costs and savings involved in the introduction of self-assessment of taxation; [36217]

(2) if he will make a statement on the overall costs involved in the introduction of self-assessment. [36211]

Mr. Jack: I regret that it has not been possible to provide a substantive answer before the summer recess. I shall write to the hon. Member shortly and place a copy of the letter in the Library.

Ms Quin: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what studies his Department has undertaken in the last five years into systems of self-assessment of taxation in other countries. [36211]

Mr. Jack: In preparing for self-assessment the Inland Revenue looked at the experience of the following countries:

Austria
Canada
Denmark
France
Germany
Ireland
Italy
USA

More recently, visits by officials have been made to both Australia and New Zealand. Lessons from the practical experience in these countries has been built into planning for the implementation of self-assessment in the United Kingdom.

Mr. Mullin: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will list the contracts his Department has with the computer company EDS. [33174]

Mrs. Angela Knight: I regret that information prior to 1991 is not held centrally and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost. From 1991 onwards the Treasury has had only one contract with EDS for the supply and installation of a memory board.

Mr. MacShane: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what is the expected payment from public funds to the US-based EDS computer firm for running the self-assessment tax system for each year from 1994 to 2005. [33523]

Mr. Jack: The current estimate of the payment form public funds to EDS for developing and running the self-assessment tax system for each year from 1994 to 2005 is, in constant prices:

1994–95: £1 million
1995–96: £15 million
1996–97: £50 million
1997–98: £45 million
1998–99: onwards: £35 million

Mr. MacShane: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer on what basis the contract for providing the computer service to run the new tax self-assessment scheme was awarded to a foreign company. [33527]

Mr. Jack: The contract to provide all IT services to the Inland Revenue, not just for self-assessment, was awarded as a result of an open competition run under the EC and general agreement on tariffs and trade rules and advertised in the EC Official Journal. These rules open up to the bidding for Government contracts on a wide basis. The winner was EDS Ltd., a UK subsidiary of a US parent company, EDS Corporation. The EDS bid was evaluated as providing the Department with the best value for money with potential savings of £225 million over 10 years.

More information on the procurement is available in the National Audit Office report "Inland Revenue—Market Testing the Information Technology Office" which was published on 8 March 1995.

Inheritance Tax

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many estates paid inheritance tax in 1992; what was the total amount of tax collected; and if he will show for each decile of tax-paying estates the amount collected. [36121]

Mr. Jack: Available information is in terms of tax liabilities rather than tax collected. The number of inheritance taxpayers—covering both death cases and lifetime gifts—with tax liabilities in 1992–93 and the tax accrual are provisionally estimated at 23,000 and £1.2 billion respectively. The estimated proportions accounted for by each decile of taxpayers—death cases only—are given in the table.

Mr. Macdonald: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will list in anonymised form all current recipients of inheritance tax relief for natural heritage reasons in respect of land or buildings under sections 30 and 31 of the Inheritance Taxes Act 1984 by (a) date first granted and (b) amount of relief. [34841]

Mr. Jack: The information requested could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Capital Gains Tax

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many taxpayers paid capital gains tax in 1993; what was the total amount of tax collected; and if he will show for each decile of taxpayers the amount collected. [36118]

Mr. Jack: Available information is in terms of tax liabilities rather than tax collected. The number of capital gains taxpayers—covering individuals and trusts—with tax liabilities in 1993–94, and the tax accrual are provisionally estimated at 85,000 and around £1 billion respectively. The estimate proportions accounted for by each decile taxpayers are given in the table.

Mr. Malcolm Bruce: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what assessment he has made of the impact on United Kingdom competitiveness (a) the reduction and (b) the elimination of United Kingdom capital gains tax. [35804]

Mr. Jack: The Government keep the effect on competitiveness of all taxes under regular review.

Scott Inquiry

Mr. Byers: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what steps he will take to ensue that Customs and Excise complies with the request from the Scott inquiry to provide copies of the public interest immunity certificates recently signed covering the appeal by the former directors of Ordtec; and if he will make a statement. [36124]

Mr. Heathcoat-Amory: Customs and Excise sought the advice of the Court of Appeal regarding the request from the Scot inquiry to provide copies of the public interest immunity certificates and is following the guidance of the court which approved its course of action. Customs and Excise will therefore make arrangements for the delivery of the certificates to the Scott inquiry.

Economic Inactivity Rates

Mr. Hain: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what are the latest economic inactivity rates for adult males of working age for each United Kingdom region. [35878]

Mrs. Angela Knight: The data requested can be obtained from the labour force survey, a copy of which is available in the Library.

VAT (Public Transport)

Mr. Kirkwood: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if it is his policy not to remove zero rating of VAT from public transport; and if he will make a statement. [34397]

Mr. Heathcoat-Amory: I regret that it has not been possible to provide a substantive answer before the summer recess. I shall write to the hon. Member shortly and place a copy of the letter in the Library.

Offshore Banking

Rev. Martin Smyth: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what are the different requirements relating to United Kingdom funds in respect of offshore banking in (a) the Mediterranean, (b) the Channel Islands and (c) the West Indies; and if he will make a statement. [30869]

Mrs. Angela Knight: I regret that it has not been possible to provide a substantive answer before the summer recess. I shall write to the hon. Member shortly and place a copy of the letter in the Library.

Ministerial Travel

Mr. George Howarth: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will list (a) details of all overseas trips made by him or ministerial colleagues in his Department, paid for wholly or partly from public funds and (b) the purpose, destination and duration of such overseas trips, which officials accompanied him and the total cost in each case, including that of officials to public funds for each year since 1992. [32279]

Mrs. Angela Knight: I regret that it has not been possible to provide a substantive answer before the summer recess. I shall write to the hon. Member shortly and place a copy of the letter in the Library.

Spirits (Duty)

Sir David Steel: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what assessment he has made of whether the rise in duty on spirits imposed in December will deliver the increase in revenue the Treasury expected when it imposed the duty increase; and what estimates he has made of the extent of home releases in the current year. [34638]

Mr. Heathcoat-Amory: I regret that it has not been possible to provide a substantive answer before the summer recess. I shall write to the right hon. Member shortly and place a copy of the letter in the Library.

Barings Bank

Mr. Godsiff: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) what questions Jonathan Stone, head of the Barings Bondholder Action Group, has asked the Governor of the Bank of England; and on what grounds they have not been answered; [35482]

(2) what assessment he has made of why the Bank of England, as supervisor of the banking system, did not detect warning signals showing that Barings was facing unsustainable losses of capital before it went into administration. [35481]

Mrs. Angela Knight: I regret that it has not been possible to provide a substantive answer before the summer recess. I shall write to the hon. Member shortly and place a copy of the letter in the Library.

Firearms

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) how many firearms were legally imported in each year since 1992; and what were their categories, classes and types; [36127]

(2) how many firearms are known to have been illegally imported in each year since 1992; and what were their categories, classes and types. [36126]

Mr. Heathcoat Amory: I regret that it has not been possible to provide a substantive answer before the summer recess. I shall write to the hon. Member shortly and place a copy of the letter in the Library.

Taxation

Sir Ralph Howell: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what would be the estimated increase in direct taxes, national insurance contributions and indirect taxes if all those currently unemployed were employed and in receipt of (a) £120 per week gross of tax and national insurance contributions, (b) £140 per week gross and (c) £160 per week gross. [36305]

Mr. Jack: I regret that it has not been possible to provide a substantive answer before the summer recess. I shall write to my hon. Friend shortly and place a copy of the letter in the Library.

Mr. Pawsey: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what studies his Department has (a) commissioned and (b) evaluated into the correlation between increases in tax rates and falls in tax yields; and if he will make a statement. [32944]

Mr. Jack: There are a large number of studies looking at the link between marginal tax rates, incentives and yields. We keep developments in the field under constant review. This Government's policy is to cut marginal tax rates, when it is prudent to do so, to encourage enterprise and reward innovation. The share of total income tax paid by the highest 10 per cent. of tax payers has risen from 35 per cent. in 1978–79 to 44 per cent. this year.

Mr. Malcolm Bruce: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what is his estimate for the 1995–96 fiscal year of the revenue raised from income tax in respect of (a) the 20 per cent. rate, (b) the 25 per cent. rate and (c) the 40 per cent. rate. [35356]

Mr. Jack [holding answer 18 July 1995]: It is estimated that in 1995–96 total tax liability before allowing for the married couple's allowance and mortgage interest relief at source will be about £14.8 billion at the 20 per cent. rate, £56.3 billion at the 25 per cent. rate and £6.5 billion at the 40 per cent rate.

Mr. Bruce: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what are his estimate of the number of taxpayers with a total taxable income in the fiscal year 1995–96 to include salaries, dividends, interest receivable and pensions, within each band of £1,000 up to £60,000, then £5,000 up to £100,000, then £25,000 up to £200,000, then £50,000, up to £500,000, then £100,000 up to £1 million, and above £1 million. [35516]

Mr. Jack [holding answer 18 July 1995]: It is to provide reliable estimates in the detail requested. Provisional estimates for 1995–96 of the number of taxpayers analysed by total income for income tax purposes is given in the table.

New Earnings Survey

Mr. Barry Field: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what advice he will be giving the Department of the Environment about the discussions and meeting the hon. Member for Isle of Wight had with Mr. Orchard about the small database of the new earnings survey on the Isle of Wight and its effect on the area cost adjustment formulae. [35872]

Mrs. Angela Knight: I regret that it has not been possible to provide a substantive answer before the summer recess. I shall write to my hon. Friend shortly and place a copy of the letter in the Library.

Capital Taxation

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) if he will make a statement on (a) the social and (b) the economic arguments for the abolition of capital taxes; [36222]

(2) what are the implications of the abolition of capital taxes for (a) the rate of other taxes, (b) benefit levels and (c) expenditure on essential services. [36220]

Mr. Jack: I regret that it has not been possible to provide a substantive answer before the summer recess. I shall write to the hon. Member shortly and place a copy of the letter in the Library.

Fuel Duty Rebate

Mr. Kirkwood: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what has been the revenue raised in each year since 1994 as a result of freezing fuel duty rebate; and what estimate he has made of the level of increased fares as a result of the rebate being frozen. [34398]

Mr. Heathcoat-Amory: About £35 million in 1994–95. The level of fares in the industry is a matter for commercial consideration.

Annual Season Coach Tickets

Mr. Kirkwood: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will make annual season coach tickets tax deductible; and if he will make a statement. [34400]

Mr. Jack: No. Under the current law, the cost of annual season coach tickets for home-to-work travel is not tax deductible. There are no plans to change the law.

Friendly Societies

Mr. Kirkwood: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will undertake an immediate review of the effect of the regulatory requirements of the authorities established under the Financial Services Act 1986 on friendly societies. [34401]

Mrs. Angela Knight: I have no plans to do so. In the first instance this is a matter for the Personal Investment Authority, which has a working group considering the regulatory regime for friendly societies.

Low Pay

Mr. Kirkwood: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will commission a full statistical survey of current wage values in the border region in Scotland to determine the percentage of full-time and part-time workers on low pay; and if he will make a statement. [34396]

Mrs. Angela Knight: No. Such a survey would place large form-filling burden on businesses in the area. The annual new earnings survey already provides some relevant information on average earnings.

National Lottery

Ms Armstrong: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what has been the impact on the public balances of the income from the national lottery broken down between moneys in taxation and moneys due to be allocated for good causes. [35532]

Mr. Waldegrave: Latest outturn data show that the direct effects of the national lottery reduced the public sector borrowing requirement by £400 million in 1994–95. This was entirely on account of additional Government receipts of which lottery duty accounted for £100 million and the time delay between receipt of money for good causes into the national lottery distribution fund and its distribution accounted for a further £300 million. There may have been an indirect effect in the form of a small loss of tax yield, as a result of expenditure switching to the lottery, but this is difficult to quantify.

Export Prices

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what were the United Kingdom export prices relative to those of other EEC countries at current rates of exchange for each quarter since 1990. [35198]

Mrs. Angela Knight: Export price figures for the main manufacturing countries are published by the Central Statistical Office in the "Monthly Review of External Trade Statistics". These figures are also available on the central database of the Central Statistical Office, which can be accessed through the Library of the House. Figures for the other EC countries can be found in "International Financial Statistics" published monthly by the International Monetary Fund.

Exchange Rates

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what was the change in the real rate of exchange relative to those of other EEC countries between the fourth quarter of 1992 and the first quarter of 1994; and what assessment he has made of its effects on (a) the balance of visible trade with EEC and (b) output, employment and investment in the import-competing and export industries. [35200]

Mrs. Angela Knight: I refer the hon. Member to the answers given to him on 7 March, Official Report, column 102, and on 3 April, Official Report, column 909, and on 10 May, Official Report, column 543.

Mr. Mitchell: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will list the fall in the nominal rate against the deutschmark; and if he will indicate United Kingdom export prices for manufactures at current rates of exchange relative to those of the EEC Six and Sweden since the United Kingdom's entry into the exchange rate mechanism. [35212]

Mrs. Knight: Data for sterling's exchange rate against other EC members are published by the Central Statistical Office in "Financial Statistics", while export price figures for the main manufacturing countries are published in the "Monthly Review of External Trade Statistics". These figures are also available on the central database of the Central Statistical Office, which can be accessed through the Library of the House.

Mr. Mitchell: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what is his estimate of the effect of a rise of 5 pfennigs against the pound on the rate of inflation in United Kingdom manufacturing. [36291]

Mrs. Knight: Inflation in United Kingdom manufacturing depends on a number of factors, including sterling's exchange rate against the deutschmark. It is difficult to isolate the effects of one single factor.

Imports (Manufactures)

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will list the United Kingdom percentage share of the import market for manufactures in 1970, 1979, 1985 and 1994 for (a) the EEC Six (b) the countries that were members of the European Free Trade Area in 1970, (c) the Irish Republic, (d) the Commonwealth and (e) the combined figures for (a), (b), and (c).

Mrs. Angela Knight: The information required to calculate these import shares is not readily available, and estimates could be produced only at disproportionate cost.

Inward Direct Investment

Mr. Shore: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what proportion of total Japanese and American direct investment in the European Community came to the United Kingdom in each year since 1979. [35261]

Mrs. Angela Knight: The UK has attracted the lion's share of the stock of inward direct investment in the European Community. In 1993 the UK had about a third of all investment and over 40 per cent. of US and Japanese inward direct investment in the European Community.

Comprehensive data for direct investment flows between 1983 and 1992 are published in the OECD's "International Direct Investment Statistics Yearbook 1994", which is available in the House of Commons Library.

Female Employees

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what measures his Department has taken to encourage the promotion of women into senior positions within his Department and its executive agencies. [35676]

Mrs. Angela Knight: As part of a package of measures designed to ensure equality of opportunity within the department, the Treasury has set flow targets to measure the progress of women and ethnic minority staff. Among these targets are objectives (i) to achieve a pattern of promotion for men and women which is related to their representation in the field; (ii) to increase the proportion of women in the higher grades over time, and (iii) in the longer term, for women to be represented in the most senior grades in the same proportions as they are recruited into the Treasury in the "feeder grades".

Further measures to encourage the promotion of women include: action to address the perceived "long hours culture" within the Treasury, which is seen as a potential barrier to women; the introduction of an open system of postings within the department up to grade 4 level with the presumption that all posts are open to alternative working patterns except where a valid case is made to the contrary; and flexible working hours made available to more than one third of the staff.

The Treasury does not have any executive agencies.

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will list (a) the number of (i) male and (ii) female employees, (b) the number of officials employed at each of the principal grades and the numbers and percentages of women employed at these grades and (c) the numbers of staff employed at administrative grades and the percentages of these staff that are women, in his Department and each of its executive agencies for each year since 1985. [35665]

Mrs. Knight: The information is not available in the form requested, and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Incomes

Ms Corston: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what was the disposable income of households in (a) the lowest decile and (b) the highest decile in 1993 and 1994 for the households with (i) one adult, one child, (ii) one adult, two or more children, (iii) one man, one woman and one child, (iv) one man, one woman, two children (v) one man, one woman, three children, (vi) two adults, four or more children, (vii) three adults, one or more children and (viii) four adults, one or more children, following table 34 in the CSO family spending report for 1992. [34480]

Mrs. Angela Knight: The deciles for 1993 corresponding to those in table 34A of the report on the family expenditure survey for 1992 are given in the table. The figures are estimates from the FES, are subject to sampling variations, and have been rounded to the nearest pound. Data for 1994 are not available.

	Average weekly disposable income (£)
	Lowest decile	Highest decile
One adult, one child	68	255
One adult, two or more children	85	279
One man, one woman and one child	119	579
One man, one woman, two children	161	649
One man, one woman, three children	149	648
Two adults, four or more children	135	536
Three adults, one or more children	198	674
Four adults, one or more children	[1]—	[1]—

[1] Figures are not available as there are too few households in the sample to provide reliable estimates.

Ms Corston: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what was the disposable income of households in (a) the lowest decile and (b) the highest decile in 1993 and 1994 in actual terms per week, and as a percentage of the median for (i) the United Kingdom and (ii) Greater London—following table 34 in the CSO family spending report for 1992. [34473]

Mrs. Knight: The figures for 1993 in the table of average weekly disposable income are from the family expenditure survey. The figures are subject to sampling variations and have been rounded to the nearest ten pence. Data for 1994 are not available.

	Average weekly disposable income (£)			As a percentage of the median

Greater London	71.70	684.90	257.30	27.9	266.2

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will list the number and percentage of the adult population in each region and nation with less than the average annual national income level in each year since 1992. [34181]

Mrs. Angela Knight [holding answer 13 July 1995]: The average hourly earnings for employees in Great Britain on adult rates of pay were £7.56 in 1993 and £7.74 in 1994. The following tables show the numbers in the near earnings survey sample and percentages of those people earning less than the given amounts in the areas requested.

Corresponding figures for 1992 cannot be produced without incurring disproportionate cost.

General Government Financial Deficits

Mr. Malcolm Bruce: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will list for each Budget since 1965, and for the first fiscal year for which each Budget is designed (a) the implied or actual Budget forecast for the general government financial deficit as a proportion of gross domestic product and (b) the net fiscal effect of all Budget tax measures on the economy, expressed as a positive or negative percentage of gross domestic product. [35375]

Mr. Kenneth Clarke: The following table sets out the information requested, where available. Forecasts for the general government financial deficit were not published before the 1970 Budget. The net fiscal effect of Budget tax changes was not calculated on the present indexed basis prior to the 1982 Budget.

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will make a statement on budget deficit measures used by the United Kingdom's European partners. [34198]

Mr. Waldegrave [holding answer 18 July 1995]: The United Kingdom's European partners use a variety of budget deficit measures. Most are calculated on a cash basis. A common standardised measure of general government financial deficit is used in the excessive deficits procedure as set out in article 104c and the associated protocol of the treaty on European Union as amended as Maastricht.

British Nuclear Fuels Ltd.

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if the inclusion of BNFL will be subject to scrutiny by the National Audit Office following its inclusion in the public sector borrowing requirement; and if he will make a statement. [36203]

Mr. Waldegrave: The inclusion of BNFL in the public sector borrowing requirement statistics is unrelated to the question of scrutiny by the National Audit Office. As a public limited company, BNFL is subject to the normal Companies Act audit requirements, and is not audited by the National Audit Office.

Pensioners

Sir Andrew Bowden: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what percentage and number of one adult pensioner households have an average weekly expenditure of £74.26 or less according to the family expenditure survey 1993, table 4.1. [34823]

Mrs. Knight [holding answer 17 July 1995]: The percentage of one adult retired households who are mainly dependent on state pensions with average weekly expenditure of £74.26 or less is estimated, from the family expenditure survey 1993, to have been 65 per cent. This figure is subject to sampling variation.

Venture Capital

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will list the venture capital spent in each standard region and the number of companies assisted for each of the last available five years. [35411]

Mr. Jack [holding answer 18 July 1995]: On the basis of figures published by the British Venture Capital Association, the table shows the funds invested in the UK and the number of companies financed, analysed by region.

Amount (£ million) of venture capital invested by region

Research Projects

Mr. Welsh: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many research projects commissioned by his Department were given to companies based in Scotland in 1993–94 and 1994–95; and if he will make a statement. [31891]

Mrs. Angela Knight [holding answer 3 July 1995]: The Treasury did not award any research contracts to companies based in Scotland during the years in question.

Business Rating Appeals

Ms Coffey: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what plans he has to reduce the waiting time for business rating appeals to be dealt with in central region. [32543]

Mrs. Angela Knight [holding answer 6 July 1995]: In line with Valuation Office agency national policy, the current aim is to clear the vast majority of rating appeals made before 1 April 1995 by 31 March 1996.

It is expected that nationally, England and Wales, 330,000 1990 and 1995 rating list appeals will be cleared during this financial year.

Deputy Prime Minister

Mr. Winnick: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what will be the involvement of the Deputy Prime Minister in the work of his Department. [34033]

Mrs. Angela Knight [holding answer 13 July 1995]: I have nothing to add to the reply given by the Prime Minister on 11 July to the hon. Member for Pembroke (Mr. Ainger), Official Report, columns 496–97.

Department of Employment

Mr. Blunkett: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer which of the former Department of Employment's responsibilities his Department has now taken on; and which Minister is in charge of each area of responsibility. [34042]

Mrs. Angela Knight [holding answer 13 July 1995]: The Treasury has not taken on any of the former Department of Employment's responsibilities, but the Central Statistical Office has taken over responsibility for the production of employment statistics and labour market surveys. I am the Minister with responsibility for the Central Statistical Office.

World Wide Web

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will make a statement on the work his Department has carried out in the last 12 months in making information about his Department available to the public via the Government World Wide Web server known as "ww.open.gov.uk" and his plans and policies to make additional and new information available electronically on the server in the next 12 months. [34687]

Mrs. Angela Knight: The Treasury launched its own Internet service on 15 November 1994.

Material is provided on the Treasury's own Internet server on the World Wide Web. In addition to the World Wide Web, the same information can be obtained by electronic mail or by file transfer, FTP.

The addresses are:

Email mailing lists: maillist@hm-treasury.gov.uk

Email file transfer: ftpmail@hm-treasury.gov.uk

File Transfer (FTP): ftp.hm-treasury.gov.uk

World Wide Web: http://www.hm-treasury.gov.uk

The service gives details of the Budget, including my right hon. and learned Friend's Budget statement and all the Budget news releases.

Other documents that are available include Treasury news releases, speeches, minutes of my right hon. and learned Friend's monthly monetary meetings with the Governor of the Bank of England, reports of the panel of independent forecasters and details of the fundamental expenditure review of Treasury running costs.

There is a continuing programme to add more services including articles about specific topics of economic interest.

It is anticipated that individual e-mail addresses will be allocated later this year and the dedicated post of Internet editor will shortly be filled.

The Treasury's system can be accessed directly using any one of the addresses I have set out. In addition users can find the Treasury pages either on the "www.open.gov.uk" Government World Wide Web Server or through the server of the Central Office of Information. The Treasury's pages are, in both cases, linked by hypertext.

At the moment, users can also obtain help about the service using electronic mail. The address is "info@hm-treasury.gov.uk".

Small Businesses

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will make a statement on the results of (a) his policies and (b) his Department in helping small businesses over the last 12 months as against the previous 12 months; and if he will publish the performance indicators by which his Department monitors those achievements and the statistical results of such monitoring. [34691]

Mr. Jack: The Government recognise the importance of the small firms sector and are firmly committed to supporting it. Policy centres around providing the right environment in which small firms can succeed by creating a favourable economic climate with low inflation and stable interest rates, reducing administrative and regulatory burdens and providing direct assistance where required.

Specific examples of measures to help small firms, announced in my right hon. and learned Friend's last Budget were:

reduction in employers national insurance contributions to make it cheaper to take on new staff;

an extension of the existing scheme of transitional arrangements to ease the impact of the revaluation in business rates; enhancements to venture capital trusts and the enterprise investment scheme to promote investment in growing firms; consultation on the development of a financial management certificate and a review of the loan guarantee scheme to widen small firms' access to finance; various measures to reduce the burdens on small businesses, including consultation on a move to annual VAT returns and payments for small businesses and a simplified scheme of VAT accounting for small traders, closer alignment of national insurance contributions and income tax, an increase in the VAT registration threshold and a reduction in the penalty for failing to register for VAT.

The White Paper announced in May 1995 outlines a programme of measures to assist the growth and competitiveness of the small firms sector.

Fuel and Power Expenditure

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what has been the average household's expenditure on fuel and power in each year since 1985, by region. [34177]

Mrs. Angela Knight [holding answer 13 July 1995]: Estimates of the weekly average household expenditure by region are shown in successive published reports of the family expenditure survey.

Redundancies

Mr. Ian McCartney: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many redundancies occurred in his Department over the last 12 months; how many were voluntary; and what was the total sum spent on redundancy payments. [34598]

Mrs. Angela Knight [holding answer 14 July 1995]: There have been 33 redundancies in the Treasury over the past 12 months. All were voluntary.

The costs are a mixture of benefits payable immediately—which may include compensation lump sum and/or pension—plus costs arising over a longer term—that is, the annual compensation to staff under the age of 60. The total immediate cost is about £1.4 million and the longer-term costs are about £2.2 million spread over the next 10 years.

Staff Sickness

Mr. McCartney: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many days were lost in sickness in the last 12 months by employees in his Department (a) in total and (b) as a proportion of the number of days worked; and what was the cost of this absence. [34597]

Mrs. Angela Knight [holding answer 14 July 1995]: In the period 1 April 1994 to 31 March 1995, 19,480 days were registered as being lost due to sickness in HM Treasury. Where absences fall both before and after a weekend or public holiday, the weekend or public holiday is counted as part of the absence even though they are not "working days". It has not been possible, in the time available, to adjust the figures to present these absences as a proportion of the total number of days worked. Information is not held centrally that would enable the cost of such absence to be calculated, and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

DUCHY OF LANCASTER

Fire Safety Legislation

Mr. Pike: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster if the review team's report regarding fire safety legislation and enforcement matter arising from the deregulation proposals has now been considered; and when he expects to be able to make a statement on the outcome. [34237]

Mr. Beith: To ask the First Secretary of State when the fire safety legislation and enforcement review was published; when the consultation period ended; when the Government response will be published; and what factors have been responsible for any delay with publication. [34447]

Mr. Freeman: "The Interdepartmental Review of Fire Safety Legislation and Enforcement" was published on 22 June 1994 and the consultation period ended on 31 October 1994. There were over 460 responses, many of them raising important and complex issues. The deregulation task force, set up to help the Government promote deregulation, is now being consulted about the way ahead on fire regulation and enforcement, including our emerging findings on the review. The Government's response will be announced as soon as this process is complete.

Regional Offices (Directors)

Mr. Byers: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster if he will state for each regional Government office, the civil servant with overall responsibility, his department and his annual salary. [36112]

Mr. Freeman: The civil servants with overall responsibility for each integrated regional office are listed below:

Integrated regional office	Regional Director	Parent department	Grade
London	Mr. R. U. Young	Department of the Environment	Grade 2
Eastern Region	Mr. J. Turner	Department for Education and Employment	Grade 3
East Midlands	Mr. H. M. Lanyon	Department of Trade and Industry	Grade 3
Merseyside	Mr. J. F. Stoker	Department of the Environment	Grade 3
North East	Mrs. P. A. Denham	Department of Trade and Industry	Grade 3
North West	Miss M. T. Neville-Rolfe	Department of Trade and Industry	Grade 3
South East	Mrs. G. M. Ashmore	Department of Transport	Grade 3
South West	Mr. B. H. Leonard	Department of the Environment	Grade 3
West Midlands	Mr. D. R. Ritchie	Department of the Environment	Grade 3
Yorkshire and Humberside	Mr. J. C. M. Walker	Department for Education and Employment	Grade 3

The salary range for a grade 2 is from £67,500 to £98,000 and for a grade 3 from £55,000 to £82,500.

St. Bride's Minor (Land Sale)

Mr. Win Griffiths: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster if he will place in the Library the documentation relating to the sale of lands in the parish of Saint Bride's Minor, including Coiety Wallia common by the Duchy of Lancaster to the Dunraven estate. [35936]

Mr. Freeman: I understand that the question of title to the lands in the parish of St. Bride's Minor was discussed at some length with the hon. Member for Bridgend at a meeting attended by representatives of the Duchy of Lancaster and of the Dunraven estate in the House earlier this year.

If the hon. Member wishes to see the documents relating to the disposal of the Duchy's interest in that land, he is welcome to attend the Duchy of Lancaster Office at 1 Lancaster place, Strand where they will be made available to him.

Ministerial Cars

Mr. Malcolm Bruce: To ask the Prime Minister what make and type of Government car will be allocated to the Deputy Prime Minister and First Secretary; and what will be the cost of such a vehicle to the Exchequer, including the annual cost of the chauffeur. [34013]

Mr. Freeman: I have been asked to reply.

The Deputy Prime Minister and First Secretary of State does not use a car or driver from the Government car service. However he uses a car, together with a driver, on cost terms to the public service fully equivalent to the usual ministerial transport arrangements provided by the GCS—currently £43,628 per annum, excluding VAT.

The full terms of this arrangement are set out in a letter dated 16 March 1995, agreed when he was President of the Board of Trade. A copy of this letter has been deposited in the Library of the House.

Civil Servants

Ms Armstrong: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster if he will list for each civil service grade in his Department the number of (a) male and (b) female (i) full-time and (ii) part-time employees. [35459]

Mr. Horam: The numbers of permanent industrial and non-industrial staff on 1 April 1995—before the recent machinery of Government changes—on a headcount basis were as follows:

	Male		Female

Mr. Milburn: To ask the First Secretary of State (1) pursuant to his answer of 13 July, Official Report, column 712, how many times a behavioural condition has been applied to a civil servant leaving the Crown service in each of the last three years; and if he will break down the figures by Department; [35853]

(2) pursuant to his answer of 13 July, Official Report, column 712, if he will list the types of behavioural conditions applied during the last year to civil servants leaving the Crown service by Government Department; [35852]

(3) how many civil servants have left the service of the Crown under the business appointment rules in each Government Department in each of the last three years. [35830]

The Deputy Prime Minister: I regret that it has not been possible to provide answers before the summer recess. I shall therefore be writing to the hon. Member and will place a copy of the letter in the Library.

Mr. Wicks: To ask the First Secretary of State if he will make a statement on the number of civil servants in each Department who have either been made redundant or have sought early retirement; and if he will set out the pension and other public costs. [35821]

The Deputy Prime Minister: I regret that it has not been possible to provide an answer before the summer recess. I shall therefore be writing to the hon. Member and will place a copy of the letter in the Library.

HEALTH

Ministerial Visits

Mr. George Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will list (a) details of all overseas trips made by him, or ministerial colleagues in his Department, paid for wholly or partly from public funds and (b) the purpose, destination and duration of such overseas trips, which officials accompanied them and the total cost to public funds in each case, including that of officials for each year since 1992. [32254]

Mr. Sackville: I refer the hon. Member to the reply that the then Minister for Health, my right hon. Friend the Member for Peterborough (Dr. Mawhinney), gave the hon. Member for Newport, East (Mr. Hughes) on 3 November 1994, Official Report, columns 222–24, for information covering the period April 1992 to mid-October 1993.

Information on the dates, destinations and purpose of visits made by my right hon. Friend and ministerial colleagues since 14 October 1993 is shown in the table. The total cost of overseas travel by Ministers and private secretaries in each financial year is also shown.

Information on officials accompanying Ministers could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Research

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what research his Department has carried out (a) into women's nutrition and lifestyle, (b) in respect of an international stroke trial, (c) in respect of a randomised controlled trial of counselling and antidepressants in primary care and (d) into the use of the stroke test to examine monothematic delusional states; what were the findings; and if he will make a statement. [34046]

Mr. Malone: The information is shown in the table.

Title	Researcher/ Establishment
(a) Research relating to women and lifestyle
Further analysis of data from the National Survey of Sexual Attitudes and Lifestyles (ends January 1996)	Mrs. K. Wellings, London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine and Mrs. J. Wordsworth, St. Mary's Hospital
Evaluation of smoking cessation training pack for health care professionals working with young mothers (ends September 1995)	Professor H. Graham, University of Warwick
Protective factors in adolescent smokers (ends March 1996)	Dr. J. Holland and Professor A. Oakley, University of London
Quantative/behavioural study: why do adolescent girls smoke? (ends January 1996)	Dr. Lloyd, University of Sussex
A comparative study of the daily lives and smoking behaviour of working class women with children (ended December 1994)	Professor H. Graham, University of Warwick
Preventing relapses to smoking in pregnant women (ends December 1997)	Dr. P. Hajar, London Hospital Medical School, and Dr. R. West, St. George's Hospital
Health care delivery to drug-using pregnant women (ends December 1995)	Dr. H. Klee, Metropolitan University Manchester
The effects of passive smoking; analysis of data on the effects of mother and foetus in pregnancy (ended early 1994)	Professor J. Golding, University of Bristol
Prostitution and HIV related risk behaviour—a study of drug-using prostitutes, their clients and their health care needs (ended 1992)	Mrs. J. Faugier, University of Warwick
(b) International stroke trial
International stroke trial to randomise 20,000 acute stroke patients between treatment with aspirin, heparin, both or neither—funded by the Medical Research Council (MRC—ends 1997)	Dr. P. Sandercock and Professor C. Warlow, Edinburgh University

Title	Researcher/ Establishment
(c) Randomised controlled trial of counselling and antidepressants in primary care
Randomised controlled trial of counselling and antidepressants in primary care—funded by the MRC (ends 1997)	Dr. Lewis, Institute of Psychiatry, London
A comparison of the efficacy and cost effectiveness of counselling, cognitive behavioural therapy, and usual treatment by general practitioner for patients with depression and mixed anxiety and depression	National Health Service Research and Development Programme funding
To establish the efficacy and cost effectiveness of counselling in primary care for patients with chronic depression and anxiety	National Health Service Research and Development Programme funding
(d) Research into the use of stroop test to examine monothematic delusional states
To examine the clinical features and nosological status of eating disorders of childhood onset—in addition to other measures stroop paradigm will be used to measure the extent of psychopathological disturbance in children with eating disorders—funded by the MRC (ends 1988)	Professor Cooper, Institute of Child Health

Note:
1. In relation to (a), within a developing area of study, in collaboration with the MRC, the Department is undertaking several studies on the nutrition of adult men and women, and with children.
2. In relation to (b), the Stroop paradigm or test is a psychological test of information processing. The classical Stroop paradigm consists of a colour word. These may be either congruent (eg the word RED with a red coloured patch) or incongruent (eg the word BLUE with a red patch). When subjects are asked to read the word of identify the colour of the patch, the reaction time is slowed in the incongruous situation; this is known as the Stroop effect and is related to a more general psychological effect known as latent inhibition.

Radiation

Mr. Martyn Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what investigations his Department is currently undertaking in respect of research relating to radiation tests on humans. [34463]

Mr. Sackville: I refer the hon. Member to the reply that the Under-Secretary of State, my hon. Friend the Member for Battersea (Mr. Bowis), gave the hon. Member for Blaenan Gwent (Mr. Smith) on 18 July.

Correspondence

Mr. Michael Spicer: To ask the Secretary of State for Health when the hon. Member for Worcestershire, South can expect to receive a reply to his letter of 24 May to the hon. Member for Winchester. [35330]

Mr. Malone: I replied today.

GP Fundholding

Mr. MacShane: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what percentage of savings made by fundholding general practitioners have been used to increase the value of premises (a) nationally, (b) in South Yorkshire FHSAs and (c) in Rotherham FHSA. [36174]

Mr. Malone: This information is not available centrally.

Mrs. Beckett: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what has been the total cost of general practice fundholding in management allowances and start-up costs of buying computers since it started. [35524]

Mr. Malone: The available information is in the table.

£ million

	1990–91	1991–92	1992–93	1993–94	1994–95[1]
Practice fundholding in management allowances	6	14	29	49	66
General practitioner fundholding computers[2]	n/a	12	18	19	19

The data are estimates based on information reported by family health services authorities.
[1] Information on expenditure incurred in 1994–95 is not yet available. The information given is the total sums allocated.
[2] Prior to 1993–94, centrally collected data did not differentiate between fundholding and general medical services computer costs. Therefore the data for years 1990–91 to 1992–93 for computers to support fundholding are estiamted from the total expenditure on computers to support general practitioners.

Mrs. Beckett: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what evidence his Department has on whether general practice fundholding has affected the principle of equal access to treatment. [35521]

Mr. Malone: The aim of resource allocation in the national health service is to ensure that purchasers are allocated their patients' fair share of local NHS resources. It is then for purchasers to secure the most appropriate balance of services to meet their patients' needs within patients charter guarantees and national guidelines—including the 1991 agreement with the medical profession, which made it clear that provider units may not offer contracts to one purchaser which would disadvantage the patients of other purchasers.

Mrs. Beckett: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) if he will review the ability of general practitioner fundholders to retain savings for up to four years; and how much of the total savings have been so retained; [35525]

(2) if he will review the rules affecting the savings made by general practitioner fundholders; and if he will make a statement. [35520]

Mr. Malone: The general practitioner fundholding scheme is kept under constant review, including how efficiency savings can be used for the benefit of patients.

In the first three years of the scheme fundholders achieved efficiency savings of about 3.5 to 4 per cent. of budgets set amounting to around £110 million.

Mrs. Beckett: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will make a statement on the recommendations in the 27th report of the Committee of Public Accounts, HC264 of the present Session, on general practitioner fundholding. [35582]

Mr. Malone: The Government will respond to this report in the normal way.

NHS Trusts (Pensions)

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much has been paid in pensions to former directors of NHS trusts in each of the last three years. [35834]

Mr. Malone: This information is not available centrally.

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much has been paid in pension contributions to NHS trust executive members in each of the last three years. [35832]

Mr. Malone: This information is not available centrally. Trust executive members are eligible for membership of the national health service pension scheme in the same way as other employees.

Skin Conditions

Mr. Congdon: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what estimates have been made as to the extra financial costs incurred by an average family unit as a result of a child having eczema; [35929]

(2) what studies his Department has undertaken to assess the disruption caused to an average family where one child has eczema. [35930]

Mr. Sackville: None.

Mr. Congdon: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many complaints have been received about poor quality gloves causing skin reactions between (a) 1990 to 1994 and (b) 1994–95. [35931]

Mr. Sackville: The number of adverse incidents notified to the Medical Devices Agency from 1990 to 1994 were five and for 1994–95 three.

Mr. Congdon: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what estimates his Department has made as to the number of surgeons' hours lost as a result of skin diseases contracted by the use of poor quality rubber gloves; [35800]

(2) what estimates his Department has made as to the treatment costs of treating a child with eczema. [35928]

Mr. Sackville: This information is not available centrally.

Brook Hospital

Mr. John Austin-Walker: To ask the Secretary of State for Health on what date services from the Brook hospital will transfer to the Queen Elizabeth military hospital, Woolwich; what was the target date for transfer; and if he will make a statement. [25938]

Mr. Sackville: Greenwich Healthcare national health service trust intends to begin the transfer of services from the Brook Hospital to the Queen Elizabeth military hospital as close to the target of mid-August as possible. Clearly the highest priority is to ensure that local residents continue to have access to safe and effective health services.

Mr. Austin-Walker: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what is the number of redundancies as a result of the impending closures of the Brook hospital and the Queen Elizabeth military hospital, Woolwich; if he will provide a breakdown by occupation showing the numbers of NHS and MoD staff redundant; and if he will make a statement. [35939]

Mr. Sackville: This is a matter for Greenwich Healthcare national health service trust, in discussion with the Ministry of Defence. The hon. Member may wish to contact the chairman of the trust, Mr. Richard Baglin, for details.

Chronic Disease Management

Mr. Alex Carlile: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will make a statement on the availability of special illness clinics; and if he will list the reimbursements available to general practitioners for organising special illness clinics. [35862]

Mr. Sackville: Over 90 per cent. of general practitioners are running organised programmes of chronic disease management of £365 for patients with asthma or diabetes. Participating GPs receive an annual payment for setting up and overseeing a practice programme for either disease.

Poisons Unit

Mr. Illsley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health, pursuant to the answer of 4 April, Official Report, column 1037, which reports produced by the poisons unit are in the public domain; against which product action has been recommended; and what action has been taken so far. [36323]

Mr. Sackville: The poisons unit produces reports for the Department of Health, European Community and World Health Organisation. Several of the case reports considered by the Committee on Toxicity of Chemicals in Food, Consumer Products and the Environment were published in a scientific journal in 1994.

Officials within the Department of Health and the Ministry of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food are discussing the best ways of taking the COT's advice forward.

NHS Funding

Sir Ralph Howell: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what was the real change in total health expenditure between 1979 and 1994; and what was the average cost of this expenditure per taxpayer over the period. [36308]

Mr. Sackville: Net Government expenditure on the national health service increased by 61.1 per cent. in real terms between 1978–79 and 1993–94, or £10,977 million at 1993–94 prices. This increase is equivalent to £523 per taxpayer.

Remuneration of Auditors

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Health, pursuant to his answer of 17 July, Official Report, columns 930-31, if he will provide 1992–93 regional data on the remuneration of auditors. [36177]

Mr. Sackville: The 1992–93 summarised accounts show the cost of the audit of the accounts as £16.2 million. This total cannot be reliably attributed to individual regions and is not comparable with figures for 1993–94.

Illegal Drugs

Mr. Flynn: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what is his assessment of the relative toxicity of (a) cannabis, (b) heroin/morphine and (c) cocaine and their capacity to create addition. [35877]

Mr. Bowis: There is significant morbidity and mortality associated with the misuse of drugs, the extent of which may vary according to the individual misuser and the drug misused. Heroin, morphine, cocaine, cannabis and other psychotropic drugs have the potential to create dependency, the severity of which will also vary.

Scientology

Mr. Alex Carlile: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will institute an investigation into the effects on the psychological health of young people in the United Kingdom of the methods used by the Church of Scientology; and if he will make a statement. [35828]

Mr. Bowis: We have no current plans to do so.

NHS Staff

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many (a) nurses and midwives and (b) doctors have worked in (i) the acute and (ii) the community sector of the NHS in each of the last three years. [35848]

Mr. Sackville: The information is shown in the tables.

Doctors as at 30 September each year (whole-time equivalents)

	Hospital	Community
1991	41,430	2,780
1992	42,290	2,600
1993	43,800	2,590

Figures exclude locums, and are rounded to the nearest 10. General practitioners and dental staff are not included.

Nursing and midwifery staff (excluding agency) working within hospitals and the community sector of the NHS as at 30 September each year (Whole time equivalents)

	Hospital	Community
1991	339,300	56,610
1992	325,370	57,290
1993	307,870	57,750

Notes:

1. Figures are rounded to the nearest ten.
2. The decrease in hospital nursing and midwifery staff are mainly a result of the fall in the number of learners and the exclusion of Project 2000 students. Project 2000 students are bursary paid and are not employed by the NHS. There were around 10,500 Project 2000 students in 1991, 18,300 in 1992 and 28,000 in 1993.
3. Figures exclude nursing and midwifery staff working in centrally based services, blood transfusion services, which are not based in hospitals, and administrative nursing and midwifery staff.
4. Figures for community nursing and midwifery staff include practice nurses.

Training in New Techniques

Mr. Alex Carlile: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what are the measures in place to ensure surgeons practising keyhole surgery have the proper training; and if he will make a statement. [35864]

Mr. Malone: The Department of Health and the Wolfson Foundation have established two minimal access therapy training units, in London and Leeds, to improve and increase the availability of facilities for training clinicians and other health care professionals in this developing field of diagnosis and treatment. The medical royal colleges, which are responsible for the standards and content of training, have issued guidelines for training in the safe use of minimal access techniques.

Mr. Carlile: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what measures are in place to ensure that new treatments and techniques have been proved safe and effective and that doctors are properly trained to use them; and if he will make a statement. [35863]

Mr. Malone: The medical royal colleges are responsible for determining the content of training and the standard to be achieved. Clearly, this training must be up to date and include new treatments and techniques that have proved safe and effective. One example of good practice in this area is the guidance published by the surgical royal colleges for the safe introduction of new techniques into surgical clinical practice, including the new development of keyhole surgery.

The national health service increasingly adopts an evidence-based approach to decisions about the treatment of patients. Discussions are taking place with the medical royal colleges about the development of a system for identifying major new technologies in the NHS and for ensuring that appropriate decisions are made about the sort of evaluations required before a procedure comes into wider use.

Tower Hamlets (Population)

Ms Gordon: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will give a breakdown of the current population usually resident in Tower Hamlets by enumeration district for the quinary age groups. [35772]

Mr. Sackville: The information requested has been taken from the 1991 "Census of Population for England and Wales Small Area Statistics" and will be placed in the Library.

Consultants

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Health, pursuant to his answer of 17 July, Official Report, column 928, on early retirement of consultants, if he will provide such national information as is available for each quarter over the last five years; and if he will make its policy to collate regional information. [36207]

Mr. Malone: Information on early retirements of consultants by quarter, over the last five years, is not currently available centrally.

I have no plans to collate information about consultant early retirements on a regional basis.

Performance-related Pay

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much has been paid to trust board executive members in performance-related pay in each of the last three years. [35831]

Mr. Malone: This information is not available centrally.

Contracting Out

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Health which services currently provided by regional health authorities are being considered for provision by outside contractors when regional health authorities are abolished from April 1996; which services have already been put out to tender; and which companies won the tender in the case of contracts already awarded. [35829]

Mr. Sackville: Details of services formerly or currently provided by regional health authorities that have recently been sold or transferred to outside contractors, or whose future is still under consideration will be placed in the Library.

NHS Trusts (Compensation Payments)

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much compensation has been paid for loss of office to trust board members in each of the last three years. [35833]

Mr. Malone: In 1993–94, a total of £985,000 was paid as compensation for loss of office to executive members of national health service trust boards. Information relating to earlier years is not available. Information relating to 1994–95 will not be available until later this year.

Chairmen and non-executive members of NHS trusts are not entitled to receive compensation payments for loss of office.

Source: NHS trust summarisation schedules.

Asthma

Mr. Alex Carlile: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will make a statement on trends in the incidence of asthma attacks in Shropshire and surrounding areas in the past five weeks; and what factors are considered to have affected them; and if he will make a statement. [35865]

Mr. Sackville: The hon. Member may wish to contact Councillor D. G. Lloyd, chairman of Shropshire health authority, for details.

Ms Lynne: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what comparative studies his Department has made of the effectiveness of prescribing methods adopted by (a) fundholding and (b) non-fundholding general practitioners for asthma patients; and if he will make a statement. [34441]

Mr. Malone: No comparative studies have been carried out. However, at October 1994, around 90 per cent. both of fundholding and of non-fundholding general practitioners were providing chronic disease management programmes for asthma and diabetes.

Secure Units

Mr. Michael: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what was the total amount of money allocated for provision of secure units for young people in (a) England and Wales and (b) each region of England and Wales in 1995–96 and in the past four years. [36258]

Mr. Bowis: I will write to the hon. Member about the figures for England. Figures for Wales are a matter for my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for Wales.

Mr. Michael: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what is the current costs per place of secure units for young offenders; and what is the current (a) average cost, (b) highest cost and (c) lowest weekly cost of placement in such a unit. [36259]

Mr. Bowis: This information is not available centrally.

NHS Purchasing

Mrs. Beckett: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what systems are in place to guarantee that hospitals cannot offer contracts to one purchaser which would disadvantage the patients of another purchaser; and if he will make a statement on the methods of detection and correction in place. [35523]

Mr. Sackville: Joint guidance issued by the Department of Health and the Joint Consultants Committee in 1991 said that provider units may not offer contracts to one purchaser which would disadvantage the patients of other purchasers. Compliance with this, as with other departmental guidance, is secured through the normal performance management processes.

Ranfall Nurses Residence, Sheffield

Mr. Ashton: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will investigate the sale of Ranfall, a health authority nurses residence on Ranmoor Park road, Sheffield to Sheffield university without an offer for public sale by auction or tender. [36347]

Mr. Sackville: This is a matter for Trent regional health authority. The hon. Member may wish to contact Keith Ackroyd CBE, the regional chairman, for details.

Medicines Commission

Mr. Thurnham: To ask the Secretary of State for Health when he expects to receive the annual report for 1994 of the Medicines Commission. [36554]

Mr. Sackville: We have received the report, and copies have been today laid before both Houses of Parliament in accordance with the requirements of section 5(2) of the Medicines Act 1968.

Bound volumes have been placed in the Library containing the 1994 reports of the Medicines Commission, the Committee on Safety of Medicines, the Committee on Dental and Surgical Materials, the Advisory Board on the Registration of Homoeopathic Products, the British Pharmacopoeia Commission and the Veterinary Products Committee.

We are glad to pay tribute to the valuable work done by the distinguished members of the Medicines Act advisory bodies and thank them warmly for the time and effort they contribute in the public interest to this most important field.

National Health Service Pensions Agency

Mr. Hendry: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will approve and publish the annual report and accounts of the NHS Pensions Agency. [36630]

Mr. Sackville: I have approved the report and accounts which have today been laid before both Houses of Parliament in accordance with the requirements of section 5(2) and 5(3) of the Exchequer and Audit Departments Act 1921.

Copies will be placed in the Library.

Hospital Telecommunication

Mr. Alfred Morris: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what response he will be making to the published survey of the provision in hospitals of telecommunication facilities for hard-of-hearing people, conducted for the Communication Workers Union by Hearing Concern, a copy of which has been sent to him; and if he will make a statement. [34873]

Mr. Bowis: We are pleased to note the improvements in provision.

NHS Low Income Scheme

Mrs. Beckett: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what plans he has to simplify the AC1 claim form for health benefits and the eligibility criteria for health benefits; [35527]

(2) how many AC1 claim forms for health benefits were received in each of the last five years; how many were incorrectly filled in; and how much each one costs to process. [35528]

Mr. Malone: The national health service low income scheme was reviewed during 1991 to 1993. As the then Minister for Health, my right hon. Friend the Member for Peterborough (Dr. Mawhinney), stated on 15 February at column 669, a large number of proposals had been considered but none had been identified for immediate change within what could be afforded. Form AG1 is kept under review and improvements made as and when the opportunity arises. In 1994–95 the estimated cost of processing an AG1 claim form was about £4.60. The available information about the number of AG1 claims received is shown in the table.

Year	Number of AG1 claim forms received
1990–91	1,017,739
1991–92	1,166,960
1992–93	1,203,825
1993–94	1,265,837
1994–95	1,300,963

Mrs. Beckett: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much the health benefits scheme costs to run in total, and how much is expended in the benefits provided and to how many recipients in each benefit category. [35526]

Mr. Malone: The information is shown in the table.

National health service low income scheme: operating costs and expenditure/revenue foregone on health benefits in England in 1994–95

Item	Expenditure/revenue foregone [£ million]
Operating costs[1]	6.0
Prescription charge revenue foregone[2]	273.2
Dental charge revenue foregone[3]	193.3
Expenditure on free/reduced cost sight tests[4]	[5]34.8
Expenditure on optical vouchers[4]	[6]77.5

Notes:

[1] Expenditure by the Prescription Pricing Authority. The expenditure includes the administration costs of the Authority's Health Benefits Division (HBD) in handling claims for health benefits under the NHS Low Income Scheme from people in Great Britain.

[2] In respect of prescribed items dispensed free of charge to recipients of Income Support and Family Credit, holders of AG2 NHS charges certificates for full help and their partners.

[3] In respect of treatment provided to recipients of Income Support and Family Credit, holders of AG2 NHS charges certificates for full help and holders of AG3 NHS charges certificates for limited help and their partners.

[4] For recipients of Income Support and Family Credit, holders of AG2 NHS charges certificates for full help and holders of AG3 NHS charges certificates for limited help and their partners.

[5] Provisional figure. Includes the cost of domiciliary sight tests for housebound patients.

[6] Provisional figure. Includes the cost of vouchers for repairs and replacements.

Public Interest Immunity Certificates

Mrs. Beckett: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many public interest immunity certificates have been signed in each year since 1979 by the Secretary of State for Health. [35600]

Mr. Sackville: There was no Secretary of State for Health between 1968 and 1988. Two public interest immunity certificates were made by the Secretary of State for Health between then and 1995—one in 1993 and one in 1994.

Listeria

Mrs. Beckett: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what advice his Department gives to pregnant women about the dangers of listeria. [35598]

Mr. Sackville: Advice to pregnant women about listeriosis is contained in the Department's free booklet, "While You Are Pregnant: Safe Eating and How to Avoid Infection From Food and Animals", copies of which are available in the Library.

Mrs. Beckett: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many cases of listeriosis have been reported in each year since 1967. [35596]

Mr. Sackville: The number of cases of listeriosis reported to the Public Health Laboratory Service in England and Wales between 1967 and 1995 is as follows:

Year	Number
1967	25
1968	26
1969	23
1970	30

Year	Number
1971	21
1972	28

1989	250
1990	118
1991	130
1992	108
1993	106
1994	[1]113
1995	[2]16

These figures include a few cases from Northern Ireland.
[1] Provisional data.
[2] Provisional data for first quarter.

Mrs. Beckett: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what plans his Department has to continue to make the public aware of the dangers of listeria in certain food. [35597]

Mr. Sackville: The Department keeps the need for advice to the public on food safety issues under ongoing review.

Mrs. Beckett: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what new information regarding the potential of listeria in certain foods became available in 1989 that was not available in 1987; [35716]

(2) when the Chief Medical Officer first brought the dangers of listeria to the attention of his Department and the Secretary of State for Health. [35717]

Mr. Sackville: The timing of the Department's advice to the public on food borne listeriosis is being considered as part of a current court case, and I cannot comment further at present.

Dr. Strang: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will publish figures for the number of (a) miscarriages, (b) stillbirths, (c) neo-natal deaths, (d) maternal deaths and (e) birth defects which are known to have occurred relating to pregnancy associated cases of listeriosis since 1985; and if he will make a statement; [24224]

Mrs. Beckett: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many reported cases there have been in each year since 1967 of (a) stillbirths, (b) miscarriages, (c) congenital abnormalities and (d) child deaths that can be attributed to listeriosis. [35599]

Mr. Sackville [holding answer 17 July 1995]: I refer the right hon. Member and the hon. Member to the reply that I gave the right hon. Member for Manchester, Wythenshawe (Mr. Morris) on 18 July for information about stillbirths and infant deaths between 1 July 1985 and 31 January 1989 in England and Wales where listeriosis was mentioned on the stillbirth or death certificate. There have been no maternal deaths relating to pregnancy associated cases of listeriosis since 1985. There are no known congenital malformations in the new born associated with in utero listeria infection. Information about miscarriages is not collected centrally. The further information requested can only be provided at disproportionate cost.

NHS Staff

Mrs. Beckett: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what initiatives have been introduced to combat shortages of doctors with the NHS in the past 12 months. [35517]

Mr. Malone: We have supported a range of intiatives in the last 12 months to ensure an appropriate supply of doctors.

The NHS Executive is encouraging part-time training to allow doctors to train flexibly to accommodate changes in their personal circumstances. To aid the expansion of flexible training, the quotas for training posts have been removed. The new deal on junior doctors' hours has continued to provide an impetus to increase the number of medical posts in the NHS.

The specialist workforce advisory group, which includes representatives of the medical profession and the NHS, has conducted intense reviews of specialties and its recommendations will be presented to the advisory group on medical education, training and staffing.

The medical workforce standing advisory committee recommended an increase of 500, or 11 per cent., in the target medical school intake. We have accepted this recommendation, and will be discussing its implementation with interested parties.

Mrs. Beckett: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what information he has on shortages of staff within the NHS; and if he will make a statement on the impact of shortages on the provision of services within the health service. [35518]

Mr. Malone: It is for national health service employers to decide the numbers of staff and skills levels they require. There are no general indications of significant recruitment or retention problems. In certain specialist area, however there are known to be some local difficulties.

Child Care

Ms Armstrong: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much his Department spends on (a) child care provision for under-fives and (b) out-of-school provision for the over-fives, both directly, excluding provision for departmental staff, and indirectly through resources made available to local authorities and other organisations; what form of provision is provided; and how many full-time and part-time places are provided. [35553]

Mr. Bowis: During 1995–96 more than £1 million in grant aid has been made available by the Department to voluntary organisations to support day care services for young children which includes more than £500,000 specifically allocated to our out of school initiative. For 1995–96, almost £1.8 billion has been made available for all children's services but it is for local authorities themselves to decide the allocation of resources to particular services such as child care. In 1993–94, the latest period for which complete information is available, local authorities in England spent £136 million on day nurseries and play groups for the under-fives. A further £98 million was spent on childminding/day fostering and family centres; this figure includes expenditure on children of all ages.

Information on the amount of day care provision for children under eight, including the type of facilities provided, was published in "Children's Day Care Facilities at 31 March 1994, England A/F 94/6", copies of which are available in the Library.

NHS Trusts (Private Sector Purchasing)

Mrs. Beckett: To ask the Secretary of State for Health, pursuant to his answer of 28 June, Official Report, column 684, what has been the average expenditure per trust on purchasing care from the private sector in each year since 1990–91. [35586]

Mr. Sackville: The first national health service trusts were established in April 1991. The average expenditure per national health service trust on the purchase of healthcare from non-national health service providers is shown in the table.

Year	Number of NHS trusts	Average expenditure on health care from non-NHS providers per NHS trust £000
1991–92	57	214
1992–93	156	291
1993–94	292	173

Hospital Bed Availability

Mrs. Beckett: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many hospital beds in total and by acute, geriatric, maternity and mental illness or disability there were in each district health authority in each of the past five years. [35519]

Mr. Sackville: The information will be placed in the Library.

Ambulance Response Times

Mrs. Beckett: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many times an ambulance has not arrived within the national charter standard time in each ambulance service area in 1994–95; and what percentage of all responses this number represents. [35530]

Mr. Sackville: The national patients charter standard provides that ambulances responding to an emergency call should arrive at the scene of an incident in 95 per cent. of cases, within 14 minutes for urban services and within 19 minutes of rural services. The figures will be placed in the Library.

NHS Managers

Mrs. Beckett: To ask the Secretary of State for Health, what is his Department's estimate of the number of doctors and nurses currently classified as managers or senior managers within the NHS. [35587]

Mr. Malone: Detailed information is not collected centrally. However we estimate that about two thirds of the increase in general and senior management numbers between 1991 and 1992 and almost half the increase between 1992 and 1993 may be due to the reclassification of staff from professional and administrative groups as managers.

Primary Health Care

Mrs. Beckett: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many health authorities have joint or locality commissioning procedures in place within their primary health care teams; what funds or other resources are available in support of such initiatives; and if he will make a statement. [35522]

Mr. Malone: This information is not available centrally. Health authorities are expected to work in partnership with all general practices in their locality in developing and implementing health and service strategies. It is for health authorities and general practices to determine locally what arrangements should be put in place to enable effective joint working.

Cancelled Operations

Mrs. Beckett: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will place in the Library as soon as they are available the number of cancelled operations on the day of, or the day after, admission to hospital by district health authority and/or region and the number not admitted within a month for the first quarter of 1995–96. [35529]

Mr. Malone: Yes

NHS Expenditure

Mrs. Beckett: To ask the Secretary of State for Health, pursuant to his answer of 30 June, Official Report, columns 809–10, what factors account for the increase in the proportion of NHS expenditure on other items; and if he will give a breakdown of this category. [35624]

Mr. Malone: This information could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Female Staff

Ms Armstrong: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will list for each civil service grade in his Department the number of (a) male and (b) female (i) full-time and (ii) part-time employees. [35458]

Mr. Sackville: The information shows the position on 1 April 1995.

[1] The youth treatment service grades do not easily equate to unified grades.

Staff out on secondment or on loan to other Government Departments, on maternity leave of more than three months, or on unpaid career breaks or study leave are excluded.

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will list (a) the number of (i) male and (ii) female employees, (b) the number of officials employed at each of the principal grades and the numbers and percentages of women employed at these grades and (c) the numbers of staff employed at administrative grades and the number and percentage of these staff that are women, in his Department and for each of its executive agencies for each year since 1985. [35688]

Mr. Sackville: The information is shown in the table, which is available only from 1993 and not separately for each of the Department's agencies. Prior to 1993 the information was not collected in this format.

[1] The youth treatment service grades do not easily equate to unified grades.

Staff out on secondment or on loan to other Government Departments, on maternity leave of more than three months, or on unpaid career breaks or study leave are excluded.

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what measures his Department has taken to encourage the promotion of women into senior positions within his Department and its executive agencies. [35668]

Mr. Sackville: The Department, including its agencies, is committed to equality of opportunity for all its employees regardless of gender. To increase the proportion of women in senior positions, the Department has adopted a number of measures, including:

allowing career breaks and other flexible working patterns to enable women to combine their careers with domestic responsibilities; providing help to parents with children, including nursery places and holiday play schemes; providing, whenever possible, management development and training programmes which are suited to the needs of staff with domestic responsibilities for whom attendance at residential courses would not be possible;

ensuring that most job opportunities are advertised and candidates are invited to indicate whether they wish to be considered on full-time, part-time or job-share basis; appointing whenever possible, at least, one woman on each selection/promotion board.

Additional information on progress made by the Department on Equal Opportunities generally is contained in the Department's 1993–94 equal opportunities progress report, copies of which are available in the Library.

Hypothermia

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many deaths from hypothermia took place among (a) men aged 65 years and over and (b) women aged 60 years and over in each year from 1990, by region. [34178]

Mr. Sackville [holding answer 13 July 1995]: The information requested for 1993 is shown in the table. I refer the hon. Member to the reply that I gave him on 25 November 1992, Official Report, columns 731–33, for information for the years 1990 and 1991, and to the reply that I gave him on 4 November 1993, Official Report, column 456 for 1992 information.

Numbers of deaths which occurred in 1993 with a mention of hypothermia (ICD 991.6[1]) on the death certificate by regional health authority of usual residence (including Wales), for: (1) males aged 65 years and over; and (2) females aged 60 years and over

Departmental Staff

Ms Armstrong: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department if he will list for each civil service grade in his Department the number of (a) male and (b) female (i) full-time and (ii) part-time employees. [35455]

Mr. John M. Taylor: Details of the number of staff in each civil service grade for which the Lord Chancellor is responsible by (a) male and (b) female, and by (i) full-time and (ii) part-time employees are set out in the following tables.

County Courts

Mr. Tim Devlin: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department what additional legal expenditure has been made as a result of closing county courts since 1992. [35119]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The information requested is not available. For civil legal aid, records are maintained by the Legal Aid Board by legal aid area, and not by court location.

Legal Aid

Mr. Boateng: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department how many (a) single people and (b) married couples refused an offer of contributory legal aid in each of the last five years. [35625]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The number of contributory civil legal aid offers made but not accepted in each of the last five years for which information is available are shown in the table. This information can not be broken down according to marital status.

Year	Contributory legal aid offers made but not taken up
1990–91	16,164
1991–92	19,179
1992–93	n/a
1993–94	26,399
1994–95	n/a

n/a—not available.

Mr. Boateng: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department if he will list the level of weekly disposable income below which (a) free legal aid and (b) contributory legal aid was available in (i) 1979, (ii) 1993, (iii) 1994 and (iv) 1995; what was the percentage of the adult population eligible for (a) and (b) in each of those years; and what is the present day value in real terms of these disposable income levels. [85545]

Mr. John. M. Taylor: The information requested is not readily available. I will reply as soon as possible and will also write to the hon. Member.

Mr. Boateng: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department how many (a) single people and (b) married couples have been eligible for (i) free legal aid and (ii) contributory legal aid for each of the last five years; and what percentage of the adult population these figures represent for each of these years. [35543]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The Lord Chancellor's Department does not make separate estimates of the financial eligibility of single and married people.

Mr. Boateng: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department what was the value of the savings to the legal aid fund of the 1993 abolition of the contributory element of green form advice in the financial years 1993–94 and 1994–95. [35544]

Mr. John M. Taylor: It is difficult to identify separately the effects of each element in the package of changes made in April 1993. However, it is estimated that the abolition of contributory green form advice and assistance resulted in savings of about £4 million in 1993–94 and £9 million in 1994–95.

Mr. Boateng: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department what was the difference in the level of disposable income above which (a) free legal aid and (b) contributory legal aid was not available before and after the 1993 changes in financial eligibility. [35546]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The information requested is set out in the table.

	Free limit	Upper limit
April 1992
Civil	£3,060 per annum	£6,800 per annum
Civil (personal injury)	£3,060 per annum	£7,500 per annum
Criminal	£65 per week	no upper limit
April 1993
Civil	£2,294 per annum	£6,800
Civil (personal injury)	£2,294 per annum	£7,500
Criminal	£45 per week	no upper limit

Family Mediation

Ms Armstrong: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department what additional funding he is making available for mediation work following his changes to divorce law. [35536]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The Government's proposal is to ask the Legal Aid Board to take on responsibility for the funding of family mediation for those who are financially eligible. The Lord Chancellor hopes to bring forward legislation to implement this in due course.

Ms Armstrong: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department how much his Department has spent on mediation services, directly and indirectly, through resources made available to other organisations in the last five years, by region. [35533]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The information requested is not readily available. I shall write to the hon. Member providing the information requested in so far as is possible.

Court Service

Mr. Barry Jones: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department what is his policy on the future of (a) magistrates courts and (b) county courts in Wales; and if he will make a statement. [36135]

Mr. John M. Taylor: As far as the future of (a) magistrates courts in Wales is concerned, my policy is the same as that for England. That is, following implementation of part IV of the Police and Magistrates' Courts Act 1994, that magistrates courts will continue to be administered by magistrates courts committees made up mostly, if not entirely, of local magistrates. The powers and responsibilities of magistrates courts committees have been enhanced by the 1994 Act and they now have a clear statutory responsibility to conduct the administration of the magistrates' courts efficiently and effectively. So far as (b) the county courts in Wales are concerned, this is an operational matter for the Court Service. I have accordingly asked the chief executive to reply direct.

Letter from Michael Huebner to Mr. Barry Jones, dated 19 July 1995:

The Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department has asked me to reply to your Question about the future of the county courts in Wales.

The Court Service must continually review its network of courts to ensure that the best use is made of resources. Factors taken into account in that process include workload levels, the accessibility of alternative courts and the cost of providing satisfactory standards of service. There is no separate policy on county courts in Wales, which are subject to the same process of individual review and assessment as courts elsewhere.

Small Businesses

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department, if he will make a statement on the results of (a) his policies and (b) his Department in helping small businesses over the last 12 months as against the previous 12 months; and if he will publish the performance indicators by which his Department monitors those achievements and the statistical results of such monitoring. [34699]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The Government recognise the crucial role played by small firms in the United Kingdom economy.

Government continue to help smaller companies by keeping inflation and interest rates low and by reducing legislative and administrative and taxation burdens. It also provides direct assistance when appropriate.

The second competitiveness White Paper announced in May 1955 outlines a programme of measures to assist the growth and competitiveness of the small firms sector.

My Department has improved its payment record to 93.5 per cent. of invoices paid on time, a fair proportion of which will be of benefit to small firms, and a target of 95 per cent. has been set for this financial year. Details of the special contracts arrangement have been sent to all my Department's purchasing officers.

Inheritance Law

Mr. Cohen: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department if he will ask the Law Commission to examine the law with regard to inheritance, with particular reference to its implications for those of Islamic faith. [34325]

Mr. John M. Taylor: There are no plans to do so.

World Wide Web

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department if he will make a statement on the work his Department has carried out in the last 12 months in making information about his Department available to the public via the Government world wide web server known as www.open.gov.uk and his plans and policies to make additional and new information available electronically on the server in the next 12 months. [34680]

Mr. John M. Taylor: My Department has already published the current Courts Charter on the citizens charter pages of the Government world wide web server and the revised version will be made available in September. General information about the Department, with extracts from its strategic plan, and a summary of the recent legal aid consultation paper will be published in the next month. The Court Service is planning to make a wide range of explanatory material on how to use the courts available on its own section of the server in the near future. The Public Trust Office is planning a feasibility study to consider use of this service in the next year.

Child Maintenance

Mr. David Atkinson: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department if legal aid is available to obtain child maintenance through the Child Support Agency; and if he will make a statement. [34296]

Mr. John M. Taylor: Full civil legal aid is only available for representation in proceedings through the courts and is not, therefore, available to obtain child maintenance through the Child Support Agency. However, if a person qualifies financially, he or she may obtain legal advice and assistance under the green form scheme.

Working Group on Financial Penalties

Dr. Lynne Jones: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department, pursuant to the answer of 22 June, Official Report, columns 398–400, if he will list the membership of the working group on the enforcement of financial penalties; when he expects the working group on the enforcement of financial penalties to report; and if he will make a statement. [36176]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The working group on the enforcement of financial penalties is chaired by a senior official from my Department and, as well as other members of the Department, includes representatives from the Home Office, Magistrates' Association, Justices' Clerks' Society, Central Council of Magistrates' Courts' Committees, Association of Magisterial Offices and the Magistrates' Courts' inspectorate. The working group is expected to continue for at least a year, but it hopes to be in a position to issue guidance to the magistrates courts as and when conclusions are reached during that period.

Asylum Appeals

Mrs. Roche: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department, pursuant to his answer of 5 July, Official Report, columns 210–11, what proportion of without foundation asylum appeals were determined within the time-scale prescribed by the Asylum Appeals (Procedure) Rules, in (a) 1994 and (b) 1995 to date. [35752]

Mr. John M. Taylor: In (a) and (b), no 'without foundation' appeals were determined within the time limit of seven days set out in the rules.

The cases are usually listed for hearing within seven days. A proportion, however, are adjourned at the request of the appellants' representatives to a date outside the specified time limit.

Defamation Law

Mr. Fabricant: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department what plans the Government have to reform defamation law and proceedings. [36382]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The Lord Chancellor has today published a draft Defamation Bill which has been prepared to show in detail how the Government would implement proposals for a number of important reforms to bring defamation law up to date and to improve and simplify the procedures.

The proposals include a new summary procedure to allow judges to dispose quickly of straightforward and less serious defamation claims; a new defence of offer of amends; and a reduction, from three years to one year, of the time within which defamation proceedings can begin.

As drafted, most of these clauses would apply to England and Wales only. The Government will consider how far it may be appropriate for some or all of the reforms to be adopted in Northern Ireland and Scotland, taking into account the similarities as well as the differences which exist in the defamation laws and procedures applicable in those jurisdictions.

Judges' Lodgings

Mr. Fabricant: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department when the Lord Chancellor expects to receive the report by the chief executive of the Court Service on his review of judges' lodgings. [36383]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The Lord Chancellor's policy objective on judges' lodgings is to provide accommodation affording satisfactory working conditions and appropriate levels of security, privacy and comfort to High Court judges when they are on circuit; and to do so in an economic, efficient and accountable manner.

Last July the Lord Chancellor instructed the chief executive of the Court Service to carry out a review of the current lodgings and to submit a report making recommendations concerning the optimum means of managing and staffing lodgings. Copies of the report have today been placed in the Library of the House.

The Lord Chancellor will be considering the report in consultation with the Lord Chief Justice.

Justices of the Peace

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department if he will give the number of Labour and Conservative justices of the peace in (a) Grimsby and Cleethorpes, (b) Scunthorpe and (c) Hull and (d) Beverley. [36229]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The number of Labour and Conservative justices of the peace, based on the latest information available, is as follows:

Petty sessional division	Conservative	Labour
Grimsby and Cleethorpes	52	36
Scunthorpe, Bragg and Barton	27	8
Hull	80	33
Beverley	3	4

Court Security

Mr. Boateng: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department what plans he has to alter the security and security staffing arrangements at (a) London Crown court centres, (b) the Central Criminal Court and (c) the Royal Courts of Justice. [35741]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The question concerns a specific operational matter on which the chief executive of the Court Service is best placed to provide an answer and I have accordingly asked the chief executive to reply direct.

Letter from M. D. Huebner to Mr. Paul Boateng, dated 19 July 1995:

The Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department, has asked me to reply to your Question about plans to alter security and security staffing arrangements at:

(a) London Crown Court Centres;

(b) the Central Criminal Court; and

(c) the Royal Courts of Justice

I should begin by saying that security and security staffing arrangements at the Central Criminal Court are the responsibility of the Corporation of London, although they comply fully with the standards for all courts, which are laid down by the Department.

There are no current plans to alter the security staffing arrangements at the other locations to which you referred.

A general security review of all court buildings is being undertaken to ensure that current standards are appropriate and are being achieved. Following recommendations made in a separate review of security in the Royal Courts of Justice, a rolling programme of improvements is under way.

Private Finance Initiative

Mr. Boateng: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department what progress has been made on the local county court system under the private finance initiative. [35744]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The question concerns a specific operational matter on which the chief executive of the Court Service is best placed to provide an answer and I have accordingly asked the chief executive to reply direct.

Letter from M. D. Huebner to Mr. Paul Boateng, dated 19 July 1995:

The Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department, has asked me to reply to your Question about progress on the local county court system under the Private Finance Initiative.

The Court Service's requirement for the provision of information system services to county courts was advertised in the Official Journal of the European Community on 16 May 1995 under reference 95/S92—46794/EN. Potential suppliers were advised that the requirement was considered suitable for the application of the Private Finance Initiative. Thirty suppliers responded and were sent a detailed Statement of Operational Requirements. Initial proposals were subsequently received from a number of suppliers and these are being evaluated, prior to the announcement of a shortlist. The procurement exercise is being conducted under the EC Services Directive Negotiated Procedures. We expect to award a contract to commence in June 1996.

Court Computer Systems

Mr. Boateng: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department how many bids have been received for work on (a) the extension of the CASEMAN county court computer system and (b) the renewal of the CREST Crown court computer system; what is the likely cost to public funds of each of these projects; and if he will list the names of any companies, and the value of the contracts awarded to them, with respect to (i) value for money work and (ii) other consultancy work for these projects. [35740]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The question concerns a specific operational matter on which the chief executive of the Court Service is best placed to provide an answer and I have accordingly asked the chief executive to reply direct.

Letter from M. D. Huebner to Mr. Paul Boateng, dated 19 July 1995:

The Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department, has asked me to reply to your Question about the number of bids that have been received and the likely cost of work on

(a) the extension of the CASEMAN County Court computer system, and

(b) the renewal of the CREST Crown Court computer system, with the names of any companies awarded consultancy contracts and the value of those contracts.

The CASEMAN computer system forms part of the LOCCS project, which is designed to provide comprehensive computer support to local county courts. The project is subject to a Private Finance Initiative procurement exercise, which was advertised in the Official journal of the European Community on 16 May 1995.

The following companies have been awarded contracts to provide consultancy advice and specialist skills to the procurement project:

KERMON Ltd. of Amersham, Bucks

AMTEC Consulting, of Farnham, Surrey

CSS Trident, of Hemel Hempstead, Herts

Charterhouse Bank Ltd.

The value of these contracts is not fixed, but will be determined by the specific services delivered by each company. Since this is a competitive tendering exercise, I cannot, at this stage, give an estimate of the likely cost of the LOCCS project.

There are no current plans to replace the CREST system. However, under the terms of the Private Finance Initiative, bidders are free to offer to provide other services, and it is possible that some might express an interest in the CREST system. If this is the case we will consider whether or not it should be included in the eventual contract.

Court Functions

Mr. Boateng: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department what representation he has received, and whether he has taken legal advice, as to whether some of the functions to be carried out by the local county court system are judicial in nature within the terms of schedule 16(2) to the Deregulation and Contracting Out Act 1994. [35775]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The question concerns a specific operational matter on which the chief executive of the Court Service is best placed to provide an answer and I have accordingly asked the chief executive to reply direct.

Letter from M. D. Huebner to Mr. Paul Boateng, dated 19 July 1995:

The Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department, has asked me to reply to your Question about the functions to be carried out by the Local County Court Systems (LOCCS).

The development of the system has not reached the point at which it covers any function which might be defined as judicial, under the terms of the Deregulation and Contracting Out Act 1994. This would become an issue only if the system was developed to cover such functions and if its operation were to be considered for contracting out, for example in the context of the Private Finance procurement exercise which is currently under way. In that event legal advice would be taken before any decision was made.

County Court Hearings

Mr. Boateng: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department in how many of the total number of cases before the county court, excluding family law cases, an individual plaintiff or defendant was opposed by (a) the Government or its representatives or a public body or its representatives (b) a company for each of the past five years. [35547]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The question concerns a specific operational matter on which the chief executive of the Court Service is best placed to provide an answer and I have accordingly asked the chief executive to reply direct.

Letter from M. D. Huebner to Mr. Paul Boateng, dated 19 July 1995:

The Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department, has asked me to reply to your Question about the number of cases in which an individual plaintiff or defendant was opposed by the Government or a company.

I am sorry to have to tell you that this information is not available and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Court Buildings (Access)

Mr. Boateng: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department what research his Department has carried out in the last 10 years into disabled people's access to court buildings and courtrooms in England and Wales; and what plans he has to commission further research. [35539]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The question concerns a specific operational matter on which the chief executive of the Court Service is best placed to provide an answer and I have accordingly asked the chief executive to reply direct.

Letter from M. D. Huebner to Mr. Paul Boateng, dated 19 July 1995:

The Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department, has asked me to reply to your Question about research into disabled people's access to court buildings and courtrooms in the last ten years.

The Lord Chancellor's Department took over responsibility for the design of court buildings from the Property Services Agency (PSA) in 1992. Prior to 1992, the PSA consulted a number of groups representing disabled court users in developing its standards, which comply with statutory requirements including relevant Building Regulations. These standards have been maintained or improved since responsibility passed to the Lord Chancellor's Department. We plan to hold further consultations with disabled court users groups to discuss how best to meet the requirements of the Disability Bill, currently at committee stage in the House of Lords.

Court Facilities

Mr. Boateng: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department how many courts in England and Wales were equipped with (a) clearly marked signs using a minimum typeface of 12 points and materials in large print, (b) human aid to communications including sign language provision and (c) induction loops, for each of the last five years. [35541]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The question concerns a specific operational matter on which the chief executive of the Court Service is best placed to provide an answer and I have accordingly asked the chief executive to reply direct.

Letter from M. D. Huebner to Mr. Paul Boateng, dated 19 July 1995:

The Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department has asked me to reply to your Question about the number of courts, for each of the last five years, equipped with

(a) clearly marked signs using a minimum typeface of 12 points and materials in large print,

(b) human aid to communications including sign language provision, and

(c) induction loops.

I am afraid that, in the time available, it has not been possible to obtain the information sought under a) or to cover more than the current position under b) and c). The figures are as follows; b) 6 and c) 27.

Courts in the Royal Courts of Justice and the Principal Registry of the Family Division do not have induction loops. However, four courtrooms have infrared hearing systems and there are also four portable hearing aid systems.

Mr. Boateng: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department how many courts in England and Wales were equipped with facilities, including toilet access for (a) blind and partially sighted people, (b) hard of hearing and deaf people and (c) wheelchair users for each of the last five years. [35542]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The question concerns a specific operational matter on which the chief executive of the Court Service is best placed to provide an answer and I have accordingly asked the chief executive to reply direct.

Letter from M. D. Huebner to Mr. Paul Boateng, dated 19 July 1995:

The Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department, has asked me to reply to your Question about the number of courts, for each of the last five years, equipped with facilities, including toilet access, for

(a) blind and partially sighted people,

(b) hard of hearing and deaf people, and

(c) wheelchair users.

I am afraid that in the time available it has not been possible to obtain the information sought under a) or to cover more than the current position under b) and c). The figures are as follows; b) 27 and c) 69.

Litigants in Person

Mr. Boateng: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department in how many (a) matrimonial cases and (b) civil non-matrimonial cases in each of the last five years one of the parties was a litigant in person. [35540]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The question concerns a specific operational matter on which the chief executive of the Court Service is best placed to provide an answer and I have accordingly asked the chief executive to reply direct.

Letter from M. D. Huebner to Mr. Paul Boateng, dated 19 July 1995:

The Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department has asked me to reply to his Question about the number of cases in which one of the parties was a litigant in person.

I am sorry to have to tell you that this information is not available and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Liverpool Combined Court Centre

Mr. Boateng: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department what additional steps have been taken to ensure the personal safety and security of members of the public, the judiciary, the legal profession and court staff at Liverpool combined court centre; what additional powers of search and arrest have been given to court staff and private security contractual workers; on what legal authority those powers are to be exercised; and what steps are being taken to ensure that private security contractual workers are properly vetted, trained and equipped and that they comply fully with their contractual obligations. [35738]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The question concerns a specific operational matter on which the chief executive of the Court Service is best placed to provide an answer and I have accordingly asked the chief executive to reply direct.

Letter from M. D. Huebner to Mr. Paul Boateng, dated 19 July 1995:

The Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department, has asked me to reply to your Question about steps taken to ensure personal safety and security at the Liverpool Combined Court Centre.

The Department sets minimum security standards, which apply to all courts, including Liverpool Combined Court. Neither court staff nor private security contractors have additional powers of search or arrest.

The Department's standard security contract requires contractors to demonstrate that they have effective systems in place for vetting and training their staff and that they will be properly equipped. Performance against the terms of each contract is closely monitored by local managers and is reviewed at regular meetings between the contractors and staff from the appropriate Circuit Office.

Summons Production Centre

Mr. Boateng: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department what plans he has for the future of the work and the staff at the (a) Summons Production Centre and (b) County Court Bulk Centre in Northampton. [35743]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The question concerns a specific operational matter on which the chief executive of the Court Service is best placed to provide an answer and I have accordingly asked the chief executive to reply direct.

Letter from M. D. Huebner to Mr. Paul Boateng, dated 19 July 1995:

The Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department, has asked me to reply to your Question about the future of the Summons Production Centre and the County Court Bulk Centre at Northampton.

At present there are no plans affecting the future of the work and the staff at the Summons Production Centre. There are plans to extend the functions covered by the County Court Bulk Centre to provide for users to issue attachment of earnings applications. The centralisation of attachment of earnings payments is also under consideration. The work of both centres is supported by computer systems which have been included in the Local County Court System Private Finance Initiative project because of their link with local county courts.

Civil Courts Recovery Programme

Mr. Boateng: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department if he will publish the latest figures on his Department's full-cost recovery programme in the civil courts. [35739]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The question concerns a specific operational matter on which the chief executive of the Court Service is best placed to provide an answer and I have accordingly asked the chief executive to reply direct.

Letter from M. D. Huebner to Mr. Paul Boateng, dated 19 July 1995:

The Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department, has asked me to reply to the above Question about the full-cost recovery programme in the civil courts.

I am able to let you know that the cost recovery targets for the civil courts for each of the next three years are as follows:

1995/96: £244 million

1996/97: £281 million

1997/98: £291 million

Bilingual Forms

Mr. Dafis: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department if he will list all standard forms commonly issued to the public by the Probate Office in Wales, indicating which are available bilingually and which are available in the English language only; if he will make it his policy to secure the use of bilingual forms by all probate offices in Wales; and if he will make a statement. [35484]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The question concerns a specific operational matter on which the chief executive of the Court Service is best placed to provide an answer and I have accordingly asked the chief executive to reply direct.

Letter from M. D. Huebner to Mr. Cynog Dafis, dated 19 July 1995:

The Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department, has asked me to reply to your Question about the availability of bilingual forms in probate offices in Wales.

At present the only bilingual form issued to the public by the Probate Office in Wales is the Grant of Probate. However, in accordance with the Welsh Language Act 1993, the Court Service is currently developing a Welsh Language Scheme which will set out its policy for accommodating the needs of Welsh speakers when delivering a service to all members of the public in Wales. This will build on the policy statement already in place for Welsh speakers who use the courts, and will include full details of the service which will be provided to welsh speakers using Probate Offices in Wales. It will set out a timetable for the provision of bilingual forms, concentrating on those which are most commonly used and taking account of the availability of resource. It is intended that the scheme will be in place by the end of the year.

Local County Court System

Mr. McAllion: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department how the Woolf Commission recommendation of greater control of case progression by the judiciary will be achieved under the market testing of the County Courts LOCCS project. [35322]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The question concerns a specific operational matter on which the chief executive of the Court Service is best placed to provide an answer and I have accordingly asked the chief executive to reply direct.

Letter from M. D. Huebner to Mr. John McAllion, dated 19 July 1995:

The Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department, has asked me to reply to your Question about how greater judicial control of case progression will be achieved under the market testing of the county court Local County Court System (LOCCS) project.

The Private Finance Initiative is not a market testing exercise but is a procurement project designed to obtain information technology services in support of the LOCCS project. Lord Woolf's interim report draws attention to the need for active judicial case management, supported by computer. The LOCCS system will provide a comprehensive electronic database to support a wide range of county court functions, including a case progression.

Mr. McAllion: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department if he will make a statement in relation to the market test of the Department's county courts LOCCS project, on the judicial areas of work, or areas of work advising the judiciary, that will be prevented from being contracted out under the Courts Act 1991 as amended. [35332]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The question concerns a specific operational matter on which the chief executive of the Court Service is best placed to provide an answer and I have accordingly asked the chief executive to reply direct.

Letter from M. D. Huebner to Mr. John McAllion, dated 19 July 1995:

The Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department, has asked me to reply to your Question about the market test of the Department's County Courts LOCCS project on the judicial areas of work, or areas of work advising the judiciary, that will be prevented from being contracted out under the Courts Act 1991, as amended.

I should first say that the LOCCS project is not being market tested. It is however, the subject of a Private Finance Initiative procurement exercise, designed to obtain information technology services in support of the project.

The Courts Act 1971, as amended by the Deregulation and Contracting Out Act 1994 permits the Lord Chancellor to contract certain functions of court staff. However, such functions do not include judicial functions nor giving advice on judicial functions. Before exercising the power to contract out, the Lord Chancellor must consult the Senior Judiciary. The power is exercisable by order which is subject to Parliamentary Scrutiny.

Any decision to contract out the function of LOCCS will be subject to the above limitations.

Mr. McAllion: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department if he will make a statement on the future of the 250 county courts in England and Wales following the market testing of the Department's LOCCS project and the need to retain local access to justice. [35321]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The question concerns a specific operational matter on which the chief executive of the Court Service is best placed to provide an answer and I have accordingly asked the chief executive to reply direct.

Letter from M. D. Huebner to Mr. John McAllion, dated 19 July 1995:

The Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department, has asked me to reply to your Question about the future of county courts and the policy of retaining local access to justice, following the market testing of the Local County Court System (LOCCS) project.

The Private Finance Initiative is not a market testing exercise, but it is a procurement project designed to obtain information technology services in support of the LOCCS project. The LOCCS computer system will provide high quality computer support to all local county courts and will improve both the quality of service we provide to court users and the efficiency with which that service is provided.

County Court Bulk Centre

Mr. McAllion: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department if he will make a statement on the future of the county court bulk centre and the summons production centre in Northampton, including the possibility of privatisation under the private finance initiative or any chance of location. [35331]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The question concerns a specific operational matter on which the chief executive of the Court Service is best placed to provide an answer and I have accordingly asked the chief executive to reply direct.

Letter from M. D. Huebner to Mr. John McAllion, dated 19 July 1995:

The Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department, has asked me to reply to your Question about the future of the County Court Bulk Centre (CCBC) and Summons Production Centre (SPC).

The Department has not specifically proposed that the functions of either the CCBC or SPC be contracted out under the LOCCS PFI project. However, one of the fundamental principles of the Private Finance Initiative is that the Department is obliged to offer scope for suppliers to make wide proposals for the provision of services.

I am not, at this stage, able to say what services bidders may propose to provide.

Litigants (Travelling Time)

Mr. Devlin: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department if he will make a statement on the maximum time litigants should be expected to travel to a county court. [35110]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The question concerns a specific operational matter on which the chief executive of the Court Service is best placed to provide an answer and I have accordingly asked the chief executive to reply direct.

Letter from M. D. Huebner to Mr. Tim Devlin, dated 19 July 1995:

The Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department, has asked me to reply to the above Question about the maximum travel times for litigants.

There is no maximum time limit for how long litigants can be expected to travel to a county court. However, this is taken into account, along with a number of other factors, when consideration is given to where a court is best located. These factors include, for example, the availability of public transport, the level of workload likely to be generated in a particular location and the cost of providing appropriate facilities for court users.

Courts (Travelling Times)

Mr. Devlin: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department if the Court Service business and corporation plan will include policies on the distribution of courts and travelling times to them. [35112]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The question concerns a specific operational matter on which the chief executive of the Court Service is best placed to provide an answer and I have accordingly asked the chief executive to reply direct.

Letter from M. D. Huebner to Mr. Tim Devlin, dated 19 July 1995:

The Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department, has asked me to reply to the above Question about whether the Court Service Business and Corporate Plans will include policies for the distribution of courts and the travelling times to them.

The purpose of the Court Service Business and Corporate Plans is to set out the aims and objectives of the Court Service, providing details of the activities through which it will seek to achieve them and the resources it has available to do so. There are no plans to include policy matters such as those you suggest. However, the Court Service Accommodation Plan, which is a published document, sets out the criteria to be considered in reviewing the location of a court, for example when considering the possibility of a closure. These include the availability of public transport, the location of the nearest alternative court and the cost of providing appropriate facilities for court users.

County Court Closures

Mr. Devlin: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department what savings to his Department have accrued as a result of closing county courts since 1992. [35118]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The question concerns a specific operational matter on which the chief executive of the Court Service is best placed to provide an answer and I have accordingly asked the chief executive to reply direct.

Letter from M. D. Huebner to Mr. Tim Devlin, dated 19 July 1995:

The Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department, has asked me to reply to the above Question about savings which have accrued as a result of closing county courts since 1992.

At present day values the savings on accommodation costs amount to £196,000. There are still five properties in the process of being disposed of. In addition, there have been significant savings in terms of management overheads, maintenance, equipment rental, staff travel and general running costs which I am unable to quantify in the time available.

Mr. Tim Devlin: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department if he will list by year, all the county courts upon which consultation for possible closure was issued in each year since 1992. [35114]

Mr. Taylor: The question concerns a specific operational matter on which the chief executive of the Court Service is best placed to provide an answer and I have accordingly asked the chief executive to reply direct.

Letter from M. D. Huebner to Mr. Tim Devlin, dated 19 July 1995:

The Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department, has asked me to reply to the above Question about the details of those courts that have been through the consultation process for possible closure since 1992.

No separate record is kept of those courts that have been the subject of consultation but which did not proceed to closure. In the majority of cases where consultation has taken place it has led to the closure of the court. This is because any case for closure submitted by a Circuit Administrator must satisfy a series of stringent criteria before the Lord Chancellor will allow it to proceed to consultation. This means that only the strongest cases for closure ever reach the consultation stage.

Mr. Devlin: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department if he will list all the county courts closed in (a) 1992, (b) 1993, (c) 1994 and (d) 1995 to date. [35113]

Mr. Taylor: The question concerns a specific operational matter on which the chief executive of the Court Service is best placed to provide an answer and I have accordingly asked the chief executive to reply direct.

Letter from M. D. Huebner to Mr. Tim Devlin, dated 19 July 1995:

The Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department, has asked me to reply to the above Question about the county courts closed during the years 1992–1995.

The county courts closed since 1992 are:

1992

Northallerton
Maldon
Westminster
Bloomsbury
Gainsborough
Great Malvern
Beverley

1993

East Grinstead
Whitby
Malton
Hexham
Thorne

1994

Devizes
Frome
Clacton
Sevenoaks
Sheerness
Sudbury
Bangor
Stroud
Lampeter
Liskeard
Axminster and Chard
Launceston
Ellesmere Port
Shaftesbury
Porthmadog
Stockton on Tees

1995

Amersham

Mr. Devlin: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department if he will list the county courts currently being considered for possible closure. [35115]

Mr. Taylor: The question concerns a specific operational matter on which the chief executive of the Court Service is best placed to provide an answer and I have accordingly asked the chief executive to reply direct.

Letter from M. D. Huebner to Mr. Tim Devlin, dated 19 July 1995:

The Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department, has asked me to reply to the above Question about county courts currently being considered for closure.

Those county courts currently under consideration for possible closure and which are the subject of public consultation, are:

Alfreton
Ammanford
Bargoed
Barry
Brentwood
Cardigan
Chippenham
Dover
Folkestone
Gravesend
Ilkeston
Llandrindod Wells
Market Drayton
Matlock
Newton Abbott
Otley
St. Austell
Sittingbourne
Sleaford
Spalding
Wisbech

Mr. Devlin: To ask the Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department what consideration was given to the report of Lord Woolf prior to the decision to close three county courts in Derbyshire. [35111]

Mr. John M. Taylor: The question concerns a specific operational matter on which the chief executive of the Court Service is best placed to provide an answer and I have accordingly asked the chief executive to reply direct.

Letter from M. D. Huebner to Mr. Tim Devlin, dated 19 July 1995:

The Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Chancellor's Department, has asked me to reply to your Question about what consideration was given to Lord Woolf's report prior to the decision to close three county courts in Derbyshire.

I can confirm that no recent decisions have been made to close any county courts in Derbyshire. However, the Lord Chancellor has recently agreed to commence public consultation about the proposed closure of three courts in that County. These courts are at Alfreton, Ilkeston and Matlock. I should emphasise that no decision with regard to any of these proposed closures will be taken until after the public consultation exercise has been completed and responses analysed.

Any implications flowing from Lord Woolf's report will be considered before a final decision is taken.

OVERSEAS DEVELOPMENT ADMINISTRATION

Gitarama Prison, Rwanda

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many prisoners have died at Gitarama prison in Rwanda since the end of the war; of what causes they have died; and what measures the international community is taking to reduce the number of deaths. [34368]

Mr. Hanley: The International Committee of the Red Cross believes that just over 2,000 people have died in 13 Rwandan prisons in the last year, most through health problems caused by overcrowding. Many of these were in Gitarama. The international community has committed $3.5 million through the United Nations Development Programme to improve prison conditions, including the construction of new facilities. Help is also being given to rebuild the judicial system to allow speedier processing of cases; Britain has committed over £750,000 for this purpose.

St. Helena

Dr. Marek: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what progress has been made to improve communications with St. Helena with reference to (a) the purchase of a shuttle ship to Ascension and (b) the construction of an airstrip on the island. [34903]

Mr. Hanley [holding answer 17 July 1995]: I will write to the hon. Member.

Consultants

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs, pursuant to his answer of 12 July, Official Report, column 590, which consultants were employed in connection with the aid programme. [35489]

Mr. Hanley [holding answer 18 July 1995]: I will write to the hon. Member.

China

Mr. Watson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how much the People's Republic of China received from the overseas aid budget during financial year 1994–95; and if he will list the major projects funded. [36239]

Mr. Alton: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs (1) if he will list those Chinese provinces which (a) do not have systems of birth permits, birth quotas and birth targets and (b) do not have legislation limiting the right freely to found a family and decide the numbers and spacing of any children. [360901]

(2) what steps he has taken to fulfil the recommendation of the Foreign Affairs Committee to seek further information on population control in China; [36107]

(3) what specific discussions wee held by the delegation led by Lord Howe on the subject of coercive population control during its visit to China in December 1992; [35980]

(4) if he will make a statement on the role of the Chinese Family Planning Association in promoting the one child policy; [36103]

(5) if he will make a statement on the humane population policies that have been adopted by the Chinese Government as a result of United Nations Population Fund assistance with China's censuses in *(a)*1980 and (b) 1990; [35985]

(6) if his Department classifies the one child policy in China as a coercive population policy; and if he will make a statement; [36101]

(7) what information he has on the number of female contraceptive acceptors in China (a) in total and (b) expressed as a percentage of the number of potential child bearing women; [35982]

(8) what account he takes of the (a) absence or presence of child safety insurance, (b) housing, (c) employment provision and (d) nursery and elementary education provision for Chinese families with more than one child in allocating funding from his Department; [36100]

(9) what account he takes of the methods used to ensure compliance with China's one child policy in allocating ODA funding; and if he will make a statement on the methods; [36092]

(10) if he will make a statement on the practice in China of X-raying women using IUDs every three months; and if he will make a statement; [36108]

(11) if the delegation led by Lord Howe visited (a) the Chinese State Family Planning Commission, (b) the Chinese Family Planning Association, (c) the UNFPA mission and (d) any population control facility or offices during its visit to China in 1992; [35981]

(12) if he will make a statement on the humane population policies that the UNFPA advocated to the Chinese Government in connection with China's censuses of (a) 1980 and (b) 1990; [35986]

(13) in what respects China's one child policy breaches the UN guaranteed human right freely to found a family and decide the number and spacing of children; [36102]

(14) if the issue of coercive population control was raised with the Chinese Vice Premier and Foreign Minister at the meeting in New York on 18 April; and if he will make a statement; [35984]

(15) what account he takes of the number of Chinese regional laws that specify obligatory contraception and their origins in a national draft law in allocating ODA funding; [36090]

(16) if he will make a statement on the incident reported on page 14 of "People and Development Challenges" of 3 May, a copy of which he has received in respect of coercive population control regulations against families in Feixian county, Shandong province; and what assessment he has made of the reliability of (a) the Chinese Family Planning Association and (b) the International Planned Parenthood Federation statements on coercive population control. [35955]

Mr. Hanley: I will write to the hon. Members.

Nigeria

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs (1) what representations he has made to the government of Nigeria about the holding of political prisoners; and in respect of which individuals he has made representations; [35763]

(2) what representations he has made to the government of Nigeria about the holding of secret trials; and which prisoners were involved; [35764]

(3) what discussions he has had with the Secretary General of the Commonwealth about the situation in Nigeria; and if he will make a statement; [35765]

(4) if he supports the sanctions imposed by the United States of America on Nigeria; and if he will impose similar sanctions; [35766]

(5) what representations he has made to British oil companies about their activities in Nigeria; [35767]

(6) which military links and arms trading with Nigeria he intends to sustain; [35768]

(7) what consideration he has given to the suspension of Nigeria from the Commonwealth; [35769]

(8) what action had been decided upon by the European Union in respect of the conduct by the Government of Nigeria; [35770]

(9) what aid support is given by (a) the British Government and (b) the European Union to Nigeria; and what proposals he has to end such support. [35771]

Mr. Hanley: I will write to the hon. Member.

Arms Exports (Rwanda)

Mr. Tony Lloyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what information he has received concerning the activities of British companies exporting arms to Rwandan exiles, with particular reference to former members of the Rwanda Government via third countries. [36309]

Mr. Hanley: I will write to the hon. Member.

Indonesia

Mrs. Clwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs (1) if he will list the annual expenditure of his Department on the Bandung TV studio project in Indonesia before it was withdrawn from the overseas aid programme; [36325]

(2) if he will make it his policy to monitor the post-training careers of Indonesian police officers who have received any form of training paid for by his Department; [36327]

(3) which Indonesian companies were involved in the Bali and Medan airport security project in Indonesia; on what date his Department received from the DTI a formal request to appraise the project referring to his Under-Secretary's letter of 31 May; what considerations made it necessary for the DTI to submit the project to the sub-committee for aid and trade, SCAT before his Department had appraised the project; on what date his Department completed its appraisal of the project; who his Department engaged to appraise the project; on what date site visits were made for the purposes of the appraisal and by whom the visits were made; at the time of the economic appraisal, what were (i) the "present value" of the cost, (ii) the "present value" of the benefits of the project, and (iii) how the actual cost and benefits compared with those foreseen at the time of the appraisal; when his Department carried out an institutional appraisal in respect of the directorate general of air communications and what was the outcome of that appraisal; what factors were taken into account in assessing whether the project represented "value for money"; on what date the Treasury gave its consent to the project; on what date the project was approved by SCAT; on what date the project was approved by the Minister; in what respect and to what extent the project benefited the poorest people in Indonesia; what was (a) the approved cash cost and (b) the actual cash cost of the project; what were (1) the projected completion dates and (2) the actual completion date of the project; and if he will place a copy of the project completion report in the Library. [36319]

Mr. Hanley: I will write to the hon. Member.

Natural Resources Institute

Mr. Robert G. Hughes: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what performance targets he has set in the 1995–96 financial year for the Overseas Development Administration's executive agency, the Natural Resources Institute. [36609]

Mr. Hanley: This is a transitional year for the institute during which it will be undertaking a major restructuring exercise. It will be working during this period to the following principal targets:

Restructuring. To implement, by the end of the 1995–96 financial year, an agreed programme of restructuring measures identified in the light of a recently completed study of the institute's future business prospects. Specifically:

(a) to reorganise the institute's management commands;

(b) to manage a voluntary severance programme aimed at reducing staff numbers to an indicative level of 360; and

(c) to formulate an accommodation strategy for the smaller Institute.

Unit revenue. While implementing this programme, to maintain an average revenue of £67,750 per operational year of time charged to clients for a minimum of 260 operational years.

External business. To increase the number of operational years of work for non-ODA clients, and the value of retained income from this source, by 10 per cent.

Commonwealth Development Corporation

Mr. Robert G. Hughes: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what follow-up there has been to the Monopolies and Mergers Commission report on the efficiency and costs of, and the service provided by, the Commonwealth Development Corporation (CDC). [36610]

Mr. Hanley: The Government's first response to the report on the Commonwealth Development Corporation by the MMC was reported to the House on 25 March 1993, Official Report, columns 653-54. I have today placed in the Library of the House a further and final response by the Government and the CDC. This reports on progress in implementation of MMC recommendations and updates earlier responses to these taking account of the outcome of the quinquennial review of the CDC as reported to Parliament on 3 May 1994 and the corporation's own reviews of strategy and management, and the passage of the Commonwealth Development Corporation Act 1995.

Mr. Hughes: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if the Commonwealth Development Corporation has been authorised to operate in additional countries. [36611]

Mr. Hanley: Following a request from the corporation, approval has been given for the CDC to operate in the Lao People's Democratic Republic and Cuba. In accordance with the strategic targets set out in the quinquennial review CDC will aim to give priority in the private sector.

TRANSPORT

Child Pedestrian Accidents

Mr. Hawkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport when he will publish the recent Transport Research Laboratory reports on child pedestrian accidents. [35940]

Mr. Norris: The two TRL reports on this subject, project reports 116 and 117, have been published today and I have placed copies in the Library.

Aston Clinton Bypass

Mr. Lidington: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport when he expects to announce his decision following the 1994 public inquiry into the proposed A41 Aston Clinton bypass; and if he will make a statement. [36384]

Mr. Watts: The Secretary of State for Transport has decided, jointly with the Secretary of State for the Environment, that the supplementary orders of the scheme should be made, subject to minor modifications. The decision is in accordance with the recommendations of the inspector. A copy of his report and a letter notifying the decision will be sent to interested parties shortly.

Coach Safety

Dame Jill Knight: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport whether coach safety was discussed at the informal Transport Council on 15 July. [36629]

Mr. Watts: The matter of coach safety was added to the agenda of the informal Transport Council following the recent tragic accidents in France and the United Kingdom.

I stressed the good safety record of buses and coaches and the value of spot checks such as our recent Operation Tourist crackdown in enforcing both standards of maintenance and drivers' hours regulations.

I called upon all member states to give a greater commitment to reaching agreement on the proposed directive to require the fitting of seat belts on all new coaches and minibuses and referred to the consultation on our proposed regulations covering the fitment of seat belts to minibuses and coaches used for the transportation of children.

I acknowledged the need for further work on standards to be set for bus and coach construction but defended the British double decker against any suggestion that it had any inherent safety problems.

Fuel Duty Rebate

Mr. Kirkwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will restore fuel duty rebate for all buses and coaches which conform to the revised Euro-emission standards. [34399]

Mr. Norris: There are no plans to do so.

Transport Works

Mr. Meacher: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what consideration was given to major transport works during the deliberations of the highway authorities and utilities committee working party before (a) the drafting and implementation of the New Roads and Street Works Act 1991 and (b) before the drafting and implementation of the Street Works (Sharing of Cost of Works) Regulation 1992, SI No. 1690 of 1992. [34923]

Mr. Norris: The working party undertook its work in 1987 and 1988. It was concerned with highway works and bridge works, including cases where the works were initiated by a transport undertaking. Highway works carried out by a transport undertaking are "major transport works" in terms of the definition used in the New Roads and Street Works Act 1991.

Mr. Meacher: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he or his Ministers have met representatives of the national joint utilities group to discuss shared costs of diversionary transport works; and if he will make a statement. [34921]

Mr. Norris: Ministers from this Department have met representatives of the utilities, most recently in June 1994, to discuss the utilities' request for a change in the existing cost-sharing arrangements.

Mr. Meacher: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport (1) if he will make a statement on the application of section 85(1) of the New Roads and Street Works Act 1991 as it applies to major transport works; [34933]

(2) if he will make a statement on the application of the Street Works (Sharing of Cost of Works) Regulation 1992, SI No. 1690 of 1992 to major transport works. [34918]

Mr. Norris: Section 85(1) of the New Roads and Street Works Act 1991 provides that, where an undertaker's apparatus in a street has to be moved or protected—actions commonly known as "diversionary works"—as a result of major highway works, major bridge works or major transport works, the allowable costs of the diversionary works are to be shared between the undertaker and the promoter in such manner as may be prescribed. The Street Works (Sharing of Costs of Works) Regulations 1992 prescribe that costs are to be shared in the proportion 18 per cent. to the undertaker and 82 per cent. to the promoter in all three cases.

Mr. Meacher: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if the definition of major transport works used by his Department includes public transport developments. [34919]

Mr. Norris: The definition to be used for the purposes of parts III and IV of the New Roads and Street Works Act 1991 is set out in sections 91(2) and 150(2) of that Act as follows:

"'major transport works' means substantial works required for the purposes of a transport undertaking and executed in property held or used for the purposes of the undertaking".

Mr. Meacher: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will list those representations he received during his Department's consideration of shared costs of diversionary transport works; and if he will make a statement. [34922]

Mr. Norris: Some 35 representations were received in response to the consultation letter issued in February 1993. Others have been received subsequently. The representations include a number both from public transport operators and from utilities.

Mr. Meacher: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he or his Ministers have met representatives of the passenger transport executives group to discuss shared costs of diversionary transport works; and if he will make a statement. [34920]

Mr. Norris: No, but I am aware of the passenger transport executives' views on the subject and will invite them to a meeting if this seems likely to help in reaching a decision on it.

Coach Parking (London)

Mr. Banks: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will make it his policy to exclude the parking of commuter, tourist and shopping trip coaches within one mile of the Palace of Westminster. [34866]

Mr. Norris: No.

Mr. Banks: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what controls are currently exercised over the parking of commuter, tourist and shopping trip coaches in central London. [34861]

Mr. Norris: Commuter, tourist and shopping trip coaches in central London are subject to the on-street parking controls that apply within special parking areas and on priority (red) routes.

Northern Cruiser (Sailing)

Mr. Tony Banks: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport, what action he proposes to take against the captain of the Northern Cruiser for sailing on 17 May. [34862]

Mr. Norris: This is an operational matter for the Marine Safety Agency. I have asked the chief executive to write to the hon. Member.

Letter from R. M. Bradley to Mr. Tony Banks, dated 19 July 1995:

The Secretary of State for Transport has asked me to reply to your question about the NORTHERN CRUISER.

The NORTHERN CRUISER was inspected by surveyors from the Marine Safety Agency (MSA) on 10 January 1995 and detained due to a defective rescue boat. She was released on the same day after the deficiency had been rectified.

I am not aware of a reason for the MSA to take action against the captain of the NORTHERN CRUISER for sailing on 17 May 1995.

Common Shipping Policy

Sir Cranley Onslow: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what proposals he has received from the European Commission for the development of a common shipping policy; and what response he has made. [34931]

Mr. Norris: Over the last decade, the UK has supported Community legislation which seeks to ensure open access and fair competition on shipping routes both inside the Community and between member states and third countries. The Commission is currently preparing a strategy document on the future development of Community shipping policy which it intends to present to member states at the end of this year.

Civil Servants

Ms Armstrong: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will list for each civil service grade in his Department the number of (a) male and (b) female (i) full-time and (ii) part-time employees. [35454]

Mr. Norris: I have placed in the Library of the House a list of the grades employed by my Department, including executive agencies, as at 1 April 1995, broken down by gender and full/part-time working.

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will list (a) the number of (i) male and (ii) female employees, (b) the number of officials employed at each of the principal grades and the numbers and percentages of women employed at these grades and (c) the numbers of staff employed at administrative grades and the number and percentages of these staff that are women, in his Department and for each of its executive agencies for each year since 1985. [35689]

Mr. Norris: The information is not available in the form requested but details by grade and gender for the Department as a whole, including any executive agencies can be found in table 5 of civil service statistics for each year from 1985 and to 1994—copies available in the Library. Details for 1995 will be published later this year.

Equal Opportunities

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what measures his Department has taken to encourage the promotion of women into senior positions within his Department and its executive agencies. [35666]

Mr. Norris: The Department of Transport has been actively pursuing the civil service programme for action to achieve equality of opportunity for women. The Department has implemented an extensive programme of equal opportunities training and has encouraged part-time working and flexible working patterns. The proportion of women in management positions has increased significantly and women now make up 14 per cent. of the Department's three top grades.

British Airways (Consolidated Fares)

Mr. Meacher: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what steps he has taken to encourage British Airways to increase the number of consolidators appointed on the Indian sub-continent route. [35708]

Mr. Norris: This is a commercial matter for British Airways.

Road Humps

Mr. Robert Banks: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what are his recommendations for the contours and size of road humps built to calm traffic and their positioning. [36178]

Mr. Norris: The rules for the design and location of road humps built to calm traffic are set out in the Highways (Road Humps) Regulations 1990.

Under the Highways Act 1980, as amended by the Road Traffic Act 1991, the Secretary of State may authorise the use of road humps which do not conform to the requirements of the regulations, and non-standard humps such as speed cushions have been authorised in this way. The Department has also issued traffic advisory leaflets on speed control humps—that is, standard road humps—(Leaflet 2/90); Fire and Ambulance Services Traffic Calming: a Code of Practice (3/94); Speed Cushions (9/94); and "Thumps" Thermoplastic Road Humps (7/94), all of which contain advice on various types of road hump. In addition, Department of Transport circular roads 3/90 contains general advice to local authorities. I am placing copies of these documents in the Library.

Mr. Banks: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many road humps for calming traffic have been built by Harrogate borough council; and what was the average cost of each. [36179]

Mr. Norris: This information is not held by the Department.

Rail Delays (King's Cross)

Mr. Hardy: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what reports he has received about the nature and cause of delays in travelling by rail to King's Cross on 17 July; and if he will ensure that those responsible (a) announce some form of compensation to those affected and (b) offer relevant information during such journeys. [36237]

Mr. Watts: This is an operational matter for British Rail and its train operating units and Railtrack. British Rail has advised that a West Anglian Great Northern train was discovered at Holloway at around 12.30 on Monday 17 July with a damaged pantograph, which had damaged overhead power lines in the area. Services were severely disrupted until the mid-evening, with some trains being delayed for three to four hours.

Trains to London were stopped at Finsbury park and passengers were advised to take the underground to make connections.

Bull Bars

Mr. Flynn: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what information he has been given of changes in policy, of advertising, presenting and sale of bull bars and bull bar substitutes since he urged the industry to reduce its advertising of metal bull bars. [35873]

Mr. Norris: My predecessor wrote in April 1993 to the Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders urging it not to fit bull bars as standard and to avoid marketing of them.

Although no official reply was received, we understand that some motor manufacturers are no longer, as a matter of general practice, advertising the availability of bull bars on their vehicles. There has also been a move towards the production of bull bars which would be significantly less aggressive if the vehicle were involved in an accident.

Road Traffic Accidents

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many road traffic accidents there have been in each year since 1989 (a) in England and Wales and (b) in Scotland (i) involving fatalities, (ii) involving injuries and (iii) in total. [35835]

Mr. Norris: The table shows for England and Wales, and for Scotland, the number of accidents involving fatalities, non-fatal injuries and the total number for each year 1989 to 1994.

	Accidents in England and Wales			Accidents in Scotland
	Fatal	Non-fatal	Total	Fatal	Non-fatal	Total
1989	4,411	235,740	240,151	496	20,112	20,608
1990	4,258	234,016	238,274	490	19,677	20,167
1991	3,718	213,071	216,789	440	18,569	19,009
1992	3,432	211,576	215,008	423	17,594	18,017
1993	3,111	209,068	212,179	359	16,327	16,686
1994	3,007	214,317	217,324	319	16,458	16,777

Isle of Skye Car Ferry

Mr. Charles Kennedy: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will place in the Library a copy of the advice which he gave to the acting chairman of the Scottish Rail Users Consultative Committee in respect of the procedures to be followed over the withdrawal of the existing Isle of Skye car ferry: and if he will make a statement. [35851]

Mr. Watts: Yes. My letter of 21 April to the acting chairman of the Rail Users Consultative Committee for Scotland set out the Department's view of the duties and powers of the committee with regard to ferry services operated by Caledonian MacBrayne Ltd. A copy is being placed in the Library.

Sudden Noise (Effect on Drivers)

Mr. Key: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what research has been commissioned by his Department or by the Highways Agency into the effects of sudden noise on traffic; and if he will make a statement. [35823]

Mr. Watts: In response to concerns expressed by the Ministry of Defence, there is a research programme in progress at the Transport Research Laboratory on the effects on drivers of sudden noise from artillery ranges. When this has been completed I will write to my hon. Friend.

Unsafe Vehicles

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport, pursuant to his answer of 13 July, Official Report, column 707, if he will break down the figures on unsafe vehicles to show (a) the number in a dangerous or defective case and (b) the number of offences of using a vehicle in a dangerous condition and other related offences. [35855]

Mr. Norris: The available information does not permit us to break down the data to show separately offences relating to a vehicle or vehicle part found to be in a dangerous or defective condition and offences of using such a vehicle together with other related offences.

My previous answer made it clear that the statistics are recorded in terms of offences and not vehicle numbers.

West Coast Main Line

Mr. Matthew Banks: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what further progress has been made on the west coast main line reinvestment project under the private finance initiative; and whether he will make a statement about the contract to undertake the upgrading work. [36346]

Mr. Watts: The development of the signalling system will be within the framework of the private finance initiative. Railtrack informs me that the detailed tender documentation for the signalling system was issued on 14 July. It aims to let the contract by the end of the year.

Vehicle Licensing

Mr. McAllion: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what were the number of vehicles licensed for use in (a) Scotland and (b) the United Kingdom in each year since 1979. [35657]

Mr. Norris: The numbers of vehicles licensed for use in (a) Scotland and (b) the United Kingdom since 1979 are as follows:

	Scotland	Thousands United Kingdom
1979	1,353	18,625
1980	1,398	19,210
1981	1,397	19,347
1982	1,416	19,762
1983	1,464	20,209
1984	1,524	20,988
1985	1,528	21,062
1986	1,560	21,607
1987	1,599	22,235
1988	1,678	23,351
1989	1,736	24,196
1990	1,811	24,673
1991	1,845	24,511
1992	1,900	24,851
1993	1,929	25,089
1994	1,962	25,534

British Rail Engineering Ltd., Swindon

Mr. Bayley: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport when the Swindon BREL works were closed; and how many people were employed at the works (a) one, (b) two and (c) three years before its closure. [34454]

Mr. Watts: The BREL works at Swindon closed in 1986. The BREL employee information was not contained in the BR central database and therefore is not readily available from BR and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Property (Discretionary Purchase)

Mr. Duncan: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he is now able to introduce new guidelines for the discretionary purchase of property seriously affected by a proposed trunk road, or motorway widening scheme. [35943]

Mr. Norris: My right hon. Friend has today issued new guidelines for considering applications for discretionary purchase of property seriously affected by proposed trunk road or motorway widening schemes.

The new guidelines do not affect owner-occupiers' existing statutory rights under part 1 of the Land Compensation Act 1973 and apply only to those who have a pressing need to sell their property in advance of these provisions coming into play. Owner-occupiers who do not qualify under the guidelines may, nevertheless, be eligible for noise insulation. The new guidelines indicate the general manner in which cases will be considered by the Highways Agency acting on the Secretary of State's behalf, but each application for discretionary purchase will be considered on its merits.

I recommend detailed study of the guidelines for a full understanding of the way the new scheme will work. Briefly, the Highways Agency will consider eligible applications in two stages:

first to see if, in the agency's opinion, enjoyment of the property will be seriously affected and, if the agency thinks it will be—second to decide whether to offer to buy, taking account of the information in the application.

The agency must be of the opinion that the enjoyment of the property will be seriously affected by either the construction or the use of the road. Serious effect may be caused by a number of factors, including noise and medical conditions which are likely to be severely aggravated by physical effects from either the construction of the road or its use. To these, the new guidelines add diminution in the value of the property as a result of the road proposal. Other factors, or combination of factors, may cause serious effect and the agency will take these into account when considering the application.

The agency's decision on whether or not to offer to buy the property will depend on whether the applicant:

had foreknowledge of the proposed road scheme;

has made reasonable efforts to sell the property; and has a pressing need to move and therefore to sell the property—which normally must not be connected with the scheme.

I should emphasise that the agency will normally also need to be of the opinion that the enjoyment of the property will be seriously affected by both diminution in value and noise arising during the construction period or during the first year following the opening of the road to traffic.

The Highways Agency will aim to arrive at a decision on a properly completed application within three months of its receipt.

I have arranged for a copy of the guidelines to be placed in the Library.

Comparable guidelines will be used for considering applications for discretionary purchase of property seriously affected by the proposed channel tunnel rail link. I have arranged for a copy of these guidelines to be placed in the Library also.

Both sets of guidelines come into immediate effect.

Departmental Efficiency Plan

Mr. Ottaway: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what plans his Department has for reporting efficiency achievements and reviews planned.

Sir George Young: Efficiency achievements and reviews planned are included in the Department of Transport efficiency plan 1995 summary report, which is published today. Copies of this document have been placed in the Libraries of both Houses.

Euro-routes (Railways)

Mr. Morgan: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport (1) what representations he has received in relation to the designation of the Holyhead-Felixstowe railway route as a preferred Euro-route for (a) freight and (b) passenger purposes; what consultations he has had with the European Union Transport Commissioner concerning the practical implications of such a designation; and if he will make a statement; [35236]

(2) if he will make a statement on the designation of international Euro-routes as they effect (a) the United Kingdom railway system in general and (b) the Holyhead-Felixstowe railway route. [35235]

Mr. Watts [holding answer 18 July 1995]: We have received a number of representations. The Holyhead-Felixstowe rail route has always featured on the draft trans-European rail network map. Its inclusion was supported by the UK Government. The Transport Council approved the draft map at its last meeting. At the Council, the UK also supported the addition of this route to the draft combined transport network map.

It is for Railtrack to decide whether to apply for funding for any such projects. The UK Government will consider carefully all applications before submitting its bid for network funding.

Investment projects on routes included in the TEN maps are eligible in principle for financial support from the TEN's budget.

A1 (Ferrybridge)

Mr. William O'Brien : To ask the Secretary of State for Transport (1) what is the length of delay in contractors carrying out work on the A1 at Ferrybridge, in meeting agreed timetables on slip road closures; and if he will make a statement; [36139]

(2) what is the agreed contract time for the road works on the A1 from Ferrybridge to Selby Fork; [36132]

(3) what is the agreed start and finish date for the A1 road works involving and affecting Ferrybridge; [36130]

(4) if he will make a statement on the arrangements for traffic management and alternative routes available for vehicles using the A1 during the major road works north of Ferrybridge; [36129]

(5) what is the average number of vehicles passing the road works on the A1 in Ferrybridge per hour per day. [36133]

(6) how many hours have been worked on the A1 road improvements at Ferrybridge (a) at the weekends and (b) during the night. [36131]

Mr. Watts: These are operational matters for the Highways Agency. I have asked the chief executive to write to the hon. Member.

Letter from Lawrie Haynes to Mr. William O'Brien, dated 19 July 1995:

As you know, the Minister for Railways and Roads, Mr. John Watts, has asked me to reply to your Parliamentary Questions numbered 337, 339, 343, 352, 355 and 358 on the Order Paper circulated on 17 July. All six questions are about the current roadworks on the A1 at Ferrybridge.

You asked (question 343) about the agreed start and finish date for the works and (question 339) the agreed contract time. The start date was 20 June, the agreed finish date is 9 August and the contract duration is 51 days. You also asked (question 355) the average number of vehicles passing these roadworks. It is about 3,400 vehicles per hour during the day (ie 7am to 7pm) but the number varies outside that period.

In question 337 you asked about the length of delay in contractors carrying out the work in meeting agreed timetables on slip-road closures. The length of time that slip roads were originally planned to be closed for these works was 144 slip road days at Botherton/Ferrybridge and 50 slip road days at Fairburn. Due to having to carry out additional work at the River Aire Bridge the slip road closures at Botherton/Ferrybridge will now total 167 slip road days, but at Fairburn will become 80 slip road days. The effect on the overall contract period has been minimised by re-phasing some of the roadworks to be carried out concurrently with the additional bridgeworks.

You also asked (question 358) how many hours have been worked at (a) weekends and (b) during the night, on this scheme. The contractor has worked all weekends and a number of nights. On 15 days, the contractor intends to work the full 24 hours and on 32 days he will work for 16 hours. On some phases of the work night operations are not possible due to noise restrictions imposed by the local environment health officer to avoid causing nuisance to adjacent residential properties.

In question 352 you asked about the arrangements for traffic management and alternative routes available for vehicles using the A1 during the roadworks. The A1 north of Ferrybridge is a two lane dual carriageway without hard shoulders. In order to carry out the works to the River Aire Bridge and undertake resurfacing safely it has been necessary to close one carriageway at a time and keep open one lane in each direction on the other carriageway. There are no easy alternative routes for drivers to use to avoid this section of A1. In order to minimise delays and give drivers the opportunity to plan their journeys to avoid this section of A1, altogether or during peak periods, widespread publicity has been given to this scheme in advance of work starting and will continue until it has finished. Signs were erected at the site of the works about three weeks before lane restrictions were imposed and advertisements were placed in local newspapers during the week before work started. Leaflets have been printed and distributed throughout the north of England. Two of these give general information on planned roadworks, on motorways and on the A1. An additional leaflet gives specific details of this scheme. Local and national radio stations give frequent up to date reports about the traffic conditions in the vicinity of works.

I should perhaps add that we fully understand the inconvenience caused to road users by the need to carry out essential maintenance works such as this to keep the A1 in a safe and serviceable condition. Whilst we do as much as possible to publicise likely delays, plan traffic management in advance, and minimise the duration of the contract, we cannot avoid the need to restrict the use of the existing road in the interests of the safety of both the workforce and the travelling public.

A36T (South Newton)

Mr. Key: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what traffic calming measures will be installed on the A36(T) at South Newton; when this will occur, and if he will make a statement. [35822]

Mr. Watts: When I visited South Newton on 25 November, at my hon. Friend's invitation, I announced that we planned to install experimental electronic speed limit warning signs on the A36 at either end of the South Newton village. Traffic counting loops for monitoring traffic speeds have recently been installed in the carriageway. The Highways Agency is currently monitoring and recording vehicle speeds through the village so that the effectiveness of the signs in reducing speed can be properly assessed. The project is on line for completion in the autumn.

Roads (Public Inquiries)

Mr. Mike O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will make it his policy that objectors to public inquiries into road building projects should not have to supply to the Highways Agency copies of reference documents which have been referred to which can be obtained through the public library system. [36156]

Mr. Watts: Under the Highways (Inquiries Procedure) Rules 1995, the Secretary of State is required to make available for inspection free of charge at a public inquiry every document which he intends to refer to or put in evidence.

It is open to the Secretary of State to require an objector, or any other person who wishes to appear at the inquiry, to provide a copy of every document, or the relevant part of any document, to which such person intends to refer.

Ebbsfleet Passenger Station

Mr. Timms: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what studies relating to the proposed international passenger station at Ebbsfleet were carried out between the announcement of the intermediate stations in August 1994 and the publication of the Channel Tunnel Rail Link Bill in November 1994. [35824]

Mr. Watts: My right hon. Friend the Member for Norfolk, South (Mr. MacGregor), the former Secretary of State, announced in January 1994 that Ebbsfleet was the preferred parkway station option, subject to a satisfactory offer of private finance. To meet the Bill timetable Union Railways started preliminary work for the environmental statement in May 1994. Work was stepped up in June when Ministers decided that the offer made by Blue Circle provided an acceptable basis for proceeding, subject to the negotiation of detailed heads of terms. By the time these negotiations were satisfactorily concluded and a decision announced at the end of August 1994, consultants had developed access road options and a comparative environmental appraisal of the results was nearly complete. Other work for the Ebbsfleet annexe to the ES started in late July. Work on this and on access arrangements, including validation of the appraisal of access options by external environmental specialists, continued after August. Despite the relative simplicity of the existing road network and the fact that Union Railways was able to draw on work already undertaken on behalf of Blue Circle, the highways arrangements were only finalised in October just in time for inclusion in the Bill.

Road Schemes (Detective Agencies)

Mr. Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if the contracts for employment of private detective agencies by his Department in relation to road schemes were put to tender. [35060]

Mr. Watts: The agency does not generally employ detective agencies directly. They are employed by Treasury Solicitors on our behalf. The means of securing their employment are therefore a matter for the Treasury Solicitor. On one occasion that a detective agency was employed directly, for the M3 Twyford Down scheme, single tender action was used.

Mr. Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what has been the total cost to date of the employment by his Department of Bray's Detective Agency, breaking down the figures by the road schemes covered. [35057]

Mr. Watts: This information is being collected and I will write to the hon. Member again as soon as it is available.

Mr. Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what allocation of funds has been made for the employment of Bray's Detective Agency in relation to the construction of the Newbury bypass. [35058]

Mr. Watts: No allocation of funds has been made for the employment of Bray's Detective Agency in relation to the construction of the Newbury bypass.

Mr. Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will place in the Library the terms of reference under which Bray's Detective Agency operates in the employment of his Department. [35062]

Mr. Watts: Bray's Detective Agency is employed by the Treasury Solicitor, not the Highways Agency, so the terms of reference for its employment are a matter for the Treasury Solicitor.

Great Minster House

Mr. Lewis: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what has been the cost of fitting out Great Minster house for use by his Department. [35779]

Mr. Norris: The estimated fitting out cost is £13,846,305 million, including VAT.

Mr. Lewis: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what will be the rental charges and associated costs on his Department's new premises, Great Minster house, Horseferry road. [35781]

Mr. Norris: In a full year the Department will pay £4,228,000 in rent, including VAT, and an estimated £3,367,000 for the contribution in lieu of rates, management, maintenance and service charges.

Mr. Lewis: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what will be the total costs of the transfer of his Department to Great Minster house, Horseferry road. [35780]

Mr. Norris: The total estimated cost of the transfer is £19,364,000 including VAT. This includes the fit-out cost, professional fees, IT systems, telecommunications, furniture and other client items.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL

Consultants

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Attorney-General if he will indicate which five consultancy firms have received most contracts from his Department (a) by number of contracts and (b) monetary value in the last five years for which figures are available. [33443]

The Attorney-General: The information indicates, for each of the Departments for which I am responsible, (a) those consultancy firms with which the greatest number of consultancy contracts were concluded[1] and (b) those consultancy firms with the contracts of greatest total monetary value[2], in each case for the five years 1990–91 to 1994–95.

Crown Prosecution Service

Mr. Donald Anderson: To ask the Attorney-General how many wasted costs orders have been made against the Crown Prosecution Service over the past four periods of six months or such other periods as are convenient for statistical purposes. [34849]

The Attorney-General: I have taken the hon. Member's question to refer to orders made under section 19(1) of the Prosecution of Offences Act 1985 and regulation 3 of the Costs in Criminal Cases (General) Regulations 1986. The numbers of such orders recorded against the Crown Prosecution Service are set out in the table.

	Costs against CPS
	Crown court	Magistrates courts
April to June 1993	49	148
July to September 1993	86	200
October to December 1993	62	102

April to June 1994	57	91
July to September 1994	40	80
October to December 1994	68	68
January to March 1995	54	102
Total for year 1994–95	219	341

1. Information is not available to establish the enactment under which the orders were made and may include awards of costs made otherwise than in accordance with the Prosecution of Offences Act 1985.
2. The information is limited to Crown court and magistrates court cases. It does not include costs awards made in the higher courts.
3. The figures relate to all cases dealt with by the CPS areas but do not include any orders made in the specialist casework handled by CPS headquarters.

Mr. Keen: To ask the Attorney-General what action the Crown Prosecution Service is taking to monitor its treatment of defendants from different ethnic backgrounds to ensure that it is fair; and what is the Crown Prosecution Service's timetable for (a) collecting, (b) analysing and (b) publishing data. [34750]

The Attorney-General: The Crown Prosecution Service is participating fully in the interdepartmental group co-ordinating ethnic monitoring in the criminal justice system and is exploring with the Commission for Racial Equality ways in which ethnic monitoring by the Crown Prosecution Service might be best introduced.

Mr. Nick Leeson

Mr. MacShane: To ask the Attorney-General, pursuant to his answer on 22 May, Official Report, column 592, when he expects the Serious Fraud Office to complete its investigation into Mr. Nick Leeson. [34433]

The Attorney-General: Inquiries outstanding include the obtaining of information from Singapore. It is not possible at this stage to say when inquiries will be completed.

Mr. MacShane: To ask the Attorney-General on what occasions representatives of (a) the Serious Fraud Office and (b) other investigative authorities have travelled to Germany to seek to interview Mr. Nick Leeson. [34418]

The Attorney-General: It is my practice not to give operational details about on-going criminal investigations being conducted by the Serious Fraud Office.

Small Businesses

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the Attorney-General if he will make a statement on the results of (a) his policies and (b) his Department in helping small businesses over the last 12 months as against the previous 12 months; and if he will publish the performance indicators by which his Department monitors those achievements and the statistical results of such monitoring. [34707]

The Attorney-General: The Government recognise the crucial role played by small firms in the United Kingdom economy.

The Government continue to help smaller businesses by keeping inflation and interest rates low and by reducing legislative, administrative and taxation burdens. They also provide direct assistance where appropriate.

The White Paper announced in May 1995 outlines a programme of measures to assist the growth and competitiveness of the small firms sector.

Of the Departments for which I am responsible, the Legal Secretariat to the Law Officers and the Treasury Solicitor's Department provide services which are largely internal to Government. The functions of the Crown Prosecution Service and the Serious Fraud Office relate purely to the criminal justice system.

As regards purchasing, the Law Officers' Departments have regard to the desirability of promoting the interests of small businesses. However, no specific policies or performance indicators exist in those Department in this connection.

World Wide Web

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the Attorney General if he will make a statement on the work his Department has carried out in the last 12 months in making information about his Department available to the public via the Government World Wide Web server known as "ww.open.gov.uk" and his plans and policies to make additional and new information available electronically on the server in the next 12 months. [34672]

The Attorney-General: The Departments for which I am responsible do not at present make direct use of the World Wide Web and have no plans to do so in the immediate future. However, the possibility of participating is kept under consideration.

The Crown Prosecution Service makes its press releases available to the public via the Internet using the Central Office of Information's experimental service of the World Wide Web. This service commenced in April 1995.

Civil Servants

Ms Armstrong: To ask the Attorney-General if he will list for each civil service grade in his Department (a) the number of full-time employees and (b) how many of these are (i) male and (ii) female. [35476]

The Attorney-General: The information with respect to the Departments for which I am responsible, as at 1 July 1995, is as follows:

EDUCATION AND EMPLOYMENT

Assisted Places

Ms Armstrong: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment what was the average cost per pupil of an assisted place for each year since 1989. [35480]

Mrs. Gillan: The average cost to public funds of an assisted place in the Department's scheme in England for each academic year since 1989–90 is given in the table:

Academic year	Average cost of an assisted place[1] £
1989–90	2,364
1990–91	2,691
1991–92	3,101
1992–93	3,405
1993–94	3,544
1994–95	[2]3,688

[1] Includes tuition fees and some incidental expenses such as uniform and travel grants.
[2] Estimate.

Ms Armstrong: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment how many people are employed in the management of the assisted places scheme. [35535]

Mrs. Gillan: The full-time equivalents of about 7.5 staff in the Department are directly engaged in the management of the assisted places scheme.

Nursery Education

Ms Armstrong: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment what are the different levels of nursery vouchers that the Government propose to introduce and on what basis the differential is to be calculated. [35538]

Mr. Robin Squire: The expectation is that a voucher worth around £1,100 will be exchanged for either a part-time place in a nursery class, nursery school or private nursery establishment, or a full-time place in a reception class where that is on offer, or up to a full-time place in a playgroup. The detailed funding regime will be considered further.

Mr. Spearing: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment what estimate she has made of the cost of administration of her voucher scheme for all four-year-olds (a) from April 1996–97 and (b) 1997–98. [35561]

Mr. Robin Squire [holding answer 18 July 1995]: The cost of issuing and redeeming vouchers is expected to be less than 1.5 per cent. of the value of the vouchers themselves.

Mr. David Blunkett: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment, pursuant to her oral statement of 6 July, Official Report, columns 517–519, how much funding a voucher would provide to pay for a part-time place in a playgroup.

Mr. Robin Squire: The detailed funding regime for playgroups is being considered.

Mr. Godsiff: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment how the proposals to give parents of four-year-olds vouchers for nursery education will take into account the varying costs of local authority provision.

Mr. Robin Squire: The proposed funding method will recoup from local authorities a sum equivalent to the voucher value multiplied by the number of four-year-olds in maintained provision in each authority. This is only a part of total spending on under-fives, and allows local education authorities to continue to fund places as they judge appropriate.

The need for regional variation in the value of the voucher will be tested in phase 1 of the voucher scheme.

Mr. Godsiff: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment in which areas her voucher scheme will be tested in February 1996; and what consultations or discussions she has had with the teaching unions on these proposals/pilot schemes.

Mr. Squire: My right hon. Friend has written to all leaders of county councils, metropolitan borough councils and new unitary authorities inviting them to volunteer their areas to participate in the first phase of the voucher scheme.

My right hon. Friend discussed the voucher scheme with each of the teaching unions when the new policy was announced.

Mr. Godsiff: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment what account proposals to give parents of four-year-olds vouchers for nursery education will take of local authorities whose nursery provision is directed at three-year-olds and where children move to a receiving class at four years.

Mr. Squire: Pre-school education vouchers for four-year-olds will be redeemable at a wide range of establishments, including reception classes. The vouchers will allow parents to transfer their children from one establishment to another during the year, if they wish to do so.

The proposed funding method for the voucher scheme will allow local education authorities to continue to spend on three year-olds as they judge appropriate.

Mr. Spearing: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment, pursuant to her press statement of 6 July, 143/95, concerning pre-school proposals, if she will name the private sector company which will administer the scheme, or the manner in which she expects to advertise the terms for tendering for the relevant contract; and if she will place a copy of the relevant document in the Library. [35560]

Mr. Robin Squire [holding answer 18 July 1995]: My right hon. Friend announced on 6 July her decision to select, by competitive tender, a private sector company to issue and redeem the pre-school voucher. Advertisements inviting expressions of interest have been published. A copy of the detailed specifications will be placed in the Library.

Mr. Godsiff: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment what calculations her Department has undertaken in respect of the real cost of nursery education for four-year-olds in (a) the state sector and (b) the private sector.

Mr. Robin Squire: With respect to costs in the state sector, I refer the hon. Member to the reply my hon. Friend gave to the hon. Member for Sheffield, Brightside (Mr. Blunkett) on 15 May at columns 11-12.

The official task force on under-fives has consulted a wide range of representatives of the private and voluntary sectors about the cost of providing places for four-year-olds in their sectors.

Mr. Godsiff: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment what estimates her Department has made of the operating costs of administering the scheme to give vouchers to parents of four-year-olds; and what level of profits the private company set up to administer the scheme is expected to make. [35281]

Mr. Squire: The cost of issuing and redeeming vouchers will be determined by a competitive tender. It is expected to be less than 1.5 per cent. of the value of the vouchers themselves.

Class Sizes

Mr. Bayley: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment what is the average class size in (a) city technology colleges, (b) grant-maintained secondary schools, (c) local education authority grammar schools, (d) local education authority secondary modern schools and (e) local education authority comprehensive secondary schools.

Mr. Robin Squire: Information for January 1994 for the average size of one teacher classes in the various categories of secondary school is as follows:

School type	Average class size
LEA maintained schools:
Grammar	19.9
Modern	21.5
Comprehensive	21.4
Grant Maintained Secondary Schools	20.9
City Technology Colleges	19.1

Mr. Bayley: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment what is the average class size in (a) grant maintained and (b) local education authority primary schools.

Mr. Robin Squire: In January 1994 the average size of one teacher classes in both grant maintained and local education authority maintained primary schools was 26.9.

Mr. Bayley: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment what is the average class size in (a) primary and (b) secondary schools in each local education authority in England.

Mr. Squire: The average size of one teacher classes in maintained—including GM—primary and secondary for each LEA in England for January 1994 is given in the table.

Exclusion from School

Mr. David Nicholson: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment if she will review her Department's policy on exclusion from school; and if she will make a statement following the recent comments by the Commissioner of Police at the Metropolis on the contribution to certain types of crime by young black males who may have been excluded from school. [35446]

Mr. Robin Squire: Government policy is to ensure that permanent exclusion is used as a last resort and that pupils out of school by reason of exclusion do not drop through the education net. To that end the Education Act 1993 made a number of changes to the law on exclusions and placed a new duty on local education authorities to provide education otherwise than at school where necessary to meet a pupil's needs. These provisions came into effect on 1 September 1994 and we are keeping their implementation under review.

Student Accommodation

Mr. David Nicholson: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment what information she has of the availability to students studying away from home, of satisfactory low cost housing, including that for which the student does not have to pay during the summer vacation; what trends in this matter have taken place since 1990; and what measures have been taken by her Department in conjunction with universities and similar institutions and local authorities. [35447]

Mr. Forth: We do not collect any information about the availability of student residential accommodation. This is a matter for universities and colleges which, as independent, autonomous bodies, are responsible for making their own decisions about residential accommodation requirements for their students, in the light of local circumstances. However, the Government introduced a package of measures in the Housing Act 1988 designed to encourage private landlords to bring more and better quality accommodation on to the market. In addition, the "Rent a Room" scheme is a tax incentive designed to encourage people to take in lodgers. These measures are of benefit to students among others.

Higher Education Funding

Mr. Wilson: To ask the Secretary of State for Education, which institutions are in receipt of non-formula funding. [32033]

Mr. Forth [holding answer 3 July 1995]: All higher education institutions with the exception of Chichester institute of higher education, Norwich school of art and Trinity college of music will receive non-formula funding from the Higher Education Funding Council for England in 1994–95. The following further education institutions will also receive HEFCE non-formula funding in 1994–95:

Berkshire College of Art and Design
Bracknell College
Brooklands Technical College
Chichester College
Crawley College of Technology
Croydon College
Guildford College of Further and Higher Education
Hammersmith and West London College
Harlow College
Havering College of Further and Higher Education
North East Surrey College of Art and Technology
Newham Community College
College of North West London
Thurrock College
West Thames College
Westminster College

The Further Education Funding Council funds the following 11 designated institutions by non-formula methods:

Adult Bursary Scheme for Long-term Residential Colleges
The City Literary Institute
Fircroft College of Adult Education
Hereward College of Further Education
Hilderstone College
Hillcroft College
The International Co-operative College
The Marine Society College of the Sea
Northern College for Residential AE Ltd
Plater College
Ruskin College

Work Permits

Mr. Tony Banks: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment how many work permit applications have been made to her Department for Premier and Endsleigh league footballers from overseas (a) during the past four years and (b) for 1995 to date; which English football clubs were involved; which countries of origin were involved; and how many applications were refused. [34871]

Mrs. Gillan: The number of work permit applications for footballers from overseas, including those for extensions to existing permits, received by the Department from clubs in Great Britain is shown in the following table. Information about which clubs applied, the nationality of these overseas players involved and the number of these applications which were refused is not available.

Child Care Provision

Ms Armstrong: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment how much her Department spends on (a) child care provision for under-fives and (b) out of school provision for over fives, both directly, excluding provision for departmental staff, and indirectly through resources made available to local authorities and other organisations; what form of provision is provided; and how many full-time and part-time places are provided. [35555]

Mr. Robin Squire: Child care for the under-fives in England is a matter for my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for Health.

For school-age children, we have allocated £45 million to the out-of-school child care initiative which will help create up to 50,000 additional child care places in Great Britain over the three years which began in April 1993. The initiative is being delivered by training and enterprise councils in England and Wales and local enterprise companies in Scotland. By the end of March 1995 some 26,000 child care places had been created in England with a further 5,000 in development, well on course to meet the planned target.

We do not hold information about the number of children who attend full or part-time, although attendance patterns are flexible to parents' needs.

Civil Servants

Ms Armstrong: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment if she will list for each civil service grade in her Department the number of (a) male and (b) female (i) full-time and (ii) part-time employees. [35468]

Mr. Robin Squire: The numbers of permanent non-industrial staff on 1 April 1995—before the recent machinery of Government changes—on a head count basis are shown in table 1 for the former Employment Department group and table 2 for the former Department for Education. There are staff in over 118 civil service grades employed in the former ED group and DfE. For convenience, the information has been grouped into grade equivalents.

Departmental Staff

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment if she will list (a) the number of (i) male and (ii) female employees, (b) the number of officials employed at each grade of the principal grades and the numbers and percentages of women employed at these grades and (c) the numbers of staff employed at administrative grades and the number and percentages of these staff that are women, in her Department and for each of its executive agencies for each year since 1985. [35683]

Mr. Robin Squire: I will write to the hon. Member and place a copy of my reply in the Library.

Female Employees

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment what measures her Department has taken to encourage the promotion of women into senior positions within her Department and its executive agencies. [35661]

Mrs. Gillan: A wide range of measures have been taken. All parts of the Department and the Employment Service have equal opportunities action programmes, most of which include targets, and these are monitored on a regular basis. In addition, all promotion boards include at least one woman member and training in equal opportunities issues is mandatory for board members.

Development training is available for all staff, including optional training specifically for women. There are "fast track" management programmes available on which women are well represented. A career break scheme is available to help men and women to combine work and family responsibilities and eligible staff will be considered for promotion while on career breaks. Part-time working is available to all staff who want it and all jobs are open to job sharers wherever practicable. In addition, an advisory group has been set up to look at ways of addressing the under-representation of women in senior grades.

Unemployment Benefits (Cost)

Sir Ralph Howell: To ask the Secretary of State for Education (1) what is the current administration and overhead costs required to manage unemployment benefits including the current number of civil servants and job centres; and what was the figure in each year since 1980 at 1994 prices; [36304]

(2) what is the latest total and average figure of the cost of spending on the jobless; and what were the figures in 1978–79 at constant prices. [36303]

Mr. Forth: I will write to the hon. Member and place a copy of my reply in the Library.

Unemployment Assistance

Sir Ralph Howell: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment what is the total annual cost of all programmes designed to assist the unemployed back into work or by way of training; and how much is allocated to each major programme. [36306]

Mr. Paice: Provision for all programmes to assist the unemployed back into work in 1995–96 is £811 million. Over 90 per cent. of this provision is allocated to the seven major training and employment programmes set out in the table:

Programme	£ million
Training for Work	574
Community Action	73
Jobclubs	56
Jobplan	26
Job Interview Guarantee	22
1-2-1/Workwise	16
Restart Courses	11

1. Major programmes have been taken to mean those with expenditure of over £10 million.
2. The list excludes Youth Training and Modern Apprenticeships.

Barnsley-Doncaster TEC

Mr. Martin Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment (1) what performance level was reached by the Barnsley-Doncaster training and enterprise council for the year 1994–95; [35975]

(2) how many trainees are currently in training by the Barnsley-Doncaster TEC; [35971]

(3) what was the current expenditure per head of population in the area covered by Barnsley-Doncaster TEC; and if she will make a statement; [35977]

(4) what contribution Barnsley-Doncaster TEC is making to improve the technology in its area of responsibility; and if she will make a statement on the work of Barnsley-Doncaster TEC; [35973]

(5) when she last met with representatives from Barnsley-Doncaster TEC; and what items were discussed; [35972]

(6) how many NVQs were achieved by trainees from the Barnsley-Doncaster TEC for each of the last five years; and if she will make a statement. [35956]

Mr. Paice: I will write to the hon. Member as soon as possible and place a copy of my letter in the Library.

Mr. Martin Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment, if she will list the chairman and directors of the Barnsley Doncaster TEC indicating their experience, qualifications and period of office. [35979]

Mr. Paice: The information requested on the chairman and directors of the Barnsley and Doncaster Training and Enterprise Council is a matter for the TEC board. TECs are private limited companies who are free to appoint directors, including chairmen, as long as they meet the criteria set out on clause 7.1 of the licensing agreement.

Mr Martin Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment (1) what research is being undertaken by the Barnsley-Doncaster TEC in the current financial year; and if she will make a statement; [35976]

(2) how many organisations Barnsley-Doncaster TEC was involved with during the current financial year; [35970]

(3) what is the amount of money spent by the Barnsley-Doncaster TEC on publicity and advertising during the last financial year and for each of the previous five years; and if she will make a statement; [35978]

(4) what was the total cost incurred by the Barnsley-Doncaster TEC in travelling expenses for each of the last five financial years. [35974]

Mr. Paice: The information requested is operational information on the Barnsley and Doncaster training and enterprise council and the questions would be best addressed to it for answer.

EU Contributions

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Education and Employment what financial contribution the European Union made to Government-funded work or training schemes in Northern Ireland in 1994–95; to which schemes the European Union contributed; and what percentage of the publicly-funded costs the European Union's contribution constituted. [34026]

Mr. Ancram: I have been asked to reply.

Responsibility for the subject in question has been delegated to the Training and Employment Agency under its chief executive, Mr. J. S. Crozier. I have asked him to arrange for a reply to be given .

Letter from J. S. Crozier to Mr. Tony Worthington, dated 18 July 1995:

The Secretary of State for Education and Employment has asked me, as Chief Executive of the Training and Employment Agency, to reply to your question.

The financial contribution made by the European Union to Government-funded training places in Northern Ireland is affected by the allocation made to non-government schemes. Decisions on the latter have yet to be finalised. The final amounts that will be received therefore in respect of government and non-government schemes is not yet known. When the information you seek is available, I will send it to you.

DEFENCE

Trident Missiles

Mrs. Lait: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence whether the United Kingdom proposes to order further quantities of Trident missiles; and if he will make a statement. [36608]

Mr. Arbuthnot: Over half our planned number of Trident missiles has been purchased. Orders for the remainder are likely to be placed within the next four years and we have recently begun to commit expenditure to this end. Overall the Trident programme remains well within its original estimate. Savings in real terms on the missile purchases exceed 30 per cent., partly due to intervening exchange rate movements.

Joint Air Reconnaissance Centre

Mr. Butler: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will make a statement about his plans for the joint air reconnaissance centre. [36385]

Mr. Soames: The joint air reconnaissance intelligence centre is a tri-service unit at Royal Air Force Brampton. The unit employs about 500 staff comprising military personnel from all three armed services and civil servants. The unit is the Department's centre of excellence for deriving intelligence from reconnaissance imagery. We have accepted a recommendation made by the defence costs study that the unit should be considered for Defence Agency status with a target launch date of 2 April 1996.

Royal Navy (Manning, Pay and Pensions)

Mr. Butler: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will make a statement about possible defence agency status for the Royal Navy's manning and pay and pensions organisations. [36386]

Mr. Soames: I have decided that the Royal Navy's manning and pay and pensions organisations, with their supporting information systems should be considered as candidates for defence agency status under the "next steps" initiative. The above organisations, located in Portsmouth and Gosport, currently employ some 750 staff, of whom about a third are service personnel.

A "prior options" study will be undertaken to establish whether agency status or other options would be appropriate. I would welcome comments form interested parties. Comments should be sent, by 15 September 1995, to:

Mr. J. M. Moss
Command Secretary to the Second Sea Lord and Commander-in-Chief Naval Home Command, and Assistant Under-Secretary of State (Naval Personnel) (CS/AUS(NP))
Ministry of Defence Victory Building
HM Naval Base
Portsmouth
Hants PO1 3LS

Defence Intelligence and Security Training

Mr. Sykes: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will make a statement on his plans for defence intelligence and security training in the armed forces. [36387]

Mr. Soames: Defence intelligence and security training is tri-service and carried out at units based at Ashford, Kent, and Garats Hay stations; Royal Air Force North Luffenham and Wyton; and HMS Mercury. The units currently employ about 650 staff comprising military personnel from all three armed services and civil servants. Their task is to provide training and advice on intelligence and security disciplines and policy to the armed forces. I have accepted a recommendation made by the defence costs study that these units be rationalised. A new defence intelligence and security centre is to be formed and considered as a candidate for defence agency status under the "next steps" initiative. This will start with a "prior options" review and, if agency status is approved, a target launch date of 1 October 1996 will be set.

Service Children's Schools

Mr. Michael Brown: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will make a statement on the key targets for the financial year 1995–96 which have been set for the Service Children's Schools (North West Europe) defence agency. [36391]

Mr. Soames: The chief executive of Service Children's Schools (North West Europe) has been set the following key targets for 1995–96, the agency's fifth year of operation:

1. Maintain percentage of pupils gaining A to C grades in five or more subjects at GCSE at not less than 45 per cent.

2. Maintain the 'A' level pass rate at grades A to E at 84 per cent. whilst increasing the proportion in grades A to C to 50 per cent.

3. Achieve an overall pass rate for BTEC first diploma of 85 per cent.

4. For standard attainment tasks and tests (SATs) at ages 7, 11 and 14 achieve a position for the agency in the top 25 per cent. of published national league tables.

5. Improved efficiency to the value of 2.5 per cent. of net expenditure for 1995–96 as set out in the agency's efficiency plan.

6. For all children in key stage 2, by 31 March 1996 every school to have an educationally sound programme of contact with a host nation and/or partner school or community with predetermined educational objectives appropriate to the age of the children.

7. Maintain the index of satisfaction with Service Children's Schools within the army wives continuous attitude survey at above 350.

8. Parental response surveys to be conducted in three spheres of education, results published and follow up action initiated, where necessary by 31 March 1996.

9. Introduce by 31 March 1996, and thereafter maintain, the new code of practice for assessing children's special educational needs set by the Department of Education.

10. Achieve charter mark status by 1 December 1995.

Naval Aircraft Repair Organisation

Mr. Michael Brown: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if the Naval Aircraft Repair Organisation defence agency has reported its financial performance for the financial year 1994–95; and what targets have been agreed for 1995–96. [36392]

Mr. Soames: Copies of the Naval Aircraft Repair Organisation defence agency's annual report and accounts for financial year 1994–95 have been placed in the Library of the House.

In respect of financial year 1995–96 the Direct General Aircraft (Navy), acting as owner of the agency on behalf of my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for Defence under the terms of the agency's framework document, has set the following key targets:

Quantity

To complete 100 per cent. of the identified core task as detailed in DGA(N)'s Tri Service Schedule of Identified Repair Work.

Quality

To improve by four the NARO Quality Index, which represents the weighted number of AQAP non conformances.

Timeliness

To complete 93.5 per cent. of contracts on time.

Productivity

To improve annual productivity to 620 Direct Output Units per employee.

Cost

To reduce the cost of a Direct Output Unit by more than 7.5 per cent. below 1991–92 (pre Agency Launch) levels.

Efficiency Index

To improve the NARO Efficiency Index to 0.635.

RAF Training Group

Mr. John Marshall: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will make a statement about the key targets for the financial year 1995–96 for the Royal Air Force Training Group defence agency. [36393]

Mr. Soames: The chief executive of the Royal Air Force Training Group defence agency has been set the following targets for financial year 1995–96.

1. By 31 March 1996 to take forward the recommendations of the Quality Management Workshop Report.

2. By 31 March 1996 to achieve the planned elements of Future Flying Training Implementation and Group Training Rationalisation, including the associated Defence Costs Study measures, in accordance with the relevant schedules.

3. By 31 March 1996 to deliver efficiency measures to achieve a 2.5 per cent. reduction in running costs.

4. By 31 March 1996 to achieve the planned elements of the Agency's contribution to the RAF manpower savings programme.

5. By 31 March 1996 to complete the planned work against the Agency's Competing for Quality programme.

6. By 31 March 1996 to develop and implement the Agency's fixed asset management strategy, procedures and reporting systems.

7. By 31 March 1996 to report on business process re-engineering and the development of associated financial and accounting systems required by the Department's move to Resource Accounting and Budgeting

Personnel Security Vetting

Mr. John Marshall: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will make a statement about possible defence agency status for personnel security vetting within his Department. [36394]

Mr. Soames: Defence costs studies conducted in my Department have concluded that the personnel security vetting function in the MOD should be considered for defence agency status under the "next steps" initiative. A "prior options" study will be undertaken to establish whether agency status or some other option is the more appropriate. The result of this study will be made known to the House in due course.

Queen's Flight (Incident at Islay)

Mr. Butcher: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will make a statement on the findings of the inquiry into the incident at Islay in June 1994 involving an aircraft of the Queen's flight. [36349]

Mr. Arbuthnot: The inquiry into the incident on 29 June 1994 when a BAe 146 of the Queen's flight ran off the runway after landing at Islay has been completed and I have placed a summary in the Library of the House. The captain and navigator were responsible for the safe operation of the aircraft and the supervision of HRH the Prince of Wales, who was flying as a pilot under instruction. The inquiry judged that the captain and navigator had been negligent in failing adequately to plan and to correct the approach and landing. Procedures for appointments of aircrew to the Queen's Flight—now part of No. 32 (The Royal)

Squadron—flight deck procedures and evaluation of standards have been reviewed as a result of this incident and changes have been made.

Disposal Sales Agency

Mr. Jacques Arnold: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will make a statement detailing the key targets which have been set for the Disposal Sales Agency for financial year 1995–96.

Mr. Arbuthnot: The chief executive of the Disposal Sales Agency has been set the following targets for financial year 1995–96. The agency made significant efficiency savings in 1994–95 and the 1995–96 targets build on that achievement.

1. To achieve disposal sales revenue of £53 million within budgetary cost allocation.

2. To improve efficiency through the contractorisation of sales and introduction of further viable storage and marketing agreements (joint ventures with industry) to limit the Agency's direct selling to Government-to-Government sales and to those direct sales offering best value for money.

3. To secure efficiency savings of 2.5 per cent. against the Agency's net annual budget.

4. To achieve full recovery on non-MOD work.

5. To achieve customer satisfaction as measured by satisfaction surveys.

To implement Performance Indicators covering Timeliness, Financial Performance, Quality and Output.

Swansea Symposium (Environment and Defence)

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many personnel from his Department, and of what grades, will participate in the University of Wales conference in Swansea on the environment and defence from 13 to 15 September; and if he will list the titles of papers being presented by members of his Department at the conference. [35633]

Mr. Soames: The Swansea symposium is being held in association with the NATO committee on the challenges of modern society and will provide an opportunity for NATO and former Warsaw pact countries to exchange information and views about environmental problems arising from defence-related activities. My Department will play a key role in the symposium, but representation has not been finalised. In addition to keynote addresses, papers by Ministry of Defence staff will be presented in the planned technical sessions on pollution prevention, low flying, information technology in defence land management, military land use issues, environmental assessment of defence activities and environmental training.

Exercise Chameleon

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will make a statement on (a) the purpose and (b) the participating forces in Exercise Chameleon at Brawdy in April. [35638]

Mr. Soames: Exercise Chameleon was a routine exercise that took place between 23 April and 1 May designed to test the abilities of the three services to work together effectively in an operational environment. Elements of the French armed forces also took part.

NATO Committee on the Challenges of Modern Society

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will list the NATO committee on the challenges of modern society pilot study groups in which his Department currently participates; and how many personnel, and of what grades, participate in each. [35632]

Mr. Soames: My Department is actively involved in two NATO CCMS pilot studies: defence environmental expectations and environmental aspects of the re-use of former military lands. A grade 5 officer is the co-chairman of the former study. A grade 5 officer is a member of the executive board of the latter study with a grade 7 attending sub-group meetings of the study.

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many personnel from his Department, and of what grades, participated in the NATO committee on the challenges of modern society meeting on environmental aspects of re-using former military lands in Munich in October 1994; and if he will make a statement on the changes in his policy on use of former military lands arising from the pilot study on this subject. [35631]

Mr. Soames: My Department was represented by one grade 5 officer at the meeting. This meeting is one of a series associated with this NATO CCMS pilot study. Work is continuing and MOD policy will be examined in the light of any future recommendations.

Unmanned Aerial Vehicles

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what consideration his Department is giving to authorising operations by military unmanned aerial vehicles in controlled airspace over the United Kingdom. [35645]

Mr. Soames: Military unmanned aerial vehicles currently only operate within MOD controlled airspace within existing danger areas. There are no plans at present for them to operate within any other controlled airspace within the United Kingdom.

Low Flying

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many sorties were undertaken by Tornados of the tri-national Tornado training establishment from RAF Leuchars under the winter venture deployment scheme in winter 1994–95; and how many of these involved low level flying. [35648]

Mr. Soames: A total of 198 sorties were flown, of which 184 involved low level flying.

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many sorties were conducted by (a) B-52s and (b) F-111s of the US Air Force during their recent deployment to RAF Fairford; how many of each were authorised low flying sorties; and if he will list the numbered low flying areas used by these aircraft during their deployment to the United Kingdom. [35641]

Mr. Soames: United States Air Force B-52s conducted 60 sorties during their deployment to RAF Fairford, eight of which involved flying within the UK low flying system. United States Air Force F-111s conducted 122 sorties during their deployment, 48 of which involved flying within the UK low flying system. The aircraft used the following low flying areas during their deployment to the UK: 2, 4, 7, 11, 12, 13, 14, 16 and 17. Of these only low flying areas 13 and 14 were used by USAF B-52s.

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many low flying sorties by British military aircraft have taken place over Slovakia since August 1994; and how many sorties are planned for 1995. [35647]

Mr. Soames: RAF aircraft have to date flown no low flying sorties over Slovakia and at present there are no plans for them to do so. We shall, however, continue to explore the prospects for low level flying with our partners in the region.

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what plans he has for increased Royal Air Force use of the low flying training facilities at Goose bay following the completion of the environmental assessment report on operations from the base. [35646]

Mr. Soames: We have no plans at present to seek an increase in the RAF's annual allocation of low level sorties at the Goose bay facility. Operational and other training commitments do mean, however, that actual usage within the agreed ceiling varies from year to year.

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will make a statement on the nature and purpose of the deployments of Italian air force Tornados to RAF Cottesmore from 3 to 7 July, 24 to 28 July and 4 to 8 September; and what written agreements exist between his Department and the Italian authorities governing Italian air force combat aircraft deployments to the United Kingdom for low flying, weapons and electronic warfare training. [35639]

Mr. Soames: The purpose of the Italian air force Tornado detachments to RAF Cottesmore is to utilise the electronic warfare range at RAF Spadeadam and to carry out low flying training within the United Kingdom low flying system. No written agreements exist; I refer the hon. Member to the replies to his questions of 10 January, Official Report, c.103 and 2 December last year, Official Report, c.943.

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many instances have been recorded in each of the last three years in which investigation of a complaint about low flying found that no aircraft had booked in to the relevant low flying area at the reported time of the incident. [35643]

Mr. Soames: The information requested could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Mr. Foulkes: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what was the nature of the aerial activity at low level (a) in the vicinity of Bargrennan on 27 June, (b) in the vicinity of Waterside, Doon Valley, on 28 June, (c) in the vicinity of Lochinvar, New Galloway, on 29 June, (d) in the vicinity of Auchenstroan Craig, Moniaive, on 30 June, (e) in the vicinity of Stroanfreggan on 3 July and (f) in the vicinity of Kendoon Loch on 4 July and in the vicinity of Craighead in the Dalwhat Valley and other locations in the south-west of Scotland throughout this period as notified in "Notice to Airmen J1477". [34351]

Mr. Soames: The activity notified in "Notice to Airmen J1477/95" on the dates and at the locations listed in the question was close air support training down to 100 ft by Harrier aircraft of No. 4 Squadron. This training was part of the squadron's work-up before deployment in support of NATO air operations over Bosnia-Herzogovina

Military Activities (Environmental Impact)

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many personnel from his Department, and of what grades, participated in the United Nations Environment Programme meeting on military activities and the environment in Linkoping, Sweden, from 27 to 30 June; and if he will make a statement on the proposals arising from this meeting for the development of his policies in respect of mitigating the environmental impact of his Department's activities. [35630]

Mr. Soames: The defence attaché at the British embassy, Stockholm attended the Linkoping conference. MOD will review the proceedings and recommendations of the Linkoping conference when these are received.

RAF Aldergrove (Chinooks)

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many Chinook captains are currently assigned to Royal Air Force Aldergrove; how many of these have self-authorising status; and if he will make a statement. [35933]

Mr. Soames: My noble Friend the Under-Secretary of State for Defence will write to the hon. Member and a copy of his letter will be placed in the Library of the House.

Chinook ZD 576

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what was the forecast height of the +4 Celsius isotherm along the route of Chinook ZD 576 on 2 June 1994. [35948]

Mr. Soames: Approximately 4,500 ft above mean sea level.

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many hours of sleep were obtained by the pilot and co-pilot of Chinook ZD 576 in the 24 hours prior to their accident on 2 June 1994. [35946]

Mr. Soames: It was not possible for the board of inquiry to ascertain how much sleep the two pilots had in the 24 hours prior to the accident. There is no evidence, however, to suggest that either officer had anything other than a relaxing evening with adequate rest.

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) what were the minimum forecast visibility and cloudbase on the planned route of Chinook ZD 576 from Royal Air Force Aldergrove to Fort George on 2 June 1994; [35942]

(2) on how many occasions the pilot and co-pilot of Chinook ZD 576 on 2 June 1994 had flown at low level from Royal Air Force Aldergrove to Fort George in the previous 12 months; [35932]

(3) what is the maximum permitted number of (a) flying hours and (b) duty hours in any 24-hour period for Chinook aircrew assigned to Royal Air Force Aldergrove; what are the differences between these limits and those applying to Chinook aircrew assigned to other stations; and what changes have been made to the limits at Aldergrove since 2 June 1994; [35947]

(4) how many complete Chinook flight crews were (a) assigned to and (b) available for duty at Royal Air Force Aldergrove on 2 June 1994; and what is the normal planned number of available flight crews. [35944]

Mr. Soames: My noble Friend the Under-Secretary of State for Defence will write to the hon. Member and a copy of his letter will be placed in the Library of the House.

RAF Jaguar (Accident)

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will make a statement on the loss of an RAF Jaguar in the Adriatic sea in June. [35635]

Mr. Soames: A Jaguar GRIA on detachment from RAF Coltishall to Gioia del Colle was engaged in a routine training sortie on 21 June when it crashed into the Adriatic sea off the Italian coast. The pilot ejected safely and sustained only minor injuries. A RAF board of inquiry has been convened and a summary of its findings will be placed in the Library of the House in due course.

Tornado Training Establishment

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will make a statement on future plans for the organisation and location of the tri-national Tornado training establishment. [35636]

Mr. Soames: The requirement for tri-national Tornado training establishment is kept under review by the participating nations. Any proposal affecting its future organisation or location would require detailed discussions between the parties involved before any announcement could be made.

Defence Conversion Strategies

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many personnel from his Department, and of what grades, participated in the NATO Advanced Study Institute on defence conversion strategies held in Pitlochry from 1 to 14 July; and if he will list the titles of papers presented by members of his Department at the conference. [35634]

Mr. Soames: The Ministry of Defence's chief scientific adviser attended the conference on 7 July to deliver a paper on "Dual-use technology". A grade 3 official from the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency presented a paper on "Civil/Defence Strategies in the United Kingdom." These apart, I understand that one other grade 6 Ministry of Defence official attended.

Chemical Weapons

Mr. Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) what were the conclusions of the tests and studies conducted by the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment, Porton Down, involving service volunteers to determine the degree of incapacitation following exposure to CR gas; and what was the nature of the exercise tests; [35080]

(2) pursuant to his answer of 24 February, Official Report, column 377, how much CR gas was produced at Nacekuke in total; [35083]

(3) pursuant to his answer of 24 February, Official Report, column 378, when the results of the physiological tests to determine the effects of CR gas on the respiratory and cardiovascular systems were first exchanged with the United States of America. [35079]

Mr. Soames: These matters are for the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency, under its framework document. I have asked the chief executive, DERA, to write to the hon. Member.

Letter from John Chisholm to Mr. Harry Cohen, dated 19 July 1995:

Your questions to the Secretary of State for Defence asking about the degree of incapacitation caused by agent CR, how much of the agent was produced, and whether results were shared with the USA, have been passed to me to reply as the Chief Executive of the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency (DERA) which now includes the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment (CBDE) as one of its Divisions. This reply covers all three questions.

Approximately two tonnes of CR were manufactured at the Chemical Defence Establishment Nancekuke, most of the production occurring in the mid 1970's. The tests which were carried out at CDE Porton Down with CR involving Service Volunteers concluded, as Dr Pearson informed you in his letter of 19 December 1994, that CR caused sensory irritation and was ten time more potent than CS. Exercise tests would have involved walking and stretching routines. As to date on which this information was exchanged with the United State of America I am afraid I can add no more of Dr Pearson's letter to you of 12 May 1993, a copy of which I attach for ease.

I hope this information is helpful.

Mr. Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence, pursuant to his answer of 20 December, Official Report, column 1175, in which years the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment carried out the work to reach the assessment that, with an appropriate stabiliser, there was little decomposition of GD over three years; what was the stabiliser in this case; and when the results of this work were first shared with the United States of America; [35078]

(2) what assessment the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment has made of the shelf life of thickened GD; [35076]

(3) pursuant to his answer of 24 February, Official Report, column 377, in which years the work into the ease of acquisition of the precursors for GD was carried out; when the results of this research were first exchanged with the United States of America; and under which defence agreements these results were exchanged with the United States of America. [35075]

Mr. Soames: These matters are for the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency, under its framework document. I have asked the chief executive, DERA, to write to the hon. Member.

Letter from John Chisholm to Mr. Harry Cohen, dated 19 July 1995:

Your Questions to the Secretary of State for Defence about the acquisition of the precursors to nerve agent GD, the assessments made on its stability and shelf life have been passed to me to reply as the Chief Executive of the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency (DERA) which now includes the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment (CBDE) as one of its Divisions. This reply covers all three questions.

Work to determine the ease of acquisition of the precursors of synthesis of GD was carried out as part of the research into the synthesis of the agent. It is not possible to determine the exact date on which work on precursor acquisition was carried out but it is likely this type of information was available by 1954. The work you refer to on the stability of GD was carried out at Chemical Defence Establishment Nancekuke between 1965–1968 and the stabiliser used was diisopropylcarbodiimide. No long term studies have been made to assess the shelf life of thickened GD.

Results of both of these programmes of work would have been shared as part of the continuing programme of information exchange and collaboration between the United States of America and the United Kingdom but specific dates for the exact time of exchange are now difficult to ascertain.

I hope this information is helpful.

Mr. Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence, pursuant to his answer of 24 February, Official Report, columns 378–79, when the results of the research into GF were first exchanged with the United States of America. [35077]

Mr. Soames: This matter is for the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency, under its framework document. I have asked the chief executive, DERA, to write to the hon. Member.

Letter from John Chisholm to Mr. Harry Cohen, dated 19 July 1995:

Your Question to the Secretary of State for Defence asking when the results of research into GF were first exchanged with the USA has been passed to me to reply as the Chief Executive of the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency (DERA) which now includes the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment (CBDE) as one of its Divisions

From the records available it is difficult to determine the exact date on which results of the work were first communicated to the United States but the exchange of this type of information would appear to have begun in 1947.

I hope this information is helpful.

Mr. Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) what were the conclusions of the skin and eye sensitivity tests conducted by the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment, Porton Down, involving CS gas and service volunteers; [35082]

(2) from what source the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment obtained the CS gas for its tests and studies involving service volunteers. [35081]

Mr. Soames: These matters are for the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency, under its framework document. I have asked the chief executive, DERA, to write to the hon. Member.

Letter from John Chisholm to Mr. Harry Cohen, dated 19 July 1995:

Your questions to the Secretary of State for Defence asking about the tests into the skin and eye sensitivity of CS gas and the source of the CS have been passed to me to reply as the Chief Executive of the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency (DERA) which now includes the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment (CBDE) as one of its Divisions. This reply covers both questions.

The tests of eye and skin sensitivity conducted using Service Volunteers concluded that CS caused short term irritation to the sensory nerve endings giving rise to watering of the eyes and a burning or stinging sensation in the skin. The studies showed the value of CS as a non lethal gas for use in circumstances such as military training. The research quantities of CS used in these studies were manufactured at Chemical Defence Establishment, Nacekuke until shortly before its closure and then subsequently at CBDE Porton Down until 1990. Since 1990 CS has been manufactured by a commercial operator using the processes developed at CBDE.

I hope this information is helpful.

Mr. Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what work has been carried out by the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment into the sensory irritant agent bromobenzyl cyanide; when this work was carried out; where this work was carried out; what were the purpose and conclusions of this work; and if this work involved service volunteers. [35084]

Mr. Soames: This matter is for the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency, under its framework document. I have asked the chief executive, DERA, to write to the hon. Member.

Letter from John Chisholm to Mr. Harry Cohen, dated 19 July 1995:

Your Question to the Secretary of State for Defence asking for information on the work carried out on the sensory irritant agent bromobenzyl cyanide (BBC) at the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment (CBDE) has been passed to me to reply as the Chief Executive of the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency (DERA) which includes CBDE as one of its Divisions.

Studies involving the sensory irritant BBC were carried out between the First and Second World Wars at the Chemical Defence Establishments at Porton Down and Sutton Oak. Exposure of Service Volunteers to BBC would have been part of the research programme and the conclusions of the investigations were that BBC caused sensory irritation and would be a useful tear gas. As a result of this work BBC was employed as the standard in-service tear gas during World War II.

Explosives and Propellants

Mr. Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence, pursuant to his answer to the hon. Member for Leyton on 10 July, Official Report, column 466, what is his Department's calculation of the financial benefits to Royal Ordnance of the EPREP—explosives, propellants and related end products—agreement. [35133]

Mr. Arbuthnot: The Ministry of Defence can assess the financial benefit of the EPREP agreement to Royal Ordnance only in terms of its total value which amounts to orders to the value of £560 million during the five-year tenure of the agreement.

Mr. Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will place in the Library a copy of the explosives, propellants and end products agreement. [35132]

Mr. Arbuthnot: The explosives, propellants and related end products agreement between the Ministry of Defence and Royal Ordnance plc, now the Royal Ordnance Division of British Aerospace Defence Ltd., is "commercial-in-confidence". It is not the practice of Government to place commercial-in-confidence documents in the House of Commons Library.

Mr. Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what agreement, formal or informal, covered the matters now covered by the explosives, propellants and related end products agreement before its signing. [35051]

Mr. Arbuthnot: The explosives, propellants and end products agreement subsumed two previous agreements: the explosives and propellants agreement of 18 August 1986, as amended by subsequent side letters, and the small arms ammunition agreement of September 1986. The E and P agreement attempted to secure the capability of producing certain military explosives and propellants in the UK by the MOD undertaking to procure its requirements from the Royal Ordnance for the duration of the agreement, that is, until August 1989. The SAA agreement derived from the E and P agreement and specifically committed the MOD to placing non-competitively with RO its requirements for 5.56 mm and 7.62 mm ammunition for the period 1986–87 to 1988–89 and 9 mm ammunition for the period 1987–88 to 1988–89.

Radiation Tests (Compensation)

Mr. Martyn Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many claims for compensation his Department has received since 1965 relating to radiation tests on humans; and if he will make a statement. [34478]

Mr. Soames: We are not aware of any such claims, other than in relation to alleged exposure to ionising radiation during the atmospheric nuclear test programme in the 1950s and early 1960s. If those involved had been subjected, accidentally or otherwise, to dangerous levels of radiation, however, an overall excess of death and of cancer would have been expected among British nuclear test veterans subsequently. In fact, studies by the National Radiological Protection Board of over 20,000 British nuclear test veterans have found no overall excess of death or cancer.

Bosnia (Rapid Deployment Force)

Mr. Mullin: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how much of the British contribution to the rapid deployment force in Bosnia is still in the United Kingdom; and if he will make a statement. [35267]

Mr. Soames: A British battalion group of over 800 personnel is already in Bosnia as part of our contribution to UNPROFOR's rapid reaction force. In addition, the deployment of 24 Airmobile Brigade is continuing with some 1,100 troops in theatre to prepare for the arrival of the main body of the brigade. It is planned to have completed the deployment of over 4,000 personnel by mid-August.

Small Businesses

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will make a statement on the results of (a) his policies and (b) his Department in helping small businesses over the last 12 months as against the previous 12 months; and if he will publish the performance indicators by which his Department monitors those achievements and the statistical results of such monitoring. [34706]

Mr. Arbuthnot: The Government continue to place a high priority on helping small businesses through improvements to the business climate, through deregulation and through specific programmes of support and assistance.

Measures operated by my Department to assist small businesses include:

1. The services of the Defence Suppliers Service which meets and corresponds annually with several thousand suppliers, a very large proportion of which are small firms, offering advice on ways in which they can bring their goods and services to the attention of our buyers. The DSS also supports business links, which provide business counselling and support small businesses.

2. The promotion of the many opportunities which exist to sell to the Department by publicising contracts in various publications including the Defence Contracts Bulletin, which is a particularly useful source of sub-contract opportunities.

3. Systematically reviewing our contracting processes to ensure that all administrative procedures are still required and to reduce any unnecessary burdens on businesses. When considering new contracting policies and procedures, we take particular account of the implications for businesses of all sizes.

Human Remains (Underwater Searches)

Dr. David Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many underwater searches for human remains have been conducted in (a) British, (b) international and (c) foreign waters in each of the last five years. [35736]

Mr. Soames: This information is not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Dr. David Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what facilities his Department possesses for the underwater searching and detection of human remains. [35735]

Mr. Soames: My Department does not possess facilities with an area search capability which could be used to locate human remains underwater. Searches could be carried out by divers, but would be limited in depth and duration due to decompression requirements.

Music Teaching Courses

Mr. Byers: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence, pursuant to his answer of 4 July, Official Report, columns 182–83, if he will provide the number presently taking part in each higher music teaching course and the annual cost of running each course. [36120]

Mr. Soames: My noble Friend the Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Defence will write to the hon. Member and a copy of his letter will be placed in the Library of the House.

Military Assistance (Training)

Mr. Byers: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence, pursuant to his answer of 3 April, Official Report, columns 968–69, if for each year he will state the countries and the number from each who were trained. [35265]

Mr. Soames: Details of the military assistance provided to other countries are confidential between Governments. Over the period in question training costs for students from the following non-NATO countries were wholly or partially waived by the Ministry of Defence:

1989–90

Antigua, Barbados, Belize, Botswana, Chile, Dominica, Egypt, Fiji, Grenada, Jamaica, Jordan, Kenya, Malaysia, Nepal, New Zealand, Oman, Pakistan, Senegal, Singapore, Sri Lanka, Thailand, UAE and Yemen.

1990–91

Antigua, Bahamas, Bahrain, Barbados, Belize, Botswana, Chile, Dominica, Egypt, Fiji, Grenada, Indonesia, Jamaica, Jordan, Kenya, Malaysia, Nepal, New Zealand, Oman, Pakistan, Singapore, Sri Lanka, Thailand, Trinidad and Tobago and UAE.

1991–92

Antigua, Bahrain, Barbados, Belize, Botswana, Brazil, Chile, Dominica, Egypt, Fiji, Grenada, Indonesia, Jamaica, Jordan, Kenya, Malaysia, Nepal, Oman, Pakistan, Singapore, Thailand, Trinidad and Tobago and UAE.

1992–93

Antigua, Barbados, Belize, Botswana, Chile, Dominica, Egypt, Grenada, Indonesia, Jamaica, Jordan, Kenya, Malaysia, Montserrat, Nepal, New Zealand, Oman, Senegal, Thailand, UAE and Uruguay.

1993–94

Albania, Antigua, Barbados, Belize, Botswana, Brazil, Bulgaria, Chile, Dominica, Egypt, Grenada, Hungary, Indonesia, Jamaica, Japan, Jordan, Kenya, Korea, Latvia, Malaysia, Nepal, New Zealand, Oman, Pakistan, Poland, Romania, Senegal, St. Kitts, St. Vincent, Thailand, Trinidad and Tobago and UAE.

Military Hardware (Accidents)

Mr. Tony Banks: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will list all items of military hardware over £25,000 in value lost through accidents in each of the last five years. [35445]

Mr. Soames: The information requested is not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Homosexuals (Armed Forces)

Mr. Tony Banks: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what plans he has to improve the situation of gay men and lesbian women within the armed forces; and if he will make a statement. [35444]

Mr. Soames: We are considering at present the High Court judgment in the recent judicial review cases involving four former service personnel who were discharged on the grounds of homosexuality. Appeals in these cases are pending. In the meantime, it remains our policy to exclude homosexuals from the armed forces.

Livestock Exports (Airfields)

Mr. Tony Banks: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what plans he has (a) for allowing the use of airfields for exporting livestock from the United Kingdom and (b) for the sale of airfields to exporters of livestock; and if he will make a statement. [34860]

Mr. Soames: No plans exist to allow the use of my Department's airfields for the export of livestock, or for the disposal of any surplus airfields for this purpose.

Aircraft (British Grand Prix)

Mr. Dowd: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many aircraft belonging or chartered to Her Majesty's armed forces were present at the British Grand Prix at Silverstone on 16 July; and for what purposes. [36206]

Mr. Soames: I will write to the hon. Member and a copy of the letter will be placed in the Library of the House.

Queen Elizabeth Military Hospital

Mr. Austin-Walker: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will list the legal obstacles to the transfer of services from the Brook hospital to the Queen Elizabeth Military hospital, Woolwich; and if he will make a statement. [35937]

Mr. Soames: There are a number of important contractual issues to be resolved before my Department will be in a position to sell the Queen Elizabeth Military hospital to the Greenwich Healthcare trust. As negotiations are still subject to contract, we regard the specific details of such matters as in confidence between the two parties. Officials from the MOD are, however, in close contact with the Greenwich Healthcare trust, and we are optimistic about reaching an amicable solution on all outstanding issues shortly.

Mast Manning

Mr. Viggers: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence, if he will make a statement on the future of mast-manning in the Royal Navy. [35139]

Mr. Soames: Personnel who form the Royal Navy mast manning display team are drawn from the pool of manpower that is temporarily surplus to requirements. This surplus which has enabled formation of the team in recent years, will not be available in future as strengths are brought more into line with naval requirements. Any future formation of the team could be achieved only by the diversion of ratings from priority tasks.

Royal Yacht

Mr. David Martin: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what is the latest estimate of savings to his Department's budget of the proposed decommissioning of the Royal Yacht Britannia. [34758]

Mr. Soames: As a result of the Government's decision to decommission HMY Britannia in 1997, her planned refit in 1996–97 will not be necessary; this will save some £17,000,000. In addition, Britannia's running costs of about £10,000,000 per annum will be saved.

Early Retirement and Redundancy

Mr. Spellar: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what was the cost of early retirement and redundancy packages for armed forces personnel in the last year for which figures are available. [35129]

Mr. Soames: During financial year 1994–95 redundancy payments of £453,000,000 were made. This figure includes special capital payments, early payment of terminal grants, commuted pension payments and the first year's early payment of immediate pensions.

Mr. Cox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what has been the total amount of redundancy payments paid to British service personnel who have left the armed forces under the "Options for Change" policies as of 1 July. [34077]

Mr. Soames: The current redundancy programme began in financial year 1992–93. In that year redundancy payments of £232,000,000 were made. In 1993–94 and 1994–95 the payments totalled £509,000,000 and £453,000,000 respectively.

These payments include special capital payments, and early payment of terminal grants, commuted pension payments and the first year's payment of immediate pensions.

Surplus Land and Houses

Mr. Fatchett: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will list the surplus land and houses sold by his Department by auction in each of the last three financial years; if he will give the price obtained; and if he will make a statement. [35028]

Mr. Soames: From the available records the following properties have been identified as having been sold by auction in the financial years as shown:

Financial year 1992–93
Two building plots adjacent to 5/10 Dobbie Road, Long Marston	75,000
Building plot at rear of 24–28 Norton Close, Worcester	35,500
White Lodge, HMS Mercury, Petersfield	95,000
4 Cranfield Drive, London	47,000
4 Married Quarters and 5 garages, Golden Valley Estate, Folkstone	145,000
2 Married Quarters, Dagets Wood, Chatham	65,750
20 acres (sportsfield) Coldblow near Deal	21,000
Financial year 1993–94
St. Albans Hall, Lynchford Road, Farnborough	117,000
Four lots of land RAF Greatworth, Northamptonshire	109,000
Horse Sands Fort, The Solent	45,860
Nos 4 -27, 9, 12, 15 and 17 Poplar Way, Colerne, Wiltshire	145,000
Nos 1–21 (odd) Elm Road, Colerne, Wiltshire	190,000
Nos 2–6 Cherry Road, 2–12 (even) Elm Road, 6–10 Hazel Way, Colerne, Wiltshire	330,000
Sopley Bunker, Harpway Lane, Christchurch	151,000
50 Fareham Road, Gosport	27,000
52 Beechwood Drive, Woodford Green, Essex	32,000
Financial year 1994–95
Ex Warning and Monitoring Post, Church Lawford, Rugby	248,200
2 x Woodside Cottages, Lyneham	101,500
180 Priory Road, Gosport	30,500

Departmental Property (Evictions)

Mr. Fatchett: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many proceedings to evict irregular occupants for non-payment of rent have been initiated in each of the last five years for which information is available; and if he will make a statement. [35031]

Mr. Soames: In the last five years, my Department has initiated 370 proceedings to evict irregular occupants for non-payment of rent, although there is very rarely any need for an actual eviction to take place, and in the last two years for which figures are available there have been no evictions. A year by year breakdown of this figure is given in the table:

	Number
1991	[1]6
1992	77
1993	142
1994	112
1995	[2]33

[1] Note that the figure for 1991 is for Royal Air Force only.
[2] To date.

Manadon Engineering School

Mr. Fatchett: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many bids have been received for the Royal Navy's engineering school at Manadon, Plymouth; if he will name the successful bidder, indicating the price obtained; and if he will make a statement. [35030]

Mr. Soames: A recent marketing campaign for Royal Naval Engineering College Manadon produced six serious responses from prospective purchasers. Following analysis of the proposals, it was decided that the sale should be completed by formal tender. Invitations to tender will be issued shortly with a closing date for bids approximately one month thereafter.

MOD Properties (Illegal Occupation)

Mr. Fatchett: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what representations he has received in respect of the illegal occupation of empty Ministry of Defence premises; how many premises have been illegally occupied; and if he will make a statement. [35029]

Mr. Soames: I am aware of no representations having been received in respect of the illegal occupation of empty Ministry of Defence premises. We are aware of five married quarters which have been illegally occupied during the last year.

Ferry Purchases

Mr. Colvin: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence for what military requirements two ferry vessels are required as set out in "Future Purchase No. NSSB3B/60758"; what consideration has been given to leasing or contract hiring of such vessels; what equivalent vessels were in use at Portland for the purpose of transfer of naval training staff to warships; and if he will make a statement. [34755]

Mr. Arbuthnot: The requirement set out in "Future Purchase No. NSSBSB/60758" of the June 1995 issue of the MOD "Contracts Bulletin" is for two specialist passenger craft to transfer naval personnel from Plymouth to and from warships and auxiliaries in open water in support of Flag Officer Sea Training when this task moves from Portland. We are currently considering a number of procurement options, including leasing, before establishing procurement strategy aimed at achieving best value for money for the defence budget. The vessels currently in use at Portland are not capable of meeting the requirement to transfer personnel safely in the significantly rougher seas experienced off Plymouth.

Memoranda of Understanding

Mrs. Clwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what considerations led him to diverge from his policy of not divulging details of memoranda of understanding in his answer to the honourable Member for Carrick, Cumnock and Doon Valley (Mr. Foulkes) of 27 October 1992, Official Report, columns 614–15, on the memorandum of understanding signed in September 1992 by the United Kingdom and Indonesian Governments. [36326]

Mr. Arbuthnot: The memorandum of understanding referred to was signed at the Farnborough air show and the answer given to the hon. Member for Carrick, Cumnock and Doon Valley at the time may have reflected the possibility of some information about it being in the public domain.

Mrs. Clwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what considerations led him to diverge from his policy of not divulging details of memoranda of understanding in his answer to the hon. Member for Carrick, Cumnock and Doon Valley (Mr. Foulkes) of 27 October 1992, Official Report, columns 614–15, on the memorandum of understanding signed in September 1992 by the United Kingdom and Indonesian Governments. [36326]

Mr. Arbuthnot: The memorandum of understanding referred to was signed at the Farnborough air show and the answer given to the hon. Member for Carrick, Cumnock and Doon Valley at the time may have reflected the possibility of some information about it being in the public domain.

Civil Servants

Ms Armstrong: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will list for each civil service grade in his Department the number of (a) male and (b) female (i) full-time and (ii) part-time employees. [35466]

Mr. Arbuthnot: The number of male and female full-time and part-time staff employed by my Department and its agencies is set out in the table.

Anti-personnel Mines

Mr. Tony Lloyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence, pursuant to the oral answer of 4 July to the hon. Member for Blaby, Official Report, column 137, (1) when the Government announced a policy of testing to ensure the procurement of additional anti-personnel land mines is safe, tested and reliable; [35453]

(2) what research his Department intends to carry out to ensure that self-destruct anti-personnel land mines that his Department intends to procure are safe, tested and reliable; and how he intends to ensure that present stocks are safe, tested and reliable. [35452]

Mr. Arbuthnot: All equipment procured for use by Her Majesty's armed forces is subject to testing to ensure that it is safe, reliable and fit for purpose. If we procure anti-personnel mines in the future these would be subject to such tests to ensure that they comply with out requirements for safety and reliability at that time. Stocks of all types of in-service ammunition, including mines, are tested regularly to assess their continued safety and suitability for service. No stocks of self-destruct anti-personnel mines are currently held by my Department.

Mr. Tony Lloyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence, pursuant to the oral answer of 4 July to the hon. Member for Blaby, Official Report, column 137, (1) what steps he has taken to consider the military usefulness of anti-personnel land mines; [35451]

(2) pursuant to his oral answer of 6 June to the hon. Member for Islwyn, Official Report, column 13, what measures were taken to consider the justifiable military use of some anti-personnel land mines; and if he will list the recipient and nature of Government spending on mine-clearance work. [35470]

Mr. Arbuthnot: The need for anti-personnel land mines is kept under review. Such reviews include investigation of possible alternative ways of carrying out the important defensive role which is currently fulfilled by anti-personnel land mines. Recent operational analysis has not identified any weapon system which could act as an effective alternative to anti-personnel land mines.

Government support towards the humanitarian clearance of land mines is undertaken through the Overseas Development Administration.

Child Care

Ms Armstrong: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how much his Department spends on (a) child care provision for under-fives and (b) out-of-school provision for over-fives, either directly, excluding provision for departmental staff, or indirectly through resources made available to local authorities or other organisations; what form of provision is provided; and how many full-time and part-time places are provided. [35450]

Mr. Soames: Excluding provision made for staff and service personnel, my Department has no responsibility for meeting costs of child care either directly or indirectly.

Stealth Fixed-wing Aircraft

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will make a statement on plans for the development of a stealth fixed-wing aircraft. [35642]

Mr. Arbuthnot: Our plans for future combat aircraft and associated technologies are kept under constant review. Following the recently approved mid-life update, the Tornado GR4 aircraft will not need replacing until well into the next century.

Chinook Helicopters

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what plans he has to buy additional Chinook helicopters for special forces use. [35637]

Mr. Arbuthnot: It is our policy not to discuss requirements for special forces use.

Hawk Aircraft

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will make a statement on plans for replacement of the RAF's Hawk T1 and T1A aircraft. [35640]

Mr. Arbuthnot: We are assessing a number of options for the Hawk fleet including extending the life of the aircraft or purchase or lease of a replacement in due course. This work will take some time.

Market Testing

Mr. Fatchett: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence, pursuant to his answer of 5 July, Official Report, c. 272, what is the value of (a) those activities subject to market testing that included a bid from the respective in-house organisation and (b) those activities where an in-house bid was not allowed. [35027]

Mr. Arbuthnot: The total value of activities which have been subject to market testing that included a bid from the respective in-house organisation in the last three reporting periods, covering 1 April 1992 to 31 March 1995, was £80 million. The total value of activities where an in-house bid was not allowed, that is, where the activity was strategically contracted out, in the same period, was £409 million. This latter figure includes AWE contractorisation valued at £275 million.

Mr. Fatchett: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence, pursuant to his answer of 5 July, Official Report, c. 272, if he will (a) name the organisations awarded contracts to carry out the activities where an in-house bid was not allowed and (b) express as a percentage of the total number of activities market tested the number of activities where an in-house bid has not been allowed; and if he will make a statement. [35026]

Mr. Arbuthnot: The organisations awarded contracts to carry out the activities where an in-house bid was not allowed, that is, where the activity was strategically contracted out, in the last three reporting periods, are listed in the table. This is 39 per cent. of the total number of activities completed under the competing for quality process within the same periods.

Total Ministerial expenditure on commercial foreign air travel for 1993–94, 1994–95 and 1995–96 to date is as follows:

Financial year	Expenditure £
1993–94	73,767
1994–95	72,455
1995–96 to date	5,660

Before April 1995 the cost of RAF flights was not separately identified and, together with the numbers of officials, could only be provided at disproportionate cost.

On visits of this kind, accommodation is normally provided by Her Majesty's Ambassador, Higher Commissioner, other Government representative, or by the hosts.

S6 Respirator

Mr. Livingstone: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence, pursuant to his answer of 5 July, Official Report, column 276, who was in control of the user acceptability trials with the S6 respirator; and where these trials were carried out. [35622]

Mr. Arbuthnot [holding answer Tuesday 18 July 1995]: The S6 respirator which preceded the current S10, was brought into service about 30 years ago. Remaining records relating to this period are held in archives and to establish whether they contain information concerning user trials and acceptance would incur disproportionate costs. It is known that a study conducted in 1957 by the Army operational research group of the Department of the Scientific Adviser to the Army Council recommended the acceptance of the S6 concept.

Trafalgar Square Rally

Mr. Llew Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if his Department sent observers to the rally in Trafalgar square on 16 July, marking the 50th anniversary of the first atomic bomb test in New Mexico. [36234]

Mr. Arbuthnot: No.

Nuclear Weapons Research

Mr. Llew Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what has been the cost in each year since 1979 of sending scientists and departmental officials to United States nuclear weapons research laboratories and production facilities under the provisions of the 1958 United States—United Kingdom mutual defence agreement on atomic energy matters. [36228]

Mr. Arbuthnot: Records are not kept in a manner which allows this information to be provided.

Female Employees

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will list (a) the number of (i) male and (ii) female employees, (b) the number of officials employed at each of the principal grades and the numbers and percentages of women employed at these grades and (c) the numbers of staff employed at administrative grades and the number and percentages of these staff that are women, in his Department and for each of its executive agencies for each year since.1985. [35687]

Mr. Arbuthnot: The information is not available in the form requested, but details for each year from 1985 to 1994, by grade and gender for the Department as a whole, including its executive agencies, can be found in table 5 of "Civil Service Statistics", a copy of which has been placed in the Library of the House. Details for 1995 will be published later this year.

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what measures his Department has taken to encourage the promotion of women into senior positions within his Department and its executive agencies. [35669]

Mr. Arbuthnot: My Department is committed to equality of opportunity for all its employees, and the vigorous application of our equal opportunities policy in such areas as recruitment, career development and promotion has resulted in some progress in promoting women into senior positions.

A range of measures aimed at improving the position is in place, and plans to develop these further and to introduce new initiatives are included in an annual action plan.

Separate action plans are produced by the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency and the Meterological Office.

Arms Export Policy

Dr. David Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what changes have been made to arms export policy in the last five years. [17527]

Mr. Arbuthnot [holding answer Friday 31 March 1995]: It remains Government policy to support the sale of British defence equipment overseas wherever this is compatible with our political, strategic and security interests, and does not conflict with our international obligations.

Longbow Radar

Dr. David Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what is the total cost of the longbow radars to be fitted to the Army's attack helicopter. [35746]

Mr. Arbuthnot: The cost of longbow radars to be fitted to the Army's attack helicopter is a matter of commercial confidentiality between MOD and the prime contractor.

TRACER Reconnaissance Vehicle

Dr. Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence which anti-tank missiles his Department are assessing in relation to the TRACER vehicle requirement; and if he will make a statement. [35745]

Mr. Arbuthnot: The next planned stage of the feasibility study into the TRACER reconnaissance vehicle requirement will include further analysis of all the options for missiles to meet the identified threat. In framing the requirement to be met, the Department has not identified specific missile type for consideration.

Surplus Military Equipment

Dr. David Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence which Minister in his Department is responsible for the disposal of surplus military equipment. [35747]

Mr. Arbuthnot: The Minister of State for Defence Procurement is responsible for the disposal of surplus military equipment.

Nuclear Test Programme

Dr. David Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what assessment he has made of the National Radiological Protection Board study's analysis of leukaemia and multiple myeloma; and if he will make a statement. [31773]

Mr. Arbuthnot [holding answer Friday 30 June 1995]: The National Radiological Protection Board analysis indicated no evidence to suggest that leukaemia, multiple myeloma or any other cancer was caused by ionising radiation from the nuclear test programme.

Dr. Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence when his Department decided that a 10-year continuation of the National Radiological Protection Board study was no longer to be conducted. [31772]

Mr. Arbuthnot [holding answer Friday 30 June 1995]: A follow-up to the original NRPB study has already been conducted and its results were published in December 1993. We have no plans to sponsor any further studies.

Dr. Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence from whom his Department has received requests that a third survey for the National Radiological Protection Board study be conducted; what response he gave; and what plans he has for such a survey. [31771]

Mr. Arbuthnot [holding answer Friday 30 June 1995]: The National Radiological Protection Board study concluded that there has been no overall excess of death or malignant disease among British nuelear test participants. We therefore have no plans to sponsor any further studies.

Textile Products

Dr. Lynne Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what is the value of contracts for the supply of textile products in 1995–96 financial year; how many contracts and to what value have already been let; and what proportion of this work was awarded to Remploy. [20392]

Mr. Arbuthnot [holding answer Friday 28 April 1995]: The value of contracts for the supply of textile products for delivery in financial year 1995–96 is expected to be £114.7 million, VAT inclusive. A total of 472 contracts are currently in place with expected expenditure in financial year 1995–96 of £42.9 million.

Remploy currently has 26 contracts which include a total expected spend of £11.1 million in financial year 1995–96.

Fuel Servicing Trucks

Mr. Colvin: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence for what military requirements the 17 fuel servicing trucks referred to in tender No SM21ARAF4330 are required; what consideration he has given to leasing or contract hiring of such vehicles; and if he will make a statement. [34754]

Mr. Arbuthnot: The 17 fuel servicing trucks are dual purpose refueller/defuellers and are required to support on-base operations: the most common use is for small aircraft and helicopters. The leasing of equipment is routinely considered as part of the replacedment decision. In general however, there is no commercial equipment available which meets the specific military requirements and the leasing or contract hiring of purpose-built fuel servicing trucks has been shown to be uneconomic. As the specialist nature of these vehicles rule out the leasing of commercially available types, and the high cost of refurbishment of existing vehicles precludes that option, purchase was assessed to be the most economic means of meeting this operational requirement.

Apache Helicopters

Mr. Mans: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what is the in-service date for the first Apache helicopters his Department proposes to purchase for use by the British Army. [36094]

Mr. Arbuthnot: Subject to the negotiation of satisfactory contract terms, we expect Apache to enter service around the end of this decade.

Mr. Mans: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what steps his Department will take to ascertain that the additional defence work for British industry provided by Westland's US Sub-contractors following the decision to purchase Apache attack helicopters will be directly the result of that decision. [36096]

Mr. Arbuthnot: Westland's US sub-contractors have entered into formal industrial participation agreements with the United Kingdom MOD regarding the amount of new work that they will place in the UK as a result of the selection of Apache. The placement of this work will be closely monitored using the MODs standard procedures.

Mr. Mans: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how the unit cost of the Apache helicopter his Department proposes to purchase for the British Army compares with the unit cost of a Challenger II tank at present on order for the British Army. [36082]

Mr. Arbuthnot: The unit production cost of each of the equipments mentioned is information treated as a matter of commercial confidentiality between MOD and its suppliers and cannot therefore be published. This is a long-standing convention of Government.

Mr. Mans: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what is the weight and power output of the version of the Rolls-Royce RTM 322 engine which his Department has specified to be fitted to the Apache helicopter; and what is the weight and power output of the T700 engine at present fitted to this helicopter. [36088]

Mr. Arbuthnot: The take-off ratings of the RTM 322 T701C engines are 2113 shaft horse power and 1890 shaft horse power respectively and the wet weights are 261.8

kg and 215.9 kg respectively. Although this information formed part of the Westland bid, it is also in the public domain. The current US Army Apache has a lower power variant of the T700 engine.

Mr. Mans: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what is the unit cost of the 67 Apache helicopters which his Department proposes to purchase for use by the British Army. [36093]

Mr. Arbuthnot: The unit cost of Apache helicopters is a matter of commercial confidentiality between MOD and its prime contractor and cannot therefore be published.

Mr. Mans: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence when the first Apache helicopter is expected to fly powered by the Rolls-Royce RTM 322 engine. [36095]

Mr. Arbuthnot: Subject to the negotiation of satisfactory contract terms, test flying of the first Apache helicopter powered by Rolls-Royce/Turbomeca RTM 322 engines is expected to begin at the end of 1997.

Mr. Mans: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how much greater the radar signature is of the Apache helicopter his Department proposes to purchase for the British Army, than the Eurocopter Tiger helicopter. [36089]

Mr. Arbuthnot: All technical information provided to MOD for the attack helicopter competition by bidders or through the host Governments is a matter of commercial confidentiality or national security and cannot therefore be published.

Mr. Mans: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how the unit cost of the Apache helicopter his Department proposes to purchase for the British Army compares with the unit cost of (a) the Eurocopter Tiger (b) the GEC/Bell Cobra-Venom. [36083]

Mr. Arbuthnot: All costing information provided to MOD by bidders in the attack helicopter competition is a matter of commercial confidentiality and cannot therefore be published.

NORTHERN IRELAND

Life Sentence Review Board

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland if he will list the cases which have been considered this year by the Life Sentence Review Board, indicating the background from which the offender came, how long he or she had served and what decision was taken. [33302]

Sir John Wheeler: The Life Sentence Review Board's advice to the Secretary of State is confidential.

During 1995 the Life Sentence Review Board has considered 24 cases. These figures include cases which were being considered for the first time at the 10-year stage of sentence, or earlier where appropriate, as well as a number of cases which had previously been considered by the review board and deferred for further consideration.

The Secretary of State has decided during 1995 that 14 life sentence prisoners are suitable for release on licence. Some of these cases were considered by the review board in the latter half of 1994, although the decisions of the Secretary of State, following consultation with the judiciary were taken in 1995.

National Nature Reserves

Mr. Spellar: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what proposals his Department has for the future management and conservation of national nature reserves in Northern Ireland; and if he will make a statement. [34270]

Mr. Moss: National nature reserves will continue to be managed to maintain or enhance their natural interest.

In light of the establishment of a next steps agency for the Environment on 1 April 1996, the Department will explore the possibility of the management of those reserves which it owns or leases, being transferred to other competent organisations. This would be within the framework of a defined conservation regime.

Prison Officer's

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what have been the rates of absenteeism by prison officers in each of Northern Ireland's prisons over the past five years; what have been the causes; and what are the proposed remedies. [34365]

Sir John Wheeler: Responsibility for the subject of the question has been delegated to the Northern Ireland Prison Service under its chief executive, Mr. Alan Shannon. He will be writing to the hon. Member in due course.

Education Expenditure

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what expenditure was (a) excluding; and (b) including salary costs on (i) primary schools; (ii) secondary schools; and (iii) colleges of further education in both real and constant terms in each year since 1979. [34029]

Mr. Ancram: The information requested is set out in the tables for years 1979–80 to 1992–93, which is the latest year for which details are available.

EU Habitats Directive

Mr. Spellar: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland if he will make a statement on his Department's policy regarding compliance with the EU habitats directive with particular reference to the designation of special areas of conservation. [34269]

Mr. Moss: The Government welcomed the adoption of the EU habitats directive in May 1992 and is fully committed to its implementation. Sites identified as meeting the criteria for designation as special areas of conservation are selected on a UK basis by the Department of the Environment for Northern Ireland, English Nature, Scottish Natural Heritage, and the Countryside Council for Wales, co-ordinated through the Joint Nature Conservation Committee. On 31 March 1995 the Secretaries of State for Scotland, Wales, Northern Ireland and the Environment initiated a public consultation on these sites, and as a result of the responses received a first tranche of 137 was forwarded to the European Commission on 20 June 1995. There were 14 sites in Northern Ireland in this tranche.

Integrated Schools

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many (a) schools have integrated status and (b) pupils attend such schools; what is their (i) socio-economic, (ii) religious background (iii) geographical distribution; and what further proposals he has for such schools. [34373]

Mr. Ancram: From September 1995 there will be 28 integrated schools in Northern Ireland:

Primary

Acorn, Carrickfergus

All Children, Newcastle

Braidise, Ballymena

Bridge, Banbridge

Carhill, Coleraine

Corran, Larne

Cranmore, Belfast

Enniskillen

Forge, Belfast

Hazelwood, Newtownabbey

Lough View, Belfast

Milstrand, Portrush

Oakgrove, Londonderry

Omagh

Primary

Portadown

Saints and Scholars, Armagh

Windmill, Dungannon

Cedar, Crows

Portaferry

Secondary

Bronwlow College, Craigavon

Erne College, Enniskillen

Hazelwood College, Belfast

Lagan College, Belfast

Oakgrove College, Londonderry

Shimna College, Newcastle

Armagh/South Tyrone College, Dungannon

Drumrah College, Omagh

New Bridge College, Loughbrickland

The total enrolment of these schools is estimated to be just over 5,000 and the religious balance to be 48 per cent. Roman Catholic, 38 per cent. Protestant, 8 per cent. other Christian denominations, 1 per cent. non-Christian and 5 per cent. unattributed. Detailed information in the socio-economic background of pupils is not available.

I expect to receive a number of proposals both for new integrated schools and for the transformation of existing schools to integrated status.

Health Centre, Armagh

Mr. John D. Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what proposals there are to increase facilities at the health centre, Armagh; how many additional parking spaces will be provided; if there will be vehicular access direct from Dobbin street; and what is the estimated cost of these proposals. [34334]

Mr. Moss: The Southern Health and Social Services Board has plans to develop a new primary care services centre at the Dobbin lane site in Armagh to bring together all the general medical practice and community health and personal social services in the locality. The board has just recently set up project board to take forward the proposal. Information is therefore not yet available about parking facilities, vehicular access and estimated cost. A detailed business case is to be prepared for the proposed centre and presented to all interested parties.

Department of Finance and Personnel

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what changes in the level of staffing occurred in the Department of Finance and Personnel in 1994–95; and what factors led to these changes. [35000]

Sir John Wheeler: During 1994–95, the level of staffing in the Department of Finance and Personnel reduced by 72 of which 21 were casual appointments. The principal factor leading to this reduction was the need to ensure that the Department provided its services in the most efficient and effective manner consistent with its running cost provision.

Compensation Claims

Mr. Home Robertson: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what was the cost of claims for (a) damage caused by terrorists and (b) compensation for disturbance and so on by the security forces in each of the last four years; and what is the cost of claims approved so far during the current year. [34774]

Sir John Wheeler: Responsibility for the subject in question has been delegated to the Compensation Agency under its chief executive, Mr. Denis Stanley. I have asked him to arrange for a reply to be given.

Letter from D. A. Stanley to Mr. John Home Robertson, dated 18 July 1995:

The Minister of State, Sir John Wheeler, has asked me to reply, on behalf of the Compensation Agency, to your recent Question regarding claims for compensation for criminal damage caused by terrorists and for compensation paid as a result of disturbance related to the activities of the security forces in each of the last four years and so far during the current year.

Compensation paid under Criminal Damage Legislation

£ million

Year	Criminal damage total expenditure	Terrorist related expenditure
1991–92	33.1	32.4 (estimate)
1992–93	75.9	74.2 (estimate)
1993–94	67.9	65.9
1994–95	53.8	52.9
First quarter 1995–96	9.5	9.3 (estimate)

Figures for the amount of compensation which was solely related to criminal damage caused by terrorists are not readily available prior to 1993–94. The figures given for the two prior years are estimates based on percentages in the later years. The figure for terrorist related expenditure in the first quarter of 1995–96 is also an estimate which is subject to confirmation as claims are processed. It must also be noted that as criminal damage compensation is usually paid on a phased basis, consequent upon replacement or rebuilding work, expenditure each year includes compensation for damage which occurred in earlier years.

Compensation paid under emergency provision legislation

£ million

Year	Emergency provisions total expenditure
1991–92	1.9
1992–93	2.8
1993–94	2.6
1994–95	1.7
First quarter 1995–96	0.3

The amounts under this heading relate to claims paid by the Compensation Agency under the Northern Ireland (Emergency Provisions) Act 1991, mainly in respect of damage resulting from military search operations.

Compensation paid by the Police Authority for Northern Ireland

£ million

Year	Common law total expenditure
1991–92	0.3
1992–93	0.3
1993–94	0.3
1994–95	0.3
First quarter 1995–96	0.02

The amounts under this heading relate to payments made by the Police Authority for Northern Ireland in respect of damage incurred during bomb disposal operations, plus other general property claims against the police.

None of the amounts in this letter include payments which the Ministry of Defence might make in Northern Ireland, details of which would have to be sought from the Secretary of State for Defence.

EU Assistance

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland if he will make a statement on progress with the European special assistance package for Northern Ireland. [35002]

Sir John Wheeler: A draft programme under the European initiative for peace and reconciliation was jointly submitted by the United Kingdom and the Irish authorities on 9 June. Negotiations on the details of the programme are continuing with the European Commission with a view to its early adoption.

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland if he will make a statement on the changes in expenditure on superannuation and other allowances in the Department of Finance and Personnel; and if he will make a statement on anticipated future changes in expenditure. [35001]

Sir John Wheeler: Expenditure by the Department of Finance and Personnel on superannuation and other allowances includes expenditure on (i) pensions, lump sums and gratuities and ii) redundancy and early retirement costs to former civil servants and other members of the principal civil service pension scheme (Northern Ireland). Expenditure on item (i) is largely offset by income consisting of contributions from employing organisations—including Northern Ireland Departments and the Northern Ireland Office—and individuals. Expenditure on item (ii) fluctuates in line with the need of redundancies and, during the financial years 1993–94 and 1994–95, major redundancy programmes were implemented across the Northern Ireland civil service. It is likely that further redundancy schemes will be required in the present and future financial years.

Mr. Robathan: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland when the prior options study of the Northern Ireland Statistics, Census Office and General Register Office was completed; and what has been the outcome of the study. [36551]

Sir Patrick Mayhew: On 18 January my right hon. Friend the Member for Westminster, North (Sir J. Wheeler) announced that the Statistics, Census Office and General Register Office functions of the Statistics and Social Division of the Department of Finance and Personnel would be subject to a prior options study. That study is now complete and I have decided that the statistics and social division of DFP should become a next steps agency and that preparations for its launch should proceed with a view to agentisation by 1 April 1996.

Alcoholic Drink Production

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what was the contribution of alcoholic drinks production to the Northern Irish gross domestic product in the latest year for which figures are available; and if he will make a statement. [34982]

Sir John Wheeler: There are only a very small number of companies involved in the production of alcoholic drinks in Northern Ireland and information from Government surveys on these companies cannot be released because of confidentiality constraints.

Prisoners (Transfer)

Mr. Beggs: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland whether there is presently adequate accommodation in Her Majesty's Northern Ireland prisons to facilitate the transfer of prisoners normally resident in Northern Ireland from prisons in Great Britain to complete their sentences in Northern Ireland prisons. [35594]

Sir John Wheeler: Responsibility for the subject of the question has been delegated to the Northern Ireland Prison Service under its chief executive, Mr. Alan Shannon. I have asked him to arrange for a reply to be given.

Letter from M. A. Mogg to Mr. Roy Beggs, dated 18 July 1995:

The Secretary of State has asked the Northern Ireland Prison Service to reply to your Parliamentary Question about the availability of accommodation in Northern Ireland prisons to facilitate the transfer of Northern Ireland residents who are in prison in Great Britain. I am responding on behalf of the Chief Executive.

Information is not available on the total number of Northern Ireland prisoners held in Great Britain and it is not possible therefore to say whether sufficient accommodation would be available if all sought transfers to Northern Ireland.

We are aware of requests from 28 serving prisoners and if all these requests were approved, there would be sufficient accommodation at present for them within the Northern Ireland prison estate.

Ports Privatisation

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland for what financial support from the European Union the ports of Northern Ireland would become ineligible if they were privatised. [35290]

Mr. Moss: European Union structural funds grants which are currently available to public sector ports in Northern Ireland would continue to be available in the event of privatisation.

Prison Visits

Mr. Beggs: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what is the annual cost of enabling relatives of Northern Ireland prisoners in Great Britain to travel and visit relations in Great Britain. [35593]

Sir John Wheeler: Responsibility for the subject of the question has been delegated to the Northern Ireland Prison Service under its chief executive, Mr. Alan Shannon. I have asked him to arrange for a reply to be given.

Letter from M. A. Mogg to Mr. Roy Beggs, dated 18 July 1995:

In the absence of the Chief Executive, the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland has asked me to reply to the Parliamentary Question you tabled relating to the annual cost of enabling relatives of Northern Ireland prisoners in Great Britain to travel and visit relations in prisons in Great Britain.

The total expenditure on the Assisted Visits Scheme for the 1994/95 financial year was £127,702.22. This included an amount of £17,906.41 administration costs which was payable to the Department of Health and Social Services. I am afraid that it is not possible to extract from this figure the specific costs to which you refer.

I hope this information is helpful.

Arable Area Payments

Mr. Tipping: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland if he will list by county the number of landowners receiving payments under the arable area payments scheme of (a) less than £25,000 (b) between

£25,000 and £50,000 (c) between £50,000 and £1 million and (d) above £1 million, for the latest year for which figures are available. [35362]

Mr. Ancram: The number of landowners receiving payments under the scheme by county for 1994–95 was:

County	£0–£25,000	£25,000–£50,000	£50,000–£1 million	Over £1 million
Antrim	641	0	nil	nil

Child Care

Ms Armstrong: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how much his Department spends on (a) child care provision for under-fives and (b) out-of-school provision for the over-fives both directly, excluding provision for departmental staff, and indirectly through resources made available to local authorities and other organisations; what form of provision is provided; and how many full-time and part-time places are provided. [35552]

Mr. Moss: The Department of Health and Social Services directly assists the development of child care for pre-school and school age children by grant-aiding regional voluntary child care organisations in Northern Ireland working in this field. In the current financial year over £249,000 is being provided in this way.

The Department also administers the Early Years Development Fund, which supports day care initiatives for young children, particularly those under five. In 1994–95 the fund allocated over £381,000 to regional local projects.

In 1993–94, the latest year for which the information is available, health and social services boards in Northern Ireland spent £1.4 million on support for local day care projects, either through direct provision, or in support of voluntary and community facilities. In that year, boards also spent £2.2 million on family day centres, but these do not cater exclusively for parents with young children.

Female Employees

Ms Armstrong: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland if he will list for each civil service grade in his Department the number of (a) male and (b) female staff (i) full-time and (ii) part-time employees. [35462]

Sir John Wheeler: The numbers of permanent industrial and non-industrial staff on 1 April 1995 on a head-count basis were as follows:

	(a) Male		(b) Female
	(i)	(ii)	(i)	(ii)
Department	Full-time	Part-time	Full-time	Part-time

Others	24	1	22	nil
Total	11,476	36	10,862	1,610

Notes:
The figures for the Northern Ireland Office include both Northern Ireland Civil Service and Home Civil Service staff.
The figures do not include casual staff, staff on career breaks and Prison personnel.
The figures for the Social Security Agency and the Child Support Agency include staff who are undertaking work on behalf of and who are financed by the Home Civil Service.

The breakdown by grade of non-industrial staff was as follows:

	(a)Male		(b) Female
	(i)	(ii)	(i)	(ii)

Notes:
No breakdown of industrial staff is available. Figures are for the quarter April - June 1995.

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what measures his Department has taken to encourage the promotion of women into senior positions within his Department and its executive agencies. [35670]

Sir John Wheeler: I shall write to the hon. Member as soon as possible.

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland, if he will list (a) the number of (i) male and (ii) female employees, (b) the number of officials employed at each of the principal grades and the number and percentages of women employed at these grades and (c) the numbers of staff employed at administrative grades and the number and percentages of these staff that are women, in his Department and for each of its executive agencies for each year since 1985. [356686]

Sir John Wheeler: The information is not readily available in the detail requested and could be produced only at disproportionate cost. The relevant figures for the Northern Ireland civil service for the years 1985, 1987, 1991 and 1993, inclusive of its executive agencies where appropriate, are contained in the regular series of biannual reports published by the central equal opportunities unit of the Northern Ireland civil service, the first of which was published in 1986 and the latest, containing the 1993 figures in June 1994. Copies of the reports are available in the Library.

Police Boxes

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland if he will list the location of the remaining in-situ blue police boxes. [35953]

Sir John Wheeler: I shall write to the hon. Member as soon as possible.

Nursery Education

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland (1) if he will make a statement on the basis on which he calculated that his nursery education voucher scheme will cost £8 million in a full year; [35791]

(2) pursuant to his answer of 11 July, Official Report, column 519, what are the present annual costs of a full-time place in a play group or a reception class; [35783]

(3) what will be the maximum cash value of a nursery education voucher in Northern Ireland; [35787]

(4) what plans he has to increase the number of public sector nursery places before 1997; by how many; and in what locations; [35789]

(5) how many children will receive (a) one term's nursery education; (b) two terms' nursery education; and (c) three terms' nursery education as a result of the voucher scheme in 1997; [35790]

(6) how many children in Northern Ireland currently start their primary education before the compulsory school starting age; at what cost to public funds; and how their education and educational funding will be affected by the voucher scheme for nursery education; [35784]

(7) how many children in Northern Ireland currently receive reception class provision; how this is defined; how it is costed; and how current provision will be affected by the nursery voucher scheme; [35786]

(8) how many extra children he calculates will be entitled to receive nursery education through the voucher scheme. [35788]

Mr. Ancram: The figure of £8.3 million is the additional, not the total, cost of the pre-school initiative in Northern Ireland and as such represents the costs of providing vouchers at the appropriate level for those children who would not otherwise attend grant-aided nursery or reception classes.

The maximum cash value of a voucher in Northern Ireland will be £1,100 and I estimate that some 4,300 children will be entitled to a voucher for three terms provision, some 8,700 to a voucher for two terms provision and 6,500 to a voucher for a single term's provision.

There are no children below compulsory school age in primary education, but there are approximately 2,400 reception age pupils in primary schools in Northern Ireland, of whom about half are in reception classes which are classes in primary schools consisting entirely of children below compulsory school age and where the provision made does not differ substantially from that available in nursery schools or classes.

Pupils in reception classes are funded through the normal LMS formulae for schools and the average age-weighted pupil unit for reception age pupils in 1994–95 was £1,235 a year. Vouchers will be capable of being redeemed for reception class provision on the same basis as for other forms of pre-school provision. Costs for playgroup provision are not readily available in the form requested and I will write to the hon. Member.

Currently a total of some 7,700 children are receiving pre-school education in grant-aided nursery schools or reception classes and the voucher scheme will provide resources to enable a further 11,800 children to avail of pre-school provision.

Detailed proposals for the implementation of this initiative in Northern Ireland, including proposals for the expansion of nursery education in the public sector, will be the subject of consultation with the main interest groups and will be announced in due course.

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many four-year-olds are currently receiving private sector nursery education; and at what cost to their parents. [35785]

Mr. Moss: There is no private sector nursery education in Northern Ireland.

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland, pursuant to his answer of 11 July, Official Report, column 519, how many playgroups in Northern Ireland have full-time places. [35782]

Mr. Moss: Play groups operate on a sessional basis. Where a play group operates two sessions per day, each session would generally cater for different children. The number of such play groups is not readily available.

Mental Health

Mr. McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what procedures exist to assess the mental health of people, in relation to personal and public safety, who are detained in prisons or mental hospitals, or voluntarily present in mental hospitals, prior to (a) their release on licence at the completion of their sentences and (b) their voluntary discharge. [35797]

Mr. Moss: Prisoners with a mental health disorder are assessed by the prison medical service during their sentence and transferred to and detained in hospital where this is considered appropriate. Particularly dangerous offenders can be made subject to restriction orders.

On each occasion a detained or voluntary patient is being considered for leave of absence or discharge from hospital, personal and public safety are factors taken into account. This is a matter for clinical judgment made by the patient's responsible medical officer in consultation with professional colleagues. Patients who are subject to a restriction order cannot be granted leave of absence or discharged without the approval of the Secretary of State.

Mr. McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what proposals he has to amend the Northern Ireland legislation relating to the compulsory detention of dangerously mentally disordered individuals; and what other measures he proposes to ensure public safety in respect of such individuals. [35798]

Mr. Moss: There are no plans at present to amend the Northern Ireland legislation relating to the compulsory detention of mentally disordered people. The Department of Health and Social Services is currently considering comments received on draft guidance on the discharge and continuing care in the community of mentally disordered people who are thought to represent a potential risk to themselves or others.

Postal Votes

Mr. Robert McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what was the number of postal votes cast at the 1992 general election in each Northern Ireland constituency; and what percentage of the poll that represented. [35802]

Sir Patrick Mayhew: I shall write to the hon. Gentleman as soon as possible.

Health Board Remuneration

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland, pursuant to his answer of 13 July, Official Report, column 767, if he will provide the information for trust board and health authority members on allowances for 1994–95 as broken down in his answer. [35854]

Mr. Moss: The information requested is disclosed in the annual financial accounts of health and social services boards and health and social services trusts. The information requested for 1994–95 relating to board members of HSS trusts is set out in the table. The financial accounts from which these figures have been extracted are unaudited and therefore may be subject to change.

Updated information requested relating to board members of health and social services boards is not yet available.

Myalgic Encephalomyelitis

Mr. McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what consideration he has given to opening a dedicated ME clinic in Northern Ireland. [35794]

Mr. Moss: There are no proposals to open such a centre at present.

Pupil Exclusions

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland (1) how many (a) secondary; and (b) primary school children have been permanently excluded in each local education authority in each of the last five years and as a proportion of the total school roll; [35844]

(2) how many (a) secondary; and (b) primary school children have been permanently excluded in each of the last five years; [35847]

(3) how many (a) secondary; and (b) primary school children who have been permanently excluded have received tuition (i) at home; and (ii) in a pupil referral unit in each of the last five years. [35841]

Mr. Ancram: This information is not available and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Out-patient Appointments

Mr. McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many people, by speciality, have been awaiting initial out-patient appointments with consultants at the Ulster hospital for (a) more than one year and (b) more than two years; and if he will give the comparable figure for the Belfast City hospital. [35795]

Mr. Moss: Information held centrally relating to patients waiting for their first outpatient appointment cannot be attributed to individual hospitals. Figures given in the table are trust totals and relate to out-patients who are still waiting for their first out-patient appointment at the end of March 1995.

Marches

Mr. Robert McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland if he will specify the date of the meeting of the Anglo-Irish Conference when the Government of the Irish Republic first made the proposal that there should be a policy of voluntary re-routing of disputed marches, and the date at which he first concurred with the Chief Constable's policy of seeking the voluntary re-routing of such marches up to the commencing time of the march in question. [35800]

Sir John Wheeler: All decisions about the re-routing of particular parades are matters which fall entirely within the operational responsibilities of the Chief Constable of the RUC. The Irish Government have been so advised on any occasion when they have raised this issue.

Orange Halls

Mr. Robert McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland if he will list those Orange halls which have been destroyed or seriously damaged by sectarian arson attacks since 1 January 1969 indicating the name, location, date and county. [35805]

Sir John Wheeler: I shall write to the hon. Gentleman as soon as possible.

Postal Votes

Mr. McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland if he will make a statement on the postal vote application time limits after an election is called and on the improvements required in the voter identification rules in Northern Ireland. [35803]

Sir Patrick Mayhew: I shall write to the hon. Gentleman as soon as possible.

Mr. McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what is the number of permanent postal vote applications presently granted in each Northern Ireland constituency; and what percentage of the electorate this represents. [35801]

Sir Patrick Mayhew: I shall write to the hon. Gentleman as soon as possible.

Water Supply, Bangor

Mr. McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what factors underlie the lack of usable water available to Mrs. Malcolm of 2 Owenroe drive, Bangor; for how long Mrs. Malcolm has not had access to usable water; when the Department of the Environment will rectify the situation; and if Mrs. Malcolm will be compensated. [35793]

Mr. Moss: The Department of the Environment's Water Executive has carried out extensive investigations into the quality of water supplied to the boundary of Mrs. Malcolm's property and found it to be satisfactory. Responsibility for deterioration in the quality of water within the boundary of the property rests with the owner.

Race Relations Agency

Mr. McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what is the estimated annual cost of the Government's proposal to set up a Northern Ireland Race Relations Agency; what is the cost per head of population, the cost per ethnic minority individual and the equivalent actual costs in these categories in Great Britain; and if he will estimate the cost of extending the existing Race Relations Agency's remit to cover Northern Ireland. [35796]

Sir Patrick Mayhew: On 27 April 1995, I announced the Government's intention to introduce race relations legislation in Northern Ireland by means of an Order in Council. As part of that process, a draft proposal will be published in due course which, among other things, will suggest how that legislation might be administered. The institutional arrangements for enforcing the legislation, including the establishment of a race relations body, are therefore still under consideration.

Growth Challenge Initiative

Ms Mowlam: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what public funding is available to support the Northern Ireland growth challenge initiative for each of the next three years. [34087]

Mr. Ancram [holding answer 17 July 1995]: My noble Friend will write to the hon. Member as soon as possible.

Departmental Redundancies

Mr. McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many redundancies occurred in his Department over the last 12 months; how many were voluntary; and what was the total sum spent on redundancy payments. [34610]

Sir John Wheeler [holding answer 14 July 1995]: The total number of staff leaving the Northern Ireland civil service on redundancy terms during the period 12 July 1994 to 11 July 1995 amounted to 524. Of these, 466 were voluntary.

The amount spent on redundancy payments during that period was £12,637,306.79.

Computer Equipment

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland if he will list the top 10 suppliers of computer equipment to his Department and its agencies in the last five years, indicating the total value of the contracts received. [34559]

Sir John Wheeler [holding answer 14 July 1995]: This information is not readily available and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Auditors' Remuneration

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how much have (a) health authorities and (b) trusts spent on auditors' renumeration in each year since 1992, by region. [34165]

Mr. Moss [holding answer 13 July 1995]: The information is as follows:

1991–92: £109,999

1992–93: £166,091

1993–94: £200,818

1994–95[1]: £42,587

[1]To date

Figures exclude VAT.

The remuneration was paid to the firms by the Department of Health and Social Services without recharge to the boards and trusts.

Private Training Agencies

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what public funds have been used to assist private training agencies to establish themselves in Northern Ireland, and in what circumstances in the last five years. [31427]

Mr. Ancram [holding answer 30 June 1995]: My noble Friend the Under-Secretary of State will write to the hon. Member as soon as possible.

WALES

Food Related Industries

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what was the contribution of alcoholic drinks production to the Welsh gross domestic product in the latest year for which figures are available; and if he will make a statement. [34981]

Mr. Richards: The available industrial breakdown of Welsh GDP does not separately identify alcoholic drink production.

Museums and Galleries

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales if he will express general Government expenditure in Wales on museums and galleries as a proportion of the corresponding United Kingdom figure; and if he will make a statement. [34962]

Mr. Richards: In 1993–94 general Government expenditure in Wales on museums and galleries was about 5 per cent. of the corresponding United Kingdom figure.

Trade Missions

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how many trade missions were (a) led and (b) supported by his Department in each year since 1992–93; what was the cost of those trade missions; and if he will make a statement. [34951]

Mr. Hague: The information is as follows:

Year	Number of missions led and supported by the Welsh Office	Total cost (£)[1]
1992–93	2	[2]6,287
1993–94	6	106,791
1994–95	7	126,061
1995–96 (to date)	3	82,609

[1] These costs do not include staff and Establishment costs which cannot be disaggragated.

[2] current subsidy did not begin until 1993–94. These missions are a very successful and cost effective way of helping Welsh companies to export to new overseas markets.

Further and Higher Education

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what is the number of state-funded postgraduate students as a proportion of the entire student population at Welsh higher education institutions and if he will make a statement. [34966]

Mr. Richards: Information provided by the Higher Education Statistical Agency shows that, as at 1 December 1994, there were 81,200 students participating in courses of study at Welsh higher education institutions excluding the Open university. Of these, 12,000 were state-funded postgraduates. The state-funded postgraduates thus form 15 per cent. of the total population at Welsh higher education institutions.

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales, what is the number of state-funded students pursuing postgraduate degrees at Welsh institutions of higher education; and if he will make a statement. [34967]

Mr. Richards: Information provided by the Higher Education Statistical Agency shows that, as at 1 December 1994, there were 12,000 postgraduate students participating in courses of study at Welsh Higher Education Institutions (excluding the Open University) whose major source of finance was from either government departments, other government funded bodies or the European Commission.

Mr. Dafis: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales which colleges of further education in Wales have reported that they are suffering financial difficulties, and if he will give details of the extent of those difficulties. [35262]

Mr. Richards: A forecast accumulated deficit of approximately £601,000 was identified for Deeside college up to the end of financial year 1994–95 and a recovery plan is currently in place. More recently, coleg Ceredigion is forecasting an accumulated deficit of approximately £800,000 up to the end of financial year 1994–95. The Further Education Funding Council for Wales has taken swift action to deal with the problem and a full recovery strategy will be presented by college management to coleg Ceredigion's governors on 20 July. The funding council is closely monitoring the financial health of two other colleges and further action will be taken if it is considered necessary.

Bee Stings

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how many people died in Wales as a result of being stung by bees between 1984 and 1994; and if he will make a statement. [35016]

Mr. Richards: There were no deaths of Welsh residents certified by the Office of Population and Censuses and Surveys as due to toxic reaction as a result of being stung by hornets, wasps and bees—ICD E905.3—during the period 1984 to 1993. Figures for 1994 are not yet available.

Libraries

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales if he will express general Government expenditure in Wales on libraries as a proportion of the corresponding United Kingdom figure; and if he will make a statement. [35126]

Mr. Richards: In 1993–94, general Government expenditure in Wales on libraries was about 4 per cent. of the corresponding United Kingdom figure.

Mr. Barry Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales (1) if his Department has now considered the report by management consultant KPMG Peat Marwick into the library service; and if he will make a statement; [36148]

(2) how many branch libraries there are in each county in Wales; [36144]

(3) which libraries in Wales he has visited; [36146]

(4) how many people are employed in the library service in Wales; [36145]

(5) if he will make a statement on the future of the library service in Wales; [36143]

(6) if he will list the libraries in Wales his ministerial team has visited; on what dates; and if he will make a statement. [36147]

Mr. Richards: I will write to the hon. Member as soon as possible and place a copy of my reply in the Library of the House.

Food Safety

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Wale how much his Department spent on identifying food safety risks in (a) 1993–94 and (b) 1994–95; and if he will make a statement. [34963]

Mr. Richards: Expenditure incurred by the Welsh Office on identifying food safety risks is not separately identified.

Harbours

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how much money his Department has spent in the past 10 years on improving Welsh fishing harbours; and if he will make a statement. [34886]

Mr. Richards: The Welsh Office has provided grant aid totalling £263,542 in the past 10 years for the improvement of Welsh fishing harbours, through the fishery harbour grant scheme under the Fishing Act 1955. In addition, considerable investment has been undertaken by local authorities on improving fishing harbours which has attracted public support from schemes such as the former rural initiative, urban programme and the projects of regional and national importance—PRNI—and special projects schemes. All these schemes are now subsumed in the strategic development scheme. The investment of almost £426,000 in a number of projects to improve the harbour at Holyhead is an example.

Fish Stocks

Sir Cranley Onslow: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how many applications to shoot cormorants or goosanders in order to protect fish stocks in Welsh rivers were received by his Department in each of the past three years for which figures are available; and how many such licences were issued. [34929]

Mr. Gwilym Jones: The information requested is as follows:

	Applications received	Licences issued
1992	2	0
1993	[1]3	0
1994	16	9

[1] This figure includes 1 composite application on behalf of 23 Fishery Owners.

Sir Cranley Onslow: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what steps his Department has taken to study the impact of river barrages on anadromous fish, with particular reference to experience in France. [34930]

Mr. Jones: The Welsh Office is not carrying out any research into the impact of river barrages on anadromous fish as a direct result of the experience of such barrages in France. However, research into the problems associated with the passage of salmonids past estuarine barrages is currently being carried out by the directorate of fisheries research on behalf of the Welsh office and the Ministry of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food. The work forms part of a collaborative research programme with the National Rivers Authority, which is also studying the effect on fish migration of barrage construction at Swansea and Cardiff bay.

Departmental Staff

Ms Armstrong: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales if he will list for each civil service grade in his Department the number of (a) male and (b) female (i) full-time and (ii) part-time employees. [35463]

Mr. Hague: The total numbers of persons employed by my Department are:

Grade	Full-time		Part-time		Total
	Male	Female	Male	Female
G1 and equivalents	1	—	—	—	1

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales, if he will list (a) the number of (i) male and (ii) female employees, (b) the number of officials employed at each of the principal grades and the numbers and percentages of women employed at these grades and (c) the numbers of staff employed at administrative grades and the numbers and percentages of these staff that are women, in his Department and for each of its executive agencies for each year since 1985. [35691]

Mr. Hague: I will write to the hon. Member as soon as possible and place a copy of my reply in the Library of the House.

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what measures his Department has taken to encourage the promotion of women into senior positions within his Department and its executive agencies. [35667]

Mr. Hague: My Department is committed to providing equality of opportunity for all its employees. In 1994, a revised action programme for women was launched which seeks to identify and address their specific needs and to encourage them to achieve their full potential. My Department is also a member of Opportunity 2000 and fully supports its aims and objectives. Currently women comprise 52 per cent. of the Department's employees and the proportion of women in management grades is increasing steadily.

Agricultural Subsidies

Mr. Tipping: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales if he will list by county the number of landowners receiving payments under the arable area payments scheme of (a) less than £25,000, (b) between £25,000 and £50,000, (c) between £50,000 and £1,000,000 and (d) above £1,000,000, for the latest year for which figures are available. [35363]

Mr. Gwilym Jones: It is not possible to differentiate between landowners and tenants who claim aid.

Mr. Ainger: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales, if he will list how much the owner of Castell Cenlas farm, Mathry, Pembrokehsire, Caerau farm, Rhosycaerau, Pembrokeshire, Llandruidon farm, Goodwick, Pembrokeshire and Pantywrach farm, Trecwn, Pembrokeshire, has received in sheep annual premiums, beef annual premiums, suckler cow premiums, set-aside payments and any other agricultural-based payments through his Department in each of the last 10 years. [35988]

Mr. Jones: For reasons of commercial confidentiality, it is not my policy to disclose information about payments to individual farmers.

Child Care

Ms Armstrong: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how much his Department spends on (a) child care provision for under-fives and (b) out-of-school provision for the over-fives, both directly, excluding provision for departmental staff, and indirectly through resources made available to local authorities and other organisations; what form of provision is provided; and how many full-time and part-time places are provided. [35548]

Mr. Hague: Most central Government funding of local authority functions is through revenue support grant and redistributed non-domestic rates. This funding is not hypothecated to particular services. It is for each local authority to decide, in line with its statutory duties and local needs and priorities, how much it provides for these services. In 1993–94, the latest year for which information is available, local authorities spend (a) £2.3 million on day nurseries and playgroups and (b) £3.4 million on child minding, day fostering, family and other day care centres for children. At 31 March 1994, local authorities provided, or bought in from the independent sector, 388 places in day nurseries, 1,126 places in playgroups, 258 places with child minders and 284 places in holiday schemes for children aged five to seven. It is not possible to distinguish between full-time and part-time places.

The Welsh Office has made available £150,000 in 1995–96 to the training and enterprise councils to develop demonstration projects in child care for children below school age and £954,000 under the out-of-school child care grant initiative. Grants in support of child and family services and for the promotion of the Welsh language in 1995–96, together amounting to some £1,190,000, have been awarded to voluntary organisations whose members provide day-care services for young children.

Special Educational Needs

Mr. Win Griffiths: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how many statements of special educational need have been completed in each local education authority in each of the past 10 years; and how many assessments for statements have been made but not confirmed. [36240]

Mr. Richards: I will write to the hon. Member as soon as possible and place a copy of my reply in the Library.

Local Education Authorities (Complaints)

Mr. Griffiths: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how many complaints against local education authorities have been made to the local government ombudsman in each of the past three years; and what was the nature of the complaint in each case. [36241]

Mr. Richards: The Commission for Local Administration is an independent statutory body and questions relating to its activities are for the commission itself to answer.

Information on the numbers of complaints made to the Commission for Local Administration, by type of service, is provided in the annual reports of the Commission, copies of which are in the Library of the House.

Blood Bags

Mr. Barry Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales if blood bags from Tuta have been used in the national health service in Wales; and if he will make a statement. [36136]

Mr. Richards: Tuta blood bags were used in the NHS in Wales between 1 June 1995 and the discovery of a fault in the product at the end of that month. Since then, all stocks have been recalled and use of Tuta bags discontinued.

M4

Mr. Flynn: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what is the assessment of the effect of the proposed M4 relief road in Gwent on local sites of special scientific interest. [35875]

Mr. Gwilym Jones: The M4 relief road is estimated to occupy less than 2 per cent. of the area of the sites of special scientific interest in the Gwent levels. I am satisfied that the relief road can be developed without the scientific resource being seriously affected.

Mr. Flynn: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales, what has been the effect on traffic numbers travelling through the Brynglas tunnel and through main routes in Newport since the opening of the tunnel bypass schemes. [35866]

Mr. Jones: There has been a reduction of 22 per cent. in traffic flows through the Brynglas tunnels; and on other routes the reduction has been as follows:

	Per cent.
Malpas Road north of M4	31
Malpas Road south of M4	23
B4596 Caerleon Road South of M4	23
Town Bridge	4

Mr. Flynn: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what plans he has for an environmental impact assessment on the proposed M4 relief road from the second Severn crossing and Castleton. [35874]

Mr. Jones: An environmental impact assessment on the M4 relief road Magor to Castleton scheme will be carried out and a full environmental statement under the European directive will follow at the time when statutory powers are sought to construct the road.

Educational Psychologists

Mr. Win Griffiths: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales if he will list by local education authority the ratio of educational psychologists to children and young people in the age range 0 to 19 years. [36245]

Mr. Richards: The information is as follows:

Local Education Authority	Number of full-time equivalent educational psychologists in post at January 1994	Ratio of educational psychologists to population (estimated, June 1993) aged 0 to 19 years
Clwyd	17	1:6100

South Glamorgan	10	1:10900
West Glamorgan	12	1:7700
Wales	98	1:7600

STATS2 form; Registrar General's mid-year population estimates.

Mr. Griffiths: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales (1) if he will make a statement on the additional duties placed on educational psychologists since 1978; and what action he proposes to take over the ratio of educational psychologists to young people in the age range 0–19 years of 1:5,000 recommended in the Warnock report. [36243]

(2) if he will make it his policy to change the recommended ratio of educational psychologists to children from 1:5,000 to 1:4,000; and what would be the additional cost to each local education authority to meet such a target. [36242]

(3) what assessment he has made of the number of educational psychologists that each local education authority will require to carry out its legal responsibilities under the code of practice for the identification and assessment of special educational needs. [36244]

Mr. Richards: The roles and responsibilities of educational psychologists reflect the statutory and non-statutory service provided for those with special education needs, which have significantly improved since 1978. The number of educational psychologists employed by each LEA is a matter for those LEAs.

The Welsh Office continues to support financially the initial training of educational psychologists but I have no plans at present to make recommendations on the ratio of educational psychologists to children and have made no estimate of the additional costs of adopting the ratio suggested by the hon. Gentleman.

Mr. Griffiths: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales if he will list by local education authority the number of educational psychologists employed in each of the last 10 years; and what was the proportion of men to women in each year. [36238]

Mr. Richards: Data have been collected centrally since 1992 but gender is not distinguished. Complete figures for 1995 have not yet been returned.

Coleg Ceredigion

Mr. Ainger: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales, if he will institute an inquiry into the finances of Coleg Ceredigion. [35879]

Mr. Richards: No. The Further Education Funding Council for Wales is dealing with the matter.

Wrexham-Bidston Railway

Mr. Barry Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what consultations he has had concerning an improved rail service between Bidston and Wrexham; and if he will make a statement. [36138]

Mr. Gwilym Jones: Officials discussed this line when they met the director of Regional Railways North West on 15 June.

Pupils (Exclusion)

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales, how many (a) secondary and (b) primary school children who have been permanently excluded have received tuition (i) at home and (ii) in a pupil referral unit in each of the past five years. [35840]

Mr. Richards: The information requested is not collected centrally.

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales (1) how many (a) secondary and (b) primary school children have been permanently excluded in each local education authority in each of the last five years, and if he will give the figures as a proportion of the total school roll; [35843]

(2) how many (a) secondary and (b) primary school children have been permanently excluded in each of the past five years. [35845]

Mr. Richards: Following the Elton committee of inquiry into discipline in schools, the Welsh Office monitored through the national exclusions reporting system, the incidence and circumstances of permanent exclusions over a two-year period from the summer of 1990. A total of 192 exclusions reported, of which 11 per cent. were in the primary sector. The breakdown by local education authority is as follows:

	Number
Clwyd	32
Dyfed	10
Gwent	49
Gwynedd	9
Mid Glamorgan	63
Powys	7
South Glamorgan	11
West Glamorgan	11

Since then, no information on exclusions has been collected centrally.

Health Authorities and Trust Boards (Members' Allowances)

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales, pursuant to his answer of 13 July, Official Report, columns 771–72, if he will break down the figures on trust board and health authorities' members' allowances. [35856]

Mr. Richards: The information requested is as follows:

Holyhead-Crewe Railway

Mr. Barry Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what consultations he has had with Railtrack concerning the upgrading of the Holyhead-Crewe rail line; and if he will make a statement. [36137]

Mr. Gwilym Jones: Officials discussed this line when they met the director of Railtrack, North-West Zone on 3 May.

Cadw

Mr. Sweeny: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales when he expects to publish a revised framework document for Cadw Welsh Historic Monuments executive agency. [36376]

Mr. Gwilym Jones: I have now agreed a revised framework document for Cadw Welsh Historic Monuments which I will be publishing shortly. Copies will be placed in the Library of the House.

Mr. Sweeny: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales when he intends to publish the Cadw Welsh Historic Monuments annual report. [36378]

Mr. Jones: The report has been laid before the House today and will be published in August.

Planning

Mr. Sweeny: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales when he will draft planning policy guidance for Wales. [36377]

Mr. Hague: Tomorrow I shall issue for consultation two planning guidance documents, "Planning Policy Guidance (Wales)" and "Planning Guidance (Wales): Unitary Development Plans in Wales." Copies of the documents will be placed in the Library of the House.

Mr. Sweeney: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what performance targets he has set for the Planning Inspectorate agency's work in Wales for the financial year 1995–96. [36379]

Mr. Gwilym Jones: The key objectives for the agency in 1995–96 continue to be to preserve the impartiality and quality of the Inspectorate's work while seeking to improve its efficiency. I have set the following key performance targets for the agency's work in Wales:

Timeliness

(a) Eighty per cent. of planning appeals by written representations to be decided within 17 weeks.

(b) To provide an Inspector for local plan inquiries on request within 26 weeks of the end of the objection period.

Financial

(a) Unit costs of planning appeals decided by written representations not to exceed £690.

(b) Recover 90 per cent. of receipts due within 8 weeks of invoice date.

Efficiency

Generate a 3 per cent. efficiency improvement in the use of running costs compared with 1994–95.

Quality

(a) The number of justified complaints about the way Inspectors have carried out their duties, and the number of successful challenges in the High Court, should be less than one in every hundred decisions issued.

(b) The number of justified complaints about the way in which the Inspectorate handled the procedural aspects of casework should be less than one in every hundred decisions issued.

Volume

To determine 1,005 appeals, subject to intake not declining.

ENVIRONMENT

Private Rented Sector

5. Mr. Coe: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment if he will make a statement on his plans to boost the private rented sector. [33375]

Mr. Gummer: The recent White Paper announced measures which will build on the progress we have achieved since 1988.

We are legislating to make it easier for landlords to let their property. This will increase the supply of good quality accommodation available to rent. We will introduce housing investment trusts to encourage institutional investment in privately rented housing. Trusts will benefit from exemption on capital gains, and a reduced rate of corporation tax.

Rented Accommodation

12. Mr. Winnick: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what steps are being taken to encourage the availability of affordable rented accommodation. [33383]

Mr. Curry: This year, public funding will produce 70,000 new social lettings. Around 250,000 existing tenancies become available for reletting each year.

Housing Renovation (Lancashire)

22. Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment how many homes in Lancashire require major renovation to bring them up to acceptable standards. [33395]

Mr. Clappison: On the basis of the data from the most recent returns, it is estimated that 55,000 dwellings in Lancashire were statutorily unfit on 1 April 1994. However, more than a third of these could be made fit by the owners at relatively little expense.

Inner-city Funding

23. Mr. Dunn: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what account he is taking of the political control of local authorities when allocating inner-city funding. [33396]

Sir Paul Beresford: None. The quality and the likelihood of success are the prime considerations in this competition.

Repossessions

24. Mr. Gerrard: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what is his estimate of the number of home owners who will lose their homes through repossession in the next 10 years. [33397]

Mr. Clappison: The only prediction the Government make in this area is that we expect there to be 1.5 million more homeowners over the next 10 years.

Social Rent Homes

25. Mr. Bayley: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment how many publicly owned social rent homes were started in 1979; and how many will be started in 1995. [33398]

Mr. Curry: I refer the hon. Member to the reply I gave today to the hon. Member for Ealing, Southall (Mr. Khabra).

Houses in Multiple Occupation

26. Mr. Hawkins: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what further plans he has to deal with problems arising from the proliferation of houses in multiple occupation, with particular reference to seaside resorts. [33399]

Mr. Curry: The planning powers introduced in April 1994, requiring planning permission for a change of use from hotel or guest house to hostel, together with our proposals to strengthen local authorities' existing housing powers, published last week, will provide considerable control over the impact on local tourism in seaside resorts.

Mr. Bill Michie: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment if he will make a statement on his reasons for not introducing a national licensing scheme for houses in multiple occupation. [33644]

Mr. Clappison: I refer the hon. Member to the reply that I gave the hon. Member for Makerfield (Mr. McCartney) on 13 July, Official Report, column 723.

Disused Oil Rigs (Dumping)

27. Mr. Alan W. Williams: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment if he will make a statement on the environmental implications of the dumping of disused oil rigs in the North sea or in deeper water. [33400]

Mr. Gummer: All the Governments of the North sea states agreed to the procedure for dumping disused oil rigs. I shall continue to evaluate these matters on the basis of environmental criteria rather than publicity campaigns.

Local Government

28. Mr. Mackinlay: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what proposals he has to extend local democracy and accountability in local government in England. [33401]

Sir Paul Beresford: I thank the hon. Member for his support, and hope that he will help us to encourage the extension of local accountability in achieving, among other things, further improvement in the capital freedom proposed for grant-maintained schools and an increase in the number of sales which will result from the private sector bidding for housing association grant.

Air Quality

29. Mr. Cyril D. Townsend: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what new initiatives he will be bringing forward to improve air quality in south-east London. [33402]

Mr. Gummer: The Government have brought forward provisions in the Environment Bill to implement a new framework for air quality management and we will publish later this year our proposals for a national strategy for improving air quality.

30. Mr. Touhig: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what funds are being made available to enable industry to comply with the latest air quality emission standards. [33403]

Mr. Clappison: Industry must comply with the latest air quality emission standards by the BATNEEC—best available techniques not entailing excessive cost—objective to minimise emissions, and must also aim to achieve any statutory air quality standards. It is the polluter and not the taxpayer who must pay.

Water Authority Board Members

31. Mr. Steen: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what steps he is planning to take to limit the annual income of water authority board members. [33404]

Mr. Gummer: The Government are examining the recommendations of the recently published reports by the Employment Select Committee on the remuneration of directors and chief executives of the privatised utilities and the Greenbury committee on directors' pay. A considered response will be made in due course.

Office of Water Services

32. Mr. Lidington: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what plans he has to review the scope of the statutory responsibilities of Ofwat. [33405]

Mr. Clappison: The Government have tabled an amendment to the Environment Bill that would give the Director General of Water Services powers to determine the actions that water companies should take to promote the efficient use of water by their customers, and to publish standards of performance in this respect. My right hon. Friend has no plans, at present, further to review the statutory responsibilities of Ofwat.

Rough Sleeping

33. Mr. Luff: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what plans he has to reduce rough sleeping. [33406]

Mr. Curry: The housing White Paper, published on 27 June, included a commitment to continue a programme to help people sleeping rough in central London beyond March 1996. It also said that we would consider assisting the development of the successful rough sleepers initiative model in areas outside central London where rough sleeping can be demonstrated to be a major problem.

Mr. Wallace: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what consideration he has given to extending the duration of the rough sleepers initiative for central London and extending it to other parts of the United Kingdom. [34927]

Mr. Clappison: The housing White Paper—"Our Future Homes", Cm 2901—published on 27 June, included a commitment to continue a programme to help people sleeping rough in cental London beyond March 1996. It also said we would consider assisting the development of the successful rough sleepers initiative model in areas outside central London where rough sleeping can be demonstrated to be a major problem. For information relating to Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland, I refer the hon. Member to the responsible Secretaries of State.

East Thames Corridor

34. Dr. Spink: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment how many acres of brown land are available in the east Thames corridor for potential future development. [33407]

Sir Paul Beresford: Work by consultants Llewelyn-Davies, published in 1993, suggests that there are more than 4,000 hectares of mostly recycled urban land with potential for development within the east Thames corridor, extending from docklands to Tilbury in Essex and Sheerness in Kent. The Government have identified the area, now known as Thames gateway, as the major opportunity for growth in the south-east.

Single Regeneration Budget

35. Mr. Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment when he intends to issue regional guidance for the second round of bidding for the single regeneration budget. [33408]

Sir Paul Beresford: The bidding guidance for the second round of the single regeneration budget challenge fund was issued on 12 April 1995 and partnerships wishing to submit bids were required to send outline bids to Government offices for the regions by 16 June. We do not intend to publish any further guidance.

Ms Armstrong: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment how much each regional government office has available to allocate for new single regeneration and budget schemes. [35471]

Mr. Clappison: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given by my hon. Friend the Minister for Local Government, Housing and Urban Regeneration to my hon. Friend the Member for Norfolk, North-West (Mr. Bellingham) on 15 June, Official Report, column 611.

Sewage Treatment Works

36. Mr. Stephen: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what percentage of sewage treatment works failed their consent standards in 1986; and what is the equivalent figure now. [33409]

Mr. Clappison: In 1986, 23 per cent. of those sewage treatment works tested were non-compliant with their discharge consents. In 1993, the latest year for which data are available, the equivalent figure was 6 per cent.

Local Government Finance (Essex)

37. Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what representations he has received on Essex county council's revenue support grant. [33410]

Mr. Curry: We received no representations on Essex county council's revenue support grant during the consultation period for 1995–96, which ended on 9 January 1995. Since then, we have received five written representations.

Intergovernmental Panel on Forests

Mr. Dafis: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what is the policy of the United Kingdom Government towards the intergovernmental panel on forests. [33393]

Mr. Gummer: Britain has been determined to repair the failure to tackle world forestry issues at the Rio summit. We have taken the lead in international efforts, both in the Commission for Sustainable Development and elsewhere, which culminated in the successful creation of the intergovernmental panel on forests.

Management Information System for Ministers

Mr. Llew Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment when he plans to publish his Department's annual MINIS return. [29154]

Sir Paul Beresford [pursuant to his reply, 19 June 1995, c.127.]: I am pleased to announce that my Department published its MINIS return today. I can also announce, on behalf of my colleagues the President of the Board of Trade, the Secretary of State for Education and Employment and the Secretary of State for Transport, that the first MINIS document in respect of Government offices—GO—MINIS 1—is also published today. Copies of the documents have been placed in the Library of the House.

Small Businesses

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment if he will make a statement on the achievements of (a) his policies and (b) his Department in helping small businesses over the last 12 months as against the previous 12 months; and if he will publish the performance indicators by which his Department monitors those results and the statistical results of such monitoring. [34703]

Mr. Gummer: In pursuing its various policies which have an impact on small firms, my Department takes full account of their crucial role in the economy. Those policies include our sponsorship of the construction industry as well as our responsibility for regeneration and energy efficiency, where our programmes provide direct assistance to small firms. In other policy areas, such as planning and environmental protection, our concern is to ensure that regulation does not impose unnecessary burdens on business. Details of programmes and policies and their achievements are set out in the Department's annual report, copies of which are in the Library of the House.

Water Pollution

Mr. Matthew Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment how many cases of water pollution have been recorded in each year for the last five years, by region. [34631]

Mr. Clappison: The number of substantiated pollution incidents recorded in each year since 1991 in each region of the National Rivers Authority is set out in the table. For 1990, due to differing recording practices between regions, the figures are in some cases of reported rather than substantiated incidents. As a result, the 1990 data are not directly comparable with those for later years. For consistency, all data are given on the basis of the current combined regions although the mergers of the Northumbria and Yorkshire regions and the South West and Wessex regions respectively took place in 1993.

	1990	1991	1992	1993	1994

Ozone Levels

Mr. Matthew Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what advice his Department gives to the public when ground level ozone exceeds 90ppb. [34636]

Mr. Clappison: Health advice, up-to-date information on ozone levels and daily forecasts are available to the public at all times on the Government's freephone 0800 556677. Information on daily levels and forecasts is also carried on Ceefax page 404, and on Teletext page 106 and is now also accessible through the internet. Reports and forecasts are sent twice daily to broadcast and print media.

Mr. Peter Ainsworth: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what assessment he has made of the likely effect of his abatement strategies for oxides of nitrogen and volatile organic compounds upon future levels of ozone in (a) urban, (b) suburban and (c) rural areas of Surrey. [35866]

Mr. Clappison: The Government believe that harmonised action at an international level is necessary to ensure cost-effective reductions in ozone levels in the United Kingdom. The Government have pressed for early consideration of an ozone strategy for Europe within the United Nations Commission for Europe and the European Union. The Government are currently undertaking assessments of the national and international practicability and costs of achieving the recommended air quality standard of the expert panel on air quality standards within the timeframe of the sustainable development strategy.

Mr. Ainsworth: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment on how many occasions in the last five years ozone levels in Surrey have exceeded the standard for ozone recommended by his expert panel on air quality standards. [35867]

Mr. Clappison: The Department of the Environment does not monitor ozone in Surrey. The nearest monitoring site is situated at Lullington Heath in East Sussex where levels are expected to represent some of the highest in the United Kingdom. The expert panel on air quality standard's recommended air quality standard for ozone was exceeded at Lullington Heath on 83 days in 1990, 39 days in 1991, 50 days in 1992, 46 days in 1993 and 55 days in 1994.

Rivers and Canals

Mr. Matthew Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment when he expects the National Rivers Authority to publish its next report on the quality of rivers and canals in England and Wales. [34629]

Mr. Clappison: Publication of the report on the latest five-yearly review of the quality of rivers and canals in England and Wales is expected in the second half of 1996. However, the report and accounts of the National Rivers Authority for 1994–95, to be published later this month, will contain interim information about improvements in fresh water quality between 1990 and 1994. A copy will be placed in the Library and I have asked the NRA to send a copy of it to the hon. Member.

Sewer Pipes

Mrs. Helen Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment if the new BSI specification for sewer pipes will ensure that all concrete, clay or plastic pipes will include a 100-year life expectancy. [34515]

Mr. Clappison: Many factors affect the life span of pipes. These include pipeline design, pipe handling and laying and subsequent ground movement. It is not therefore possible to ensure any particular life expectancy.

Mrs. Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what assessment he has made of the adequacy of twin-walled plastic tubing as a material for the construction of sewer pipes; and if he will make a statement. [34517]

Mr. Clappison: This is a matter for water and sewerage undertakers.

Mrs. Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment if the new BSI specification for sewer pipes will guarantee a strength which will withstand a jetting pressure of (a) 2,500 or (b) 10,000 psi. [34516]

Mr. Clappison: This is a matter for the BSI. I cannot comment on a specification which is still under development.

Mrs. Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment up to what psi pressure jetting contractors operate in the removal of obstructions from sewer pipes. [34514]

Mr. Clappison: This is a matter for the contractors. Guidance is being developed within industry on the use of water jetting for cleaning sewers, which will cover a number of factors such as pressure losses in transmission and the design and control of the nozzle as well as the pressure developed at the pump.

Computer Equipment Suppliers

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment if he will list the top 10 suppliers of computer equipment to his Department and its agencies in the last five years, indicating the total value of the contracts received. [34552]

Sir Paul Beresford [holding answer 14 July 1994]: In the three years 1992–93, 1994–94 and 1994–95—the period for which records are available—£12.37 million worth of contracts/orders were placed with the following 10 computer equipment suppliers:

Suppliers		£
Apricot	Hardware	4 million
Dell	Hardware	4 million
ICL	Hardware	2 million
Probrand	All purpose	900 thousand
Wordperfect UK	Software	500 thousand
Software Corp	Software	300 thousand
Action Comp Supplies	All purpose	300 thousand
AMA UK	All Purpose	150 thousand
Orion Media Marketing	Consumables	120 thousand
HMSO	All purpose	100 thousand

Leasehold Enfranchisement

Mr. Cox: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what evidence he has received on the obstacles to leasehold enfranchisement. [34767]

Mr. Clappison: Leasehold enfranchisement is a private transaction between the leaseholders and the landlord, and it is therefore not possible to obtain comprehensive information on a regular basis of the reasons why leaseholders may not have proceeded with enfranchisement. My Department does, however, monitor the number of cases coming before leasehold valuation tribunals where the parties cannot agree terms. To date, 31 cases have been heard and 10 are listed to be heard in the near future.

We have let a research contract to Sheffield Hallam university to follow up the progress with enfranchisement, of a sample of the people who have approached the Leasehold Enfranchisement Advisory Service. We expect to publish the final report towards the end of 1996.

Sites of Special Scientific Interest

Mr. Morley: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment when the council of English Nature expects to consider a proposal to denotify as a site of special scientific interest all or part of (a) Thorne Moors site of special scientific interest and (b) Hatfield Moor site of special scientific interest. [34789]

Mr. Clappison [holding answer 17 July 1995]: Peatland sites of special scientific interest are currently being surveyed and assessed. Once this work is complete, English Nature will consider later this year whether any boundary changes are necessary.

Mr. Morley: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what representations English Nature has received from the Peat Producers' Association or any of its member organisations on (a) revision of sites of special scientific interest boundaries on any peatland sites of special scientific interest with valid planning permission for peat extraction and (b) on any peat bogs listed as possible special areas of conservation on its consultation document dated 31 March; and if he will list the sites involved. [34788]

Mr. Clappison [holding answer 17 July 1995]: In response to consultations by the Government, Levingtons Horticulture Ltd. welcomed the inclusion of Wedholme Flow and Thorne Moors on the list of candidate special areas of conservation. They suggested the removal of certain areas which did not contain a habitat of the type listed in the directive.

Housing Statistics

Mr. Raynsford: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment if he will estimate the number and proportion of households that have owner-occupiers in each of the years 1991 to 1994, according to (a) the age bands under 25, 25 to 29, 30 to 34, 35 to 39, 40 to 44, 45 to 49, 50 to 54 and 55 years and over and (b) household types, married couples, cohabiting couples, lone parents, other multi-person households, and one-person households, on a basis consistent with the evidence recently made available to the Environment Select Committee on the need for provision for social housing. [35189]

Mr. Curry: The latest available estimates of the number and proportion of owner occupiers by age and household types are given in the table. These relate to the years 1991 and 1993.

Estimates for 1992 and 1994 are not available.

Drinking Water (Lead)

Mr. Merchant: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment if the drinking water inspectorate will give advice to consumers about lead in drinking water. [36078]

Mr. Clappison: The drinking water inspectorate today published "Lead in Drinking Water". This leaflet gives consumers advice on how to find out if they have lead pipes in their home. whether the amount of lead in their drinking water exceeds the standard and how to minimise the level of lead in their drinking water.

Copies of the leaflet has been placed in the Libraries of both Houses.

Going for Green

Mr. Pawsey: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what progress has been made by the Going for Green initiative. [36079]

Mr. Gummer: The Going for Green national committee has taken responsibility for managing the eco-schools project and I am pleased to announce that 155 schools have already joined, with 500 more expected to do so by the end of the year. The committee has also recommended the development of a green code for the general public to follow and a number of demonstration projects will be established to test its practicability.

Negotiations on detailed proposals are taking place with Lancashire county council, Sedgefield district council and the London borough of Merton, while discussions are at an earlier stage with three other communities, including one in Wales and one in Northern Ireland. In the light of these developments, the committee has proposed that it should examine the feasibility of establishing a company limited by guarantee to take forward the campaign and to attract private sector sponsorship to supplement and partner the public sector support we are able to give I welcome this proposal by the committee. I hope that it will be in a position to decide in the autumn whether to proceed with this option.

Brent Spar

Mr. Dalyell: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what are the responsibilities of his Department in relation to the final disposal of the Brent Spar. [33560]

Mr. Clappison: Unless and until action is required under one of the statutory functions of the Secretary of State for the Environment, to ensure that decisions are consistent with the Government's general policies on the marine environment.

Education Funding (Northumberland)

Mr. Jack Thompson: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment when he intends to respond to the letters sent to him by school governors and parents who support the Fairshares campaign for educational funding in Northumberland. [34820]

Sir Paul Beresford: So far as I am aware, my Department has replied to every letter received from members of the public during this campaign.

Mr. Thompson: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment to how many letters sent to him by school governors and parents who support the campaign for increased educational funding in Northumberland he has so far replied. [34821]

Sir Paul Beresford: I refer to the reply given by my hon. Friend the Minister for Local Government, Housing and Urban Regeneration to the right hon. Member for Berwick upon Tweed (Mr. Beith) on 29 June, Official Report, column 756.

Private Utilities (Pricing Structure)

Ms Armstrong: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what discussions he has had with the private utilities in respect of pricing structure with special reference to the balance between standing charges and unit costs. [35477]

Mr. Clappison: None. So far as the water industry is concerned, this is a matter for the Director General of Water Services and the water companies.

Housing Investment Programmes

Ms Armstrong: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what was the housing investment programme for each local authority in 1978–79, 1994–95 and 1995–96 in cash and in constant prices. [35473]

Mr. Clappison: Information on housing investment programme allocations for 1978–79, 1994–95 and 1995–96 for each local authority in England is available in the Library.

The GDP market price deflator can be used to exclude the effect of general inflation.

	GDP deflator 1978–79 = 100
1978–79	100.0
1994–95	292.3
1995–96	301.8

Health and Safety

Mr. Madden: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what responsibilities for health and safety, formerly held by the Department of Employment, have been transferred to his Department. [35584]

Sir Paul Beresford: My Department has taken over responsibility for the Health and Safety Commission and the Health and Safety Executive. The allocation of other responsibilities relating to health and safety at work is still under consideration.

Child Care

Ms Armstrong: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment how much his Department spends on (a) child care provision for under-fives and (b) out-of-school provision for the over-fives, both directly, excluding provision for departmental staff, and indirectly through resources made available to local authorities and other organisation; what form of provision is provided; and how many full-time and part-time places are provided. [35549]

Sir Paul Beresford: The Department's only direct spending on child care provision for under-fives and out-of-school provision for over-fives, is limited to provision for departmental staff.

My Department does not make resources available to local authorities specifically for child care. My Department is responsible for distributing revenue support grant to English local authorities. Local spending decisions on child care are, however, a matter for each local authority. It is likely that some local child care and out-of-school provision is supported through commitments under the single regeneration budget and, since March 1995, under the single regeneration budget challenge fund, although this information is not held centrally.

Departmental Employees

Ms Armstrong: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment if he will list for each civil service grade in his Department the number of (a) male and (b) female (i) full-time and (ii) part-time employees. [35464]

Sir Paul Beresford: The following information is for 1 April 1995 and covers non-industrial staff in my Department, excluding Ordnance Survey and PSA Services.

	Male		Female
	Full-time	Part-time	Full-time	Part-time
Grade 1	1	0	0	0
Grade 2	5	0	2	0
Grade 3	26	0	4	0
Grade 4	5	0	0	0
Grade 5	108	3	17	5
Grade 6	283	9	23	6
Grade 7	596	3	108	30

EO and equivalent	651	4	478	45
AO and equivalent	557	4	796	135
AA and equivalent	231	1	352	82

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment if he will list (a) the number of (i) male (ii) female employees, (b) the number of officials employed at each of the principal grades and the numbers and percentages of women employed at these grades and (c) the numbers of staff employed at administrative grades and percentages of these staff that are women, in his Department and for each of its executive agencies for each year since 1985. [35680]

Sir Paul Beresford: The information is not available in the form requested but details by grade and gender for the Department as a whole, including the executive agencies, can be found in table 5 of "Civil Service Statistics" for each year from 1985 to 1994—copies are available in the Library. Details for 1995 will be published later this year.

Women (Promotions)

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what measures his Department has taken to encourage the promotion of women into senior positions within his Department and its executive agencies. [35672]

Sir Paul Beresford: The Department is committed to equality of opportunity for all employees. In relation to women there is a departmental action plan to achieve equality of opportunity based on the programme for action for women in the civil service. Initiatives taken to improve the development and promotion of women staff include equal opportunities training and seminars for staff and senior managers; a women in management training course; at least one woman on each promotion panel; part-time working; and nursery and holiday play schemes are available.

Sikh Turban Wearers

Mr. Madden: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment by what means Her Majesty's Government continued exemption, notwithstanding the Personal Protective Equipment at Work Regulations, for Sikh turban wearers employed in construction and serving in the armed forces. [35583]

Sir Paul Beresford: Section 11 of the Employment Act 1989 exempts Sikh turban wearers from any statutory requirements to wear protective headgear while on a construction site. The position of Sikh turban wearers in the armed forces is a matter for my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for Defence.

Regional Funds

Mr. Alton: To ask Secretary of State for the Environment if he will report on the stage the 1994 objective 1 bid of Liverpool chamber of commerce and industry has reached; and if he will ensure that the telematics service is implemented as quickly as possible. [36099]

Sir Paul Beresford: Five projects form Liverpool chamber of commerce were approved in principle last October. Four have received offers of grant and have been completed or are in the progress. Offer letters can only be issued when all requirements for award of grant have been fulfilled. The Government office is working with the Liverpool Chamber to progress the fifth project which concerns a telematics service.

Mr. Alton: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment how many 1994 objective 1 bids were successful; how many received some or all of the cash they were granted; how many have received no funding; what factors underlie failure to collect funding; and if he will make a statement. [36098]

Sir Paul Beresford: A total of 797 projects were approved in principle. Grant payments have been made for 699 projects. More than 70 projects have yet to claim and a small number are with the Government office for processing.

There are a number of factors which can affect the draw down of grant aid. For the European social fund, grant payments are made in three stages. The overwhelming majority of stage 1 and 2 claims have been paid. In a small number of cases inaccuracies in the paperwork have resulted in delay. Final claims are not due to be paid until September. For the European regional development fund, project sponsors must incur expenditure before claims for grant payment can be submitted and the spend profile of a project can span a number of years.

Planning Enforcement

Mr. Waterson: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment if he will carry out a policy review of the new and strengthened planning enforcement provisions introduced into part VII of the Town and Country Planning Act 1990 by the Planning and Compensation Act 1991; [35934]

Mr. Lidington: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment if he will carry out a policy review of the new and strengthened planning enforcement provisions introduced into part VII of the Town and Country Planning Act 1990 by the Planning and Compensation Act 1991. [36400]

Sir Paul Beresford: We have completed a review of local planning authorities' use of the planning enforcement provisions in the Planning and Compensation Act 1991, based on a planning consultants' research project involving a representative sample of more than 100 local planning authorities in England and Wales. The research report's conclusions are that planning authorities are generally using the new provisions effectively; and the wider range of available enforcement powers enables authorities better to implement whatever remedial action is most suited to each breach of planning control.

The research report is being published tomorrow and copies will be placed in the Library of the House.

County Hall, London

Mr. Tony Banks: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment who gave permission for a pop concert and party to be held at county hall, London SE1, on 15 July; what licences were issued; and why the event was cancelled. [35838]

Sir Paul Beresford: The county hall main building is now privately owned by the Shirayama Corporation of Japan. It would be for the owners of the building and the organisers of any event proposed to be held there to obtain any permissions or licences which might be required, and to decide whether to proceed with or to cancel that event.

Mr. Banks: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment for what reasons the freehold of county hall, London SE1, was transferred to Shirayama Shokusan Co. Ltd.; when this occurred; and what was the amount involved. [35970]

Sir Paul Beresford: The sale to Shirayama Shokusan of a 999-year lease on the riverside building of county hall in October 1993 provided for the transfer to Shirayama of the freehold interest in the building, for a nominal sum—£1—, upon the earlier (i) completion of listed building works, and (ii) transfer of the freehold of the rest of the site.

The freehold of the remainder of the site was subsequently sold to Shirayama in April 1995.

Local Government Finance (Isle of Wight)

Mr. Barry Field: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what studies he has made of the effect of the data on the new earnings survey from the Isle of Wight and its effect on the area cost adjustment formulae for the Isle of Wight and if he has seen the correspondence from Mr. Orchard of the Department of Employment and the hon. Member for the Isle of Wight. [35871]

Sir Paul Beresford: I will write to my hon. Friend.

Mr. Field: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment if he will take into account the Island Apart evidence when looking at the area cost adjustment formulae and the effects any changes to that formulae will have on the Isle of Wight's local government finance. [35941]

Sir Paul Beresford: We will consider all the evidence available to us on the area cost adjustment when forming our proposals for the 1996–97 local government finance settlement later this year.

London Residuary Body

Mr. Tony Banks: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment on what grounds the royal borough of Kensington and Chelsea was chosen to prepare the accounts for 1995–96 following the wind-up of the London residuary body. [35860]

Sir Paul Beresford: The detailed arrangements for winding up the London residuary body, including the preparation of the final accounts, are matters to be decided when the order winding-up the London residuary body is made.

Mr. Banks: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment when he expects to make an order winding up the London residuary body. [35859]

Sir Paul Beresford: My right hon. Friend intends to make such an order as soon as practicable, having regard to the outstanding responsibilities of the residuary body.

Mr. Banks: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment how many hours a week each London residuary body board member worked in 1994–95 on London residuary body business; what emoluments each received; and what payments will be made to the board members when the London residuary board is finally wound-up. [35861]

Sir Paul Beresford: The board members of the London residuary body received the following emoluments in 1994–95:

Sir Godfrey Taylor (Chairman): £15,430 for 1 day per week

M. C. Roberts Esq.: £9,320 for 1 day per week

W. J. Mackenzie Esq.: £9,320 for 1 day per week

J. Wolkind Esq.: £9,320 for 1 day per week

In practice, board members frequently commit more time and energy to their duties than required by their contracts.

There will be no extra payments to the board members of the LRB upon its wind-up.

Irish Sea Science

Mr. Congdon: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what further progress has been made by the Irish sea science co-ordinator in reviewing Irish sea science. [35987]

Mr. Clappison: The co-ordinator, a joint UK-Irish appointment, has submitted his final report to the UK and Irish Governments as the "Third Report of the Irish Sea Science Co-ordinator". Building on the two previous reports, it proposes a set of studies to fill important gaps in scientific knowledge of the area and to form the basis of a structured and integrated programme to enhance abilities to protect the Irish sea and manage its resources. Further discussions between sponsoring Departments are proceeding to consider implications for research requirements and future marine policies. I am placing copies in the Library of the House today.

Special Areas of Conservation

Mr. Ainger: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment, pursuant to his answer of 20 June, Official Report, columns 140–43, if he will list for each proposed special area of conservation (a) the relevant parliamentary constituency and (b) the relevant European parliamentary constituency. [35880]

Mr. Clappison: The relevant constituencies for the candidate special areas of conservation submitted to the European Commission are as follows:

Proposed special area of conservation	Parliamentary constituency	European parliamentary constituency
Amat Woods	Caithness and Sutherland	Highlands and Islands

Urban Development Areas

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment how many permanent jobs have been created in each urban development area net of losses and relocations since the inception of each urban development corporation. [36123]

Sir Paul Beresford: Reliable data on net employment in urban development areas are not available. Gross jobs created by each urban development corporation up to 31 March are as follows:

	Number
London Docklands	63,025
Merseyside	14,458
Teesside	7,682
Black Country	13,357

Skin Disease

Mr. Congdon: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment what plans his Department has to examine skin disease in the context of health and safety at work. [35969]

Sir Paul Beresford: Since 1993, the Health and Safety Executive—HSE—has been funding a surveillance scheme for occupational skin disease—EPI-DERM—to determine the major causes of work related skin disorders and to identify the occupations most at risk. The initial findings confirm that occupational dermatitis is still the most widespread form of work related skin disease.

The HSE is therefore to focus on reducing the incidence of occupational dermatitis as part of its "Good Health is Good Business Campaign". This phase of the campaign, which will be launched in the spring next year, aims to raise awareness of the causes of work-related dermatitis and the steps employers need to take to prevent it.

The HSE is also acting to reduce the harm that can be caused by exposure to ultra-violet light at work. It has published guidance for outdoor workers alerting them to the dangers of over-exposure to the sun and advising them of the precautions that they should take to protect their skin.

Planning Inspectorate Agency

Mr. Patrick Thompson: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what performance targets he has set for the Planning Inspectorate agency for the financial year 1995–96. [36397]

Sir Paul Beresford: The key objectives for the agency in 1995–96 continue to be to preserve the impartiality and quality of the inspectorate's work while seeking further to improve efficiency. I have set the following key targets for the agency's work in England:

Timeliness

(a) 80 per cent of planning appeals by written representations to be decided within 18 weeks;

(b) to provide an Inspector for local plan inquiries on request within 26 weeks of the end of the objection period;

Financial:

(a) unit costs of planning appeals decided by written representations not to exceed £690;

(b) recover 90 per cent. of receipts due within 8 weeks of invoice date;

Efficiency

(a) generate a 3 per cent. efficiency improvement in the use of running costs compared with 1994–95;

Quality:

(a) the number of justified complaints about the way inspectors have carried out their duties, and the number of High Court challenges, should be less than one in every one hundred decisions issued;

(b) the number of justified complaints about the way the Inspectorate have handled the procedural aspects of casework should be less than one every hundred new cases received;

Volume:

to determine 14,900 appeals, subject to intake not declining.

Latent Defects Liability and BUILD Insurance

Mr. Fabricant: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what responses he has received to his Department's consultation document on latent defects liability and BUILD insurance. [36398]

Mr. Robert B. Jones: The Department received a total of 109 responses to the consultation paper on latent defects liability and BUILD insurance which it published on 12 April. The paper put forward proposals for legislation resulting from recommendations in the report by Sir Michael Latham, "Constructing the Team". The responses will be taken into account in making decisions on any future legislation.

A list of the 99 non-confidential responses received has been placed in the Library of the House, together with a summary. Copies of individual responses and a report on the response may be obtained through the Library.

An analysis of responses to a second consultation document on fair construction contracts is now being prepared. A total of 135 responses have been received. A list of non-confidential responses received together with a summary will be available from the Library shortly.

Town Centres

Mr. Robert Banks: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment when he proposes to issue for consultation his revision of planning policy guidance note 6 on town centres and retail developments; and if he will make a statement. [36399]

Mr. Gummer: Following the strong support given by the Environment Committee for the Government's policy on town centres and retail developments, I undertook to revise or planning policy guidance, PPG6, to clarify various issues. I have today issued for consultation revised guidance on this subject. Comments on the revised draft PPG6 are invited by 2 October 1995. I have arranged for copies of the draft revised PPG6 to be placed in the Library of the House.

The Government are strongly committed to urban regeneration and many of its policies are directed to this end. As part of this, the guidance reflects the Government's determination to revitalise our town centres by encouraging developers to invest in town centres. This applies not only to shopping developments, but to other uses such as offices and other businesses, entertainment, leisure, and higher education. We are determined that town centres should be attractive and competitive locations for investment.

The draft guidance encourages local planning authorities, consulting business interests and the wider community, to draw up strategies for retail developments in their local development plans. This should provide greater certainty for investors. The draft advocates the sequential approach, whereby retail developments should look first to town centres, next edge-of-centre sites and only then out-of-centre sites, if not suitable sites are available. It advises local planning authorities to plan positively and identify suitable sites in their local plans. This does not mean a complete ban on out-of-centre shopping developments, but such proposals will continue to need to be assessed against the tests of impact on existing centres, accessibility by a choice of means of transport and impact on overall car travel.

The main changes to this guidance are:

(i) on planning for town centres and retailing:

emphasis on a plan-led approach to promoting development in town centres, both through policies and the identification of locations and sites for development;

emphasis on the sequential approach to selecting sites for development, whether for food or comparison shopping; and support for local and neighbourhood centres.

(ii) on town centres:

promotion of mixed-use development and retention of key town centre uses, including cinemas;

emphasis on the importance of a coherent town centre parking strategy in maintaining urban vitality, through a combination of location, management and pricing or parking for different user groups—it clarifies the relationship between PPG6 and PPG13; promotion of town centre management to develop clear standards of service and improve quality for town centre users; and promotion of good urban design, including attractive and secure car parks.

(iii) on assessment of retail proposals:

clarifying the three key tests for assessing retail developments: impact on vitality and viability of town centres; accessibility by a choice of means of transport; and impact on overall travel and car use;

how to access out-of-centre developments; and, finally how certain new types of retail developments should be assessed.

Development Quality

Mr. Lidington: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what role planning conditions can play in improving the quality of development; and if he will make a statement. [36401]

Mr. Gummer: The Government consider that the sensitive use of conditions can improve development control and enhance public confidence in the planning system. If used properly, planning conditions can play a valuable role in enhancing the quality of development.

Advice to this effect is contained in Department of the Environment circular 11/95—Welsh Office 35/95—which was published today. The circular updates policy advice and guidance on the use of planning conditions. Among other things, the circular reflects guidance in planning policy guidance notes on the use of conditions in respect of transport, retail development, contaminated land, noise, and affordable housing. The circular also gives additional advice on the use of conditions in respect of design and landscape, access for disabled people, nature conservation and endangered species; and contains many more examples of "model" conditions.

Local Government Reorganisation (Staff Compensation)

Mr. David Nicholson: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what measures he will put in place to compensate staff who suffer a reduction in salary as a result of local government reorganisation. [36402]

Sir Paul Beresford: We are today launching a consultation on draft regulations which will give effect to the scheme for detriment compensation which my hon. Friend the then Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for the Environment announced on 30 March, Official Report, column 733. The scheme provides for compensation of staff who suffer a drop in salary as a result of local government reorganisation. Such staff will, in effect, have their salary maintained for a transitional three-year period if they work in a reorganised authority and are appointed to a job at a lower salary with a relevant authority during the prescribed period. By avoiding the need for redundancy payments and encouraging councils to retrain existing employees in new jobs, the scheme should benefit staff, employers, and the taxpayer. There will be a period of eight weeks in which local authorities, local authority associations and other interested parties will be able to make comments on these draft regulations.

Public Income and Expenditure, London

Mr. Tracey: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment what plans he has to publish statistics quantifying public income and expenditure in London. [36403]

Mr. Gummer: I propose to publish "London: Facts and Figures 1995", later this month. It will provide, in a single source, data on a wide range of London issues and activities.

During the preparation of this publication, we asked our consultants to examine data on public spending and revenues to see if it is possible to calculate the position for London. More work needs to be done before a firm conclusion can be reached and, through the Government office for London, I will be issuing a consultation paper shortly on the subject.

Regional Boundaries

Mr. Fabricant: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment, pursuant to his answer of 26 June, Official Report, columns 541–42, if he has completed his consideration of the recommendations of the Environment Agency advisory committee on regional boundaries. [36549]

Mr. Gummer: I have today confirmed the Government's acceptance of the regional boundaries of the Environment Agency proposed by the Environment Agency advisory committee, modified so that the region covered by the Welsh regional environment protection advisory committee corresponds to Wales alone. These proposals build on the successful river catchment based approach developed by the National Rivers Authority, while ensuring integration of pollution control functions in a way which maximises continuity and scope for close and responsive relationships at a local level. For those who deal with the agency, it will ensure the full benefits of bringing together the different environmental regulators while enabling continuation of the best features of existing arrangements. The agency will keep its boundaries under review, so that adjustments can be made in the light of experience if necessary.

Bristol Development Corporation

Mr. Spring: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment when the Bristol development corporation will be wound up; and if he will make a statement. [36550]

Mr. Curry: Statutory orders will be laid before Parliament later this year to effect the wind-up and dissolution of Bristol development corporation. Subject to parliamentary approval, the corporation will cease to act from 1 January 1996, except for the purpose of preparing its final accounts and report and winding up its affairs. The corporation will be dissolved on 1 April 1996.

Urban development corporations were set up, with finite lifetimes, to regenerate their designated areas. Since designation on 30 June 1988, Bristol development corporation has provided major infrastructure investment which has already revitalised much of east Bristol.

The corporation expects its activities to lead, in total, to the reclamation of 81 hectares of land, the creation of 450,000 sq m of commercial floorspace and 1,220 housing units, the creation of 16,500 permanent jobs and the attraction of £650 million of private sector investment. Bristol will continue to reap the benefits of the corporation's activities well into the new millennium.

Countryside Commission Chairman

Mr. Waterson: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment when he expects to announce the appointment of a new chairman of the Countryside Commission. [36601]

Mr. Gummer: Selection of a new chairman of the Countryside Commission has been made by following a new process, involving advertisement of the post in the national press and the employment of executive search consultants. More than 120 candidates were produced by these methods, form whom we are able, with the advice and assistance of the consultants, to identify a shortlist of names of a high standard meriting serious consideration. Mr. Richard Simmonds clearly emerged from that shortlist as the best candidate and I am pleased to announce his appointment as the new chairman of the Countryside Commission to take effect from 1 October.

Richard Simmonds has all the qualities which are needed for this post: in particular, he has wide and relevant experience, a considerable knowledge of countryside matters, leadership skill and the clear vision and sense of purpose required. He will make an excellent chairman.

2 Marsham Street

Mr. Thomason: To ask the Secretary of State for the Environment if he will make a statement about progress on the 2 Marsham street development. [36659]

Mr. Gummer: The dreadful towers of the DOE's headquarters building have set a poor example to the nation. We now have a welcome opportunity to put right past mistakes and I am determined that the redevelopment of this site will set a better standard.

We need a development which will underpin the continuing regeneration of this part of Westminster by creating a welcoming environment, by attracting more life and providing for a mixture of uses. We also need to show how new and viable city centre redevelopment can complement its neighbourhood and fit in more closely with the existing urban fabric.

I have decided that these aims can best be secured through an open competition in which designers and architects will be invited to devise a new urban design framework for this site, which will make the most of the opportunity we now have. This competition will throw the field open to fresh and creative ideas for an urban design which will be attractive to those who live or work in the area.

The competition will concentrate initially on urban design rather that the architecture of individual buildings. We need a broad and flexible masterplan, not a detailed blueprint. There are several reasons for this: Many aspects of urban design on a specific site can be considered independently of detailed decisions about the use of individual buildings. This is currently often overlooked in developments on this scale; The Government are still considering whether it wishes to occupy part of the redevelopment, and if so how much; I want to keep the option of having the individual buildings which make up the redevelopment designed by different architects within the agreed urban design framework.

Concentrating on urban issues will have an important additional advantage. Since detailed architectural issues will not be considered at this stage, designers will be able to prepare competition entries more easily and at less expense. I hope that this will make it easier for smaller design practices to compete with the giants, that many young architects, from the UK and abroad, will therefore be encouraged to enter. The best entries to the competition will be exhibited to the public next year.

The next step will be to prepare the brief for this competition. This we shall do with the help of professional advisers and in consultation with the local community. In particular, our advisers will be asked to prepare an urban context study of the area which will form part of the brief for the competition. I will announce further details about this shortly.

HOME DEPARTMENT

Police (Civilian Support Staff)

Mr. Wallace: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what is the ratio of police officers to civilian support staff in (a) each police force in England and i(b) overall in England. [34302]

Mr. Maclean: The ratio of police officers to civilian support staff in each police force in England as at 31 March 1995 is set out in the table. Overall in England the ratio is 2.2:1.

Child Care Facilities

Ms Armstrong: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how much his Department spends on (a) child care provision for under-fives and (b) out-of-school provision for the over-fives, both directly, excluding provision for departmental staff, and indirectly through resources made available to local authorities and other organisations; what form of provision is provided; and how many full-time and part-time places are provided. [35554]

Mr. Howard: The information is not available precisely in the form requested. However, I can advise the hon. Member that the following kinds of provision are funded:

(i) Ethnic minority grant (Wales)—there is a project in Wales which meets the costs of providing child care facilities for children of people attending training courses. For 1995-96, this amounts to £5,798.

(ii) Section 11 grant—the costs of providing child care facilities are met in 12 projects. Some 14.75 posts are funded at an estimated cost of £77,000.

(iii) Facilities for children in prisons—some creche and play scheme facilities exist in prisons for the benefit of children accompanying visitors. These are normally funded by the Governor's operational budget, but precise details of how much is spent are not held centrally and to compile them would incur disproportionate costs.

Civil Servants

Ms Armstrong: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department if he will list for each civil service grade in his Department the number of (a) male and (b) female (i) full-time and (ii) part-time employees. [35460]

Mr. Howard: The numbers of permanent industrial and non-industrial staff on 1 April 1995 on a head count basis for the main Home Office and its agencies were as follows. Figures for the Prison Service shown are as from 17 July 1995.

Prisoners (Repatriation)

Mr. Madden: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what plans there are for arranging to transfer prisoners held in the United Kingdom, who are Irish citizens, to serve out their sentences in the Irish Republic under the convention on the transfer of sentenced persons. [35585]

Miss Widdecombe: The United Kingdom ratified the Council of Europe convention on the transfer of sentenced persons in 1985. The Republic of Ireland has not ratified the convention and repatriation of prisoners between the two jurisdictions is not therefore possible.

Metropolitan Police (Uniforms)

Mr. Harry Greenway: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what are the current costs of police uniforms in the Metropolis; how many officers are involved; and if he will make a statement. [33727]

Mr. Maclean: I understand from the Commissioner of Police of the Metropolis that the current cost of a standard police uniform is £500 plus VAT. All 27,909 officers in the Metropolitan police are issued with a uniform: 23,900 are assigned to uniformed duties.

Wrongful Convictions

Mr. Maclennan: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what plans he has to increase the number of personnel engaged in work relating to allegations of wrongful conviction. [35725]

Mr. Nicholas Baker: The relevant section of the Department deals with allegations of wrongful conviction and with other casework elated to miscarriages of justice. Staffing levels are kept under review in the light of work load, which may fluctuate. There are currently 20 staff engaged on this work and the number is expected shortly to rise to 23.

Asylum Seekers

Mrs. Roche: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department, pursuant to his answer of 26 June, Official Report, column 491, how many of those applying for asylum upon arrival at Waterloo station since 1 January have subsequently withdrawn their asylum applications and made a voluntary departure from the United Kingdom. [35757]

Mr. Nicholas Baker: Of the 173 principal applications for asylum received from people arriving at Waterloo station during the period 1 January to 19 June 1995, as at 17 July six had withdrawn their applications and departed from the United Kingdom prior to a decision being made.

Mrs. Roche: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department, pursuant to his answer of 4 July, Official Report, columns 284–86, how many of those asylum seekers detained under Immigration Act powers and held in criminal prisons are held in such accommodation because their current behaviour or past history indicates that they require a greater level of control or medical observation than can be provided in immigration service detention accommodation. [35758]

Mr. Baker: The information requested is not held centrally and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Mrs. Roche: To ask the Secretary of State or the Home Department to what extent the number of asylum seekers detained under Immigration Act powers has changed in the past 12 months. [35751]

Mr. Baker: Comparable information for the last 12 months is not available. However, the available information is that, as at 3 July 1995, 690 people who had sought asylum at some stage were detained, compared with 616 people as at 31 May 1994.

Mrs. Roche: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department, pursuant to his answer of 26 June, Official Report, column 405, what progress was made at the Justice and Home Affairs Council held on 20 to 21 June on the draft resolution on minimum guarntees for asylum procedures. [35759]

Mr. Baker: The resolution on minimum guarantees for asylum procedures was adopted at the Justice and Home Affairs Council held on 20 to 21 June.

C3 Division

Mr. Maclennan: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what representations he has received about delays in the processing of cases with C3 division. [35724]

Mr. Nicholas Baker: Representations about the handling of cases including the time taken to examine them are made from time to time, usually by petitioners or their representatives in relation to a particular case.

Detainees

Mrs. Roche: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what is the average weekly cost of holding an Immigration Act detainee in the temporary immigration detention centre at Gatwick airport. [35756]

Mr. Nicholas Baker: The average weekly cost is approximately £580 per detainee.

Mrs. Roche: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department, pursuant to his answer of 5 July, Official Report, column 284, how much of the total cost of detaining persons under Immigration Act powers his Department expects to reclaim from carriers in the current financial year. [35754]

Mr. Baker: It is forecast that £1.3 million will be reclaimed from carriers in the current financial year in respect of the cost of detaining and escorting people under Immigration Act powers.

Mrs. Roche: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department, pursuant to his answer of 5 July, Official Report, column 284, what his Department expects the notional cost of holding Immigration Act detainees in (a) Prison Service accommodation and (b) police cells to be in the current financial year. [35753]

Mr. Baker: The notional cost of detaining people in Prison Service accommodation is £411 per week, excluding departmental overheads. The estimated notional cost of using Prison Service accommodation for the financial year 1995–96 is approximately £9 million.

It is not possible to forecast accurately the extent to which it will be necessary to use police cells for detention under Immigration Act powers during the current financial year. The intention remains to keep the use of police cells to a minimum and the increase in the number of places available with the immigration service detention estate will have an important part to play in this.

Mrs. Roche: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department, pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Coventry, North–East (Mr. Ainsworth), of 5 July, Official Report, column 284, which companies have provided short-term accommodation for Immigration Act detainees; where this accommodation is situated; how much each company is paid per detainee place per 24-hour stay; and how many detainee nights were spent in this accommodation in each of the past five years. [34537]

Mr. Baker: Private companies which provided short-term accommodation for Immigration Act detainees in the financial year 1994–95, together with their locations, are Maritime and Aviation Security, Newhaven and Harwich; Port of Felixstowe, Hoverspeed, Dover; and Stena Sealink, Newhaven. It is not possible to discover, except at disproportionate cost, how many detainee nights were spent in this accommodation in any of the past five years.

Information about the cost of detention by private companies is commercially sensitive.

Mrs. Roche: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what is the expected total cost to his Department of building the planned new detention centres, for persons held under Immigration Act powers, at (a) Gatwick airport, (b) Manchester airport, (c) Stansted airport and (d) Heathrow airport. [35755]

Mr. Nicholas Baker: The cost of building the new detention centres at Gatwick and Manchester airports has been borne by the private sector. It is anticipated that the further planned accommodation will be provided in the same way. There will therefore be no capital cost to the Department, which will instead pay rental charges. These are commercially sensitive.

Mr. Colin Ivor Dunning

Mr. Maclennan: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when he instructed the Metropolitan police to undertake inquiries requested by solicitors acting for Colin Ivor Dunning. [35722]

Mr. Nicholas Baker: Officials in my Department wrote to the Metropolitan police on 16 December 1994. Further information received from Mr. Dunning's solicitors was passed on to the police by facsimile transmission on 16 May 1995.

Mr. Maclennan: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when he expects to give a decision on the case of Mr. Colin Ivor Dunning. [35726]

Mr. Baker: The police report into Mr. Dunning's case was received in the Department last month. Further information was provided by Mr. Dunning's solicitors on 17 July. A decision about the case will be reached as soon as possible.

Mr. Maclennan: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when he received an application for the case of Mr. Colin Ivor Dunning to be referred to the Court of Appeal under the provisions of section 17 of the Criminal Appeals Act 1968. [35721]

Mr. Baker: Representations were received from Mr. Dunning's solicitors on 3 February 1994.

Mr. Maclennan: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when he expects to reply to the questions put in the letter dated 26th May, from solicitors acting for Mr. Colin Ivor Dunning. [35723]

Mr. Baker: A reply will be sent very soon.

Female Employees

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department if he will list (a) the number of (i) male and (ii) female employees, (b) the number of officials employed at each of the principal grades and the numbers and percentages of women employed at these grades and (c) the number of staff employed at administration grades and the number and percentage of these staff that are women, in his Department and each of its executive agencies for each year since 1985. [35664]

Mr. Howard: The information is not available in the form requested but details by grade and gender for the Department as a whole, including executive agencies, can be found in table 5 of "Civil Service Statistics" for each year from 1985 to 1994—copies are available in the Library. Details for 1995 will be published later this year.

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what measures his Department has taken to encourage the promotion of women into senior positions within his Department and its executive agencies. [35675]

Mr. Howard: The Home Office is committed to the implementation of the Office of Public Service and Science programme for action to achieve equality of opportunity for women in the civil service. In line with the programme, the Department monitors regularly the number of women in each grade, their annual report markings and their performance on promotion boards. Career breaks, flexible working arrangements and subsidised child care are available to assist women who want to combine work with domestic responsibilities. The Home Office is also a founder member of Opportunity 2000, which aims to increase opportunities for women and promote the achievement of a balanced work force.

Criminal Justice Act 1993

Mr. Darling: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when he expects part I of the Criminal Justice Act 1993 to come into force; and if he will make a statement. [35679]

Mr. Maclean: We are considering the practicabilities of bringing into force the provisions of part I of the Criminal Justice Act 1993.

Court Buildings (Security)

Mr. Boateng: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what effect on the security of court buildings will result from the Home Office scrutiny of police duties; and if he will make a statement [35737]

Mr. Maclean: The recommendations of the recent efficiency scrutiny, which examiend the administrative burdens on the police in the context of their role in the criminal justice system, are still under consideration.

Mr. Boateng: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when the decision was taken, and by whom, to end the police presence at Liverpool combined court centre; when that decision was implemented; how many complaints have been made about that decision; and what security incidents have taken place since that decision was implemented. [35742]

Mr. Maclean: Decisions regarding the level of policing in public places, for example the Crown court, are operational matters for the chief officer of the force concerned.

Young Offenders

Mr. Michael: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what was the number of (a) 16-year-olds, (b) 15-year-olds and (c) 14-year-olds held in adult prisons for more than 24 hours after being convicted of a section 53 offence under the Children and Young Persons Act 1933 in each of the last five years. [36246]

Miss Widdecombe: Responsibility for this matter has been delegated to the Director General of the Prison Service, who has been asked to arrange for a reply to be given.

Letter from Derek Lewis to Mr. Alun Michael, dated 19 July 1995:

The Home Secretary has asked me to reply to your recent Question asking what was the number of (a) 16 year olds, (b) 15 year olds and (c) 14 year olds held in adult prisons for more than 24 hours after being convicted of a section 53 offence under the Children and Young Persons Act in each of the last five years.

The information requested is not available.

Mr. Michael: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many additional secure places he intends to provide (a) under the undertaking of February 1991, for 15 and 16-year-olds on remand; (b) for 15 and 16-year-olds on remand in addition to (a), (c) for 15 and 16-year-olds sent to secure accommodation by a court following conviction, (d) for 10 to 14-year-olds on remand, (e) for 10 to 14-year-olds following conviction other than those sentenced to a secure training order and (f) for 12 to 14-year-olds made subject to a secure training order; and what timetable he has set for the provision of the secure places listed above. [36235]

Mr. Maclean: Local authority secure places are not designated for specific purposes. Places are made available, as appropriate, from within overall provision for:

children and young people placed under section 25 of the Children Act 1989.

juveniles sentenced under section 53 of the Children and Young Persons Act 1933; and remanded juveniles other than those 15 and 16-year-old boys remanded to a Prison Service establishment.

A building programme of 170 new secure local authority places is in hand. We expect a majority of these places to be finished in 1996. We are committed to ending the remand of 15 and 16-year-old boys to Prison Service establishments as soon as there are sufficient secure local authority places to accommodate them.

Five planned secure training centres will provide 200 places for 12 to 14-year-olds subject to a secure training order. Opening dates of the centres will depend on the terms of the contracts. A tendering process is in progress for the first two centres.

Mr. Michael: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what was the longest time spent in an adult prison on remand in England and Wales by (a) a 14-year-old, (b) a 15-year-old, and (c) a 16-year-old in the current year and in each of the last five years. [36255]

Miss Widdecombe: I will write to the hon. Member.

British Board of Film Censors

Mr. Allen: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what is the normal tenure for senior officials at the British Board of Film Censors; what proposals he has for changing this period; and if he will make a statement. [36182]

Mr. Maclean: The British Board of Film Classification is an independent organisation and my right hon. and learned Friend has no responsibility for its internal affairs.

Reconviction Rates

Mr. Michael: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what were the reconviction rates of juveniles, young adults and adults for (a) 1993 and (b) 1994. [36252]

Mr. Maclean: Reconviction rates for 1993 and 1994 are not yet available. Information for 1991 and earlier years is given in chapter 10 of "Prison Statistics England and Wales 1993" and in chapter 11 of "Probation Statistics England and Wales 1993", copies of which are available in the Library.

Prisoners (Disciplinary Offences)

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many prisoners have been placed on report for disciplinary offences from 1 September 1994 to 30 June 1995 at (a) the Wolds, (b) Blakenhurst, (c) Doncaster and (d) Buckley Hall prisons. [36157]

Miss Widdecombe: Responsibility for this matter has been delegated to the Director General of the Prison Service, who has been asked to arrange for a reply to be given.

Letter from Derek Lewis to Mr. Doug Hoyle, dated 19 July 1995:

The Home Secretary has asked me to reply to your recent Question about the number of prisoners placed on report for disciplinary offences from 1 September 1994 to 30 June 1995 at the Wolds, Blakenhurst, Doncaster and Buckley Hall prisons.

The available information is for the number of adjudication charges heard during this period and is shown in the attached table.

Adjudication charges heard 1 September 1994 to 30 June 1995[1]

	Number
The Wolds	682
Blakenhurst	1,655
Doncaster	3,036
Buckley Hall[2]	169

Church of Scientology

Mr. Alex Carlile: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department if he will institute an investigation into the effects on young people in the United Kingdom of the Church of Scientology; and if he will make a statement. [35868]

Mr. Nicholas Baker: The Government have no plans for an inquiry.

Video Classifications

Mr. Alton: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what consultations have taken place with the video industry about retrospective review of video classifications; how the review will take place; when he expects to bring forward an order setting out statutory arrangements for the review before the House; and if he will make a statement. [36097]

Mr. Maclean: We have had extensive consultations with the video industry about the proposed arrangements for reviewing previously classified videos. My right hon. and learned Friend hopes shortly to make an order under section 90 of the Criminal Justice and Public Order Act 1994 setting out the practical arrangements.

Former Prison Service Staff

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department if he will list by company the number of ex-Prison Service personnel who now work for private prison and escort contractors, the dates on which they joined, and their present duties with those companies. [36200]

Miss Widdecombe: Responsibility for this matter has been delegated to the Director General of the Prison Service, who has been asked to arrange for a reply to be given.

Letter from Derek Lewis to Mr. Doug Hoyle, dated 19 July 1995:

The Home Secretary has asked me to reply to your recent Question about the number of former Prison Service personnel who now work for companies running contractually managed prisons and court escort services, the dates on which they joined and their present duties with those companies.

Much of the information requested is unavailable centrally, as it is for the contractors to recruit, train and employ their own staff.

Under the terms of the Criminal Justice Act 1991, the directors of contractually managed prisons have to be approved by the Home Secretary. The Directors of Blankenhurst, Buckley Hall, Doncaster and Wolds prisons were all previously employed by the Prison Service.

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what has been the cost to the Prison Service of training staff who have left the Prison Service to join private prison and escort contractors. [36201]

Miss Widdecombe: Responsibility for this matter has been delegated to the Director General of the Prison Service, who has been asked to arrange for a reply to be given.

Letter from Derek Lewis to Mr. Doug Hoyle, dated 19 July 1995:

The Home Secretary has asked me to reply to your recent Questions about the cost to the Prison Service of training staff who have left the Prison Service join private prisons and escort contractors.

The information requested is not available as we do not, in general, record details of the jobs subsequently taken by staff who have resigned or retired from the prison Service. Staff below grade 3 level are only required to seek approval for outside employment in certain specified circumstances, for a period of two years after leaving Crown employment.

Crime Statistics

Sir Ralph Howell: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what was the change in reported crimes of vandalism and theft between 1979 and 1994. [36307]

Mr. Maclean: The available information is in terms of notifiable offences of criminal damage and theft recorded by the police in England and Wales and is contained in the following table:

Number of offences	Year		Change
	1979[1]	1994	Number	Percentage
Criminal damage	320,469	928,127	+607,658	+190
Theft and handling stolen goods	1,416,143	2,559,023	+1,142,880	+81

[1] Figures for 1979 are not strictly comparable with those for later years because of changes to improve the consistency of recording multiple, continuous and repeated offences.

Mr. Michael: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what was the total number of offences recorded in England and Wales in 1993 and 1994 in total and for (a) violence against the person, (b) sexual offences, (c) robbery, (d) burglary, (e) fraud and forgery, (f) criminal damage, (g) theft from the person, (h) theft from a shop, (i) theft of motor vehicle, (j) theft from motor vehicle, (k) theft of a pedal cycle, (l) handling and (m) other theft. [36250]

Mr. Maclean: The information requested is available in the Home Office Statistical Bulletin 5/95 "Notifiable Offences, England and Wales 1994", copies of which are available in the Library.

Blue Police Boxes

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department if he will list the locations of the remaining in-situ blue police boxes. [35954]

Mr. Maclean: This information is not held centrally.

Super Maximum Security Prison

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what discussions his Department has had with private prison contractors or consultants regarding a future super maximum security prison; and if he will make a statement. [36195]

Miss Widdecombe: No such discussions have taken place.

Police Cautions

Mr. Michael: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department in how many local authority areas help and advice is provided to young people (a) under 18 and (b) over 18 years who are cautioned; and if he will provide comparable information for each of the last three years. [36267]

Mr. Maclean: The information requested is not available.

Firearms

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what restrictions there are on private individuals in possession of a valid firearms licence bringing guns bought abroad into the United Kingdom. [36128]

Mr. Maclean: Prior authorisation for the purchase of the firearm in question, noted on the firearm certificate by the local chief officer of police, is required. Where the firearm is purchased in another EC state, a transfer licence is required. If the firearm is imported from outside the EC, it is necessary to satisfy the import licensing controls administered by the Department of Trade and Industry.

Homicide

Dame Jill Knight: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when the Government intend to respond to the report of the Home Affairs Select Committee on the year and a day rule in homicide. [36344]

Mr. Howard: We have today published our response to the report of the Home Affairs Select Committee. Copies of the response are available in the Vote Office.

We agree with the Committee that the year and a day rule should be abolished. This will entail difficult decisions for prosecutors in some cases, and we have decided that the consent of the Attorney-General should be required for a homicide prosecution where either the defendant has previously been convicted of another offence for the injury which resulted in death, or there has been an interval of three years or more between the injury and death.

Voluntary Organisations

Mr. Waterson: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what was the total amount of funding given by central Government Departments to voluntary bodies in the financial year 1993–94; and if he will make a statement. [36345]

Mr. Howard: Central Government funding of voluntary organisations in 1993–94 amounted to £3,567 million. Of this, £2,955 million was payments to housing associations and £612 million went directly to voluntary organisations to support the provision of services and a wide range of activities and projects. This latter figure shows that Government funding of the voluntary sector excluding housing associations increased in cash terms by 9 per cent. and in real terms by 5 per cent. over the level of provision in 1992–93.

The amount spent by each Department in 1993–94 was as follows:

These figures have been collected and presented as far as possible on the same basis as the 1992–93 figures. We intend to review the way in which the data are collected and presented before announcing Government funding of the voluntary sector in 1994–95.

I shall shortly be placing in the Library a list of voluntary bodies funded by the Government in 1993–94, other than those funded under housing programmes and the urban programme or via non-departmental public bodies.

European Parliamentary Constituencies

Mr. Luff: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what plans the Boundary Commission has to conduct a supplementary review of European parliamentary constituencies in Wales. [36396]

Mr. Howard: The commission has informed me that it intends to consider making a supplementary report on the European parliamentary constituencies in Wales, and to commence forthwith a general review of the European parliamentary constituencies in Wales.

Metropolitan Police Committee

Mr. Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department on what grounds the Metropolitan Police Committee meets in private; and if he will make a statement. [35183]

Mr. Maclean: I would refer the hon. Member to the reply given to the hon. Member for Hornsey and Wood Green (Mrs. Roche) on 3 July, Official Report, column 26. Policy advice to Ministers is confidential.

Mr. Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) if he will list all the members of the Metropolitan Police Committee; how they were chose; and what were their attributes and qualifications for being appointed to the committee; [35054]

(2) if he will make public (a) all the recommendations of the Metropolitan Police Committee and (b) whether they have been accepted or rejected. [35055]

Mr. Maclean: I refer my hon. Friend to the answer I gave on 9 February to my hon. Friend the Member for East Hampshire (Mr. Mates), Official Report, columns 382–83; to the answer I gave on 20 February to the hon. Member for Hornsey and Wood Green (Mrs. Roche), Official Report, column 19; and to the answer I gave on 3 July to the hon. Member for Hornsey and Wood Green, Official Report, column 26.

Child Abuse (Witnesses)

Mr. Nicholas Brown: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what plans he has to introduce legislation addressing the treatment of child witnesses in cases of child abuse. [35323]

Mr. Maclean: We have no present plans to amend the law in this area. We are, however, currently considering the evaluation of the child evidence provisions of the Criminal Justice Act 1991 which was carried out by Professor Graham Davies.

Abdul Qayyum Raja

Mr. Godsiff: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) if prisoner Abdul Qayyum Raja, C43848, Her Majesty's prison, Long Lartin, has been given full access to all reports which presently determine his status as a category A prisoner; [35286]

(2) for what reasons the status of prisoner Abdul Qayyum Raja, C43848, Her Majesty's prison, Long Lartin remains category A; and when he expects this status will change. [35285]

Mrs. Widdecombe: Responsibility for these matters has been delegated to the Director General of the Prison Service, who has been asked to arrange for a reply to be given.

Letter from Derek Lewis to Mr. Roger Godsiff, dated 19 July 1995:

The Home Secretary has asked me to reply to your recent Questions about Mr. Abdul Qayyum Raja, a category A prisoner at Long Lartin prison.

It is not the policy of the Prison Service to provide prisoners or their representatives with copies of reports prepared for the purposes of security category reviews. In accordance with the High Court judgement, in December 1993, in the case of Regina v. the Secretary of State for the Home Department, ex-parte Duggan, a prisoner is, subject to any necessary exceptions arising out of public interest immunity, informed of the gist of any matter of fact and/or opinion relevant to the determination of his security category; and given reasons for any decision which results in him remaining as a category A prisoner.

Mr. Raja's security category was reviewed by the category A Committee on 21 June. The Committee's recommendations will shortly be submitted to the Prison Service Director of Security for consideration. Mr. Raja will be informed of the outcome as soon as practicable. His security category was previously reviewed in October last year when it was decided that he should remain as a category A prisoner. Mr. Raja was provided with the reasons for that decision.

Public Houses (Children's Certificates)

Mr. Hawksley: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department if he will make a statement on his Department's monitoring of conditions being imposed by magistrates when issuing children's certificates. [35333]

Mr. Nicholas Baker: We hope to complete our assessment of evidence of concerns about the operation of the system of children's certificates by the early autumn.

Mr. Sheerman: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) what action his Department is taking to support the restrictions on smoking associated with children's certificates in pubs granted by magistrates; [35020]

(2) what guidelines his Department has issued to magistrates regarding the issuing of children's certificates in pubs and restrictions on smoking. [35065]

Mr. Baker: It would not be proper for us to seek to intervene in the exercise by the licensing justices of their statutory discretion to attach specific conditions to the grant of children's certificates, whether as to smoking or on other matters.

Prisoners (Northern Ireland Residents)

Mr. Beggs: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many persons normally resident in Northern Ireland are currently serving sentences in prisons in Great Britain. [35592]

Mrs. Widdecombe: Responsibility for this matter has been delegated to the Director General of the Prison Service, who has been asked to arrange for a reply to be given.

Letter from Derek Lewis to Mr. Roy Beggs, dated 19 July 1995:

The Home Secretary has asked me to reply to your recent Question asking how many persons normally resident in Northern Ireland are currently serving sentences in prisons in Great Britain.

No information is available centrally for England and Wales regarding a person's place of residence before being committed to custody. Information for Scotland may possibly be obtained from the Scottish Office.

Criminal Injuries Compensation

Ms Roseanna Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when section 117 of the Criminal Justice Act 1988 will be brought into effect. [35326]

Mr. Maclean: There are no plans to bring into force any of the provisions of the Criminal Justice Act 1988 relating to the criminal injuries compensation scheme.

Clause 11 of the Criminal Injuries Compensation Bill currently before Parliament will repeal sections 108 to 117 of, and schedules 6 and 7 to, the 1988 Act. Clause 7 of the Bill will, however, introduce a provision similar to section 117 of the Criminal Justice Act 1988.

Prisons (Fire Prevention)

Mr. Cox: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department on what date a fire prevention survey last took place in each prison in England and Wales. [34762]

Mrs. Widdecombe: Responsibility for this matter has been delegated to the Director General of the Prison Service, who has been asked to arrange for a reply to be given.

Letter from Derek Lewis to Mr. Tom Cox, dated 19 July 1995:

The Home Secretary has asked me to reply to your recent Question asking the date a fire prevention survey last took place in each prison in England and Wales.

Fire prevention surveys have been carried out in most prisons by local fire brigades as part of their familiarisation procedures. These surveys may be of a part or all of the establishment.

The Prison Service Fire Safety Section was formed in 1992 and fire safety advisers from the section paid preliminary visits to all establishments. A total of 52 prisons have subsequently received comprehensive fire prevention inspections and reports prepared and distributed to relevant departments.

The dates of the last fire brigade survey and Fire Safety Section inspections are set out in the attached table.

Mr. Cox: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many full-time qualified fire officers are employed at each prison in England and Wales. [34761]

Mrs. Widdecombe: Responsibility for this matter has been delegated to the Director General of the Prison Service, who has been asked to arrange for a reply to be given.

Letter from Derek Lewis to Mr. Tom Cox, dated 19 July 1995:

The Home Secretary of has asked me to reply to your recent Question about the number of full-time qualified fire officers employed at each prison in England and Wales.

There are no fire officers holding recognised fire safety qualifications employed on a full-time basis in prisons in England and Wales. All prison governors are however required to appoint a fire officer, the majority of these having part-time duties in relation to fire safety.

Prison fire officers are required to attend an approved fire brigade training course on fire awareness.

The Prison Service also has a Fire Safety Section comprising a senor fire safety adviser and three area fire advisers all holding statutory and professional qualifications. This section advises the Prison Service on all fire matters and carries out full fire prevention surveys.

World Wide Web

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department if he will make a statement on the work his Department has carried out in the last 12 months in making information about his Department available to the public via the Government World Wide Web server known as "www.open.gov.uk" and his plans and policies to make additional and new information available electronically on the server in the next 12 months. [34679]

Mr. Howard: My Department has used the World Wide Web server known as "www.open.gov.uk" since March 1995 to publish some summary statistics about crime and the criminal justice system, and information about statistical publications. Home Office press notices, and those of the national criminal intelligence service and the Police Complaints Authority, are made available on the Internet via a linked server provided by the Central Office of Information since April 1995. Consideration is currently being given to what further information about the work of the Home Office might be published on the Internet.

Stops and Searches

Mr. Keen: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what percentage of the total people stopped and searched by the police during the 12 months from April 1994 to March 1995 in each police force in England, Wales and Scotland were (a) white, (b) black, (c) Asian, (d) of other ethnic origin and (e) of unknown ethnic origin. [34751]

Mr. Maclean: At present, information collated on stops and searches distinguishes only between white and ethnic minority persons. Statistics for 1994–95 are not yet available.

I understand that in Scotland there are no common procedures for monitoring the ethnic origin of those people stopped and searched by the police.

Knives

Mr. Cox: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what has been the number of convictions in magistrates courts governing the Greater London area over the carrying of a knife as an offensive weapon in the first six months of 1995. [34764]

Mr. Maclean: Information on 1995 court proceedings data will not be available until autumn 1996.

Small Businesses

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department if he will make a statement on the results of (a) his policies and (b) his Department in helping small businesses over the last 12 months as against the previous 12 months; and if he will publish the performance indicators by which his Department monitors those achievements and the statistical results of such monitoring. [34700]

Mr. Howard: The Government recognise the crucial role played by small firms in the United Kingdom economy. The Government continue to help smaller companies by keeping inflation and interest rates low and by reducing legislative, administrative and taxation burdens. They also provide direct assistance where appropriate. The White Paper announced in May 1995 outlines a programme of measures to assist the growth and competitiveness of the small firms sector.

Since July 1994, the Home Office has demonstrated its continued commitment to helping small businesses by deregulating across a wide range of areas affecting business. Steps taken have included:

Shopping hours: restrictions on shopping hours have been relaxed through the implementation of the Sunday Trading Act 1994 and by removing restrictions on weekday shopping hours.

Liquor licensing: accompanied children under 14 are now allowed into the bars of suitable licensed premises and we have introduced the Licensing (Sunday Hours) Bill to abolish the compulsory afternoon break in Sunday licensing hours.

Gambling: provision has been made for Sunday racing with on-and off- course betting; some of the restrictions on betting offices have been removed; the maximum prize in the national bingo game has been increased from £75,000 to £250,000; and the first use has been made of the deregulation order-making power with a view to relaxing the rules on greyhound racing.

Charities: close attention has been paid to the recommendations of the charities and voluntary organisations task force and to comments received during consultation on the draft regulations and other intended provisions, for example new controls on fund-raising—which was brought into force 1 March 1995—and charity accounting—intended to be brought into force 1 March 1996.

Other areas: we have also removed the prohibition on admission charges to sporting events and activities on Sundays, and introduced a draft deregulation order permitting charging for public dancing on a Sunday.

The Government's White Paper on competitiveness in May 1995 set out some of our proposals for the further use of the deregulation order-making power and enforcement powers. The Government hope to be in a position soon to announce their views following the inter-departmental scrutiny of fire safety Legislation and enforcement.

Much of the deregulatory work undertaken in the past year in the Home Office has taken forward work which had been started in the previous 12 months. This had included the introduced of the Sunday Trading Bill, simplifying various aspects of the law on gambling, and the introduction of a range of measures in the Deregulation and Contracting Out Bill, including proposals for a system of children's certificates in licensed premises, changes in weekday shopping hours, changes to the law in charities and to enable betting on Sundays.

Other work undertaken by the Home Office which benefits small businesses includes crime prevention and assisting firms who wish to bid for Home Office business.

On crime prevention, we have continued to help small businesses to protect themselves against crime. In January this year, the Retail Action Group, the sub-group of the National Board for Crime Prevention—a non-departmental public body—published guides for shopkeepers on preventing robbery and burglary. Similar guides on preventing customer theft, violence to staff and external fraud will be published in due course. The Home Office crime prevention unit has published a research paper entitled "Crime on Industrial Estates", which incudes an assessment of the relevant security measures that are available.

On procurement, the Home Office gives encouragement and assistance to small businesses wherever possible. To that end, we provide potential suppliers to the Department with the booklet "Selling to the Home Office", which details the Department's purchasing needs and gives specific contact points for initial approaches. A central contact point is also available. The Home Office does not, however, hold detailed information on the volume of business placed with small firms.

On performance indicators, over 30 Home Office regulations which have an impact on business have been identified as possible candidates for amendment or repeal.

Prisoners (Families)

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what is his policy on keeping prisoners in suitable accommodation as close to their families as possible; and what are the exceptions to that policy. [34018]

Mrs. Widdecombe: Responsibility for this matter has been delegated to the Director General of the Prison Service, who has been asked to arrange for a reply to be given.

Letter from Derek Lewis to Mr. Tony Worthington, dated 19 July 1995:

The Home Secretary has asked me to reply to your recent Question about the policy on keeping prisoners in suitable accommodation as close to their families as possible and the exceptions to that policy.

The 1991 White Paper "Custody, Care and Justice" confirmed the Prison Service's commitment to preparing prisoners for release by providing opportunities where practicable for prisoners to maintain links with their families. The White Paper also endorsed the principle of holding prisoners as close to their homes as possible, subject to consideration of their status, security category, behaviour and sentence needs.

The Prison Service continues to adhere to this policy although, although the pressure of numbers often makes this difficult. The Service's plans for the development of the prison estate are directed to providing a better match between accommodation needs and provision in each area of the country, and to providing greater flexibility in the use of accommodation.

Northern Ireland Peace Process

Mr. Worthington: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what contribution his Department has made or proposes to make to the Northern Ireland peace process. [34021]

Mr. Howard: Government policy towards Northern Ireland is co-ordinated by the Northern Ireland Office. My Department in common with other Departments, contributes as necessary according to its departmental responsibilities.

Prisoners (Home Leave)

Mr. Cox: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what policy exists within the Prison Service for training and advice for home leave by prison inmates. [34080]

Miss Widdecombe: Responsibility for this matter has been delegated to the Director General of the Prison Service, who has been asked to arrange for a reply to be given.

Letter from Derek Lewis to Mr. Tom Cox, dated 19 July 1995:

The Home Secretary has asked me to reply to your recent Question about policy on training and advice for home leave.

Following the Home Secretary's announcement on 18 November last year the existing arrangements for home leave and temporary release have been replaced by a new system of release on temporary licence, which came into effect on 25 April.

Before its implementation, an Instruction to Governors (36/1995) setting out detailed guidance on the operation of the new scheme was issued to all establishments. A copy of this Instruction is in the Library of the House.

In addition, a series of fifteen regional training seminars, were held for representatives from all prisons. These were also attended by representatives of local police and probation services. Those attending the seminars were provided with training material suitable for other members of staff in their organisations.

There are three helpline telephone numbers in operation at Prison Service Headquarters to give advice and assistance on the new policy to prison staff, as well as the police and probation services. A pocket handbook on the new scheme for prison staff is now being prepared for distribution.

Prisoners (Ages)

Mr. Cox: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what is the age of the oldest (a) man and (b) woman prison inmate being held in a prison in England and Wales; what sentences they are serving; and what period of those sentences have now been served. [34078]

Mrs. Widdecombe: I will write to the hon. Member.

Penile Plethysmograph Tests

Mr. George Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department, (1) if he will list the Prison Service establishments at which the equipment is available for conducting penile plethysmograph tests; [32249]

(2) how many plethysmograph tests have been carried out in Prison Service establishments (a) during 1994 and (b) during 1995 to the latest convenient date; [32250]

(3) under what circumstances a prisoner not convicted of a sexual offence or with a spent conviction for such an offence may be made to take a penile plethysmograph test; on how many occasions this has occurred; and what right of appeal prisoners have against such decisions. [32248]

Miss Widdecombe: Responsibility for these matters has been delegated to the Director General of the Prison Service, who has been asked to arrange for a reply to be given.

Letter from Derek Lewis to Mr. George Howarth, dated 19 July 1995:

The Home Secretary has asked me to reply to your recent Questions about Penile Plethysmograph (PPG) testing.

PPG is one element in the comprehensive process of assessment which precedes the Sex Offender Treatment Programme. Prisoners who are believed to present a risk of future sex offending may be asked to participate in assessment so that appropriate treatment can be offered to them, but their participation is voluntary. No prisoners have been or would be forced to participate.

Concern about the risk of future sex offending is normally based on the nature of the offence for which the offender is serving a prison sentence. This might be either a conviction for a sexual offence or for a murder which involved a sexual element. Previous convictions are also taken into account as these are known to be predictive of future sexual offending.

During the financial year ending 31 March 1995, 103 prisoners took the PPG test. Of these, there were 10 prisoners who had not been convicted of a sex offence but who were thought to pose a risk of future sexual offending for other reasons.

The following establishments have the equipment available for conducting PPG tests: Albany, Dartmoor, Full Sutton, Leyhill, Maidstone, Swinfen Hall, Wakefield, Wandsworth and Whitemoor.

Terrorist Prisoners

Mr. Madden: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department, pursuant to his answer of 12 July, Official Report, column 594, if he will list the names of the five life prisoners convicted for terrorist offences to whom he referred. [35602]

Mrs. Widdecombe [holding answer 10 July 1995]: The five life sentence prisoners convicted for terrorist offences referred to in my answer of 12 July are: Sean Kinsella, Brendan Dowd, Stephen Nordonne, Paul Norney and Noel Gibson.

Competitive Tendering

Mr. Alex Carlile: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department if competitive tendering in the accounting, auditing and consulting professions is a policy aim of the Government in relation to charities and voluntary organisations in receipt of statutory funding. [35048]

Mr. Nicholas Baker: The Home Office looks to the voluntary sector organisations which it funds to have in place effective arrangements for all the services it requires, including accounting, audit and consultancy services. It is for the organisation concerned to decide whether it is appropriate to proceed by way of competitive tendering in obtaining these services.

NATIONAL HERITAGE

National Museums and Galleries

Mr. Andrew Faulds: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage if he will publish the attendance figures for the financial year ended 31 March reported by the national museums and galleries for which he is responsible, broken down into the individual institutions, but including their outstations, with figures in each case of the percentage increase or decrease on the attendance figures for the preceding year. [16754]

Mr. Sproat [pursuant to the reply, 3 April 1995, Official Report, columns 939–41]: I list the actual numbers of visits to the 11 national museums and galleries in England for which I am responsible for the financial year ended 31 March 1995.

	Number of visits in 1993–94 (million)	Number of visits in 1994–95 (million)	Percentage increase /decrease over the previous year
British Museum	6.03	6.24	+3.5
Imperial War Museum	1.19	1.27	+6.7
National Gallery	4.02	4.36	8.5
National Maritime Museum	0.53	0.62	+17
National Museums and Galleries on Merseyside	1.34	1.34	—
National Portrait Gallery	0.79	0.95	+20

Wallace Collection	0.15	0.15	—
Total	22.78	23.43	2.8

It is not possible to identify the number of visits to the royal armouries because it at present forms part of the Tower of London.

Sport

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage what information she has about the financing of sport in other advanced countries. [36218]

Mr. Sproat: Comprehensive information on the financing of sport in other countries is not available.

Mr. Simon Hughes: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage what funds are available for improving (a) sports facilities, (b) sports equipment and (c) sports tuition in Southwark. [35935]

Mr. Sproat: Funding for improving sports facilities, sports equipment and sports tuition throughout the country is available from the Sports Council, Sportsmatch, and the Foundation for Sport and Arts. Capital projects are also eligible for funding from the national lottery.

Proposals in the sports policy statement, published last Friday, include increased investment in coaching for teachers with the opportunity for them to acquire coaching qualifications, a further £1 million to be provided by the Sports Council for coaching opportunities via the National Coaching Foundation and the governing bodies of sport, and a new £2 million challenge fund for promoting links between schools and clubs.

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage what assessment she has made of the means by which funding for mass participation in sport will be generated as a result of changes to the Sports Council; and what the main sources of income are expected to be. [34769]

Mr. Sproat: I would expect local authorities to continue to encourage sporting and recreational opportunities for the public at large as they always have done. The Sports Council is not a significant provider in this area—the main provision has always been by local authorities, with expenditure of approximately £950 million. Our aim is that the Sports Council should operate in the areas to which it is uniquely suited and can add greatest value to the overall picture. Of course, the Sports Council will consider applications to the national lottery from local authorities and others in support of projects offering a wider appeal.

Library Service

Mr. Godsiff: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage on what grounds the report by management consultants KPMG Peat Marwick into the Library Service has not been published; what conclusions the report reached in respect of the case for compulsory contracting out of the library service; and what is her policy in respect of these conclusions. [35449]

Mrs. Bottomley: I am publishing the report on contracting out in public libraries prepared to my Department's brief by the consultants KPMG and CPI today.

The preparation of the report involved experts from public libraries and local authorities. But I now wish to open up the issue for wider public consultation. It is important that this issue is considered in the wider context of the future direction of the public library service. So this report will clearly need to be seen in the light of other developments such as the recommendations of the Aslib review of public libraries in England and Wales—for example on what should constitute the core of a public library service. In this context I wish to make clear the Government's continuing commitment to a public library service, the core of which remains free of charge to the user.

To allow sufficient time for consideration of this detailed report, I suggest that comments reach my Department by 31 October 1995.

I should state that at this stage the Government has no firm views on the findings of the KPMG/CPI report. We will be considering them in the light of comments received, and conclusions emerging from other pieces of work such as the Aslib report. I expect to make a more detailed statement following the end of the consultation period.

I am placing a copy of the report in the Library of the House.

National Lottery

Mr. Stephen Timms: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage how many national lottery tickets are sold each week from outlets in the London borough of Newham. [35882]

Mr. Sproat: While this is an operational matter for the director general of the National Lottery, I understand that the information requested is not available.

Mr. Timms: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage (1) what proportion of applications for national lottery funding have come from areas of social and economic deprivation; and what plans she has to encourage such applications; [35120]

(2) pursuant to the reply of 26 June to the hon. Member for Great Grimsby, Official Report, column 495, if she will analyse by category and region the applications for national lottery funding. [35218]

Mr. Sproat: Information relating to applications for national lottery funding is not held by this Department. A list of all awards made and project locations was placed in the Library of the House on 26 June. A similar report will be produced and placed in the Library of the House every month.

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage (1) if she will make a statement on the use of national lottery money for financing developments in the state sector, with particular reference to sport in schools; [36119]

(2) how much money has been provided by the lottery fund to date to provide public facilities in deprived areas. [36225]

Mr. Sproat: I regret that it has not been possible to provide an answer before summer recess. I shall therefore write to the hon. Member and place a copy of the letter in the Library.

Mr. Timms: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage, how many grants of national lottery funding have been made to date to applicants from the London borough of Newham; how much money was awarded in each case; and what proportion of the total amount of grants these grants represent. [35881]

Mr. Sproat: I regret that it has not been possible to provide an answer before the summer recess. I shall therefore write to the hon. Member and place a copy of the letter in the Library.

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage how much money will be distributed to good causes from the national lottery in 1995; how much will go to (a) England, (b) Wales, (c) Scotland and (d) Northern Ireland; how much is not geographically identifiable; and if she will make a statement. [34944]

Mr. Sproat: The amount distributed to good causes from the proceeds of the national lottery is dependent on the number and quality of the applications put to the eleven distributing bodies.

Lappa Valley Railway Company

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage what financial support her Department has made available to Lappa Valley Railway Company since April 1992. [35849]

Mr. Sproat: I regret that it has not been possible to provide an answer before the summer recess. I shall therefore write to the hon. Member and place a copy of the letter in the Library.

Female Employees

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage (1) if she will list (a) the number of (i) male and (ii) female employees, (b) the number of officials employed at each of the principal grades and the numbers and percentages of women employed at these grades and (c) the numbers of staff employed at administrative grades and the number and percentages of these staff that are women, in her Department and for each of its executive agencies for each year since 1985; [35682]

(2) what measures her Department has taken to encourage the promotion of women into senior positions within her Department and its executive agencies. [35662]

Mr. Sproat: I regret that it has not been possible to provide an answer before the summer recess. I shall therefore write to the hon. Member and place a copy of the letter in the Library.

Community Radio

Mr. Denham: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage when he expects to invite proposals for community radio stations in Southampton; and when he expects a decision to be taken on the successful applicant. [35229]

Mr. Sproat: I regret that it has not been possible to provide an answer before the summer recess. I shall therefore write to the hon. Member and place a copy of the letter in the Library.

London Film Commission and Royal Palaces

Mr. Chris Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage (1) when she intends to announce the amount and duration of pump-priming funding for the London Film Commission; what sum she intends to allocate; and what budget heading it will come from; [35709]

(2) pursuant to her answer from the hon. Member for Kingston upon Hull North (Mr. McNamara) of 20 June, Official Report, column 178, regarding his future plans for privatisation in the Department or its departmental agencies, if she will indicate on what grounds the privatisation proposals at the historic royal palaces were excluded from the list. [36330]

Mrs. Bottomley: I regret that it has not been possible to provide an answer before the summer recess. I shall therefore write to the hon. Member and place a copy of the letter in the Library.

BBC Governors

Mr. Allen: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage how many vacancies exist for BBC governors; and when she proposes to have them filled. [36181]

Mr. Sproat: There are at present three vacancies on the BBC board of governors. Replacement candidates for these vacancies are being considered and an announcement will be made shortly.

Civil Servants

Ms Armstrong: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage if she will list for each civil service grade in her Department the number of (a) male and (b) female (i) full-time and (ii) part-time employees. [35467]

Mr. Sproat: The Department of National Heritage currently employs staff as shown in the table. The figures exclude staff from the Department's two agencies, the Historic Royal Palaces Agency and Royal Parks Agency.

Small Businesses

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage if she will make a statement on the achievements of (a) her policies and (b) her Department in helping small businesses over the last 12 months as against the previous 12 months; and if she will publish the performance indicators by which her Department monitors those achievements and the statistical results of such monitoring. [34698]

Mr. Sproat: The Government recognise the crucial role played by small firms in the United Kingdom economy. Government continue to help smaller companies by keeping inflation and interest rates low and by reducing legislative and administrative and taxation burdens. They also provide direct assistance where appropriate. The White Paper, "Competitiveness—Forging Ahead" Cm 2867 published in May 1995 outlines a programme of measures the Government are taking to assist the growth and competitiveness of the small firms sector.

My Department has a particular interest in two sectors of the economy in which small firms play a substantial role. These are television and audio-visual media production and tourism. The Secretary of State established a broadcasting and audio-visual sponsorship division in my Department in April 1995, to work in partnership with the firms in the sector, as detailed in my right hon. Friend's answer to the Member for Macclesfield (Mr. Winterton) on 19 June, Official Report, column 47.

Discussions with other Government Departments to reduce the burden of regulations affecting the tourism industry have continued since last year. In particular, my Department has had a major input to the Department of Transport's review of sign posting regulations, opening eligibility to a wider range of tourism businesses, including smaller establishments. As part of our strategy to assist the industry in improving competitiveness, set out in "Tourism; Competing with the Best", we have launched a "benchmarking" initiative for the small hotel sector. A sample of some 80 hotels with between 10 and 50 bedrooms will participate in an exercise to establish "benchmarks". The results will be published so that hoteliers can compare their performance with others, particularly the excellent performers. Guidance will be published to help them to understand what they need to do to improve the quality of their product and their own profitability.

The national lottery, which began in November 1994, has also benefited many small business; in particular the thousands of small retailers who sell tickets, and businesses offering ancillary services to the lottery operators.

My Department intends to continue its work to reduce legislation and administrative burdens on business, and to improve its links and consultation arrangements with businesses operating within the areas where I have a policy interest.

Rugby Union Football

Mr. Roy Hughes: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage what assessment she has made of the effect on the culture and traditions of rugby union football of the actions of media owners, with special reference to Rupert Murdoch; and what measures she proposes to take in respect of such actions. [35205]

Mr. Sproat: I have made no such assessment and have no plans to take any measures in respect of such actions.

Sport (Television)

Mr. Allen: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage (1) what is her policy in respect of requiring key national sport events to be shown live on national television; [36226]

(2) what plans she has to ensure that major sporting events are shown live on terrestrial television. [36183]

Mr. Sproat: Whether any particular sporting events are shown live on television is a matter for the broadcasters concerned.

Sports (Drugs)

Miss Hoey: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage (1) what assessment she has made of the adequacy of the action being taken to promote anti-drug activities inside British sport; and if he will make a statement; [34449]

(2) what assessment she has made of the efficiency of the current drug testing programme run by the Sports Council. [34448]

Mr. Sproat: I have made no specific assessment of the Sports Council's drug testing programme, but am confident that, combined with its education and information programmes, it provides an efficient and effective method of controlling drug abuse in sport in the United Kingdom. This view was endorsed by the Sports Council's survey of elite competitors, a summary of which was published on 7 July. The council is also currently carrying out a consultation exercise aimed at enhancing and improving its existing doping control programmes.

Ethiopian Manuscripts

Mr. Fraser: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage what plans exist to return to Ethiopia the ecclesiastical manuscripts, artifacts an other items taken by the British Army from Ethiopia in 1868 and currently stored in the British Library, India Office collections and the royal library at Windsor castle. [35275]

Mr. Sproat: There are no plans at present to return to Ethiopia objects obtained in 1868 which are in the British Library, including the India Office collections.

The disposal of objects in the royal collections is entirely a matter for Her Majesty's the Queen.

BBC

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage when she expects to produce the Government's plans for the future of the BBC's transmission services. [35706]

Mr. Sproat: I refer to the answer given to the hon, Member for Nottingham, North (Mr. Allen) on 13 July 1995, Official Report, column 785.

Departmental Sickness

Mr. McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage how many days were lost in sickness in the last 12 months by employees in her Department (a) in total and (b) as a proportion of the number of days worked; and what was the cost of this absence. [34582]

Mr. Sproat [holding answer 14 July 1995]: The total number of days lost through sick absence in my Department in the last 12 months was 2,190 days, including absences which spanned weekends and bank holidays. This represents 2.7 per cent. of the total number of working days in the Department during the last 12 month period.

The cost of this absence could only be calculated at disproportionate cost.

Millennium Commission

Mr. Morgan: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage what arrangements she will make to reply to the letter sent by Norman Robson of 167 Ninian Park road, Riverside, Cardiff, to the Millennium Commission dated 4 July referring to an unanswered question in previous letters concerning the Commission's policy and procedures for establishing a degree of public support for projects seeking grant aid; and what is her policy on the speed with which letters to the Millennium Commission should be answered. [35983]

Mrs. Virginia Bottomley: This is a matter for the Millennium Commission. I shall reply to the hon. Member in my capacity as chairman of the commission and place copies of my reply in the Libraries of the House.

Channel 4

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage what proposals she has for ending the annual levy on Channel 4 for ITV. [36104]

Mr. Sproat: I have no plans to change the Channel 4 funding formula set out in the Broadcasting Act 1990.

World Wide Web

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage if she will make a statement on the work her Department has carried out in the last 12 months in making information about her Department available to the public via the Government World Wide Web server known as www.open.gov.uk and her plans and policies to make additional and new information available electronically on the server in the next 12 months. [34681]

Mr. Sproat: The Department of National Heritage is aware of the pilot Government World Wide Web server. The Department is considering the publication of material on the World Wide Web and DNH press notices are already available on the World Wide Web from the COI on http://www.coi.gov.uk/coi/depts/GHE/GHE.html.

Computer Equipment

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage if she will list the top 10 suppliers of computer equipment to her Department and its agencies in the last five years, indicating the total value of the contracts received. [34557]

Mr. Sproat [holding answer 14 July 1995]: The Department of National Heritage was established on 13 April 1992 and the Royal Parks Agency was established on 1 April 1993 so figures are only available from those dates. The top 10 suppliers of computer equipment to the Department of National Heritage and its agencies were:

Sema	1,280,000.00
MHG Systems	155,000.00
Fraser Associates	133,000.00
Select Ticketing	111,000.00
Apricot	74,000.00
TET	42,000.00
Sky High Computers	34,000.00
Dell	34,000.00
IBEX	25,000.00
INMAC	22,500.00

Redundancies

Mr. Ian McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage how many redundancies occurred in her Department over the last 12 months; how many were voluntary; and what was the total sum spent on redundancy payments. [34583]

Mr. Sproat [holding answer 14 July 1995]: No redundancies have occurred in my Department over the last 12 months.

Unfair Dismissals

Mr. Ian McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage how many unfair dismissal cases were brought against her Department during the last 12 months; how many were successful; and what were the total costs including legal fees and compensation. [34581]

Mr. Sproat [holding answer 14 July 1995]: No unfair dismissal cases were brought against my Department during the last 12 months.

Royal Palaces

Mr. Chris Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for National Heritage (1) how many consultants have been asked to review the security services at Kensington palace; what they recommended regarding the administration of the service; and what was the cost of consultants used. [36314]

(2) how much money the Historic Royal Palaces agency has spent on consultants since its establishment in 1988; and if she will list the consultants concerned; [36310]

(3) what is the current annual cost of running the security and warding service in the royal palaces; and if she will break the cost down (a) for the standard service, (b) for staffing special functions and (c) for overheads, separately identified for the security services at Hampton Court palace, the security service at Kensington palace, and the warding service at the Jewel house, Tower of London; [36318]

(4) what financial or other redress the Historic Royal Palaces agency has had to obtain from Group 4 in relation to the state apartment warding at Hampton Court palace arising from (a) unsatisfactory staffing levels and (b) other factors; [36316]

(5) how many consultants have been asked to review the warding services at the Tower of London; what these consultants recommended regarding the administration of the service; and what was the cost of consultants used; [36312]

(6) since the contract for state apartment warding at Hampton Court palace was placed with Group 4 in april, what complaints there have been either from (a) the Historic Royal Palaces agency and (b) members of the public; [36315]

(7) how many reports have been commissioned regarding security at each of the royal palaces; and what these reports have recommended; [36311]

(8) what particular skills are regarded as being essential in relation to the warding of (a) the Jewel house in the Tower of London, (b) Kensington palace and (c) Hampton Court palace; and what aspects of these skills prohibit the mounting of an in-house bid for the administration of the service in each case; [36317]

(9) how many consultants have been asked to review the security services at Hampton Court palace; what they recommended regarding the administration of the service; and what was the cost of consultants used. [36313]

Mrs. Virginia Bottomley: Responsibility for the subjects of these questions has been delegated to the Historic Royal Palaces agency under its chief executive, Mr. David Beeton. I have asked him to write to the hon. Member and place copies of his letter in the Libraries of the House.

Letter from David Beeton to Mr. Chris Smith, dated 26 July 1995:

The Secretary of State for the National Heritage has asked me to reply to your questions concerning security, warding and consultancies within the Historic Royal Palaces Agency.

Your questions and my responses are set out below.

No 666

How much money the Historic Royal Palaces Agency has spent on consultants since its establishment in 1988; and if she will list the consultants concerned.

The Agency has spent the following amounts on consultancies.

Year	1988/89	1989/90	1990/91	1991/92	1992/93	1993/94	1994/95
Value £k	N/A	N/A	44	478	2,956	3,708	1,381

HRPA has used a large numner of consultants in a wide variety of fields including management, catering, gardening, security, building syrveying, architecture, quantity surveying, structural engineering, service engineering, project management, security advice, health and safety advice, fire advice and archeology. This breakdown is all that can be supplied without incurring disproportionate costs. Note: the above figures do not include any consultancy work commissioned by PSA, who were responsible for all building works until the end of 1991/92. The peak in 1993/94 was principally caused by the New Jewel House at the Tower of London.

No 664

How many consultants have been asked to review the security services at Kensington Palace; what they recommended regarding the administration of the service; and what was the cost of the consultants used.

Two consultancies have reviewed the security services at Kensington Palace, within the last 2 years, as part of an overall review of these services at all the Historic Royal Palaces. Whilst the content of these reports must remain confidential for security reasons, their recommendations will continue to be taken full account of in the contracting out process which will not alter security standards. These will remain HRP's responsibility.

The cost of these consultancies was £9,276.

No 669

What is the current annual cost of running the Security and Warding Services in the Royal Palaces; and if she will break the cost down (a) for the standard service, (b) for staffing special functions and (c) for overheads, separately identified for the Security Services at Hampton Court Palace, the Security Service at Kensington Palace, and the Warding Service at the Jewel House Tower of London.

Security and Warding

	Hampton Court Palace £k		Kew Palace £k	Kensington Palace £k	Jewel House (ToL) £k	Other (ToL) £k	Banqueting House £k	Total £k
	Security	Warding
Total	820	1,200	40	269	553	2,392	46	5,320

The cost of staffing for special functions and the cost of overheads are together not thought to exceed 10 per cent. of the total but to produce a more detailed analysis would incur disproportionate cost.

No 671

What financial or other redress the Historic Royal Palaces Agency has had to obtain from Group 4 in relation to the State Apartment Warding at Hampton Court Palace arising from (a) unsatisfactory staffing levels and (b) other factors.

Financial redress during the first three months of the contract was less than 0.5 per cent. of the contract value due to temporary shortfalls in manning levels. That is no more than occurred with the previous in-house operations. No redress has been required in respect of any other factors during that period.

No 673

How many consultants have been asked to review the warding services at the Tower of London; what these consultants recommended regarding the administration of the service; and what was the cost of consultants used.

Two consultancies have reviewed various aspects of the warding services at the Tower of London within the last 3 years and made a number of recommendations regarding the administration of the service which have been taken full account of in the contracting out process. The cost of the consultancies was £47k.

No 675

Since the contract for State Apartment Warding at Hampton Court Palace was placed with Group 4 in April, what complaints there have been either from (a) the Historic Royal Palaces Agency and (b) members of the public.

The Historic Royal Palaces Agency has recently discussed with Group 4 a shortfall in its manning levels during July. These were the result of a backlog in security clearances, not caused by Group 4, nor by the security status of their proposed employees. This shortfall is now resolved.

There have been 2 complaints from members of the public concerning the State Apartment Warders, during that period, together with many more letters of praise.

No 676

How many reports have been commissioned regarding security at each of the Royal Palaces; and what these reports have recommended.

In the last 2 years 12 security reports were commissioned as part of a general security review at each of the Palaces and for some specific projects (e.g. Crown Jewels project). Whilst the contents of these reports must remain confidential for security reasons their recommendations will, where relevant, continue to be taken full account of in the contracting out process which will not alter standards.

No 680

What particular skills are regarded as being essential in relation to the warding of (a) the Jewel House in the Tower of London, (b) Kensington Palace and (c) Hampton Court Palace; and what aspects of these skills prohibit the mounting of an in-house bid for the administration of the service in each case.

The essential skills are those needed to provide the high standards of warding service in the Palaces including honesty, integrity, security awareness and good communications. These skills are already available through the existing staff who will transfer over to the new contractor. It was not any perceived lack of skills which prompted the decision not to allow an in-house bid, but the considered view of the Historic Royal Palaces Agency that in future the warding of the Palaces could be provided more effectively with no loss in standards by contracting out day to day operation of the service to manpower management specialists. The Agency will work in close partnership with them and will continue to be responsible for setting the standards of service and monitoring them. It will also ensure that the staff employed have all the necessary skills to deliver the specified service.

How many consultants have been asked to review the security services at Hampton Court Palace; and what they recommended regarding the administration of the service; and what was the cost of consultants used.

One concultant was employed to review the security services at Hampton Court Palace during the last 2 years at a cost of £17,000. Whilst the content of this review must remain confidential for security reasons, the recommendations will continue to be taken full account of in the contracting out process which will not alter security standards.

LORD PRESIDENT OF THE COUNCIL

Small Businesses

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the Lord President of the Council if he will make a statement on the achievements of (a) his policies and (b) his Department in helping small businesses over the last 12 months as against the previous 12 months; and if he will publish the performance indicators by which his Department monitors those achievements and the statistical results of such monitoring.

Mr. Newton: The functions of the Privy Council Office do not include the provision of assistance to small businesses.

PUBLIC ACCOUNTS COMMISSION

National Audit Office

Mr. Hinchliffe: To ask the Chairman of the Public Accounts Commission what is the annual expenditure for the National Audit Office for the last year for which figures are available. [27969]

Sir Peter Hordern: The appropriation account for 1994–95 for the National Audit Office, class XIX B, was published on 5 July as House of Commons Paper No. 476. Gross expenditure for the year totalled £42.2 million, and net expenditure, after taking account of appropriations in aid, totalled £36.2 million, a saving of about £0.3 million on planned net expenditure for the year.

Mr. Hinchliffe: To ask the Chairman of the Public Accounts Commission how many staff were employed by the National Audit Office during the last year for which figures are available. [27970]

Sir Peter Hordern: During 1994–95 the National Audit Office employed around 750 staff, comprising 650 permanent employees and around 100 on short-term contract or seconded in, the latter mainly in support of value-for-money investigations.

HOUSE OF COMMONS

Members' Pension Scheme

Mr. Kirkwood: To ask the Lord President of the Council if he will estimate the number of surviving relatives of former hon. Members who may have suffered financial loss as a result of the delay in implementing the Senior Salaries Review Body's recommendations in improvements in the hon. Members' pension scheme; and if he will make a statement. [35318]

Mr. Newton: The proposal I put to the House envisages implementing the increase in death-in-service benefit with effect from 1 April 1995. This is one month after I received the report of the Senior Salaries Review Body. The period in question would affect one surviving relative, but no dependants.

Temporary Secretarial Assistance

Mr. Barnes: To ask the Lord President of the Council if he will make a statement concerning the operation of temporary secretarial assistance in hon. Members' staff [27628]

Mr. Newton: Temporary secretarial assistance is intended to meet the costs of a member who incurs further expenses in respect of his or her duties in obtaining temporary secretarial or research assistance while a person to whom a salary is paid by him or her is prevented through illness or pregnancy from providing such assistance. A number of practical modifications were made earlier this year as indicated by my answer to the hon. Member for Dewsbury (Mrs. Taylor) on 5 April 1995, Official Report, column 1232. They were the subject of a circular issued by the accountant in that month.

AGRICULTURE, FISHERIES AND FOOD

Cocoa

Mr. Robathan: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food whether the UK's share of the proceeds arising from the liquidation of the cocoa buffer stock will be directed towards cocoa research. [36552]

Mr. Baldry: The UK share of the buffer stock liquidation proceeds will, as required by Government accounting rules, be returned to the Consolidated Fund. In view of the way the buffer stock levy was collected, and in the light of strong representations from the cocoa trade and industry on the need to intensify the UK effort in advanced cocoa research, I am pleased to announce that subject to the necessary approvals, £2.2 million of voted provision will be reallocated by the Ministry in order to provide money for new research in the United Kingdom into cocoa production.

This sum will be administered through a newly established trust fund enabling key cocoa research projects to be funded and managed from the income generated by the trust fund capital. I plan to make a further announcement about the details later this year.

Bovine Spongiform Encephalopathy

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food if he will make a statement about the BSE epidemic. [36395]

Mr. Douglas Hogg: The BSE epidemic continues to decline. Some 44.6 per cent. fewer suspect cases are being reported now compared with the same period—January to June—1994. There are now about 300 new cases a week compared with over 1,000 at the peak of the epidemic.

The decline in the number of cases demonstrates that the ruminant feed ban, the key control measure, is proving successful in bringing the epidemic under control. It is estimated that the total number of cases is at least—150,000 fewer than would have occurred in the absence of the ban. However, we are continuing to see cases of BSE in animals born after the introduction of the feed ban in July 1988. This suggests that there has been some continued leakage of BSE infective material into animal feed.

We have already taken steps to prevent this by:

introducing new requirements, in April 1995, on the staining of specified bovine offal.

reviewing the controls on SBO to consolidate and strengthen them;

introducing new EC standards at rendering plants and withdrawing from use a system which was found, in experiments, not to inactivate the BSE agent; identifying, with the * industry, the potential for cross-contamination in feed mills so that systems can be tightened up; introducing the use of a new test to detect the presence of ruminant protein in animal feed.

I will shortly be making the Specified Bovine Offal Order 1995 which will consolidate and streamline the existing rules on SBO and strengthen them in some respects. The main changes to be introduced by the order will be:

(i) to require all rendering plants, head-boning plants, incinerators and collection points for specified bovine offal to be approved by Ministers. Rendering plants will have to have a totally dedicated processing line for specified bovine offal;

(ii) movement permits for specified bovine offal issued by local authorities will no longer be required in view of tighter controls being introduced on approval and record keeping throughout the disposal chain;

(iii) the brains and eyes of a bovine animal of six months or more may no longer be removed from the head so that the part of the skill containing brains and eyes, after removal of the head meat and tongue for human consumption, will have to be disposed of as specified bovine offal.

It is clear from the surveillance of slaughterhouses and head-boning plants that has been undertaken by my officials since the Government took over full responsibility for control of such premises in April this year that current practice on the separation and staining of the specified bovine offals can be improved. Most of the failings we have identified are comparatively minor in nature—for instance, using the wrong stain—and plant operators have been given clear instructions on what they must do to put things right. But some could have resulted in BSE infected material entering the animal feed chain. Further follow-up visits are being made to ensure that the faults have been rectified. Where failings are not corrected we are prepared to bring prosecutions if necessary.

Although these lapses in our animal health control system are unsatisfactory, consumers have no cause for alarm. I am satisfied that these findings have no implications for human health and that measures to ensure that no infective material enters the human food chain are working effectively.

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food what was the cost of compensating Welsh farmers with suspected BSE cases in (a) 1993–94 and (b) 1994–95; and if he will make a statement. [34974]

Mrs. Browning: It is not possible without disproportionate costs to identify separately the payments made to farmers in Wales. The total amount paid out in BSE compensation in Great Britain during 1993–94 and 1994–95 was £35.2 million and £18.4 million respectively. The total number of cattle compulsorily slaughtered as BSE suspects on which compensation would have automatically have been paid in Wales during 1993–94 and 1994–95 was 3,708 and 2,080 respectively. The total number of cattle slaughtered as BSE suspects in Great Britain for those periods was 35,274 and 22,205 respectively.

Mr. Morley: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food what evidence he has from his Ministry or other institutions of the maternal transmission of BSE. [35590]

Mrs. Browning: None. There is no experimental or epidemiological evidence available to confirm that maternal transmission of BSE occurs. Results of research to test the hypothesis that the disease might be transmitted maternally will not be available for another two years. It is clear, however, that if maternal transmission does occur, it does so too infrequently to be detected with our current statistical techniques.

Mr. Morley: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food how many recent cattle identified as suffering from BSE are within the age range that could account for the disease being passed on by maternal transmission. [35591]

Mrs. Browning: Age at clinical onset is not an indicator of the route of transmission, and other routes of transmission, most notably by feed, cannot be excluded simply on the basis of the date of birth.

Central Science Laboratory

Mr. Bill Walker: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food to make a statement on the future of the Central Science Laboratory, Torry in Aberdeen. [36069]

Mr. Douglas Hogg: I confirm that the Torry laboratory will be closed in 1996 as previously announced on 6 June, Official Report, columns 1–2, by my right hon. Friend the Chief Secretary, then Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food. I will make a further announcement soon on the consequential changes for the work currently undertaken by the laboratory.

Environmentally Sensitive Areas

Mr. Welsh: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food what plans he has to reconsider the financial provisions for environmentally sensitive areas. [33384]

Mr. Douglas Hogg: None. The financial provisions for environmentally sensitive areas in England are set at levels considered sufficient to meet the needs of this voluntary scheme over the next few years.

Ms Roseanna Cunningham: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food what plans he has to increase the number of environmentally sensitive areas in England. [33388]

Mr. Boswell: We have no plans at present to increase the number of environmentally sensitive areas in England.

Bovine Immunodeficiency-like Virus

Mr. Martyn Jones: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food what research his Department is undertaking to produce a reliable serological test for BIV. [34437]

Mrs. Browning: A three-year programme of research on molecular studies to improve the serological diagnosis of bovine immunodeficeincy-like virus is under way at the Central Veterinary Laboratory and Glasgow university veterinary school.

Food Safety

Mr. Martyn Jones: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food if he will specify the areas of food safety under investigation for deregulation. [34411]

Mrs. Browning: The food law deregulation plan, prepared jointly by my Department and the Department of Health, was issued on 14 September 1993. The plan, which recognises both the important need for consumer protection and the need to work with our partners in Europe to achieve greater harmonisation; is divided into six sectors. Two of these—hygiene and food additives and contaminants—deal with food safety.

The Food Safety (General Food Hygiene) Regulations 1995 will implement the EC General Food Hygiene Directive from 15 September. In addition, the Department of Health is planning revisions to statutory food temperature controls. Together, these will result in the repeal of 11 sets of regulations when they enter into force later this year.

The Dairy Products (Hygiene) Regulations 1995, which implement the EC Directive on milk hygiene, have resulted in the repeal of nine sets of regulations and the consolidation of existing milk hygiene regulations in England and Wales.

We are encouraging the European Commission to simplify and rationalise product-specific EC food hygiene rules.

Food Additives and Contaminants

My Department has issued draft UK regulations for consultation on implementing EC directives on sweeteners and colours. It shall also be issuing shortly draft UK regulations for consultation on implementing an EC directive on food additives other than sweeteners and colours. These directives fully harmonise legislation controlling the use of the principal classes of food additives throughout the EC. They will enable six sets of UK regulations to be revoked.

Consolidation of the regulations setting limits for lead, arsenic and aflatoxin in food, is in abeyance, whilst discussions about introducing EC harmonising regulations in this area are on-going.

Bananas

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food if he will make an estimate of the impact on the consumption of bananas in the United Kingdom of abolishing all impediments to trade in the banana industry; and if he will make a statement. [34996]

Mr. Baldry: Consumption of bananas in the United Kingdom has almost doubled in the last 10 years and retail prices are now at historically low levels in real terms. Since the single market for bananas came into force two years ago, consumers have been offered a wider choice than ever before.

Intervention Board (Prosecutions)

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food how many (a) successful and (b) unsuccessful prosecutions have been undertaken by the Intervention Board for each of the last five years; and if he will make a statement. [34731]

Mr. Douglas Hogg: I have asked the chief executive of the Intervention Board to reply direct.

Letter from Guy Stapleton to Mr. Martin Redmond, dated 19 July 1995:

The Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food has asked me to reply to your question about prosecutions due for answer on 18 July 1995, as this is a matter within my operational responsibility.

The position on prosecutions undertaken by the Intervention Board since 1990 is:

	1990	1991	1992	1993	1994	1995	Total
Successful	8	6	6	7	2	1	30
Unsuccessful	2	1	0	1	1	0	5

The success rate over the period is 83% which is commendable given the generally complex nature of the EC support systems managed by the Intervention Board.

The reduced levels of activity in 1994 and 1995 substantially reflect the extent to which support is not targeted directly to farmers through the Agriculture Departments, following the reform of the CAP in 1992.

Prosecutions covering the external trade area of the Agency's business are conducted by HM Customs and Excise. The achievements over the same period were:

	1990	1991	1992	1993	1994	1995	Total
Successful	1	1	3	3	0	0	8
Unsuccessful	1	0	0	0	1	0	2

The success rate for external trade cases is 80%, quite close to the level achieved on internal market support schemes.

Food Disposal

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food how many cases of illegal or irregular disposal of food have been brought to the attention of the Intervention Board for each of the last five years; and if he will make a statement. [34732]

Mr. Douglas Hogg: I have asked the chief executive of the Intervention Board to reply direct.

Letter from Guy Stapleton to Mr. Martin Redmond, dated 19 July 1995:

The Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food has asked me to reply to your question about reports to the Agency of illegal or irregular disposal of food as this is a matter within my operational responsibility.

Reports of irregular disposals of food under the Surplus Food Scheme in the last five years were:

Calendar Year	1991	1992	1993	1994	1995
Number of reports	1	1	6	15	7

Four of the current cases under investigation by the Intervention Board's Anti-Fraud Unit or the Police. The investigation of 2 further cases has been concluded. The papers on one have been sent to the Procurator Fiscal for this consideration; the other case has proceeded to court but has been adjourned after the initial hearing until September.

The introduction of the Surplus Food Regulations (SI 184/95) with effect from 1 February 1995 enables the Intervention Board to address vigorously any case of abuse under the arrangements, to prosecute offenders and to seize all misappropriated produce and re-direct it to those from the Scheme is intended to benefit.

Salmonella

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food how many incidents of salmonella in farm animals were recorded in Wales in each year since 1990; and if he will make a statement. [34973]

Mrs. Browning: The number of incidents of salmonella in farm animals in Wales reported to the Ministry of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food under the Zoonoses Order 1989 since 1990, and up to 13 July 1995, are shown in the table:

Species	1990	1991	1992	1993	1994	1995
Cattle and Calves	202	156	139	237	249	159
Sheep	20	17	13	14	30	36
Pigs	2	3	2	4	3	1
Poultry	135	95	45	43	16	4
Other Species	23	7	1	14	12	14
Total	382	278	200	312	310	214

The reporting system was enhanced in 1993. Data for earlier years are not directly comparable with that collected since 1993.

It is encouraging to note that reported incidents of salmonella in poultry continue to decline. Recent data show that cases of salmonella typhimurium DT104 infection have been increasing in other farmed animals, most notably cattle. A case control study in cattle has been set up to try to discover why the incidence of this organism has increased.

The Government remain committed to firm but proportionate action against salmonella and continued protection for the consumer while avoiding disproportionate burdens on producers.

Set-aside Scheme

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food what proportion of accepted applicants for the five-year set-aside scheme between 1988 and 1991 were Welsh farmers; and if he will make a statement. [34985]

Mr. Baldry: Approximately 1 per cent. of accepted applicants in the UK for the five-year set-aside scheme between 1988 and 1991 were Welsh farmers.

Welsh Fishing Vessels

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food what was the total number of fishing vessels operating out of Welsh ports in 1993; and if he will make a statement. [34883]

Mr. Baldry: Information about the number of fishing vessels operating out of Welsh ports in 1993 is not readily available. However, at 31 December 1993 there were 574 vessels licensed in Wales.

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food what proportion of Welsh fishing vessels are 40 ft and over; what is the corresponding proportion for the United Kingdom fishing fleet; and if he will make a statement. [34885]

Mr. Baldry: As at 1 January 1995, 13 per cent.—75 vessels—of the Welsh fleet, and 23 per cent.—1,923—of the UK fleet were 40 ft—12.20 m—or over in length.

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food what was the nominal value of landings by Welsh fishing vessels in each year between 1990 and 1993; and if he will make a statement. [34884]

Mr. Baldry: The first-hand sale value of all landings by vessels licensed in Wales in the years 1990 to 1993 were respectively £12.1 million, £20.4 million, £22 million and £26.7 million respectively.

North Sea Fisheries

Mr. Sykes: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food if he will consider proposing measures to limit the voting powers of EU member states on matters concerning the North sea to nations with a coast on the North sea, as part of the common fisheries policy review. [34877]

Mr. Baldry: I am committed to effective conservation and enforcement in all waters where European Community vessels fish. If voting rights were to be limited only to EU member states with a coastal interest, the UK's scope for influencing decisions on matters concerning waters where we do not have a coastline would be lost.

Common Agricultural Policy

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food if he will make an estimate of the impact on average British food bills of eliminating state intervention in European agriculture; and if he will make a statement. [35130]

Mr. Baldry: I refer the hon. Gentleman to the answer given by my right hon. Friend the Member for Bristol, West (Mr. Waldegrave) to the hon. Member for Taunton (Mr. Nicholson) on 9 March 1995, Official Report, column 328.

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food what was (a) the total number of employees of the Intervention Board and (b) the cost for each of the last five years. [34735]

Mr. Baldry: I have asked the chief executive of the Intervention Board to reply direct.

Letter from Guy Stapleton to Mr. Martin Redmond, dated 19 July 1995:

The Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food has asked me to reply to your question about (a) the total number of employees of the Intervention Board and (b) the cost for each of the last five years as this matter is within my operational responsibility.

The total number of employees and pay bill costs are published in the Departmental Report for the Ministry of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food and the Intervention Board, a copy of which is in the Library of the House.

The figures are as follows and include the cost of overtime and casual staff:

Period	Total Number of Employees (Staff Years–Full time Equivalent)	Pay Bill Costs (£ million)
1990–91	997	12
1991–92	1,030	14
1992–93	1,049	16
1993–94	1,006	17
1994–95	989	17

Beef and Sheep Extensification Schemes

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food what proportion of the participants in the beef and sheep extensification schemes in 1990–91 were Welsh farmers; and if he will make a statement. [34984]

Mr. Baldry: Approximately 13 per cent. of UK participants in the beef and sheep extensification schemes in 1990–91 were Welsh farmers.

Fruit and Vegetables (Destruction)

Mr. Byers: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food what was the amount of each fruit and vegetable destroyed, even though fit for consumption, by (a) the United Kingdom and (b) the whole European Community as a result of the common agriculture policy in each of the last three years. [35092]

Mr. Boswell [holding answer 17 July 1995]: Information for the last three years for which statistics are available is as follows:

Destruction of fruit and vegetables for which EU withdrawal compensation was paid

(tonnes)

Product	1990–91	1991–92	1992–93

Milk (Butterfat Content)

Mrs. Ann Winterton: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food if he will calculate the cash value at current prices to a milk quota holder of the additional annual production which would be allowed if the butterfat content of that milk was underestimated as being 3.5 per cent. instead of an assumed 4 per cent. base. [35103]

Mr. Baldry [holding answer 18 July 1995]: An underestimation of the butterfat content of milk deliveries would normally have the effect of allowing a producer to deliver more milk against his or her quota. But the precise volume and value of those extra deliveries would depend on a number of factors including the amount of quota held by the producer, the butterfat base of that quota and the price of the milk. Milk with a lower butterfat content generally attracts a lower price.

Mrs. Winterton: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food what steps he takes to ensure standardisation in the testing of butterfat content of milk in the assessment of compliance with milk production quotas; and if he will make a statement. [35102]

Mr. Baldry [holding answer 18 July 1995]: The Intervention Board executive agency, which is responsible for administering milk quotas, has commissioned the Central Science Laboratory to check standards at laboratories which are approved to carry out butterfat tests on milk. The first round of proficiency testing will start this month. All approved laboratories will be required to participate. Any laboratory failing to meet an acceptable standard will be excluded from testing for milk quota purposes.

Mrs. Winterton: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food what information he has concerning the size of the black market in milk associated with systematic underestimation of butterfat content; and what action is being taken to tackle his problem. [35104]

Mr. Baldry [holding answer 18 July 1995]: The Intervention Board is investigating allegations that butterfat contents have been deliberately underestimated. It is not possible at this stage to say whether there is any substances to these allegations.

"Foodsense"

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales if the Ministry of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food's booklet "Foodsense" has been distributed bilingually throughout Wales; and if he will make a statement. [34892]

Mrs. Browning: I have been asked to reply.

The "Foodsense" publications have not been produced in Welsh. I understand, however, that the Welsh Office produces a range of publications in Welsh about food safety matters.

Veterinary Medicines Directorate

Mr. Sykes: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food when the 1994–95 annual report and accounts for the Veterinary Medicines Directorate is due to be published. [36388]

Mr. Douglas Hogg: I am pleased to report that the Veterinary Medicines Directorate's annual report and accounts for 1994–95 was published today. Copies are available in the Library of the House.

The report confirms the continuing success of the directorate as a next steps agency, and I would like to congratulate the chief executive and his staff on their considerable achievements during the year.

Central Veterinary Laboratory

Mr. Robathan: To ask the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food when the annual report and accounts for the Central Veterinary Laboratory is due to be laid before Parliament. [36553]

Mr. Douglas Hogg: The Central Veterinary Laboratory's annual report and accounts were laid before Parliament today. Copies are available in the House Library. The report demonstrates the continuing progress and success of the laboratory as a next steps agency and I would like to congratulate the chief executive and his staff on their considerable achievements during the year.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Income-Related Benefit Recipients

Ms Lynne: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what was (a) the number of children, and (b) the number of children as a proportion of all families that were living in families dependent on income-related benefits for each year since 1979 for each region. [32928]

Mr. Roger Evans: Information is not available on a consistent basis for all benefits or prior to 1991. The information that is available is set out in the tables. Data on population are not yet available for 1994.

Ms Corston: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security for each year from 1979 to the latest year for which information is available, what was the estimated number of (a) males and (b) females aged (i) under 10, (ii) 10–13, (iii) 14–16 and (iv) 17–20 years respectively in households receiving (1) supplementary benefit/income support and (2) supplementary benefit, income support or housing benefit. [34465]

Mr. Evans: The information available is set out in the tables.

Fraud

Mr. Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what is his estimate of the annual cost to public funds of social security fraud; and if he will set out in detail how he arrives at his total. [35050]

Mr. Roger Evans: The information is not available in the form requested.

The Department is currently undertaking a series of systematic review of the major benefits to gauge the level of incorrectness in the benefit system. We have recently published the results of the review of income support and unemployment benefit. The findings indicate that £1.4 billion a year is lost through fraudulent claims to these benefits.

A copy of the report, which includes details of the methodology used, has been placed in the Library.

Young People (Leaving Care Grant)

Mr. Sheerman: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what plans he has to introduce a leaving care grant to ensure young people leaving care are financially supported. [35014]

Mr. Roger Evans: There are no plans to introduce a leaving care grant. However, community care grants from the social fund are available for people who are leaving care and are receiving, or are likely to receive, income support.

Housing Benefit

Mr. Hinchliffe: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security if he will exclude specialist housing and services, provided to vulnerable persons, from forthcoming housing benefit changes limiting rents to averages for property; and if he will make a statement. [35134]

Mr. Roger Evans: Regulations laid before the House on 29 June—SI 1995 No. 1644—provide that the following accommodation which caters for tenants with particular needs will be exempt from the forthcoming housing benefit changes for tenants in deregulated private sector accommodation:

> Hostel accommodation for people without a fixed way of life which is funded under Schedule 5 of the Supplementary Benefits Act 1980;
> Accommodation provided by housing associations, registered charities or voluntary organisations where care, support or supervision is provided by, or on behalf of, the provider to residents.

Mortgage Interest

Mr. Godsiff: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what discussions he has had or proposes to have with mortgage lenders in respect of mortgage protection insurance and mortgage indemnity insurance and the need to explain fully the cover offered by these policies with particular reference to exclusion clauses; and what assessment he has made of the views of the Building Societies Ombudsman on this matter. [35379]

Mr. Roger Evans: This Department has had frequent meetings with the Council of Mortgage Lenders to discuss the new arrangements for income support mortgage interest. We share the view of the Building Society Ombudsman that lenders who sell mortgage protection policies should abide by the code of practice of the Association of British Insurers.

Ms Armstrong: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security how much money his Department expects to save as a result of the new regulations relating to assistance for mortgage interest payments; and what the estimate is of the average saving per claimant. [35472]

Mr. Evans: The projected savings are estimated to be £200 million in the long run; this equates to about £7 per claimant per week.

Mr. Godsiff: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what research his Department has conducted and what consultations he has had with mortgage lenders concerning the categories of home owners who currently do not qualify for mortgage insurance indemnity policies and if he will make a statement. [35327]

Mr. Evans: The Department has conducted no research on this form of insurance.

The term "mortgage insurance indemnity policies" is conventionally used to cover insurance for the risk of a mortgaged property selling for less than its valuation, and such may be a condition of granting the mortgage in some cases, as the parties may determine.

The issue is not a responsibility of this Department. However, this Department has regular consultations with the Council for Mortgage Lenders concerning mortgage matters.

Mr. Godsiff: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security when he intends to introduce a standardised rate of interest payment on behalf of borrowers on income support; what estimate he has made of the number of borrowers for which its introduction will constitute a shortfall in payments; and what estimate his Department has made of the present arrears of borrowers who will receive a shortfall in payments. [35368]

Mr. Evans: This Department is committed to introducing a standard rate of interest at or around the average rate charged and to change the rate in response to fluctuations in this rate. The standard rate will be introduced on 2 October and will be based on the average rate published in the August edition of "Financial Statistics". Precise estimates of gainers and losers can be made only once this baseline has been established.

National Insurance

Ms Mahon: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what assessment he has made of the extent of anomalies in the benefit system caused by the extent of a person's NI contribution liability depending on the length of the pay interval or earnings period; and if officers are allowed to exercise discretion in cases when the person would have satisfied the qualifying conditions for benefit had the pay interval been different. [35266]

Mr. Heald: We have made no assessment of the effect of different earnings periods on the qualifying conditions for benefit. However, we are aware that cases can arise where someone just fails to qualify because he is not liable to pay national insurance contributions on earnings in a particular pay period.

Broad rules are inevitable in a national insurance scheme which must cater for a wide variety of methods by which earnings may be calculated and paid. The earnings period for national insurance contributions is the interval at which an employee is normally paid. The interval of payment depends upon the employee's contract of employment with the employer. When an employee starts work, the expected regular earnings period operates from the outset even if the employee starts work part way through that period. The Secretary of State has no discretionary powers to alter the earnings period in these circumstances.

Arrangements already exist within the national insurance system which may help someone to qualify for benefit in certain circumstances. For example, if an employee starts work towards the end of the tax year and the salary is paid after the end of the tax year, there are provisions which enable the Secretary of State to re-allocate primary (employee) class 1 contributions from one tax year to another.

Income Support

Mr. McAllion: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what were the numbers of income support claimants in (a) Scotland and (b) the United Kingdom in each year since 1979. [35222]

Mr. Roger Evans: The available information is set out in the table.

Numbers of Income Support claimants in Scotland and the United Kingdom since 1979

3. Income Support replaced Supplementary Benefit in 1988.
4. The UK figure for 1981 is incomplete because industrial action affected the Northern Ireland count.
5. Figures are not available for 1985 due to industrial action.
6. A UK figure for 1994 cannot be compiled because data for Northern Ireland is not yet available.

Mr. Byers: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what difficulties have been experienced in the last two months with the retrieval by computer of income support details (a) in north Tyneside and (b) nationally in each case how many records have had to be retrieved manually; and what has been the additional cost. [36111]

Mr. Evans: The administration of income support is a matter for Mr. Ian Magee, the chief executive of the Benefits Agency. He will write to the hon. member with such information as is available.

Letter from Ian Magee to Stephen Byers, dated 18 July 1995:

The Secretary of State for Social Security has asked me to reply to your recent Parliamentary Question about difficulties with the retrieval by computer of Income Support details in North Tyneside and nationally.

The North Tyneside District Office have had difficulty retrieving information on only one case in the last few months. There are problems with the retrieval of information from the Income Support Computer System (ISCS) that could affect all offices. This will only be experienced on a limited number of cases, for example, if a customer moves address on more than one occasion over a short period of time.

Where problems do occur with the retrieval of information on ISCS, a record print is obtained from the Information Technology Service Agency (ITSA).

In the period since the beginning of May 1995, the ITSA have received 27 requests for record prints which could not be obtained locally. Each case requires an average of half a days action by a computer technician. The associated computer costs and action taken locally make it difficult to establish the exact cost.

Work is continuing to resolve the data retrieval problems, for example, a backlog of information has been moved from one part of the ISCS system to another. As a result, data previously unavailable on a local basis has now become available. The Benefits Agency and ITSA recognise that there are problems with data retrieval and every effort is being made to resolve these problems as a matter of urgency.

I hope you find this reply helpful.

Mr. Win Griffiths: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security if he plans to disregard the value of the nursery voucher for four-year-olds for the purposes of income support and family credit. [35395]

Mr. Evans [holding answer 18 July 1995]: Yes. It is planned to disregard the value of such vouchers in income support and family credit.

Chronic Bronchitis and Emphysema

Mr. Pike: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what information he has as to when the Industrial Injuries Advisory Council will publish its review of the qualifying criterion for PD D12 (chronic bronchitis and emphysema); and if he will make a statement. [35376]

Mr. Heald: I understand that the council expects to complete its review by the end of the year. The council's reports are usually published within two or three months of their submission to Ministers. The Government will consider carefully any recommendations that the council may make.

Domiciliary Services

Mr. Godsiff: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what information he has on the number of local authorities which have introduced new systems of paying for domiciliary services which take into account a person's attendance/disability allowance in the financial assessment; what guidance he has issued to the Benefits Agency in respect of the introduction of these new systems and if both existing and new claimants are being warned or compensated in regard to new deductions that will occur. [35324]

Mr. Andrew Mitchell: Payment of attendance allowance and the care component of disability living allowance is not affected by any charges that a local authority might make for domiciliary services. This is not a matter, therefore, on which it would be appropriate to issue guidance to the Benefits Agency. Information about the number of local authorities whose financial assessments take into account attendance allowance or the care component of disability living allowance is not collected centrally by the Department of Health.

Incomes

Mr. McAllion: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what were the shares of total income for each decile of the population, after housing costs were deducted, in (a) 1979 and (b) in the last year for which figures are available. [35223]

Mr. Andrew Mitchell: The information is in the table. Figures for 1992–93 may be subject to slight revision. The information is presented including and excluding the self-employed, whose reported income may be an unreliable guide to their actual standard of living. A further response will be given as soon as possible.

Percentage shares of total weekly income after housing costs received by individuals in each decile group of the UK income distribution

Notes:

1. Estimates for the bottom 10 per cent. should be treated with caution as they are sensitive to data of uncertain reliability at the bottom end of the income distribution.
2. All members are presented to two significant figures.
3. Income is current weekly disposal income.

Social Security Expenditure

Sir Ralph Howell: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what is the current average social security cost per claimant and in each year since 1980 at 1994 prices. [36290]

Mr. Burt: The information is not available. A claimant can receive more than one benefit at a time and therefore it is not possible to identify the overall number of people receiving benefits.

Mr. Ralph Howell: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what would be the estimated reduction in expenditure on social security benefits and on welfare foods and free school meals for social security benefits recipients if everybody between the ages of 16 to 65 years who was fit and able to work entered (a) £120 per week gross of tax and national insurance contributions, (b) £140 per week gross and (c) £160 per week gross. [36289]

Mr. Burt: I will write to the hon. Member shortly.

Sir Ralph Howell: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what are the current total administrative and overhead costs required to administer social security claims and payments, including the current numbers of civil servants and benefit centres, and what was the costs in each year since 1980 at 1994 prices. [36296]

Mr. Burt: Available information on administrative costs is drawn from table 10 of the social security departmental report (Cm 2813). Total costs of administration 1994–95 are estimated to be £4,408 million. This includes the cost of collecting national insurance contributions, administering the child support system, expenditure by the Department of Employment administering benefits for the unemployed and expenditure by local authorities administering housing and council tax benefits.

Figures at 1994–95 prices for previous years are as follows:

Costs of administration (at 1994–95 prices)

Year	£ million
1994–95	4,408
1993–94	4,373
1992–93	4,203
1991–92	3,954
1990–91	3,725
1989–90	3,530
1988–89	3,392
1987–88	3,366
1986–87	3,129
1985–86	2,911
1984–85	2,774
1983–84	2,839
1982–83	2,720
1981–82	2,599
1980–81	2,392

Notes:

(a) 1983–84 and prior year costs include the estimated DSS proportion of total DHSS administrative costs.

(b) 1987–88 and prior year costs relate to gross running costs. From 1988–89 the costs include capital costs.

At the last count—1 April 1995—the Department of Social Security employed the equivalent of 89,334 full time civil servants. The Benefits Agency currently uses 11 disability benefit centres and three benefit centres, handling clerical work relocated out of some London offices.

Incapacity Benefit

Mr. Steinberg: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what cognisance has been taken of the recent findings of the King's Fund in relation to the high incidence of illness and disability among those living on low incomes in the setting of levels of incapacity benefits; and what safeguards exist for the protection of those sufferers of less overt disabilities who are refused cover under private insurance arrangements. [36172]

Mr. Burt: We have noted the contents of the report. The level at which benefits for incapacity are set reflects our commitment to provide national insurance benefits for people who are incapable of work within a structure that is sustainable and affordable in the long term. Income support is available for people whose income, from private health insurance or elsewhere, is insufficient to meet their needs.

Mr. Bradley: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security how many medical examinations for the all work test of incapacity have taken place (a) in total and (b) by region; and how many (i) in total and (ii) by region have been scheduled for examination but have not yet taken place. [35251]

Mr. Burt: The administration of incapacity benefit is a matter for Mr. Ian Magee, the chief executive of the Benefits Agency. He will write to the hon. Member.

Letter from Ian Magee to Mr. Keith Bradley, dated 18 July 1995:

The Secretary of State for Social Security has asked me to reply to your recent Parliamentary Question about the number of medical examinations for the all work test of incapacity that have taken place (a) in total and (b) by region; and how many (i) in total and (ii) by region have been scheduled for examination but have not yet taken place.

Figures for the total number of examinations that have been carried out and for the number of scheduled are available to the end of May 1995. There are as follows:

Examinations carried out: 650

Examinations scheduled but not carried out: 5,284

Figures are not available by region.

I hope you find this reply helpful.

Mr. Bradley: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security how may IB50 all-work test questionnaires have been issued by his Department (a) in total and (b) by region; how many of these have (i) been returned and (ii) not been returned by the claimant within the time allowed; and how many are still outstanding. [35296]

Mr. Burt: The administration of incapacity benefit is a matter for Mr. Ian Magee, the chief executive of the Benefits Agency. He will write to the hon. Member with such information as is available.

Letter from Ian Magee to Mr. Keith Bradley, dated 18 July 1995:

The Secretary of State for Social Security has asked me to reply to your recent Parliamentary Question about Incapacity Benefit all-work questionnaires.

The information requested is not available by region and could only be obtained at disproportionate cost. The total number of IB50 all-work test questionnaires issued by computer system up to an including 31 May 1995 is 200,311.

From this total, 77,203 were returned up to and including 31 May 1995, 2,800 were not returned by customers within the time allowed and the number still outstanding is 123,108.

In addition to system produced questionnaires, a small number of questionnaires are issued clerically by Benefits Agency district offices. Statistics relating to the numbers of questionnaires issued clerically could only be obtained at disproportionate cost.

I hope you find this reply helpful.

Mr. Bradley: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what training has been given on mental health to the Benefits Agency Medical Service staff who have been recruited to undertake the new test of incapacity. [35298]

Mr. Burt: The administration of invalidity benefit is a matter for Mr. Ian Magee, the chief executive of the Benefits Agency. He will write to the hon. Member.

Letter from Ian Magee to Mr. Keith Bradley, dated 18 July 1995:

The Secretary of State for Social Security has asked me to reply to your recent Parliamentary Question about the training given on mental health to the Benefits Agency (BA) Medical Service staff who have been recruited to undertake the new test of incapacity.

All doctors employed by BA Medical Services are full registered medical practitioners with previous clinical experience. The majority of the doctors employed on a sessional basis are either practising or retired General Practitioners with experience of treating patients with mental health problems. In addition, every doctor who will carry out all work test assessments has to undergo specific training to do the work.

All full-time and short-term contract doctors attend a two day further medical education conference during which there is a session devoted specifically to the assessment of mental health problems. This session is led by a consultant psychiatrist and covers the latest thinking in the treatment of mental health problems. It also includes discussion of a video recording of demonstration assessment interviews.

In addition, all doctors, full-time, contract and sessional, who are to carry out the all work test assessment undergo a process of approval to do the work. The approval process starts with four days of classroom based training. This includes a module designed specifically to cover the assessment of mental health problems. The module also incorporates discussion of demonstration mental health interviews.

I hope you find this reply helpful.

Motability

Mr. Alex Carlile: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security (1) if he will make it his policy to ensure that the vehicle leasing market for disabled users will in future benefit from competitive tendering; [35032]

(2) what assessment he has made of the adequacy of the procedures for contracting out of goods and services by the directors of the Motability charity; [35036]

(3) what is his policy in relation to competitive tendering in relation to the expenditure by Motability of money provided by his Department; [35033]

(4) if he will make it his policy that the governors of the Motability charity should not enter into any contracts for goods or services in excess of £50,000 without prior departmental approval; [35037]

(5) if it is his policy that the governors or directors of Motability may not issue guarantees, indemnities or letters of comfort except with the consent of the Secretary of State; [35046]

(6) if he will list the amounts paid in grant in aid to the Motability charity in each of the last three years; and if future payments of grant in aid are to be made conditional upon the efficiency with which Motability is managed; [35034]

(7) if he is informed by the governors of Motability, on an annual basis, of the charity's performance on providing best value for money services to its disabled users; [35038]

(8) if, in the event of Motability's articles being revoked, all assets acquired with grant in aid moneys would revert to his Department after all creditors claims had been met; and if he will make a statement. [35045]

Mr. Burt: The detailed conditions on payments of the grant in aid for administration are set out in the financial memorandum, a copy of which is in the Library. The financial memorandum contains a requirement that the charity should endeavour to provide best value for money for both the disabled customer and the tax payer. One method of providing would be through competitive tendering. The amounts paid in grant in aid to Motability in each of the last three years are given in the table.

£ million

Grant-in-aid	1992–93	1993–94	1994–95
Mobility equipment fund	1.075	2.050	1.935
Administration	1.835	2.085	3.260
Total	2.910	4.135	5.195

Mr. Carlile: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security (1) if he will make a statement on the charitable status of the Motability Tenth Anniversary Trust in relation to Motability Finance Ltd.'s charitable donations; and what sums of public money were involved in respect of the Motability Tenth Anniversary Trust; [35041]

(2) if funds held in the Motability Finance Ltd. Contingency and Tenth Anniversary funds are considered to be assets acquired with grant-in-aid monies provided by his, or any other, Department; and if he will make a statement; [35044]

(3) if he will list the beneficiaries of Motability Finance Ltd.'s charitable donations in each year between 1990 and 1993; and what assessment his Department has made of the beneficiaries in allocating funding of motability for disabled people; [35042]

(4) what assessment he has made of the adequacy of the arrangements for the auditing and accounting in respect of Motability Finance Ltd. in each year between 1988 and 1995; what assessment he has made of the independence of the senior auditor at KPMG responsible for the affairs of the charity; and if he will make a statement. [35035]

Mr. Burt: Motability Finance Ltd. is an independent company and its audit and accounting arrangements have to comply with company law. It is for MFL to make arrangements for auditing its accounts. It is not a matter for the charity.

Mr. Carlile: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security (1) what discounts Motability users were offered in hire purchase and contract hire price lists sent to them in (a) 1992 and (b) 1995; what sums of public money were involved; and if he will make a statement; [35040]

(2) if he will make a statement on the status of Motability Finance Ltd. in relation to the Motability charity; and what assessment he has made of the status in determining the provision of public funds; [35043]

(3) if he will instruct independent experts to advise him as to the size of the discounts available to fleet leasing purchasers, in relation to the funding by his Department of the mobility of disabled people. [35047]

Mr. Burt: Motability Finance Ltd. is a supplier to the Motability scheme. It is a wholly separate organisation neither funded from, nor accountable to, the Department of Social Security. Motability's governors have the responsibility to ensure that suppliers to the scheme offer good value for money. Motability reviews its financial arrangements annually. The financial memorandum requires Motability to provide good value for money for its disabled customers.

Any questions on the discounts offered by manufacturers through the Motability scheme should be directed to Motability.

Disability Issues

Ms Lynne: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what plans he has to consult organisations representing people with learning difficulties in respect of the implementation of future disability discrimination legislation. [34831]

Mr. Burt: The Government intend to consult extensively over the implementation of the Disability Discrimination Bill. These consultations will include contact with organisations representing people with learning difficulties.

Ms Lynne: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what is his Department's policy towards making available publications concerning disability issues in pictorial and simple text format for people with learning difficulties. [34832]

Mr. Burt: The Disability Discrimination Bill will ensure that information, including Government information, is made more accessible to disabled people. This Department will comply with these requirements while ensuring that its information is accurate and unambiguous.

Ms Lynne: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security if he will make it his policy that any future disability discrimination legislation will be made available in pictures and will adopt a simple text format for people with learning difficulties. [34833]

Mr. Burt: The Disability Discrimination Bill will ensure that information, including Government information, is made more accessible to disabled people. The Government intend to publish information—in the simplest terms possible—explaining the provisions of the Bill once it receives Royal Assent. However, while every effort it made to ensure that legislation is as clear and understandable as possible, only an exact reproduction of parliamentary legislation can have any legal validity, and this is not achievable in pictorial form or in simple language.

Ms Lynne: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what policies will be implemented in legislation to ensure that the right of people with learning difficulties are protected following the enactment of the Disability Discrimination Bill. [34836]

Mr. Burt: The Disability Discrimination Bill defines a disabled person as one who has a physical or mental impairment which has a substantial and long-term adverse effect on his ability to carry out normal day-to-day activities. It will, therefore, protect those with learning difficulties who fall into this category by introducing new rights in employment and in relation to access to goods and services. The Bill also establishes a new National Disability Council and will ensure that advice and support is available to help disabled people secure their rights under the new legislation.

Child Care

Ms Armstrong: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security how much his Department spends on (a) child care provision for under-fives and (b) out-of-school provision for the over-fives, both directly, excluding provision for departmental staff, and indirectly through resources made available to local authorities and other organisations; what form of provision is provided; and how many full-time and part-time places are provided. [35551]

Mr. Roger Evans: In October 1994, we introduced help with child care charges in family credit, disability working allowance, housing benefit or council tax benefit. The scheme applies where the charges are incurred for a child under 11 who is cared for by a registered childminder, play scheme or day nursery. In the long term, we estimate 150,000 families will benefit, including 50,000 taking up work, and that the help will cost up to £60 million.

The new provisions will provide a substantial contribution to child care charges and increase the effectiveness of family credit, in particular, as an incentive for families to find and remain in employment.

Civil Servants

Ms Armstrong: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security if he will list for each civil service grade in his Department the number of (a) male and (b) female (i) full-time and (ii) part-time employees. [35465]

Mr. Burt: The numbers of permanent industrial and non-industrial staff as at 1 April 1995 on a head-count basis were as follows:

	Male		Female
	Full-time	Part-time	Full-time	Part-time
Benefits Agency	21,445	514	37,731	11,323
Child Support Agency	1,831	67	3,437	1,056
Contributions Agency	3,084	47	4,818	1,536
Information Technology Services Agency	2,262	1	1,179	161
Resettlement Agency	74	1	51	14
War Pensions Agency	374	8	821	149
DSS Headquarters and Independent Statutory Bodies	1,136	15	1,503	218
Total	30,206	653	48,540	14,457

The breakdown of staff by grade is as follows:

Grade (including equivalent professional and other grades)	Male		Female
Grade 2	3	0	1	0
Grade 3	12	0	4	0
Grade 4	7	0	2	0
Grade 5	84	0	22	3
Grade 6	263	12	71	22
Grade 7	522	0	158	12
Senior Executive Officer	982	5	360	18
Higher Executive Officer/Higher Executive Officer (D)	3,180	12	2,241	239
Executive Officer	9,520	126	11,346	3,546
Administrative Officer	11,691	297	27,236	8,418
Administrative Assistant	3,921	200	7,035	2,182
Other	20	1	64	17
Total	30,206	653	49,540	14,457

Note:
1. Staff on loan or secondment and not being paid by the Department.
2. Staff on unpaid leave for more than 3 months or on unpaid maternity leave.
3. Casual staff.

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security if he will list (a) the number of (i) male and (ii) female employees, (b) the number of officials employed at each of the principal grades and the numbers and percentages of women employed at these grades and (c) the numbers of staff employed at administrative grades and the number and percentages of these staff that are women, in his Department and for each of its agencies for each year since 1985. [35685]

Mr. Burt: The information is not available in the form requested but details by grade and gender for the Department as a whole, including the executive agencies, can be found in table 5 of civil service statistics for each year from 1985 to 1994—copies available in the Library. Details for 1995 will be published later this year. I also refer the hon. Member to my reply today to the hon. Member for Durham, North-West (Ms Armstrong).

Mr. Donohue: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what measures his Department has taken to encourage the promotion of women into senior positions within his Department and its executive agencies. [35671]

Mr. Burt: This Department is committed to equality of opportunity for all members of staff. It is also fully committed to the Cabinet Office programme for action to achieve equality of opportunity for women in the civil service. In addition, the Department was an early member of Opportunity 2000, a national campaign to improve the quantity of women's participation in the workplace

All parts of the Department, including its executive agencies, have equal opportunities action plans and all staff are encouraged to develop to their full potential. Women's development courses are widely available and all senior promotion panels include at least one woman.

The proportion of women is increasing at all management levels, women make up 67 per cent. of the Department and over half of all management grades. Over a quarter of the top three grades are currently held by women, two of the Department's agency chief executives are women and in September this year, the Department will have a female permanent secretary, Ann Bowtell.

Invalidity Benefit

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security if he will make a statement on the current position of the appeal against the commissioner's decision concerning the rate of invalidity benefit paid to women after they reach pension age, with particular reference to the deliberations of the European Court of Justice; and when he expects the appeal to be (a) heard by the Court of Appeal and (b) concluded. [35705]

Mr. Burt: The hearing before the European Court of Justice took place on 6 April 1995 and the Advocate General's opinion was published on 15 June. The timing of the European Court's judgment, and of the subsequent hearing by the Court of Appeal, are matters for the courts.

Mr. Cox: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what is the number of people present claiming invalidity benefit in the London borough of Wandsworth. [34075]

Mr. Burt: The administration of invalidity benefit is a matter for Mr. Ian Magee, the chief executive of the Benefit Agency. He will write to the hon. Member with such information as is available.

Letter from Ian Magee to Mr. Tom Cox, dated 18 July 1995:

The Secretary of State for Social Security has asked me to reply to your recent Parliamentary Question about the number of people claiming Invalidity Benefit in the London Borough of Wandsworth.

With effect from 13 April 1995, Invalidity Benefit (IVB) and Sickness Benefit were replaced by Incapacity Benefit (IB). Claims for IB from customers resident in the Borough of Wandsworth are dealt with by the Benefits Agency (BA) South West Thames District. These claims are, however, processed at the BA Broadstairs Benefit Office which also administers IB claims for residents of London Central District.

Separate statistics relating to the numbers of IB customers resident in the Borough of Wandsworth are not kept and could only be available at disproportionate cost.

I am sorry that this reply could not be more helpful.

Mr. Hinchliffe: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security when Mr. P. Sutton, national insurance number ZS 06 67 D, will receive information about the gross earning figures used to calculate his additional pension paid with invalidity benefit. [35152]

Mr. Burt: The administration of invalidity benefit is a matter for Mr. Ian Magee, the chief executive of the Benefits Agency. He will write to the hon. Member.

Letter from Ian Magee to Mr. David Hinchliffe, dated 18 July 1995:

The Secretary of State for Social Security has asked me to reply to your recent Parliamentary Question about when Mr. P. Sutton, national insurance number ZS 06 52 67 D, will receive information about the gross earnings figures used to calculate his additional pension paid with his Invalidity Benefit.

A full reply, informing Mr. Sutton of the earnings figures used in the calculation of his Invalidity Benefit and subsequent Incapacity Benefit, was issued on 14 July 1995.

I hope you find this reply helpful.

Social Security Claimants

Sir Ralph Howell: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security (1) what are the latest figures indicating the number of social security claimants who are in employment and the weekly average level of benefit paid to this category; [36301]

(2) what are the latest figures for the number of social security claimants who are unemployed and the weekly average benefit paid to this category. [36302]

Mr. Evans: I will write to the hon. Member shortly.

Sir Ralph Howell: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what are the latest figures for the number of means-tested benefit claimants, broken down into those in receipt of income support, family credit, housing benefit and council tax benefit; and what have been the average weekly payment levels made to claimants in each category; and what were the figures for each year from 1990 to 1994. [36297]

Mr. Andrew Mitchell: The information is in the table. Figures relate to benefit units.

Column 1 provides the total number of benefits units in receipt of one or more means-tested benefit after overlaps have been taken into account. The remaining columns show the number of benefit units who receive each individual benefit and give the average amount of that benefit in payment.

	Number in receipt of one or more means-tested benefit 000s	Number in receipt of Income Support 000s	Average weekly payment	Number in receipt of Family Credit 000s	Average weekly payment	Number in receipt of Housing Benefit 000s	Average weekly payment	Number in receipt of Council Tax Benefit 000s	Average weekly payment	Number in receipt of Community Charge Benefit 000s	Average weekly payment	Number in receipt of Disability Working Allowance 000s	Average weekly payment

Notes:

1. Figures for recipients are rounded to the nearest thousand except for "Numbers in receipt of one or more means-tested benefit" which have been rounded to the nearest ten thousand.
2. Average amounts for Housing Benefit and Council Tax Benefit have been rounded to the nearest penny.
3. Figures are for benefit units which may be a single person or a couple.
4. Disability Working Allowance was introduced in April 1992.
5. Council Tax Benefit replaced Community Charge Benefit from April 1993.
6. Housing Benefit and Council Tax Benefit figures exclude cases where there is no entitlement only because of non-dependent deductions.
7. Council Tax Benefit figures do not include second adult rebates.

Benefits

Mr. Pawsey: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security, pursuant to his answer of 17 July, what information he holds relating to the percentage of the population receiving funds from his Department. [36264]

Mr. Mitchell: Exact information in the form requested is not available but, in the 1993–94 family resources survey, 76 per cent. of responding households included at least one member in receipt of a benefit—including state retirement pension—at the time of interview. The survey relates to private households in Great Britain only and therefore excludes people in institutions like nursing homes and bed and breakfast accommodation. Although the survey is designed to be representative, survey responses are subject to biases which would have to be corrected to give a reliable estimate for the total population.

Social Fund

Sir Rhodes Boyson: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what plans he has to make changes to the discretionary social fund; and if he will make a statement. [36599]

Mr. Roger Evans: We are introducing some small amendments to the Secretary of State's directions and guidance on the help available for minor repairs and improvements from the discretionary fund, in the light of the proposed changes to the Social Security (Income Support and Claims and Payments) Amendment Regulations 1995 from 2 October 1995.

In addition, as part of our routine monitoring of the social fund, we have identified scope for some minor improvements to the Secretary of State's directions and guidance.

Details of the amendments and a revised copy of the Secretary of State's directions and guidance to take effect from 2 October 1995 have been placed in the Library.

Jobseeker's Allowance

Mr. John Marshall: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what arrangements he proposes to make for the reorganisation of fraud investigations under the jobseeker's allowance. [36600]

Mr. Lilley: My right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for Education and Employment and I have agreed that, with the introduction of jobseeker's allowance, the work of fraud investigators in the Employment Service and the Benefits Agency will be brought together within the Benefits Agency, which is responsible for the financial aspects of the allowance.

Skin Disease

Mr. Congdon: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security how many working days are currently estimated to be lost as a result of skin disease. [35968]

Mr. Heald: The information is not available in the form requested. The only figure which can be provided relates to the number of days of certified incapacity where a claim has been made to sickness and/or invalidity benefit as a result of diseases of the skin and subcutaneous tissue.

In the period 6 April 1992 to 3 April 1993, this was 4,589,000.

Employers are not required to keep information on the nature of incapacity in statutory sick pay cases.

Source: based on a 1 per cent. sample of claims in the period 6 April 1992 to 3 April 1993 and rounded to the nearest thousand.

Note: diagnosis code group 52 from "International Classification of Diseases, 1975" has been used to compile the table.
Figures are for Great Britain.

Child Support Agency

Ms Lynne: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security how many man-hours were expended in total on Child Support Agency business in the financial year 1994–95; how many man hours were expended in total on matters relating to the Child Support Agency by staff within the Department of Social Security that are not employed by the Child Support Agency; and if he will give a breakdown of the figures. [34458]

Mr. Andrew Mitchell: The administration of the Child Support Agency is a matter for the chief executive, Miss Ann Chant. She will write to the hon. Member.

Letter from Tony Ward to Ms Liz Lynne, dated 19 July 1995:

In the absence of Miss Chant, the Chief Executive, I am replying to your recent Parliamentary Question to the Secretary of State for Social Security about man-hours expended on Child Support Agency business.

An estimated 8,674,568 man-hours were expended on Child Support Agency business by our own staff in Great Britain in the financial year 1994–95.

Information on the number of man-hours expended in total on matters relating to the Child Support Agency by staff within the Department of Social Security is not readily available and could only be provided at disproportionate cost.

I hope this is helpful.

Ms Lynne: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security (1) what is the current number of Child Support Agency assessments in respect of which part, but not the whole, of the amount currently payable, excluding any arrears, is being actually received by the Child Support Agency itself; what is the average weekly amount currently payable, excluding any arrears, under these assessments; and how many of these assessments are interim assessments of category A or D; [34439]

(2) what is the current number of CSA assessments, other than nil assessments, in respect of which the full amount currently payable, excluding any arrears, is actually being received on a regular basis by the Child Support Agency itself; what is the average weekly amount currently payable, excluding any arrears, under these assessments; and how many of these assessments are interim assessments of category A or D. [34440]

Mr. Mitchell: The administration of the Child Support Agency is a matter for the chief executive Miss Ann Chant. She will write to the hon. Member.

Letter from Tony Ward to Ms Liz Lynne, dated 19 July 1995:

I am replying to your Parliamentary Questions to the Secretary of State for Social Security about child maintenance paid in full or part, excluding any arrears.

You asked for this information broken down between full maintenance assessments and Category A and D interim maintenance assessments (IMAs). As Category D IMAs were only introduced in April this year and none have so far been issued, we have therefore assumed that you were interested in Category B IMAs which have been used since April 1993. These are imposed when the absent parent fails to provide information on a second partner's income.

Although the information is not available in the specific form you request, I hope you will find the following, which reflects the position as at 29 May, helpful. It relates to payments of regular maintenance and maintenance due for the period before the assessment was completed (known as the initial payment period).

	Full payment[1]	Partial payment[2]	Average assessment[3]
Full maintenance assessment[4]	25,676	55,943	[5]£43.46
Interim maintenance	5,756	12,921	£96.34

[1] Full means nothing due at 29 May 1995.
[2] Partial means at least one scheduled payment had been received.
[3] Data obtained from a one per cent. statistical sample carried out on 11 March 1995. Includes cases in which no payment has been made.
[4] Includes Category B interim maintenance assessments.
[5] Relates to cases in which the absent parent is in employment. Excludes absent parents on income support.

Ms Lynne: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what will be the effect on manpower of moving some of the operations of Child Support Agency into local offices as stated in the agency's most recent business plan; and what measures will be adopted to monitor the costs of such a development. [34459]

Mr. Mitchell: The administration of the Child Support Agency is a matter for the chief executive, Miss Ann Chant. She will write to the hon. Member.

Letter from Tony Ward to Ms Liz Lynne, dated 19 July 1995:

In the absence of Miss Chant, the Chief Executive, I am replying to your Parliamentary Question to the Secretary of State for Social Security about the effect on manpower of moving some work into local child support offices.

As with any transfer of work within an organisation there will be a commensurate movement of resources. This will ensure that staff in local child support offices are properly equipped and trained to complete some maintenance assessments. Proper management controls will be in place to monitor costs arising from the movement of this work.

Ms Lynne: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what changes he will be making to the Child Support Agency's computer system to allow assessments to be carried out in local offices; what will be the cost; who will be the contractor and how they will be chosen; what quality assurance measures will be taken; when the changes will be completed; and what measures are to be taken to guarantee the security of the system. [34457]

Mr. Mitchell: The administration of the Child Support Agency is a matter for the chief executive, Miss Ann Chant. She will write to the hon. Member.

Letter from Tony Ward to Ms Liz Lynne dated 19 July 1995:

In the absence of Miss Chant, the Chief Executive, I am replying to your Parliamentary Question to the Secretary of State for Social Security about the changes to the Child Support Agency's computer system to maintenance assessments to be carried out locally.

Full access to the child support computer system which will allow staff in local offices to make some maintenance assessments will be introduced in early 1996 and we have asked the Information Technology Services Agency to arrange for this work to be carried out. Details such as the total cost of the plan, quality assurance, security of the system and final rollout will be addressed during the planning process.

Mr. Cox: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what was the number of Child Support Agency offices in the United Kingdom at 19 June. [34766]

Mr. Mitchell: The administration of the Child Support Agency is a matter for the chief executive, Miss Ann Chant. she will write to the hon. Member.

Letter from Tony Ward to Mr. Tom Cox, dated 19 June 1995:

I am replying to your Parliamentary Question to the Secretary of State for Social Security about the number of Child Support Offices in the United Kingdom.

As at 19 June 1995 there were 320 local Child Support Agency offices in Great Britain. I am unable to provide you with information for the whole of the United Kingdom as the operations of the Agency in Northern Ireland are the responsibility of the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland.

I hope this is helpful.

Ms Lynne: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security if he will provide a monthly breakdown of the number of parents with care who cease to claim benefit within four weeks of intervention by the Child Support Agency. [34834]

Mr. Mitchell: The administration of the Child Support Agency is a matter for the chief executive, Miss Ann Chant. She will write to the hon. Member.

Letter from Tony Ward to Ms Liz Lynne, dated 19 July 1995:

I am replying to your Parliamentary Question to the Secretary of State for Social Security about the number of parents with care who cease to receive benefit within four weeks of being contacted by the Child Support Agency.

During 1994/95 over 60,000 parents with care ceased their claim to Income Support within four weeks of action by the Child Support Agency. The table at annex A shows a monthly breakdown of this figure.

I hope this is helpful.

Cases where parent with care ceased to claim Income Support within four weeks of contact from the Child Support Agency: April 1994 to March 1995

April	5,737
May	5,977
June	6,282
July	4,791
August	4,565
September	5,352
October	5,109
November	5,129
December	3,329
January	4,163
February	4,448
March	5,344
Total	60,226

Ms Lynne: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security how many forms 676 indicating that parents with care have been moved off benefit as a result of the payment of child support maintenance have been issued from the Child Support Agency to the Benefits Agency; and if he will provide a monthly breakdown for the financial year 1994 to 1995. [34835]

Mr. Mitchell: The administration of the Child Support Agency is a matter for the chief executive, Miss Ann Chant. She will write to the hon. Member.

Letter from Tony Ward to Ms Liz Lynne, dated 19 July 1995:

In the absence of Miss Chant, the Chief Executive, I am replying to your Parliamentary Question to the Secretary of State for Social Security about the number of parents with care who have moved off benefit following the payment of child maintenance assessed by the Child Support Agency (Maintenance Cessations).

The information that you have requested is shown in the table below.

Month	Maintenance Cessations
April	614
May	403
June	905
July	1,378
August	655
September	560
October	451

I hope this is helpful.

Mr. Purchase: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what percentage of hon. Members' queries to the Child Support Agency are fully answered within the time laid down in the Child Support Agency charter; and what percentage of the general public's queries are fully answered within the charter time. [35039]

Mr. Mitchell: The administration of the Child Support Agency is a matter for the chief executive, Miss Ann Chant. She will write to the hon. Member.

Letter from Tony Ward to Mr. Ken Purchase, dated 19 July 1995:

In the absence of Miss Chant, the Chief Executive, I am replying to your Parliamentary Question to the Secretary of State for Social Security about the Child Support Agency's performance in replying to correspondence.

The Agency does not use a charter standard for measuring the time taken to reply to MP's correspondence. Instead, it follows the Departmental target of replying to MP's letters within 20 days. The table below shows the performance against this target which highlights the improvements achieved over recent months.

Percentage

	1–20 days	21–40 days	Over 40 days
September 1994	14	55	31
May 1995	56	44	0

The Agency has a charter standard to reply to written enquiries from the public "within 10 working days". During 1994/95 the Agency replied to 35% of written enquiries within the charter standard.

I hope this is helpful.

Ms Lynne: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security, pursuant to his answer of 22 May, Official Report, column 432, to the hon. Member for Newham, North-East (Mr. Timms) how the figure for benefit savings achieved by the Child Support Agency was arrived at; and if he will give a detailed breakdown. [27998]

Mr. Mitchell [pursuant to the reply of the Minister of State for Social Security 12 June 1995, c. 492]: The administration of the Child Support Agency is a matter for the chief executive, Miss Ann Chant. She will write to the hon. Member.

Letter from Ann Chant to Ms Liz Lynne, dated 19 July 1995:

I wrote to you in reply on 13 June in reply to PQ2406/1993/94 which concerned the benefit savings achieved by the Child Support Agency during 1994/95.

Unfortunately there was a small typographical error in the annex attached to my letter. The entry in the table "Income Support exceeded rate of benefit" should have read "Maintenance exceeded rate of benefit". Please find a corrected copy of the table attached.

Please accept my apologies for this error.

Category of benefit savings	Amount (£ million)
Resulting from pre-CSA assessments:
Paid direct by absent parent to parent with care	119.52
Paid through Agency collection service to Secretary of State	7.00
Resulting from CSA assessments:
Paid direct by absent parent to parent with care	13.76
Paid through Agency collection service to Secretary of state	47.94
Deductions from income support payments made to absent parents	2.38
Income Support claim cessation:
Maintenance exceeded rate of benefit	23.83
Income support claim withdrawn within 4 weeks of CSA action	199.53
Reductions in Family Credit or Disability Working allowance resulting from CSA assessments	12.84
Housing benefit/Council tax reductions resulting from CSA assessments	52.25
Total	479.05

Contributions Agency

Mr. Ian McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security if he will publish the internal guidance that is currently available to local DSS staff which enables them to determine whether a person should be regarded as employed or self-employed. [34572]

Mr. Heald: The administration of the Contributions Agency is a matter for Mrs. Faith Boardman, the chief executive. She will write to the hon. Member.

Letter from Mrs. Faith Boardman to Mr. Ian McCartney, dated 19 July 1995:

As Chief Executive of the Contributions Agency, I have responsibility for answering questions about operational matters relating to the Agency and the National Insurance (NI) scheme. I have been asked to reply to your question about the publication of the internal guidance which enables staff to determine whether a person should be regarded as employed or self-employed.

The Agency has decided against publishing its current internal guidance at this time because there appears to be little likelihood of sufficient demand for a sight of them to warrant the cost of formal publication. But under the Government's Code of Practice we will respond to any individual request for copies of our internal guidance; and we intend to keep the options under review in the light of demand.

I hope this reply proves helpful. Please let me know if I can be of any further assistance.

Home Visits

Mr. Godsiff: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what are the present circumstances and conditions under which officials from his Department evaluate a home visit to claimant as necessary; and what plans he has for changes in procedures as a result of his announced proposals to reduce benefit abuse. [35369]

Mr. Roger Evans: Home visits are the responsibility of the chief executives of the Benefits Agency and of the War Pensions Agency, who will write to the hon. Member.

Letter from Ian Magee to Mr. Roger Godsiff, dated 18 July 1995:

The Secretary of State for Social Security has asked me to reply to your recent Parliamentary Question about the reasons for home visits by officials of the Department and the planned changes in procedures.

Benefits such as Child Benefit, Family Credit, Disability Living Allowance (DLA), Disability Working Allowance, Attendance Allowance (AA), Invalid Care Allowance, Disablement Benefits and Retirement Pensions are centrally administered by the Benefits Agency (BA) and if a home visit is required BA District staff are locally based to carry them out. A visit may be appropriate if a customer is having difficulty in completing their claim form, perhaps because of illness or disability or because a customer has failed to return an order book that had been requested.

As well as carrying out visits for centrally administered benefits, BA District staff routinely visit customers in connection with claims to Income Support (IS), Social Fund, Incapacity Benefit and Severe Disablement Allowance. As a result of the announced proposals to reduce benefit abuse 300,000 additional home visits will be made on new claims for IS during the financial year 1995/96. An additional 187,500 home visits will be made to customers currently in receipt of IS. These home visits will be targeted at claims where there is a significant risk that they are incorrect. The criteria for these visits has been determined through a detailed examination of the outcome of a number of home visits. The aim is not only to reduce benefit abuse but also to reduce customer error and errors by the BA. It will also allow the BA to identify circumstances in which customers are entitled to additional Social Security benefits.

The Benefits Agency Medical Service (BAMS) doctors conduct medical examinations in connection with claims for DLA and AA in the customer's own home in order to assess needs within the home environment. Most other claims for benefit that require a medical examination are carried out at the Medical Service's examination centres. A BAMS Medical advisor will consider the available evidence and recommend a home examination if in his opinion it is required because of the customer's medical condition.

Annex A outlines the existing criteria for visits to customers claiming locally administered benefits. This list is not exhaustive. Priority would always be given to visits that involved questions of benefit entitlement. Attached at Annexes B and C are the additional criteria applied to new and existing IS claims from which cases may be selected for home visits.

I hope you find this reply helpful.

Existing criteria for visit by BA staff Annex A

The customer is unable to complete a postal claim form or Social Fund application and is not able to attend the office for interview.

The customer, excluding those that are required to be available and actively seeking work, requests a visit after the issue of a claim form, even if the form has been completed.

Difficulties are revealed which cannot be resolved by any other method.

In IS cases where a routine case check is due in respect of pensioners appointees.

The customer, excluding those that are required to be available and actively seeking work, fails to return a review form A2.

It is the only way of verifying the customer's identity and/or address or the validity of the claim.

Appointee action is required, if a customer is unable to handle their own affairs.

A visit to a customer with a chronic or mental illness who has for no apparent reason stopped submitting medical evidence.

The case is included in the random selection of claims made under Trade Dispute procedures.

The case is selected for a random check.

Visits to UK nationals who are approaching 100 years of age.

Retrieval of order books when postal methods have failed.

Where there is suspicion of fraud or other irregularity.

Additional criteria for visits on new IS claims Annex B

Unexplained background to claim or claim incomplete.

Number of children inconsistent with the amount of Child Benefit declared.

Customer has no National Insurance Number.

Customer has recently separated from partner.

Customer has no fixed address, claim form gives address but customer states he is not residing there.

Customer requests that their claim is backdated more than one month.

Customer indicates on their claim form that the Habitual Residence Test is appropriate.

Customer lives at a multi occupancy address or address where there are problems with the postal arrangements.

Customer may be living as husband and wife with another person not declared as their partner.

Additional criteria for visits on current IS claims Annex C

Customer is a Lone Parent and not receiving One Parent Benefit.

Child Benefit inconsistent with the number of children the customer is claiming for.

Non-householders aged 25 to 35.

Customer, or their partner, was self employed prior to claiming IS.

Customer, or their partner, is currently self employed.

Customer, or their partner, is working as an employed earner.

Customer, or their partner, has income other than earnings or other Social Security Benefit.

Customer is over 75 years of age.

Payment of IS is made by Automated Credit Transfer (ACT).

Letter from Brian Sweet to Mr. Roger Godsiff, dated 19 July 1995:

The Secretary of State for Social Security has asked Peter Mathison, Chief Executive of the War Pensions Agency, to reply to your recent Parliamentary Question about home visits. Mr. Mathison is away from the office today and has asked me to reply on his behalf.

Within the War Pensions Agency, home visits are carried out by the War Pensioners' Welfare Service (WPWS). The visiting policy of the WPWS was agreed by consultation with staff, ex-service organisations and War Pensions Committee members and sanctioned by the Central Advisory Committee following ministerial approval.

The policy is as follows:

1. To respond to requests for assistance within set target times.

2. To visit war widows pensioners aged 60 plus, assessed at 30 per cent. or more disabled and all widows aged 60 plus.

3. To visit all current invaliding cases.

4. To visit all war widows within 6 weeks of the receipt of notification of a pensioner's death.

5. To offer a visit to all inter-war cases by arrangement with the Ministry of Defence.

6. To offer a visit to all pensioners whose accepted disablement suggests:

a) life threatening condition

b) attendance/mobility needs

c) psychiatric disorder

d) greater disablement.

A standard formula is in use to fully evaluate the visit and an action plan is produced, for resolution of any problems, in each case.

There are no plans for changes in WPWS procedures as a result of the Secretary of State for Social Security's proposals to reduce benefit fraud; as such matters are dealt with by the Benefits Agency on our behalf.

Mr. Dewar: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security how many home visits have been made by Benefits Agency staff in the course of their duties in the latest period for which figures are available; and what were the equivalent figures (a) three, (b) five, (c) 10 and (d) 15 years ago. [34444]

Mr. Roger Evans [holding answer 14 June 1995]: I am unable to provide the figures for all of the home visits we make as the figures on some areas of work are not collated nationally.

I have, however, attached at annex A a table giving the available figures. It includes income support visits for all the periods requested and contributory benefits visits for the year April 1994 to March 1995 only.

Annex A

	April 1994–March 1995	April 1991–March 1992	April 1989–March 1990	April 1984–March 1985	April 1979–March 1980

Data is provisional and is subject to amendment.

Retirement Pension

Mr. Harry Greenway: To ask the Secretary of State for Social Security what was his most recent estimate of the average sum paid to (a) female pensioners and (b) male pensioners over their period of entitlement; and if he will make a statement. [33086]

Mr. Heald [holding answer 17 July 1995]: The information is not available in the form requested. An estimate of the average amount of retirement pension paid over their lifetimes to (a) male pensioners retiring now at 65 and (b) single female pensioners (never married) retiring now at 60 is given in the table.

Estimated RP receipt[1]

1994 prices

	Age in 1994	Average receipt in 1994	Average lifetime[2] receipt[3]
Male[4]	65	£73.79 per week	£61,800
Female, never married	60	£62.72 per week	£78,900

[1] RP includes Basic RP, SERPS and GRADS. Dependent additions are excluded.
[2] Life expectancies are for GB.
[3] Individuals are assumed not to suffer any change in circumstances, marital or otherwise, which may affect pension entitlement. RP is assumed to be uprated in line with prices.
[4] Excluding widowers.

SCOTLAND

National Roads Directorate

Sir Hector Monro: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland whether he has reached a conclusion on the prior options study of the Scottish Office National Roads Directorate and whether he will make a statement. [36602]

Mr. Michael Forsyth: The prior options study examined a number of options for the future conduct of the management of the trunk road network. It took into account that, over a number of years, the Scottish Office has successfully pursued a series of policies which have increased the level of private sector involvement in the directorate's activities, through contracting out and the development of new contract forms. The directorate made a valuable contribution to the study through identification of further scope for private sector involvement, some of which is already being pursued. The study concluded that this can best be achieved by retaining the National Roads Directorate within the Scottish Office. I do not therefore propose to create a next steps executive agency.

Past policy development in relation to trunk roads has been consistent with next steps principles; and the directorate will seek to extend the application to its work of those principles as developed in "Taking Forward Continuity and Change", Cm 2748.

Local Government Reorganisation

Sir Hector Monro: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will make a statement on the framework which is being proposed for the transfer of property on 1 April 1996 from existing councils to their successors. [36603]

Mr. Kynoch: The Scottish Office is today issuing for consultation a draft order which sets out the arrangements by which it is proposed that existing local authority property should transfer on 1 April 1996 to the new councils, joint boards and the Scottish Children's Reporter Administration. I am placing copies of the draft order in the Library. Views on the draft property transfer order have been invited by 14 August 1995. The finalised order will be laid before Parliament as soon as possible thereafter.

It is proposed that, wherever possible, new councils should come together to agree on the allocation of property. I hope that most property will be allocated in this way but I acknowledge that this may not always be possible. Accordingly my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State will be setting up a small independent property commission which will be charged with determining the authority to which disputed property should be transferred. The draft order contains proposals for the principles to which the commission should adhere in making its determinations. It is intended that the property commission will be set up from September 1995. Consideration is currently being given to its membership and precise remit.

Veterinary Services

Sir Hector Monro: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what progress has been made on reviewing the Highlands and Islands veterinary services scheme and if he will make a statement. [36604]

Mr. Raymond S. Robertson: A review of this scheme has been completed and revised arrangements, which have been agreed with the British Veterinary Association, will be introduced which will ensure the availability of an adequate veterinary service at reasonable cost to crofters and persons of like economic status in the former crofting counties in respect of animals kept for agricultural purposes. Grants paid to participating veterinary practices will include mileage grant, supplementary travel grant and, in certain of the western islands, difficult area practice grant. The standard visit fee to be paid by the crofters will also be increased to £12.50.

I am very glad that we have been able to introduce this revised scheme of assistance towards the provision of veterinary services to crofters. It will protect animal health and welfare and contribute to improving the productivity of livestock which is of such importance to the economy of the crofting areas. The scheme targets resources at the areas where there is greatest need and makes provision for additional veterinary practices to join the scheme.

The revised scheme will be introduced with effect from 1 April 1995. Further details have been placed in the Library of the House.

Trade Missions

Mr. Morgan: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will list the occasions on which he and his ministerial colleagues have been on overseas trade missions in (a) 1992–93, (b) 1993–94 and (c) 1994–95; how many such visits are programmed for 1995–96; and if he will give the out-turn, estimated or anticipated cost for each year. [19219]

Mr. Kynoch: I shall write to the hon. Member as soon as possible.

Ministerial Visits

Mr. George Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will list (a) details of all overseas trips made by him, or ministerial colleagues in his Department, paid for wholly or partly from public funds and (b) the purpose, destination and duration of such overseas trips, which officials accompanied him and the total cost in each case, including that of officials, to public funds for each year since 1992.

Mr. Michael Forsyth: I shall write to the hon. Member as soon as possible.

Electronic Data Systems

Mr. Mullin: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will list the contracts his Department has with the computer company EDS. [33172]

Mr. Michael Forsyth: The Scottish Office has no contracts with EDS—Electronic Data Systems.

Departmental Staff (Shareholdings)

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how many staff in his Department or its agencies have (a) declared any company shareholdings they hold or (b) been advised to dispose of shareholdings in the past five years, indicating the companies concerned. [33424]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: None.

Civil Servants (Party Political Activity)

Mr. McMaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what rules apply to the provision by his Department, including his special advisers, of advice, briefing notes, draft speeches or other information to Conservative Members; what such material has been made available in the last two years; and if he will make a statement.

Mr. Michael Forsyth: It is an established principle that civil servants should not engage in activities likely to call in question their political impartiality, or to give rise to criticism that officials paid for out of public funds are being used for party-political purposes.

Accordingly, the following rules apply:

(a) civil servants in their official capacity are prohibited from attending conferences arranged by political parties;

(b) they may not attend meetings of policy or subject groups of the parliamentary parties;

(c) they may not attend all-party subject groups or committees except to accompany a Minister and to respond to factual questions;

(d) these rules need not inhibit factual briefings by officials of MPs on overseas or regional visits;

(e) Ministers may also arrange factual briefing by officials, for MPs of one party provided that a Minister attends the meeting and similar facilities are offered to MPs of other parties;

(f) Ministers should always be present when MPs are to discuss sensitive areas of public policy with officials.

Written briefing material provided by officials to Ministers may be distributed to Back-Bench Members provided that it would be released to any genuine inquirer and that hon. Members of all parties may have access to it.

The rules do not prevent agency chief executives and managers of local offices, with the Minister's approval, from communicating with hon. Members about problems of individual constituents.

A record of the material made available to hon. Members could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Civil Servants (Party Political Activity)

Mr. Dalyell: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland on how many occasions over any recent convenient period he has granted leave to civil servants, at a level to be in contact with himself as Secretary of State, to participate in party political activity. [33004]

Mr. Michael Forsyth [holding answer 10 July 1995]: None.

Consultants

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland (1) if he will indicate which five consultancy firms have received most contracts from his Department (a) by number of contracts and (b) monetary value in the last five years for which figures are available; [33435]

(2) if he will estimate the cost of employing consultants in connection with privatisation programmes in which his Department has been engaged since 1980; [33454]

(3) how many contracts his Department has had with consultants; and what has been the total cost in each of the last five years. [33565]

Mr. Michael Forsyth: The information requested is currently not held centrally and is therefore not available. Steps are, however, being taken to establish a central record of such information.

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how many contracts and for what total sum were let out by his Department and agencies for which it is responsible to (a) Coopers and Lybrand and its subsidiaries, (b) Peat Marwick and its subsidiaries, (c) Ernst and Young and its subsidiaries, (d) Arthur Andersen and its subsidiaries, (e) Price Waterhouse and its subsidiaries, (f) Grant Thornton and its subsidiaries, (g) Stoy Hayward and its subsidiaries, (h) Robson Rhodes and its subsidiaries and (i) Pannell Kerr Forster and its subsidiaries for privatisation, market testing, management advice, accounting, audit, consultancy and other services in 1993–94 and 1994–95. [33908]

Mr. Forsyth: The information requested is currently not held centrally and is therefore not available. Steps are, however, being taken to establish a central record of such information.

Guidance to staff considering the use of external consultants is available from my Department's efficiency unit and purchasing and supply division.

Woodland Grant Scheme

Mr. Macdonald: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will list all recipients of woodland grant scheme payment over £1,000 in Scotland in 1993–94 by (a) name, (b) location of woodland, (c) amount and (d) date paid. [33758]

Mr. Kynoch: I have arranged for a list to be placed in the Library.

Fisheries

Mr. McFall: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what was the total catch of (a) sandeels and (b) other fish in the Shetland sandeel fishery during 1995. [34128]

Mr. Raymond S. Robertson: In total 1,165 tonnes of sandeels were caught and under 10 tonnes of by-catch taken from the Shetland sandeel fishery during 1995.

Mr. McFall: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland (1) how many vessels fished, and for how many days in 1995, within 5 km of the special protection areas (a) around Noss, (b) around Foula and (c) in Mousa Sound; [34130]

(2) what was the total catch of sandeels during 1995 within 5 km of the special protection areas (a) around Noss, (b) around Foula and (c) in Mousa Sound. [34129]

Mr. Raymond S. Robertson: The information requested cannot be provided as fisheries statistics are not collected in this form.

Departments of Employment and Education (Merger)

Mr. McFall: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will make a statement on the effect of the Department of Employment and Department of Education merger for the Scottish Education Department; and what responsibilities the Secretary of State for Scotland will take over from the Department of Employment.

Mr. Michael Forsyth: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given by my right hon. Friend the Prime Minister today.

Water Pollution

Mr. Matthew Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how many cases of water pollution have been recorded in each year of the last five years, by region. [34630]

Mr. Kynoch: Statistics recording the number of water pollution incidents for 1992–93 and 1993–94 are set out below for each river purification board area in Scotland. Figures for earlier years are not available on a comparable basis.

	1992–93	1993–94
Clyde	1,036	791
Forth	711	622
Highland	271	283
North east	324	439
Solway	238	347
Tay	289	394
Tweed	151	205

Departmental Computer Equipment

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will list the top 10 suppliers of computer equipment to his Department and its agencies in the last five years, indicating the total value of the contracts received. [34560]

Mr. Michael Forsyth: I shall write to the hon. Member as soon as possible.

Redundancies

Mr. Ian McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how many redundancies occurred in his Department over the past 12 months; how many were voluntary; and what was the total sum spent on redundancy payments. [34613]

Mr. Michael Forsyth: There were 159 redundancies in my Department in 1994–95, all of which were voluntary.

The costs of redundancies are met from the Department's running costs provision and accounted for along with the costs of various forms of early retirement.

A breakdown of the costs of redundancy alone could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

However, the gross cost to the Scottish Office in 1994–95 of all early leavers was £2.4 million including £0.9 million for the Scottish Prison Agency. This sum will be more than offset over time by consequential salary savings as staff numbers reduce.

Agricultural Subsidies

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what was the cost of the sheep annual premium scheme in 1994–95; what proportion of the United Kingdom figure this represents; and if he will make a statement. [35123]

Mr. Raymond S. Robertson: The estimated outturn for the financial year 1 April 1994 to 31 March 1995 is £90.1 million. This represents 22.7 per cent. of the United Kingdom total.

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what is the estimated cost of the beef special premium scheme for 1994–95; and if he will make a statement. [34989]

Mr. Robertson: Payments under the beef special premium scheme in Scotland in the financial year 1994–95 totalled £27.4 million.

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what is the estimated cost of the Suckler Cow Premium Scheme for 1994–95; and if he will make a statement. [34990]

Mr. Robertson: The estimated outturn for the financial year 1 April 1994 to 31 March 1995 is £48.7 million.

Mr. Tipping: to ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will list by region the number of landowners receiving payments under the arable area payments scheme of (a) less than £25,000, (b) between £25,000 and £50,000, (c) between £50,000 and £1 million and (d) above £1 million, for the latest year for which figures are available. [35361]

Mr. Robertson: This information could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Mr. Maclennan: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will list the number of producers excluded from the 1994 suckler cow premium scheme by virtue of late submission of an application. [35720]

Mr. Robertson: Four applications under the 1994 suckler cow premium scheme were formally lodged with the Scottish Office Agriculture and Fisheries Department after the final date for receipt of valid applications.

European Regional Development Fund

Mr. Watson: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what aspects of European regional development fund moneys channelled through the Scottish Office were the subject of the recent inquiry by the EU Regional Aid Commissioner; what information was provided by the Scottish Office in response; and if he will make a statement. [35140]

Mr. Michael Forsyth: I shall write to the hon. Member as soon as possible.

Scottish National Heritage

Mr. Galbraith: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland, pursuant to his answer of 29 June, Official Report, column 790, if he will list the (a) conservation bodies, (b) farmers, (c) landowners, (d) countryside sports body and (e) other bodies addressed by the chairman of Scottish National Heritage since its inception.

Mr. Kynoch: I shall write to the hon. Member as soon as possible.

Agri-environment Programme

Mr. McFall: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland when he intends to review the operation and effectiveness of the agri-environment measures operating in Scotland. [34845]

Mr. Raymond S. Robertson: All aspects of the operation and effectiveness of the agri-environment measures are kept under review.

Mr. McFall: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will outline his policy towards environmentally sensitive areas; for what reasons farmers and crofters in Scotland are subject to financial limits on the annual environmentally sensitive area payments they receive; and what plans he has to harmonise their treatment to accord with practice in the rest of the United Kingdom. [34843]

Mr. Robertson: The environmentally sensitive areas scheme is an important part of Scotland's agri-environmental programme and has operated since 1987, for the benefit of many farmers and crofters and Scotland's unique natural heritage. The financial limits are designed to ensure that the resources available for the scheme are not absorbed by a small number of large farms at the expense of smaller units which could demonstrate conservation benefits. The scheme has been tailored specifically to reflect Scottish conditions and I have no plans to harmonise the detail of the scheme to accord with the approach adopted elsewhere in the United Kingdom.

Mr. McFall: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what community environmental objectives will be met by the agri-environment programme in Scotland as required by article 3.3(c) of the EU Agri-Environment Regulations 2078/92. [34846]

Mr. Robertson: The objectives of the environmentally sensitive areas scheme, the heather moorland scheme, the habitats scheme, the organic aid scheme and the set-aside access scheme are in compliance with respectively, article 2.1(a), (b), (c), (d) and (g), 2.1(c) and (d), 2,1(f), 2.1(a) and (d) and 2.1 (g) of regulation (EEC) 2078/92.

In addition, the environmentally sensitive areas scheme, the heather moorland scheme and the habitats scheme also reflect the objectives of the habitats directive—92/43/EEC—and the birds directive—79.409/EEC.

Alcoholic Drinks

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what was the contribution of alcoholic drinks production to the Scottish gross domestic product in the latest year for which figures are available, and if he will make a statement. [34983]

Mr. Kynoch: I will write to the hon. Member as soon as possible.

Environmentally Sensitive Areas

Mr. McFall: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what is the annual budget for each of the Scottish environmentally sensitive areas, the number of agreements approved to date in each environmentally sensitive area and the number remaining to be processed; and if he expects the budget to be fully spent in 1995–96. [34842]

Mr. Raymond S. Robertson: Financial provision for the environmentally sensitive areas scheme as a whole in Scotland for 1995–96 is £5.7 million. Funds are not allocated to individual environmentally sensitive areas. The number of plans approved in each area and the number under consideration as at the end of May are set out in the table:

	Number of ESA plans approved	Number of ESA plans under consideration
Breadalbane	177	17
Loch Lomond	68	6
Stewartry	240	24
Central Borders (formerly Whitelaw and Eildon)	35	10
Machair of the Uists and Benbecula Barra and Vatersay	612	52
Central Southern Uplands	115	34
Western Southern Uplands	51	32
Cairngorms Straths	14	30
Argyll Islands	55	36
Shetland Islands	14	13
Total	1,381	254

It is too early to say whether the budget for 1995–96 will be fully utilised.

Mr. McFall: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will estimate the number of staff hours taken up in assessing whether applications breach the financial limits on annual payments in environmentally sensitive areas, indicating how much time elapses, on average, between receipt of environmentally sensitive area applications and their approval. [34844]

Mr. Robertson: There is an automatic computer check on the extent to which applications comply with the specified financial limits but this is only one of many aspects covered in the assessment process and it is not possible to estimate how much time is devoted to any single part of the process. The average period of time between receipt of an acceptable application and the issue of an offer of agreement is 111 days.

Algrade Trust

Mr. Home-Robertson: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will make a statement on the consideration of the affairs of the Algrade trust by the Scottish Charities Office; if he will make further provision to improve the accommodation and care of residents on the trust's premises at Humbie; and if the Crown Office intends to take any action against the former trustees. [34773]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: I shall write to the hon. Member as soon as possible.

Housing

Mr. McAllion: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how many houses in Scotland were affected by (a) dampness and (b) condensation in the last year for which figures are available. [35220]

Mr. Raymond S. Robertson: Local authorities estimated that the number of public sector houses affected by (a) dampness total 55,554 and (b) condensation total 142,684 as at 31 March 1994.

Information for Scottish Homes and the new town is not held centrally.

Mr. McAllion: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how many houses in Scotland were classified as below the tolerable standard in the last year for which figures are available. [35221]

Mr. Robertson: The latest available information on the number of houses in Scotland below the tolerable standard is published in the statistical bulletin HSG/1994/8 "Dwellings below the Tolerable Standard (BTS) in Scotland: Estimates by Local Authorities for March 1994 and Details of Action on such Dwellings". This bulletin is available in the Library.

Mr. Wallace: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will list the Government guidelines or circulars issued by his Department to islands councils and district councils in Scotland since 1 January 1993 relating to the discharge of these councils' functions as housing authorities. [35711]

Mr. Raymond Robertson: The list of guidelines or circulars issued by the housing group of the Scottish Office Environment Department since 1 January 1993 to district and islands councils in Scotland is as follows:

Unemployment

Mr. McAllion: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how many registered unemployed there were in Scotland on the latest date for which figures are available; and what was the equivalent figure for 1979. [35226]

Mr. Kynoch: In June 1995, seasonally adjusted claimant unemployment in Scotland was 197,600. The equivalent figure in 1979 was 138,500.

Mr. McAllion: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how many registered unemployed there were who had been out of work for more than a year in Scotland on the latest date for which figures are available; and what was the equivalent figure for 1979. [35227]

Mr. Kynoch: In April 1995, 70,100 people in Scotland had been claimant unemployed for more than a year.

An equivalent figure for 1979 is not available.

Nurses

Mr. McAllion: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland (1) how many nurses in training there were in Scotland in each year since 1979; [35652]

(2) how many nurses were employed in the Scottish NHS in each year since 1979. [35651]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: I shall write to the hon. Member as soon as possible.

Residential and Nursing Homes

Mr. McAllion: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what were the numbers of people being cared for in private nursing homes and private residential homes for the elderly in Scotland in (a) 1979, (b) 1990 and (c) the last year for which figures are available. [35655]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: The table shows the available information:

	1985	1987	1990	1993	1994
Private nursing homes	n/a	[1]5,063	[1]10,311	[1]17,012	15,676
Private residential homes for the elderly	901	1,960	3,195	3,295	n/a

[1] Number of places.

The earliest year for which information is available for private residential homes is 1985 and 1987 for nursing homes.

Police Force

Mr. Wallace: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what is (a) the establishment and (b) the manpower of each police force in Scotland in terms of (i) numbers of police officers and (ii) numbers of civilian support staff as at (1) 1 April 1994 and (2) 1 April 1995. [34322]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: The information requested is set out in the table.

	Police establishment	Police strength[1]	Civilian establishment[2]	Civilian strength[2]
At 1 April 1994
Central	650	658	203	173

[1] Includes officers on secondment.
[2] Includes traffic wardens, clerical and technical staff, cadets, domestics, cleaners, and part-time staff.

Mr. Wallace: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what is the current ratio of police officers to civilian support staff in (a) each police force in Scotland and (b) overall in Scotland. [34323]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: The information is as follows:

Force	Ratio of police officers to civilian support staff at 1 April 1995
Central	3.5:1
Dumfries and Galloway	2.4:1
Fife	3.3:1
Grampian	2.8:1
Lothian and Borders	2.5:1
Northern	2.0:1
Strathclyde	4.3:1
Tayside	2.7:1
Scotland	3.3:1

Police numbers include officers on secondment. Civilian numbers include traffic wardens, clerical and technical staff, cadets, domestics, cleaners (except in the case of Strathclyde where cleaning services have been contracted out) and part-time staff.

Human Rights

Mr. Wallace: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if his Department or the Lord Advocate were consulted on Scottish issues in connection with the Government's fourth periodic report to the United Nations Human Rights Committee. [34669]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: The Scottish office was fully involved in the preparation of the United Kingdom's fourth periodic report to the human rights committee under article 40 of the international covenant on civil and political rights.

Wildlife

Mrs. Fyfe: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will list the globally endangered and endemic species of wildlife found in Scotland and their current conservation status; and what sum is currently being spent by Scottish Natural Heritage on safeguarding these species. [34924]

Mr. Kynoch: The information requested is given below:

[1] Endemic to Britain and Ireland rather than Britain alone.[2] Species that occur in Scotland only.
NB. The sea mammals listed are those which have been recorded in the UK. Few actually breed in UK waters.

During the financial year 1994–95 the amount spent by Scottish Natural Heritage—SNH—on safeguarding these species was £66,000. For the year 1995–96, the amount allocated is £120,000. The 1995–96 figures include expenditure under SNH's species action programme.

Homelessness

Mr. Wallace: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland (1) what consideration has been given to extending the coverage of the rough sleepers initiative to Scotland; [34928]

(2) what is the amount of public funding which has been specifically targeted on people sleeping rough in Scotland in each year since 1991–92; and how many units of accommodation have been provided through such funding. [34925]

Mr. Raymond S. Robertson: Information is not available centrally on publicly funded services provided specifically for rough sleepers by housing, health and social work agencies, including voluntary bodies receiving grants from public funds. Facilities for rough sleepers are usually also used by other categories of homeless people; though some will be of particular benefit to rough sleepers, for example temporary accommodation and drop-in centres. We would expect local housing authorities, which have the primary statutory responsibility for tackling homelessness, to give particular priority to assisting those who are, or are at risk of, sleeping rough, and to work closely with other agencies. Future policy on rough sleepers will be informed by research into the prevalence of rooflessness in Scotland, from which findings will be available in mid 1996.

Nursery Education

Mrs. Fyfe: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland, what are the intended and actual frequencies of inspection by Her Majesty's inspector of schools for (a) local authority-run nursery schools and (b) private nursery schools. [34814]

Mr. Raymond S. Robertson: Her Majesty's inspectors of schools—HMI—inspect a sample of about 6 per cent. of local authority nursery schools and nursery classes attached to primary schools each year leading to a published report and follow-up inspection. They inspect nursery provision attached to independent schools. In addition, HMI has promoted self-evaluation in the pre-school sector by the recent publication of performance indicators for pre-school provision. Further inspection visits lead to the publication of aspect reports such as the HMI report "The Education of Children Under Five in Scotland." Further consideration will be given to future patterns of inspection in the context of the Government's current initiative on pre-school education.

Mrs. Fyfe: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland, if he will estimate the cost of administering a voucher scheme for nursery education; and if such administration will include checks on fraud and exchange or the sale of vouchers. [34815]

Mr. Robertson: As my right hon. Friend announced on 6 July, we shall be consulting on the detail of the voucher scheme in Scotland. It would be premature to comment on specific details of the scheme in advance of that consultation but necessary safeguards will be included.

Mrs. Fyfe: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will estimate how many new private nursery schools will open in the highlands and islands following the introduction of a voucher scheme. [34816]

Mr. Robertson: At this stage, it is not possible to forecast how many private nurseries or playgroups may open in the highlands and islands following the introduction of the voucher schemes. The position will become clearer in due course.

Mrs. Fyfe: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will estimate the capital and revenue of providing nursery school places for all children in the three to five-year age group. [34817]

Mr. Robertson: The revenue cost of local authority nursery schools and classes for children aged two to five in 1993–94, the most recent year for which returns are available, was £62.2 million. In September 1993, 47,682 children aged three to five were in a mix of full-time and part-time local authority nursery schools or classes. Children generally enter primary school in Scotland in August where their fifth birthday falls between the previous March and the following February. Excluding five-year-olds, the estimated revenue cost of providing the same mix of nursery education for all three and four-year-olds in the year given would have been around £162 million. Information on the associated capital costs is not available centrally.

Mrs. Fyfe: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will provide (a) a breakdown of the completed nursery school building programme, and the conversion of primary school classrooms for nursery education in each year since 1979 and (b) a breakdown of present such programmes by local education authority, together with location and cost of each proposed development. [34818]

Mr. Robertson: Information in the form requested is not available centrally.

Mrs. Fyfe: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will publish the information collected for the Scottish Education Department's 1988 review of provision for under-sixes; and if he will order and publish an update of that information. [34819]

Mr. Robertson: My right hon. Friend the Secretary of State has no plans to do so. The position regarding pre-school provision has changed significantly since that review was undertaken. Since then, there has been a large increase in provision by education authorities as well as by the voluntary and private sector. The new initiative, based on vouchers, which my right hon. Friend announced on 6 July 1995 will build on that progress but also offer parents real choice.

More generally, information on levels of provision for pre-school education in Scotland is now published on a regular basis by the Scottish Office in statistical bulletins.

Child Sexual Abuse

Mr. Wallace: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland when he proposes to publish guidelines on the interviewing of children in cases of suspected child sexual abuse; and if he will make a statement. [34926]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: Guidance on interviewing children in cases of suspected child abuse forms part of wider guidance on joint investigation of such cases by police and social work. This has been prepared by a working group set up by the Secretary of State and the Lord Advocate following the publication of Lord Clyde's report of the Orkney inquiry. It will be issued shortly for consultation and copies will be placed in the Library.

Libraries

Mrs. Fyfe: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will make it his policy that public libraries will remain in the public sector. [34859]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: My right hon. Friend has no plans to change local authorities' statutory duty to secure the provision of adequate library facilities for all persons resident in their area. The report on the scope for contracting out in the public library service prepared for the Government by the consultants KPMG and CPI is being published today and the Scottish Office Education Department will consult local authorities and interested bodies about it.

A92

Mr. Malcolm Bruce: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will announce when construction on dualling of the A92 between the Balmedie bypass and Tipperty is to begin. [35373]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: I am unable to say when construction on the upgrade of the A92 trunk road between the Balmedie bypass and Tipperty will commence. Officials in the Scottish Office Industry Department are currently considering a report prepared by consultants which recommends a route for the A92. Following the identification of a detailed scheme statutory authority to proceed will be sought. The scheme will thereafter compete with others for resources in the trunk road construction programme.

Dental Services

Mr. Malcolm Bruce: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will list by region the number of dental practices (a) in Scotland and (b) in Gordon which continue to register national health service patients. [35263]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: No information is held on dental practices. The number of individual dentists registered at 31 March 1995 on health board dental lists to provide national health service general dental services in Scotland was 1,763, of whom 20 practised in Gordon district. General dental practitioners are independent contractors who are free to decide whether to offer NHS treatment to each individual patient.

Courts Administration

Ms Roseanna Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what plans there are to terminate the existing immunity of the Scottish courts administration from the consequences of negligence, following the case of Meekison v. Uniroyal Englebert Tyres Limited 1995, GWD 336. [35365]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: The basis of the judgment of sheriff principal Gordon Nicholson QC in the appeal in this case was that courts in Scotland do not have a power at common law to make an award of expenses against someone who is not a party to a litigation, except in the cases of a dominus litis and a law agent. The Government have no plans to change the law in this respect.

Departmental Staff

Ms Armstrong: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will list for each civil service grade in his Department the number of (a) male and (b) female (i) full-time and (ii) part-time employees. [35456]

Mr. Michael Forsyth: The number of permanent industrial and non-industrial staff on 1 April 1995 on a head-count basis were as follows:

	Male		Female
	Full-time	Part-time	Full-time	Part-time
The Scottish office and its executive agencies (excluding the Scottish Prison Service)	3,310	24	2,009	336
The Scottish Prison Service	3,815	94	406	31

The breakdown by grade of non-industrial staff in the Scottish Office and its executive agencies other than the Scottish Prison Service was as shown in the table. No breakdown of industrial staff by grade is available. The Scottish Prison Service has undergone a pay and grading review, and no longer uses civil service grades: it is therefore not possible to provide a breakdown of staffing numbers as requested.

Child Care

Ms Armstrong: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how much his Department spends on (a) child care provision for under-fives and (b) out-of-school provision for the over-fives, both directly, excluding provision for departmental staff, and indirectly through resources made available to local authorities and other organisations; what form of provision is provided; and how many full-time and part-time places are provided. [35550]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: The Scottish Office supports the provision of various forms of day care through the urban programme and through grants under section 10 of the Social Work (Scotland) Act 1968. In 1994–95, over £6.7 million was made available from these sources. Local enterprise companies are also now funding child care projects for children under five and also for older children. The Government have in addition put some £45 million into expanding after-school care and this is being delivered in Scotland through local enterprise companies.

Within the local authority expenditure settlement for 1994–95 provision of £28.106 million was made for day care for children.

The latest available information about the form and level of day care provision in Scotland at March 1994 is as follows:

	Number of places
Day nurseries	[1]16,000
Playgroups	43,335
Childminders	31,797

Ayrshire and Arran Health Board

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what tendering procedure was adopted by Ayrshire and Arran health board in appointing Allan Clark Associates to conduct its public relations. [35749]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: I shall write to the hon. Member as soon as possible.

South Ayrshire NHS Trust

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what tendering procedure was adopted by the South Ayrshire NHS Trust in appointing its public relations advisers; and which companies were involved in this process. [35748]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: I shall write to the hon. Member as soon as possible.

Non-Domestic Properties (Valuation)

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how many appeals have been lodged against the valuation of non-domestic properties arising out of the 1995 valuation in each valuation area; how long it takes to deal with each appeal on average; how many appeals have been dealt with so far; and how many have been successful. [35718]

Mr. Kynoch: As the initial period for lodging appeals is not yet concluded, none of this information is currently available centrally. Information will be sought on a regular basis once that period has passed and while the disposal of appeals continues.

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what was the number of appeals lodged against the valuation of non-domestic properties in each valuation area on the last occasion this was undertaken; and what was the average amount of time it took to deal with these appeals and number of appeals which were successful. [35681]

Mr. Kynoch: The table shows the number of appeals, by region and island areas, arising from the 1990 revaluation. A total of 79,467 appeals were lodged with assessors throughout Scotland. No information was collected centrally concerning the time taken to dispose of appeals or the eventual outcome of individual appeals.

Development Corporations

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what procedure was adopted by Irvine development corporation in replacing the managing director of the development corporation; and what was the involvement of the Scottish Office in this matter. [35750]

Mr. Kynoch: Irvine development corporation, as the employer, sought applications for the post of managing director from senior staff serving in the five new town development corporations in Scotland. Following consideration and interviews, John Murdoch was appointed to succeed Brigadier Rickets on his retiral. The matter was discussed as part of the regular exchanges between the chairman of the board and officials of the Scottish Office Industry Department.

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what was the amount spent by each development corporation in supporting housing associations or co-operatives within their areas; and if he will list the bodies which have received this funding and the amounts involved. [35729]

Mr. Kynoch: Expenditure up to 30 June 1995 is set out in the table:

Development corporation	Housing association	Amount £
Cumbernauld	Abronhill housing association	10,500
East Kilbride	East Kilbride and district housing association	105,990
Glenrothes	Glenrothes community housing association	25,782
Irvine	Irvine housing association	[1]311,770
Livingston	Almond housing association	68,205

[1] This figure includes the costs of two staff seconded from Irvine development corporation to Irvine housing association.

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what is (a) the number of residential properties in each of the new towns which thus far have been transferred to other landlords and (b) the number of properties transferred in each case; to which landlord the properties were transferred; and what was the capital receipt accruing to the development corporation in each case. [35727]

Mr. Kynoch: The information as at 30 June is set out in the table.

Development corporation	Housing association	Number of properties transferred[1]	Capital receipts £ million[2]
Glenrothes	Kingdom	234	7.58
	Link	30	1.35
	Collydean	190	6.65
	Hillcrest	216	*3.14
Total		670	18.72
East Kilbride	Loretto	20	.90

	East Kilbride and District	294	*2.28
Total		374	5.88
Cumbernauld	Bield	64	2.10
	Link	163	*4.30
	West of Scotland	136	5.07

	Castle Rock (Livingston)	76	*0.45
	Edinvar in Livingston	44	*0.21
	Canmore	92	2.41
Total		396	4.13

[1] These are made up of new build and, except in Glenrothes, older stock. The split is different in each of the 3 towns and affects the level of receipts and the average price paid.

[2] The basis of valuing housing stock for transfer was changed in May 1993 to a basis compatible with the RICS Guidance "The Valuation on Transfer of Local Authority Housing Stock". This approach reflected more closely the conditions of sale, in particular retention in the socially rented sector, and ended the need for purchasers to receive Housing Association Grant (HAG) from Scottish Homes. The Associations which have not received HAG are marked with an asterisk.

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland which companies indicated an interest in the industrial assets of Irvine development corporation. [35693]

Mr. Kynoch: Sale particulars of Irvine's industrial portfolio were circulated widely and strong interest was noted from nine companies, six of which submitted informal bids. Five companies, whose bids were above the asking price, were invited to submit, and submitted, formal offers. The names of companies are commercially sensitive and, save for the successful purchasers, are not made public.

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland when Irvine development corporation first entered into negotiations with Ashtenne Irvine Ltd. relating to their purchase of Irvine new town's industrial assets. [35694]

Mr. Kynoch: Astenne Irvine Ltd., along with the other four companies asked to submit a formal bid, were interviewed by the corporation over a two-day period on 8 and 9 November 1994.

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how much was raised by the sale of Irvine development corporation's industrial assets; and how much of this revenue will be used for investment in Irvine new town after the wind-up of Irvine development corporation. [35695]

Mr. Kynoch: Information about sales prior to April 1992 is not held centrally. For the period from April 1992 to June 1995 industrial disposals by Irvine development corporation realised £30.2 million. These resources have been allocated by the Secretary of State to his programmes, including those for the new towns, in the year in which they were generated. Accordingly, none of these particular receipts will be available for investment after the winding up of the development corporation.

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how much has been spent by Irvine development corporation in supporting the Irvine housing association. [35730]

Mr. Kynoch: At 30 June 1995, Irvine development corporation had provided £311,770 to support Irvine housing association. This included the costs of the two staff on secondment to the association from the corporation.

Highlands and Islands Airports Ltd.

Mr. Wallace: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how many companies were invited by his Department to tender for the study into how the private sector might be involved in all or part of the business of Highlands and Islands Airports Ltd. [35714]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: Nine companies were invited to submit written proposals for the study.

Mr. Wallace: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what is the estimated cost to the public purse of the study into how the private sector might be involved in all or part of the business of Highlands and Islands Airports Ltd. [35715]

Lord James Douglas -Hamilton: The overall cost of the study will not exceed £60,000 including VAT.

Mr. Wallace: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what were the precise terms of reference given to Quayle Munro Ltd in respect of their study of how the private sector might be involved in all or part of the business of Highlands and Islands Airports Ltd; and if he will eventually publish the finding of the study.

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: A copy of the terms of reference for the consultancy study has been placed in the Library. No decision has yet been made on whether any findings will be published. [35713]

Equal Opportunities

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what measures his Department has taken to encourage the promotion of women into senior positions within the Scottish Office and its executive agencies.

Mr. Michael Forsyth: My Department and its executive agencies are committed to equality of opportunity for all its enployees. Women represent 45 per cent. of non-industrial staff in the Scottish Office, excluding the Scottish Prison Service.

The proportion of women is increasing at all management levels—at executive officer level—the first management level—up from 26 per cent. in 1987 to 42 per cent. in 1995. At higher executive officer level, the proportion of women has risen from 19 per cent. in 1987 to 30 per cent. in 1995. This is an important breakthrough for the future. The proportion of women at the top is rising steadily as more and more women's careers develop. At grade 3 the proportion of women is currently 16 per cent. a fourfold increase on 1987.

Part-time work operates in the Scottish Office as elsewhere. Since 1990 the number of part-time staff has risen to 326 to 390—over 15 per cent. of all women now work part-time. Part-time work is an option for all staff—some individuals in all grades up to grade 3 work part-time, 47 per cent. of grade 5s work part-time.

The Scottish Office, in common with other civil service Departments, has set a clear benchmark against which to measure progress; that, by the year 2000, 15 per cent. of top Scottish Office posts grades 1 to 3 are expected to be held by women.

Recruitment and promotion are on merit. Recruits to the senior grades as to any grade in the civil service, are selected on the basis of fair and open competition, unless one of the exceptions permitted under the Civil Service Order 1991 applies.

My Department had made considerable progress on equal opportunities for women. Its initiatives have been based on the 1984 and 1992 report on equality of opportunity in the civil service.

Details of these initiatives can be found in the following Cabinet Office publications:

Equal Opportunities for Women in the Civil Service —10 Year Progress Report 1984–94.

Annual Progress Reports on Equal Opportunities for Women in the Civil Service 1992–93

Head Teachers

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland, pursuant to his answer of 28 March, Official Report, column 593 if he will list the numbers of (a) staff and (b) women employed at head teacher, assistant head teacher and deputy head teacher levels for (i) secondary and (ii) primary schools for each education authority within Scotland for each year since 1992. [35713]

Mr. Raymond S. Robertson: The information is collected biennially. Provisional figures for 1994 are given.

Local Authorities (Circulars and Guidelines)

Mr. Wallace: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if it is his policy to place in the Library copies of all circulars and guidelines issued by his Department to local authorities in Scotland. [35712]

Mr. Kynoch: It is not regular policy to place copies of circulars and guidelines issued to local authorities in the Library. These documents are publicly available and may be obtained on request to the Department.

Piers (Kyle of Lochalsh and Kyleakin)

Mr. Kennedy: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what advice he has given to Highland regional council in respect of the future availability and usage of the piers at Kyle of Lochalsh and Kyleakin for future ferry use; and if he will make a statement. [35850]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: We have not given advice to Highland regional council on the usage of the piers at Kyle of Lochalsh and Kyleakin for future ferry use. This is a matter for Highland regional council. The Scottish Office, however, would not be prepared to permit any parking or queuing for a ferry on the trunk road in Kyle.

Pupils (Exclusion)

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland (1) how many (a) secondary and (b) primary school children have been permanently excluded in each of the last five years; [35846]

(2) how many (a) secondary and (b) primary school children have been permanently excluded in each local education authority in each of the last five years and as a proportion of the total school roll. [35842]

Mr. Raymond S. Robertson: The information sought is not at present held centrally. However, under the terms of a circular issued by the Scottish Office Education Department, education authorities are to collect and provide information on exclusions on a school by school basis for school year 1994–95, and subsequent years, as part of the annual exercise to collect statistics on attendance and absence.

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how many (a) secondary and (b) primary school children who have been permanently excluded have received tuition (i) at home and (ii) in a pupil referral unit in each of the past five years. [35839]

Mr. Robertson: The information sought is not held centrally.

Police Boxes

Mr. Redmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland (1) if he will have the remaining in-situ blue police boxes made listed buildings; and if he will make a statement. [35950]

(2) what action he has taken in conjunction with his agency Historic Scotland to preserve and renovate the remaining in situ blue police boxes; and if he will make a statement. [35951]

(3) if he will list the locations of the remaining four in-situ blue police boxes. [35952]

Mr. Kynoch: Since these are matters for Historic Scotland, I have asked the agency's chief executive, Mr. Graeme Munro, to write to the hon. Member as soon as possible. A copy of Mr. Munro's letter will be placed in the Library of the House.

Brent Spar

Mr. Olner: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what assessment he has made of the effects on deep ocean eco-systems likely to have resulted from the dumping of the Brent Spar and other installations. [32680]

Mr. Kynoch: I shall write to the hon. Member as soon as possible.

Inward Investment

Mr. Morgan: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will list the Scottish share of inward investment projects into the United Kingdom for each of the last 10 years, as measured by (a) number of projects and (b) numbers of jobs created. [35174]

Mr. Kynoch [holding answer 19 July 1995]: The information is as follows:

Scottish share of inward investment projects recorded by the Invest in Britain Bureau

Per cent.

Year	Projects	Jobs created	Jobs safeguarded
1985–86	12.4	16.7	24.2
1986–87	9.8	11.7	2.5
1987–88	15.4	16.3	14.5

1993–94	20.2	25.0	6.7
1994–95	18.7	20.8	6.1

These figures are based on information provided by the companies concerned at the time of the decision to invest and take no account of subsequent developments.

Health Service

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how many (a) general and senior managers, (b) administrative and clerical staff and (c) nursing and midwifery staff were employed in each health region in 1994. [35391]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton [holding answer 18 July 1995]: The information requested is shown in the table:

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what guidance the Scottish Office has issued to Scottish health boards relating to the provision of private medical insurance as part of the benefit packages of senior management staff within these bodies. [35731]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: No such guidance has been issued.

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what assessment the Scottish Office has made of savings within the senior management of health boards and NHS trusts arising out of trusts status and general practitioner fundholding initiatives. [35696]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: No such assessment has been made.

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State, pursuant to his answer of 9 December, Official Report, columns 427–8 if he will provide the latest annual figure for NHS trust start-up costs. [35443]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton [holding answer 18 July 1995]: There have been no further start-up costs incurred since the answer I gave to the hon. Member on 9 December.

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how many beds within each NHS trust in Scotland he has designated amenity beds for each financial year since their establishment. [35701]

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what guidance the Scottish Office have issued to NHS trusts concerning target times for dealing with correspondence. [35697]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: The code of practice on openness in the NHS in Scotland, issued by the management executive of the Scottish Office Home and Health Department in May 1995 to all health boards and NHS trusts makes it clear that requests for information, whether made in person or in writing, must be answered promptly. An acknowledgement must be sent within four working days and, where possible, the information should follow within 20 working days.

Mr. McAllion: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how many employees were in senior management, administrative and accountancy posts in the Scottish health service in each year since 1989. [35650]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: Information on whole-time equivalents of employees in senior management and administrative and clerical posts are shown in the table. Information on identifying staff employed in accountancy posts in the NHS in Scotland is not available centrally.

Notes:
[1] The increase in numbers can be partially accounted for by the assimilation of nursing, professional and A and C staff to senior manager grades.
[2] Some chief executives may be included in "senior managers—old grades" or they may not be correctly identified as chief executives under the new grading system.
[3] From 30 September 1993, a new grading system was introduced for general and senior managers. There is no correspondence between the old and new pay spines which would allow staff to be shown in a common grade (spine point range) analysis.
[4] For the years prior to September 1991, management grades are included in A and C grades 1–10.

Mr. McAllion: To ask the Secretary of Sate for Scotland what has been the cost of supplying cars to senior management in the Scottish NHS in each year since 1989. [35649]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: I shall write to the hon. Member as soon as possible.

Mr. McAllion: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what was the administrative cost of running the NHS in Scotland in (a) 1979 and (b) in the last year for which figures are available as expressed in (i) 1994–95 prices and (ii) as a percentage of the NHS budget. [35654]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: The administrative cost of running the NHS in Scotland in 1979–80, adjusted to 1994–95 prices was £166,263,000. This represented 6.8 per cent. of the total NHS budget. Comparable figures for the year 1993–94 adjusted to 1994–95 prices are £212,678,000 which represents 5.6 per cent. of the total NHS budget.

However, changes in the methods of reporting in annual accounts allows a more detailed analysis of costs. This means certain areas of administration at hospital and community level can be separately identified in the annual accounts. The actual adjusted cost of administration in 1993–94 was £324,851,000. This represented 8.6 per cent. of the total NHS budget for 1993–94. In 1979–80 these costs were contained within running expenses and the figures for this year are not directly comparable with those for 1993–94.

Mr. Canavan: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will list details of travel expense rates for (a) members of health boards, (b) senior management of health boards, (c) members of NHS trusts and (d) senior management of NHS trusts. [34753]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: I shall write to the hon. Member as soon as possible.

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland, what guidance the Scottish Office issued to Scottish health boards on adjustments to the pay and conditions of board general mangers following the implementation of trust status and GP fundholding within their health board's areas. [35719]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: No such specific guidance has been issued. New arrangements for the pay of board general mangers were introduced as from 1 September 1993. These arrangements take account of the new roles of health boards.

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland, pursuant to his answer on 13 July, Official Report, column 741, if he will provide information on expenditure on trust board members as broken down in his answer for each of the last three years. [35857]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: I shall write to the hon. Member as soon as possible.

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how many calls have been made to the NHS helpline in Scotland both (a) interactive and (b) non-interactive in each month since the end of June 1994. [35728]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: I shall write to the hon. Member as soon as possible.

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how many private prescriptions were issued in each financial year since 1979–80 in each health board. [35677]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: This information is not available.

Legislative Programme

Mr. Kirkwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what legislation he plans to introduce; and if he will make a statement. [35304]

Mr. Michael Forsyth [holding answer 18 July 1995]: The Government's plans for legislation will be announced in the Queen's Speech at the start of the 1995–96 Session.

Public Service Vehicles and Minibuses

Mr. Malcolm Bruce: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will list by region the number of accidents involving public service vehicles and minibuses carrying school children in the last two years for which figures are available. [34794]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton [holding answer 17 July 1995]: The information available is given in the table.

Departmental Staff (Absence through Sickness)

Mr. Ian McCartney: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how many days were lost in sickness in the last 12 months by employees in his Department (a) in total and (b) as a proportion of the number of days worked; and what was the cost of this absence. [34612]

Mr. Michael Forsyth [holding answer 18 July 1995]: The table shows the required information, covering the period 1 April 1994 to 31 March 1995, separately for the Scottish Office and its executive agencies other than the Scottish Prison Service, and for the Scottish Prison Service. Information on the cost of absence per individual could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

	Total days lost	Average staffing over year (headcount)	Days lost divided by (Average staffing x 365)
The Scottish Office (excluding the Scottish Prison Service)	77,940	5,997	0.036
Scottish Prison Service	77,490	4,371	0.049

The figures are extracted from the Department's own records: it has not been possible to adjust the figures to discount weekends and bank holidays, as is the case with the standardised statistical analysis on sickness absence across the civil service prepared by the Occupational Health and Safety Agency.

The figures on average staffing levels during the year have been calculated by averaging levels as recorded at the first of each month. In calculating days lost as a proportion of days worked, 365 has been used to gross up the staffing figures.

Algal Blooms

Mr. Matthew Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how many rivers, canals and lakes have been deemed a hazard to public health as a result of algal blooms in each of the last five years. [34628]

Mr. George Kynoch [holding answer 13 July 1995]: A total of 124 episodes of blue green algae—cyanobacteria—occurring in fresh waters in Scotland have been reported to he Scottish Centre for Infection and Environmental Health since surveillance commenced in 1992. The annual numbers of episodes reported were:

1992: 15

1993: 36

1994: 45

1995: 28 (to 30 June)

In each episode, action has been taken to prevent risk to public health. This has focused principally on the provision of advice to avoid skin contact with, or ingestion of, aigal scums. No human health effects have been associated with blue green algal episodes by the surveillance programme.

Computer Consultancy

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how much his Department and its agencies have spent on computer consultancy in each of the last five years; and what is the expected expenditure over the next five years. [33854]

Mr. Michael Forsyth [holding answer 12 July 1995]: The amount spent by my Department and its agencies on computer consultancy in each of the last five financial years is as follows:

Year	Amount £ million
1990–91	0.10
1991–92	0.16
1992–93	0.85
1993–94	1.09
1994–95	2.13

Expenditure on computer consultancy is estimated at around £4 million for the current 1995–96 financial year, and £0.8 million for each of the following four years.

Sewerage Services

Mr. Welsh: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will list the figures per each house valuation banding in each Scottish local authority for (a) the costs of sewerage services per household in the years 1993–94, 1994–95 and 1995–96 and (b) what each household pays for sewerage services in money terms and as a percentage of its council tax bills in the years 1993–94, 1994–95 and 1995–96. [33310]

Mr. Kynoch [holding answer 11 July 1995]: Costs of sewerage services for households of two or more adults in each valuation band by authority for the years 1993–94, 1994–95 and 1995–96 are given in the tables.

Domestic sewerage services are funded from the council tax and, with other services, receive support via the revenue support grant element of aggregate external finance. Actual payments per household for individual services are not separately identified.

Departmental Travel Expenses

Mrs. Anne Campbell: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will detail the amount of travel claims at constant prices in his Department in (a) 1993–94 and (b) 1994–95 broken down by (i) public transport, (ii) car mileage allowance and (iii) bicycle allowance.

Mr. Michael Forsyth: [holding answer 4 July 1995]: The information requested is kept, and provided, at actual prices. Figures on the very small amount claimed for bicycle allowance are not separately identified.

	1993–94 £	1994–95 £
(i) Public transport	2,000,933	1,871,524
(ii) Car mileage	496,013	559,628

Public Access (Tax Exemptions)

Mr. Macdonald: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland, if he will state the total average of land in Scotland where landowners benefit from conditional exemption form inheritance tax by virtue of there being a right of public access; and what is the total number of estates and buildings in Scotland granted exemption from tax for the granting of public access. [33759]

Mr. Jack: I have been asked to reply.

The area, rounded, of land in Scotland of outstanding scenic interest which is conditionally exempt from inheritance tax or capital transfer tax is 47,000 hectares. There have been a total of 68 designations of land and historic buildings in Scotland. Some of the designations of historic buildings will have extended to surrounding land. Some designations of historic buildings have been for the purposes of the tax exemptions for maintenance funds rather than for exemption of the buildings themselves.

Councils of Ministers

Mr. Welsh: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland, how many meetings of the European Council of Ministers have taken place since April 1994; how many Scottish Office Ministers have attended in each case; which minister attended; and what was the subject discussed at each of these meetings. [32231]

Mr. Michael Forsyth [holding answer 5 July 1995]: The various European Councils of Ministers meet on average about 125 times per year. The subject matter of their meetings is often not a direct responsibility of the Scottish Office—for example, the Foreign Affairs Councils. Where, however, the matters under discussion are relevant to my responsibilities, Scottish Ministers are consulted on the line to take or attend the meetings as part of the United Kingdom delegation.

Since April 1994 my hon. Friend the Member for Dumfries, then Minister for Fisheries in Scotland, attended 6 Fisheries Councils, my noble and learned friend the Minister of State at the Department of Trade and Industry, then Minister for Home Affairs in Scotland, attended two Justice/Interior Issues Councils and one Fisheries Council and my honourable friend the Member for Eastwood, then Minister for Industry in Scotland, attended one Regional Policy Council.

Agendas for meetings of the Council of Ministers usually cover a number of different subjects, but all within the area of responsibility of the particular Council.

Health Service (Computers)

Mr. McAllion: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland (1) what valuation was placed on national health service computer assets on their last two valuations; and when the last valuation took place; [35215]

(2) what capital transfer has been made to Scottish health boards to compensate them for the revaluation of national health service computer centre assets; [35214]

(3) what was the cost and the remit of his Department's contract with Coopers and Lybrand to draw up a service profile relating to the market testing of Scottish national health service computer services; [35213]

(4) if he will list the service specifications included in the contract put out to tender for running Scottish national health service computer services; and if he will list the bidders who have applied for the contract. [35216]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: I shall write to the hon. Member as soon as possible.

GP Fundholders

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how much has been allocated to GP fundholders in management allowances in each year since the start of the scheme. [35392]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton [holding answer 18 July 1995]: The information is set out in the table.

	£ million
1990–91	0.025
1991–92	0.252
1992–93	1.554
1993–94	3.114
1994–95	4.336
Total	9.281

Mr. Milburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what have been the costs of assisting GP fundholders with information technology expenditure in each year since 1991–92. [35387]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton [holding answer 18 July 1995]: Information available centrally relates only to direct payments to GP fundholders for computing costs made by health boards under the statement of fees and allowances. This information from 1992–93—the first year in which it was available centrally—until 30 September 1994 the latest date available, is set out in the table.

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what studies his Department has undertaken on the effectiveness of general practitioner fundholding and trust status. [35692]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: I shall write to the hon. Member as soon as possible.

Hospital Closures

Mr. McAvoy: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland on how many occasions since 1979 he or his predecessors have refused to accept a recommendation to close a hospital; and if he will list the hospitals. [34801]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton [holding answer 17 July 1995]: I shall write to the hon. Member as soon as possible.

Ayshire and Arran Community Healthcare Trust

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what tendering procedure was adopted by the Ayrshire and Arran Community Healthcare Trust in appointing its public relations advisers; and what companies were involved in this process. [35732]

Lord James Douglas-Hamilton: I shall write to the hon. Member as soon as possible.

Political Activities

Mr. Dalyell: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland if he will place in the Library a copy of the terms of contract relating to the conditions other than levels of pay, and the conditions of contract, of Mr. Gregor Mackay, pursuant to the oral answer by the Parliamentary Secretary of the Office of Public Service and Science, to the hon. Member for Gateshead, Official Report, column 15, and if he will define the term "leave" in relation to political activity. [33005]

Mr. Michael Forsyth [holding answer 10 July 1995]: I refer the hon. Member to the reply given by my right hon. Friend the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster on 24 April 1995, Official Report, 24 April, col 373. Special advisers, like other civil servants, have an annual leave allocation which they can use for their own pursuits.

TRADE AND INDUSTRY

Nuclear Holding Company

Mr. Carrington: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if he will make a statement about the appointment of the chief executive of the proposed nuclear holding company. [36542]

Mr. Lang: In consultation with my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for Scotland, I have agreed to the appointments of Dr. Robert Hawley as chief executive of the holding company, Mr. Michael Kirwan as finance director and Mr. Robert Armour as company secretary. Over the next eight months, Dr. Hawley and Mr. Kirwan will progressively reduce their involvement with Nuclear Electric. Their involvement in Nuclear Electric is expected to cease completely at the end of March 1996.

Further appointments will be announced in due course.

Chemical Weapons Convention

Mr. Flynn: To ask the President of the Board of Trade when he intends to publish the draft Bill pertinent to the chemical weapons convention; and if he will make a statement. [33284]

Mr. Lang [holding answer 12 July 1995]: My hon. Friend the Minister for Trade and Technology announced to the House on 24 April 1995, Official Report, column 638 that the Government intended to publish a draft of the Chemical Weapons Bill for consultation with a view to its introduction in the coming session. The draft Bill has been published today and I have arranged for copies to be placed in the Library of the House.

Civil Service Pension Scheme

Mr. Carrington: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what plans he has for the administration of the principal civil service pension scheme in his Department; and if he will make a statement. [36545]

Mr. Jonathan Evans: My hon. Friend the Parliamentary Secretary, Office of Public Service and Science, informed the House on 27 June 1995, Official Report, column 551, that parliamentary approval is to be sought to permit Departments to market test the administration of the principal civil service pension scheme. Subject to this being given, our preferred option would be to contract the work out, provided that it is demonstrated to offer better value for money than continued in-house provision. It will be open to appropriate bodies within Government to compete for this work. In the meantime, officials have been instructed to undertake preparatory work to pursue this option.

Simpler Trade Procedures Board

Mr. Spring: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if he has completed his review of the Simpler Trade Procedures Board; and if he will make a statement. [36546]

Mr. Nelson: The purpose of the review, begun in May 1994, was to decide how SITPRO's work should be taken forward. The review, which has taken into account the report of a departmental review team and extensive representations by the SITPRO board, senior staff and other interested parties, is now complete. I am grateful to all those who contributed.

I am pleased to acknowledge the value of the work undertaken by SITPRO on trade facilitation and in stimulating the application of best practice, including electronic data interchange. A wide range of business representatives has made an extensive contribution over the years to the work of the board and its committees.

I have decided that the core trade facilitation function should continue, and be conducted at arm's length from the Department, with input from business. My Department, in conjunction with the chairman and the board, will be re-defining SITPRO's role in the light of the Government's wider trade and other policies. The focus will be on international trade procedures and associated information flows.

I recognise that SITPRO, in co-operation with other bodies, has made a pioneering contribution to the development of EDI standards. However, I believe that it is now appropriate to consolidate this work with other IT standards work led by the private sector. Although SITPRO will cease to play a leading role, it will provide input on the implications for international trade procedures. The Department is therefore negotiating with relevant bodies to ensure that the future focus for EDI standards work will be the relevant EDI standards BSI committee through the United Kingdom Confederation for Electronic Data Interchange Standards, UKCEDIS. To provide a stronger UK voice, with wider industry support, in the UN/EDIFACT process, the Department is negotiating to transfer SITPRO's EDI standards team to the private sector, where its expertise will continue to provide a resource for the lead standards body and the EDI community. The Department will fund this support activity on a tapering basis, to allow the private sector time to put alternative funding in place.

I share the board's view that SITPRO's software business could now make a greater contribution by being in the private sector. Consequently, preparations are being made to sell the business.

I believe that this programme of changes represents a way forward which will meet the wider governmental policies and key international trade facilitation needs.

British Antarctic Survey

Mr. Spring: To ask the President of the Board of trade what progress has been made on the restructuring programme on the British Antarctic Survey, with particular reference to the proposed transfer of the Faraday research station in Antarctica to the Government of Ukraine; and if he will make a statement. [36548]

Mr. Ian Taylor: The House was informed on 9 May 1993 that funds to the order of £4 million would be provided to the Natural Environment Research Council from the science budget for the three years up to 1995–96 for restructuring of the British Antarctic Survey's facilities in Antarctica. Work is progressing.

At the Rothera station, the first year of the construction programme on new accommodation and laboratory facilities has been completed. Work is expected to be finished by the end of the next austral summer. This will enable a greatly expanded inshore marine and terrestrial biology programme to be developed at Rothera. At Signy station, preparation of the site for construction has started. It is anticipated that work on new accommodation and laboratory facilities will be completed next season. In addition, automated equipment has been developed to record meteorological and sea ice conditions.

On completion, these projects will sustain the world-class research conducted by the survey and will provide enhanced opportunities for visiting scientists from our higher educational institutes and will facilitate international scientific collaboration.

Negotiations for the handover of the Faraday station to the Government of Ukraine announced to the House on 7 February have been successfully concluded. The terms of agreement to be signed on 20 July provide for the transfer of ownership of the Faraday research station to the Ukraine. It is proposed that the transfer will be concluded before 31 March 1996. The Ukrainian Government have agreed that Faraday will continue to be used for scientific research and that key scientific observations, shall be continued.

Under the terms of the agreement, the United Kingdom and the international community will continue to receive, free of charge, scientific data to complement existing long term datasets. The Ukraine has also agreed to ensure that its scientific, logistic and support services in the Antarctic are fully in accord with the provisions of the Antarctic treaty and its protocol on environmental protection.

The arrangement will avoid the expenditure that would otherwise have been incurred had the base been closed and deemed abandoned. Clean-up of abandoned former British bases in Antarctica continues. Four of these bases were designated as historic sites at the XIXth Antarctic treaty consultative meeting in May this year.

Coal Industry

Mr. Spring: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if he will make a statement on the future of British Coal Enterprise. [36547]

Mr. Page: Following careful consideration of the options, the Government have accepted British Coal's recommendation that British Coal should invite competitive proposals for all or part of its British Coal Enterprise subsidiary. This will enable British Coal to take a clear view on the best way forward for BCE, having regard to its statutory duties and the importance of ensuring continuation of effective assistance to the coalfield communities. British Coal expects that the process will be concluded by March 1996.

Mr. Carrington: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if he will make a statement about the timetable for transferring remaining liabilities from the British Coal Corporation to the Secretary of State. [36544]

Mr. Page: The Department had already taken on responsibility for a number of British Coal liabilities, including for concessionary fuel, for certain pension fund contributions, and for health and injury liabilities to former British Coal employees who transferred to the private sector successor companies and the Coal Authority in respect of their past service with British Coal.

Where remaining liabilities, including those arising in connection with health-damage claims for former British Coal employees who have not transferred to private sector successor companies, are not otherwise dealt with, they will similarly be transferred by the end of 1997.

The Coal Industry Act 1994 provides that the corporation may be dissolved as soon as it appears to the Secretary of State that it is no longer necessary for the corporation to continue to exist. I would not expect to reach such a conclusion without being satisfied that there was proper provision for all outstanding liabilities to be honoured.

Mr. Clapham: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if he will list those organisations and individuals who made representations to his Department supporting the sale of CINven separately from CINMan. [36299]

Mr. Eggar: The Department and British Coal have received a number of representations on the separate sale of CINVen. The decision to allow for a separate sale was made after consideration by all the interested parties, including CINMan, CINVen and trustees of the British Coal pension schemes as well as by British Coal and my Department.

Dual-use Exports

Mr. Carrington: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if the list of destinations subject to special licensing procedures for the export of dual-use goods published on 9 February, Official Report, column 353–54, has been revised. [36543]

Mr. Nelson: Yes. Some licence applications for dual use goods to the following destinations are subject to special licensing procedures:

Algeria, Angola, Argentina, Armenia, Azerbaijan, Belarus, Bosnia, Bulgaria, Burma, China (Peoples Republic of), Croatia, Cuba, Egypt, Estonia, Georgia, India, Iraq, Israel, Kazakhstan, Kyrghystan, Latvia, Liberia, Libya, Lithuania, Macedonia, Moldova, Montenegro, Nigeria, North Korea, Pakistan, Russia, Rwanda, Serbia, Slovenia, Somalia, South Korea, Sudan, Syria, Taiwan, Tajikistan, Turkmenistan, Ukraine, Uzbekhistan, Vietnam, Zaire.

This list is subject to regular review. In addition, some licence applications for destinations not listed are also subject to special licensing procedures.

The use of these procedures does not preclude the granting of an export licence.

Regional Assistance

Ms Armstrong: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what were the amounts of regional preferential assistance of each type invested in each region in each year since 1978–79 in cash and constant prices. [35474]

Mr. Eggar: Details of regional preferential assistance from 1978–79 to 1992–93 at current prices and at 1991–92 prices can be found in the Official Report, 31 March 1994, columns 1005–6.

A regional breakdown of regional preferential assistance at cash and constant prices for 1993–94 and 1994–95 is given in the table.

More detailed analysis of regional preferential assistance could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Electro-shock Equipment

Mr. Malcolm Bruce: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what action his Department has taken to follow up allegations made in January 1995 in relation to the production, export and arrangement of sale of electro-shock weapons and equipment; if he has anything to add to previous parliamentary answers in respect of the allegations relating to electro-shock weapons and equipment; if he will initiate an inquiry in relation to the specific allegations made in respect of (a) ICL Technical Plastics of Glasgow and (b) British Aerospace/Royal Ordnance; and if he will make a statement. [31106]

Mr. Nelson [holding answer 27 June 1995]: I refer the hon. Member to the answers given to him and to the hon. Member for Rossendale and Darwen (Ms Anderson) on 6 February, Official Report, column 5 and to the answer given to the hon. Member for Cynon Valley (Mrs. Clwyd) on 23 January, Official Report, column 23. I have nothing to add to previous answers.

Exports to Iran

Mr. Byers: To ask the President of the Board of Trade when his Department received reports from Swedish customs of the outcome of their investigation into shipments to Iran which mentioned Royal Ordnance; and what action it took. [35335]

Mr. Oppenheim [holding answer 18 July 1995]: No arrangements exist for the provision of information by overseas customs authorities to the Department of Trade and Industry. Any such information would be provided to HM Customs and Excise.

Mr. Byers: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what reports his Department received concerning the shipping of goods to Iran in September 1985 by MV Sea Trader, June 1986 by MS Jotun and in August 1986 by MV Gritt Clipper IV, and if he will make a statement. [35342]

Mr. Oppenheim [holding answer 18 July 1995]: It is not clear what the hon. Member is alluding to. However, if he believes that he has information relevant to a breach of export controls, it would be helpful if he could please provide it to the Department.

East Midlands Electricity

Mr. Barnes: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what information he holds on the use of compulsory purchase orders by East Midlands Electricity to obtain leasing rights in connection with the provision of sub-stations on, and wayleaves over, public land; and if he will make a statement. [33698]

Mr. Page [holding answer 13 July 1995]: My right hon. Friend the President of the Board of Trade is currently considering an application for a compulsory wayleave under paragraph 6 of schedule 4 to the Electricity Act 1989 over land in Leicester whose ownership cannot be identified.

There is no information that the company has applied for any compulsory purchase orders to obtain rights over public land.

Mr. Barnes: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what information he holds on the levels of payments for leases by East Midlands Electricity in connection with the provision of sub-stations on, and wayleaves over, public land; and if he will make a statement. [33697]

Mr. Page [holding answer 13 July 1995]: This information is unavailable since payments for leases and wayleaves are commercial matters for the company.

Utilities (Pricing)

Ms Armstrong: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what discussions he has had with the private utilities in respect of pricing structure with special reference to the balance between standing charges and unit costs. [35475]

Mr. Eggar: This is a matter for the companies and the directors general.

Cabling Operations, Essex and Kent

Mr. Channon: To ask the President of the Board of Trade under what conditions he has granted a licence to United Artists Communications to install a cable communication network in Essex and north Kent; if those conditions require the company to make good the pavements which they have disrupted; and if he will make a statement. [35792]

Mr. Ian Taylor: United Artists Communications has been granted powers under section 10 of the Telecommunications Act 1984 to install cable systems in the maintainable highway, and with appropriate consent, on private land. The Telecommunications Act licences it holds for its franchises in Essex and north Kent include conditions designed to ensure the company operates in a responsible manner and adheres to all relevant street works legislation. The New Roads and Street Works Act 1991, and its associated regulations, set the standard of street works. The Act places a duty on the undertaker to carry out the reinstatement of the road surface to standards prescribed in regulation and set out in a code of practice. Local highways authorities are responsible for enforcement of the code. Both interim and permanent reinstatements must conform with the statutory national specification and all cases of defective reinstatement which are identified by the local highway authority must be rectified at the undertaker's expense.

British Nuclear Fuels

Mr. Clapham: To ask the President of the Board of Trade which posts within his Department are currently filled by staff seconded from BNFL. [36298]

Mr. Eggar: There are currently two staff seconded from BNFL working in the Department. One is in environment and energy technologies division, and the other is in atomic energy division. Both are at grade 7 level.

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what is his status as a shadow director of BNFL; what powers this gives him; to whom he answers for the exercise of his responsibilities, and if the Companies Act 1985 section 741(2) applies to this role. [36202]

Mr. Eggar: The appointment of the Secretary of State for Trade and Industry as a shadow director, within the meaning of section 741(2) of the Companies Act 1985, of British Nuclear Fuels plc has been notified to the Registrar of Companies. The appointment of itself confers no powers on him. In broad terms, my right hon. Friend the President of the Board of Trade answers in Parliament on matters directly relating to Government policy, in so far as BNFL is concerned while day to day affairs of the company are for the board of BNFL.

Small Business, Yorkshire

Mr. Clapham: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what assessment his Department made of the effect on employment in south Yorkshire of the withdrawal at the end of December 1995 of special aid to small and medium-sized businesses in areas affected by the decline of mining, shipbuilding and textile industries. [34535]

Mr. Page: This particular aid which was made under the flexible business support measures scheme was made available by the Government, in mining and shipbuilding areas, through some of the European structural funds programmes during the period 1989–93. These have all been monitored and will be evaluated to assess their impact.

The needs of small and medium-sized businesses in south Yorkshire have been and will continue to be met, and on a larger scale, in the implementation of the successor structural funds programmes. For example, the Yorkshire and Humberside objective 2 area single programming document approved for 1994–96 provides £10.3 million to be used to increase expenditure on DTI measures to help SMEs.

Export Promotion Service

Mr. Clapham: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if he will make a statement on the relative level of satisfaction in respect of the export promotion service recorded for (a) small service businesses and (b) other exporters. [36300]

Mr. Nelson: My Department has a regular customer satisfaction survey that collects information on the satisfaction levels for all chargeable services. This quarterly survey employs a random sample methodology of users. It is not possible, therefore, to separate out the small service companies from the rest.

However, it should be noted that the overall satisfaction level for all services is 75 per cent.

Military Exports

Mr. Cousins: To ask the President of the Board of Trade, pursuant to his answer of 25 May, Official Report, column 676, if copies of contracts and purchase orders are supplied in every case of military list exports to overseas Governments; and from which date contracts and purchase orders have been insisted upon in every case. [29761]

Mr. Ian Taylor: The guidance notes on completing an export licence application state that details of contracts or purchase orders are required in support of all export license applications for military list exports to overseas governments. In the past it was not insisted upon in every case: to establish the practice operated at earlier dates would involve disproportionate cost.

Mr. Cousins: To ask the President of the Board of Trade in what circumstances copies of contracts or purchase orders from Government Departments of military list export destination countries were not supplied to the export licensing unit in the case of arms contracts with governments; and, in the case of Jordan, the Gulf states and Saudi Arabia, for what reasons such exceptions were allowed. [27341]

Mr. Ian Taylor: It is not possible to establish from my Department's records the circumstances in which, in operating the procedure described in my answer Official Report, 15 May 1995, column 21, licensing officers decided that particular types of supporting material were not required in particular cases. The statement by the right hon. Friend the Member for Henley (Mr. Heseltine) on 13 June 1995 referred to a sample taken of licence applications to discover what percentage did not have supporting documentation and for no other purpose. It is not the present practice to allow any exception to the requirements to provide the necessary documents in support of applications for export licences for sales of military equipment to Governments.

Mr. Byers: To ask the President of the Board of Trade how many export licences for goods on the military list were granted to Royal Ordnance in 1985 and 1986; and how many did not have full supporting documentation. [35338]

Mr. Oppenheim [holding answer 18 July 1995]: I will write to the hon. Member as soon as possible.

BMARC

Mr. Cousins: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if the intelligence reports of July and September 1988 referred to in his recent statement on BMARC were distributed to members of the restricted enforcement unit. [29725]

Mr. Ian Taylor: It is long-standing Government policy not to provide detailed information on the activities of the security and intelligence agencies. The effectiveness of the restrictive enforcement unit depends on preserving the confidentiality of its work.

The Trade and Industry Select Committee has announced an inquiry into the role of DTI in granting licences to BMARC for the export of naval guns to Singapore, and this is the proper forum for further research.

Mr. Byers: To ask the President of the Board of Trade when he expects to reply to the question from the hon. Member for Wallsend concerning directors of BMARC due for answer on 19 June. [36105]

Mr. Nelson: I refer the hon. Member to the answer that I gave him on 14 July, Official Report, column 841.

Offshore Oil and Gas

Mr. Cox: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what has been the total revenue received by the United Kingdom Government from the selling of offshore oil or gas licenses since 1979. [34760]

Mr. Eggar: Since 1979, tender receipts from offshore licensing have totalled £154 million, of which £33 million was received from the 8th round in 1982–83 and £121 million from the 9th round in 1984–85.

Mr. Dafis: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what information he has on the use already made of pseudo-oil-based drill muds in oil and gas exploration in the Celtic sea. [35531]

Mr. Page: Information is submitted to my Department in respect of the fluids to be used in the drilling of any well on the UK continental shelf, including the Celtic sea. In the case of pseudo-oil-based muds, that information relates to the characteristics of the particular mud and the amount of pseudo-oil on the drill cuttings.

Monopolies and Mergers Commission Reports

Ms Roseanna Cunningham: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what were the total costs involved in producing the Monopolies and Mergers Commission reports on (a) Stagecoach Holdings plc and Mainline Partnership Ltd., (b) Stagecoach Holdings plc and SB Holdings Ltd., (c) North East of England Buses Monopoly and (d) Stagecoach Holdings plc and Ayrshire Bus Owners (A1 Service Ltd.). [35366]

Mr. Jonathan Evans: The estimated total costs in producing each of these reports is:

(a) Stagecoach Holdings plc and Mainline Partnership Ltd.: £194,000

(b) Stagecoach Holdings plc and SB Holdings Ltd.: £185,000

(c) Monopoly report on bus services in North East England: £646,000

In the case of Stagecoach Holdings plc and Ayrshire Bus Owners (A1 Services Ltd.), this inquiry is still under way so it is not possible to provide an estimated total final cost.

Lloyd's

Mr. Darling: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what representations his Department has received from Lloyd's of London in connection with proposed amendments to the Lloyd's Act 1982; and if he will make a statement. [35678]

Mr. Nelson: I have received no formal proposals, but the chairman of Lloyd's has from time to time suggested that it would be helpful to the evolution of Lloyd's if future chairmen could be selected from a wider pool than the working community at Lloyd's. Such a change would require an amendment to the private Lloyd's Act 1982 and would be for Lloyd's itself to promote.

Post Office Savings Account

Mr. Davidson: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what stage the Post Office had reached in planning its own savings account; and if he will make a statement. [33649]

Mr. Oppenheim: The Post Office already offers a savings account on behalf of the department of national savings. The two organisation are considering ways in which existing arrangements might be improved for the benefit of customers but the outcome of this work should not be prejudged.

Female Employees

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what measures his Department has taken to encourage the promotion of women into senior positions within his Department and its executive agencies. [35673]

Mr. Jonathan Evans: The Department is committed to equality for all its employees, including female staff. This includes ensuring that recruitment and promotion is made on merit.

The Department is a member of Opportunity 2000 and has drawn up a number of goals aimed at achieving a better balance work-force. This is supported by a three-year rolling programme of action.

The proportion of women is steadily increasing at all management levels in the Department. Women now make up 10.6 per cent. of staff at grades 1 to 3. This compares well with the private sector, where women are believed to make up 3 per cent. of directors and 4 per cent. of board members. Women also comprise 18.8 per cent. and 16.2 per cent of staff at grade levels 4 and 5 respectively. Some 5.2 per cent. of staff at grade level 1 to 5 work part time.

In 1993, the DTI published a summary of progress on equal opportunities for female staff in the Department since 1984. This also includes the departmental action plan and Opportunity 2000 goals. A copy is in the Library of the House.

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if he will list (a) the number of (i) male and (ii) female employees, (b) the number officials employed at each of the principal grades and percentages of women employed at these grades and (c) the numbers of staff employed at administrative grades and the number and percentages of these staff that are women, in his Department and for each of its executive agencies for each year since 1985. [35684]

Mr. Jonathan Evans: The information requested is not readily available in the time available. I will write separately to the hon. Member.

Telephones

Mr. Donohoe: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what representations his Department has received from the security services opposing legislation to outlaw mobile phone cloning; [35704]

(2) what contracts have taken place between his Department and the Ministry of Defence relating to the legislative position of the cloning of mobile phones. [35703]

Mr. Ian Taylor: In accordance with precedent. the Government do not comment on issues relating to national security. On 13 June I established an industry and Government study group to examine the serious problem of mobile phone fraud, and any recommendations for action coming out of that group, which will report back in September will be subject to consultation within Government in the normal way.

Departmental Staff, Coventry

Mrs. Dunwoody: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if he will list separately, by each office of his Department, the numbers and grades of casuals, fixed appointments and vacancies in the Coventry travel-to-work area. [33779]

Mr. Page: The only DTI staff working in the Coventry travel-to-work area are to be based at Coventry business link which opened in May 1995. The permanent staff transferring to work on 24 July will be the higher executive officer, one executive officer and one administrative officer. The remaining administrative assistant post was advertised to Government Departments in the Coventry area but could not be filled. Arrangements are in hand for this remaining vacancy to be filled by a casual appointment.

Supermarket Pricing Policies

Mr. Barry Field: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what studies have been made of supermarket pricing policies; and what percentage are supermarket prices in the total shopping basket monitoring that comprises the retail prices index data. [35192]

Mr. Jonathan Evans: The Office of Fair Trading keeps supermarket behaviour under review. A 1992 OFT review of market concentration and the profitability of the leading supermarket chains provided no basis for concluding action under the competition legislation was needed.

For the calculation of the retail prices index, the major supermarkets are given weights proportionate to their estimated market shares. These weights vary from item to item and from month to month. An estimate of supermarkets' share of the total RPI basket could be produced only at disproportionate cost.

Lackenby-Picton-Shipton Power Line

Mr. John Greenway: To ask the President of the Board of Trade when he expects to receive the inspectors report on the public inquiry into the National Grid proposal for the Lackenby-Picton-Shipton power line. [33652]

Mr. Page: The timing of the report is a matter for the inquiry inspectors.

Nigeria (Military Exports)

Mr. Keith Hill: To ask the President of the Board of Trade how many licences have been issued for the export of lethal military equipment to the Nigerian police force since December 1993. [29206]

Mr. Ian Taylor: It has been the practice of successive Governments not to reveal details of export licences or applications for licences unless the requirements of confidentiality are outweighed by the public interest.

Mr. Tony Lloyd: To ask the President of the Board of Trade (1) if the export licence granted for non-lethal military equipment to Nigeria in 1994 under ML1 classification included rifles, carbines, revolvers, pistols, machine pistols, machine guns, smooth bore weapons specially designed for military use or weapons using caseless ammunition; [32622]

(2) if the export licence granted for non-lethal military equipment to Nigeria in 1994 under the ML2 classification included guns, howitzers, cannon, mortars, tank destroyers, projectile launchers, military flame throwers or recoilless rifles; [32623]

(3) if the export licence granted for non-lethal military equipment to Nigeria in 1994 under the ML3 classification included ammunition for rifles, carbines, revolvers, pistols, machine pistols, machine guns, smooth bore weapons specially designed for military use, weapons using caseless ammunition, howitzers, cannon, mortars, tank destroyers, projectile launchers, military flame throwers recoilles rifles; [32624]

(4) if the export licence granted for non-lethal military equipment to Nigeria in 1994 under the ML4 classification included bombs, torpedoes, grenades, smoke canisters, rockets, mines, missiles, depth charges, demolition charges, devices and kits, military pyrotechnics, cartridges or simulators; [32625]

(5) if the export licence granted for non-lethal military equipment to Nigeria in 1994 under the ML6 classification included tanks, self-propelled guns, armed armoured vehicles and vehicles fitted with mountings for arms, gun-carriers or tractors and trailers specially designed for towing or transporting ammunition or weapons systems; [32626]

(6) if the export licence granted for non-lethal military equipment to Nigeria in 1994 under the ML7 classification included biological agents and radioactive materials adapted for use in war to produce casualties in humans or animals, degrade equipment, or damage crops, or the environment, chemical warfare agents or riot control agents; [32627]

(7) if the export licence for non-lethal military equipment to Nigeria in 1994 under the ML8 classification included military explosives or propellants; [32628]

(8) if the export licence granted for non-lethal military equipment to Nigeria in 1994 under the ML9 classification included vessels of war, special naval equipment or accessories; [32629]

(9) if the export licence granted for non-lethal military equipment to Nigeria in 1994 under the ML10 classification included aircraft, aero-engines, aircraft equipment and related equipment specially designed or modified for military use; [32630]

(10) if the export licence granted for non-lethal military equipment to Nigeria in 1994 under the ML14 classification included specialised military training equipment. [32631]

Mr. Nelson [holding answers 10 July 1995]: It has been the practice of successive Governments not to reveal details of export licences or applications for licences unless the requirements of confidentiality are outweighed by the public interest.

Swimming Pool Safety

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what recent studies he has evaluated into swimming pool safety at holiday resorts; what steps he is taking to ensure that (a) tour operators guarantee minimum safety standards for tourists equivalent to those in the United Kingdom, (b) that tour operators check the safety provisions at all facilities which are advertised for holidays from the United Kingdom and (c) to make tour operators fully liable for any damage or injury to tourists from the United Kingdom incurred as a result of poor or dangerous facilities that they have advertised. [36190]

Mr. Jonathan Evans: I am aware of the recent report by the Consumers Association.

All major holiday companies operating from the United Kingdom observe a strict code of safety practice drawn up, at the instigation of the Association of British Travel Agents, by the International Federation of Tour Operators. This covers swimming pool safety.

Organisers of packages are liable for the proper performance of the obligations under the contract, irrespective of whether such obligations are performed by the tour operator himself, or by another supplier of services. They may also owe a duty of care to their customers. I am not persuaded of the need to go further.

National Engineering Laboratory

Mr. Ingram: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if he will make a statement on the future of the National Engineering Laboratory. [34568]

Mr. Ian Taylor: I refer the hon. Member to the answer that I gave him on 17 July 1995, Official Report, column 897.

Insolvency Service

Mrs. Helen Jackson: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if he will publish the names and addresses of those individuals, firms and companies who have expressed an interest in tendering for the work of the Insolvency Service. [34527]

Mr. Oppenheim: No, this information is commercially confidential.

Mrs. Helen Jackson: To ask the President of the Board of Trade, if the £1.3 million allocated to the Insolvency Service for the contracting out exercise has been found from savings from his Department's allocation from the Treasury for this financial year. [34523]

Mr. Oppenheim: The money allocated to cover the contracting out exercise will be found from within the Department's agreed budget for this financial year.

Mr. Sheerman: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what action he is taking to ensure that bankrupts and those who became insolvent are able to comply with the investigation of a contracted-out Insolvency Service with no more travel than is presently necessary. [35073]

Mr. Oppenheim: A benchmark service standard for any contracting out would be accessibility at current levels. Any reorganisation of official receivers' offices will need to ensure that bankrupts and company directors do not have to travel excessive distances to attend interviews with the official receiver.

Mr. Sheerman: To ask the President of the Board of Trade how many staff his Department estimates will be required to fulfil the official receiver's investigatory role following the contracting out of his case administration functions. [350175]

Mr. Oppenheim: Only when negotiations with potential providers have been completed and decisions taken on contracting out will it be possible to determine the size and shape of the Insolvency Service necessary to carry out its investigative and other remaining functions.

Mr. Sheerman: To ask the President of the Board of Trade how many Insolvency Service staff will be made redundant or transferred should the functions of the official receiver be contracted out. [35194]

Mr. Oppenheim: Only when negotiations with potential bidders have been completed would it be possible to determine the type of bids to be received—for instance, TUPE or non-TUPE—and, as a result the residual size and shape of the Insolvency Service. If a decision were made to contract out we would wish to avoid redundancies wherever possible.

Bankruptcies, Huddersfield

Mr. Sheerman: To ask the President of the Board of Trade how many (a) bankruptcy orders and (b) winding-up orders have been made in Huddersfield county court for each of the last six years. [35015]

Mr. Oppenheim: The total numbers of bankruptcy and winding-up orders made in the Huddersfield county court in each of the last six years were as follows:

Year ended 31 December	Number of bankruptcy orders	Number of winding-up orders
1989	31	3
1990	26	4
1991	83	7
1992	87	3
1993	74	2
1994	66	2

Official Receiver, Sheffield

Mrs. Helen Jackson: To ask the President of the Board of Trade how many bankruptcies and companies in liquidation, whose administration has not been finalised, are being dealt with by the official receiver's office, Sheffield at the present time. [34525]

Mr. Oppenheim: The total number of cases in which the official receiver, Sheffield is still to obtain his release as at 30 June 1995 are bankruptcies: 189, companies: 35.

Mrs. Helen Jackson: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if he will make a statement about the future of the official receiver's office, Sheffield, if the work of the Insolvency Service is partially contracted out. [34524]

Mr. Oppenheim: No decisions have yet been taken in relation to the residual size and location of the Insolvency Service, should contracting-out go ahead. It is not expected that a decision will be able to be made regarding the future of the official receiver's office, Sheffield, until conclusions on contracting out have been reached.

Mrs. Helen Jackson: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if he will make a statement as to the effects the contracting out of the administrative functions of the official receiver will have on investigation of fraud in the Sheffield area. [34526]

Mr. Oppenheim: Advice received from consultants was that the contracting out of their administrative functions would enable official receivers throughout the country to concentrate more on their investigatory role.

Rom Data Corporation

Mr. Jamieson: To ask the President of the Board of Trade on what date Mr. John Dawson and Mr. Brad Shephard, formerly directors of Rom Data Corporation in Cornwall, were last interviewed by his Department, and for what reason; and when his Department next intends to interview Mr. Dawson in relation to the company. [34652]

Mr. Jonathan Evans [holding answer 18 July 1995]: A departmental official met Mr. Brad Shephard on 29 October 1993 in connection with earlier grant payments. So far as the future is concerned, the company is in the hands of the liquidators, and the Department will review any action following their report.

Mr. Jamieson: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what representations were received by his Department in relation to the grant to Rom Data Corporation of Falmouth in 1994; and whether they contained any unfavourable reports about the company or its directors. [34651]

Mr. Jonathan Evans [holding answer 18 July 1995]: No grant was paid to the company in 1994. Various exchanges took place with the company and its bankers in connection with the small firms loan guarantee. My hon. Friend the Member for Falmouth and Camborne (Mr. Coe) wrote to the Government office for the south-west in December 1994 drawing attention to the company's problems.

Mr. Jamieson: To ask the President of the Board of Trade, pursuant to his answer of 2 March, Official Report, column 720, what action he intends to take against the directors of Rom Data Corporation in Cornwall. [34653]

Mr. Jonathan Evans [holding answer 18 July 1995]: The company is still in the hands of the liquidators who have yet to report their findings. When they have done so I will consider what action, if any, it is necessary to take.

Mr. Jamieson: To ask the President of the Board of Trade, pursuant to his answer of 2 March, Official Report, column 719, if his Department was aware of the previous business and bankruptcy records of directors of Rom Data Corporation in Cornwall before making grants to the company in (a) 1991–92 and (b) 1994. [34648]

Mr. Jonathan Evans [holding answer 18 July 1995]: The Department made certain inquiries into the background of the directors prior to the offer of grant in 1991. However, the bankruptcy record referred to did not come to light at the time.

No grants were offered in 1994.

Mr. Jamieson: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what factors influenced his Department when making a grant in 1994 to Rom Data, Cornwall; and if he will make a statement. [34649]

Mr. Jonathan Evans [holding answer 18 July 1995]: No grant was offered to the company in 1994. The National Westminster Bank decided to make a loan available to the company under the Department's small firms loan guarantee scheme.

Mr. Jamieson: To ask the President of the Board of Trade on what date his Department was first contacted by hon. Members in relation to Rom Data Corporation in Cornwall. [34650]

Mr. Jonathan Evans [holding answer 18 July 1995]: Contact was first made on 3 December 1992.

Small Company Liquidations

Mrs. Liddell: To ask the President of the Board of Trade how many petitions to put small companies into liquidation have been started by Government Departments in each of the last four years. [34505]

Mr. Oppenheim: This information is not maintained by my Department.

Regulatory Policy

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what attempts his Department has made to repatriate regulatory policy in line with the principle of subsidiarity; and if he will make a statement. [34955]

Mr. Jonathan Evans: The Government attach considerable importance to the remit given by the Cannes European Council to the Commission to report on progress in applying subsidiarity across the range of the Community's policy areas. The Commission is to present this report for discussion at the Madrid European Council in December. Over the last two years my Department, with others in Whitehall, has suggested to the Commission EC measures which we consider should be withdrawn or amended under the principle of subsidiarity. We shall continue to press them to apply this principle.

Samsung, Cleveland

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what was the total cost to public funds of the financial package offered to Samsung to induce its investment in Cleveland; and if he will make a statement. [35010]

Mr. Oppenheim: My Department offered regional selective assistance grant and loans totalling £58 million, against a proposed investment of £450 million by the company, in 1994 to secure the Samsung investment for the United Kingdom. The project is expected to create at least 3,000 jobs in Cleveland. RSA assistance will be paid out over the next ten years or so as the various elements of the Samsung investment proceed and the jobs involved are created. In addition, a number of other agencies agreed to provide local support covering training and employment allowances, the development of a dedicated training centre and necessary infrastructure and premises development related to the investment. Much of this local support will not be in the form of grant to Samsung but will fall in the current and future work and training programmes of the agencies concerned.

India (Trade Barriers)

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what representations his Department has made to the Indian Government regarding trade liberalisation; and if he will make a statement. [34934]

Mr. Nelson: My Department has regularly lobbied the Indian Government regarding trade liberalisation particularly in the context of the Indo-British partnership. Recently India has followed a programme of removal of trade barriers but more needs to be done, particularly on high tariffs, restrictions on imports of consumer goods, transparency of procedures, protection of intellectual property rights, and the opening up of public sector monopolies particularly in finance and insurance.

In line with the strategy on trade barriers launched by the then President of the Board of Trade on 28 June this Department will continue to press India to remove barriers to trade in bilateral contacts and where appropriate through the World Trade Organisation in concert with our EU partners.

Sri Lanka (Exports)

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what is the annual value of United Kingdom exports to Sri Lanka; what proportion of this amount can be attributed to the armaments industry; and if he will make a statement. [34958]

Mr. Nelson: The annual value of United Kingdom exports to Sir Lanka are as follows:

£ million

	1992	1993	1994
Exports	103.2	126.2	153.9

Statistics showing the proportion of this amount that can be attributed to the armaments industry are confidential.

Sri Lanka has been designated a priority market by the DTI for British trade and investment. Two-way trade is on the increase and there are substantial opportunities for British firms across a wide range of sectors.

Teaching Company Scheme Centres

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if he will list the universities at which teaching company scheme centres have been established; and if he will make a statement. [34940]

Mr. Ian Taylor: I refer the hon. Member to the answer that I gave to the hon. Member for Barnsley, West and Penistone (Mr. Clapham) on 4 July 1995, Official Report, column 148.

Elimination of Trade Barriers

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what is his policy in respect of the unilateral eliminations of barriers to trade by the EU; and if he will make a statement. [34935]

Mr. Oppenheim: My Department is working for the removal of barriers to trade, both within the European Union and in third markets. Fair and open access to markets throughout the world is vital to the prosperity of the United Kingdom.

British Investment Overseas

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what was the value of direct British investment overseas in each year since 1992–93; and if he will make a statement. [34950]

Mr. Nelson: Direct investment overseas by UK residents amounted to £10.8 billion in 1992, £17.1 billion in 1993 and £16.4 billion in 1994. The UK's earnings from overseas direct investment were a record £21.9 billion in 1994.

Inward Investments

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what was the number of jobs created or safeguarded by inward investment in Wales in each year since 1992–93; and if he will make a statement. [34947]

Mr. Eggar: I refer the hon. Member to the reply that I gave on 18 July to the hon. Member for Caernarfon (Mr. Wigley).

Mr. Morgan: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if he will give for each of the statistical regions of England the share of all inward investment projects coming to the United Kingdom in each of the last 10 years as measured by (a) numbers of projects and (b) numbers of jobs to be created. [35170]

Mr. Eggar [holding answer 18 July 1995]: For the financial years 1984–85 to 1994–95 the proportion of inward investment decisions and number of jobs created in each of the regions of England are as follows:

Region	Percentage of projects	Percentage jobs created
1984–85

Mr. Wigley: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what was the number of new and safeguarded jobs brought by inward investors into each of the standard regions of the United Kingdom and for the United Kingdom as a whole for each year since 1992–93; and if he will indicate the percentage of the United Kingdom total for each standard region, and the average increase or decrease in proportional terms of this percentage during the last year. [34858]

Mr. Eggar [holding answer 18 July 1995]: The number of new and safeguarded jobs associated with inward investment decisions in each of the regions of the United Kingdom for each year since 1992–93 are as follows:

Region	New jobs (percentage)	Safeguarded jobs (percentage)
1992–93
East	363 (2.0)	10,632 (24.2)

UK total	36,876		51,133

The unsually high number of safeguarded jobs for the west midlands in 1993–94 includes those arising from BMW/Rover.

The figures are based on the number of projects notified to the Invest in Britain Bureau at the time of the decision to invest. Companies are under no obligation to notify their investment decisions and the figures take not account of subsequent developments.

Manufacturing Productivity

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the President of the Board of Trade which region of the United Kingdom has seen the largest proportionate increase in manufacturing productivity since 1979; and if he will make a statement. [34953]

Mr. Nelson: Regional estimates of manufacturing productivity are not available.

SMART and SPUR Awards

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the President of the Board of Trade (1) what proportion of SMART awards in 1994 were given to Welsh individuals or firms; and if he will make a statement; [34941]

(2) what proportion of SPUR awards in 1994 were given to Welsh firms; and if he will make a statement. [34959]

Mr. Ian Taylor: In 1994 the number of SMART awards—stages 1 and 2—in Wales was 31, with a total value of £1.414 million. This was 10 per cent. of the national total. The number of SPUR awards in Wales was 13, with a total value of £1.331 million. This was 13 per cent. of the national total. From 1 April 1994, financial responsibility for SMART and SPUR in Wales has rested with my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for Wales.

Invest in Britain Bureau

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the President of the Board of Trade how many people are employed by his Department's Invest in Britain Bureau; and if he will make a statement. [34953]

Mr. Oppenheim: There are currently 52 people employed by the Invest in Britain Bureau. This number is expected to increase shortly to about 60, as part of the strengthening of the national inward investment promotional effort.

Export Promoters (Salary)

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what is the average annual salary paid to his Department's export promoters; and if he will make a statement. [34956]

Mr. Nelson: Companies are asked to bear the full pay roll costs of seconding senior executives, typically for two years. The Department has negotiated a pay roll contribution in some cases where smaller companies cannot bear the full cost of loss of a person and the salary or for geographical markets in which there are fewer experienced executives available. The Department's current average pay roll contribution per export promoter is £19,500, which is considerably less than the average cost to companies of secondment.

We have now successfully completed the first two and a half years of the initiative. This partnership between Government and the private sector is helping British business to win in overseas markets. We have recruited 124 export promoters so far and have assurances from a number of companies that they are identifying high-calibre people to put forward in order to maintain the numbers at 100 in post.

Departmental Redundancies

Mr. McCartney: To ask the President of the Board of Trade how many redundancies occurred in his Department over the last 12 months; how many were voluntary; and what was the total sum spent on redundancy payments. [34619]

Mr. Jonathan Evans [holding answer 14 July 1995]: In the 12 months starting 1 July 1994 there were 74 redundancies from the Department, of which 61 were voluntary.

The information requested on the sum spent on redundancy payments will take some time to prepare. I shall write to the hon. Member as soon as possible.

Sick Absences

Mr. McCartney: To ask the President of the Board of Trade how many days were lost in sickness in the last 12 months by employees in his Department (a) in total and (b) as a proportion of the number of days worked; and what was the cost of this absence. [34618]

Mr. Jonathan Evans [holding answer 14 July 1995]: The number of days lost in the 12 months ended 31 May 1995 was 55,107, excluding the Department's executive agencies. It has not been possible in the time available to adjust this figure to take account of sickness absence that has spanned weekends or public holidays and these extra days are included in the total.

In 1994, the Department's average absence rate, adjusted for weekends and public holidays, was 3.9 per cent. but it is not practicable to calculate an adjusted rate for the 12 months ended 31 May 1995. The cost to the Department of the sickness absence could be provided only at disproportionate expense.

Gas Supply (Hampshire)

Mr. David Martin: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what assessment he has made of the potential effect on domestic consumers of the introduction of competition with gas supplying Hampshire. [34757]

Mr. Eggar: Domestic consumers in Hampshire will be able to benefit from competition in gas supply which is scheduled to be introduced nationally in 1998. Competition will exert a powerful downward pressure on average prices and provide strong incentives for efficiency and providing the quality of service that customers want. Independent suppliers have said they expect to be able to offer domestic customers average savings of 10 per cent. compared with British Gas's current prices.

Manuactured Goods

Mr. Milburn: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if he will list in percentage change order the 50 classifications of manufactured goods which have shown greatest import growth since 1979 and the balance of trade deficit of surplus n each since then. [35409.]

Mr. Nelson [Holding answer 18 July 1995]: The available information is given in the table.

Consultants

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the President of the Board of Trade how many contracts and for what total sum were let out by his Department and agencies for which it is responsible to (a) Coopers and Lybrand and its subsidiaries, (b) Peat Marwick and its subsidiaries, (c) Ernst and Young and its subsidiaries, (d) Arthur Andersen and its subsidiaries, (e) Price Waterhouse and its subsidiaries, (f) Grant Thorton and its subsidiaries, (g) Stoy Hayward and its subsidiaries, (h) Robson Rhodes and its subsidiaries and (i) Pannell Kerr Forster and its subsidiaries for privatisation, market testing, management advice, accounting, audit, consultancy and other services in 1993–94 and 1994–95. [33907]

Mr. Lang:

Company	Value	Number
1993–94
Coopers and Lybrand	550,149	6
Ernst and Young	87,102	7
KPMG Management Consultants	588,870	13
Price Waterhouse	1,698,975	4
Stoy Hayward	118,000	2
1994–95
Coopers and Lybrand	225,980	3
Anderson Consulting	101,200	2
Ernst and Young	57,399	4

The figures shown relate to contracts issued centrally and do not include those let independently by the Department's executive agencies.

I have asked the agency chief executives to reply separately to this question.

Letter from R. D. Worswick to Mr. Austin Mitchell, dated 18 July 1995:

I have been asked to answer with respect to the Laboratory of the Government Chemist your question to the President of the Board of Trade tabled on 6 July 1995.

In 1993–94 LGC did not let any contracts to any of the firms listed.

In 1994–95 we let four contracts to Coopers and Lybrand. The total value of these (excluding VAT) was £241,000.

Letter from S. Reid to Mr. Austin Mitchell, dated 19 July 1995:

The President of the Board of Trade has asked me to provide you with information relating to the Patent Office as part of the reply to your question about consultancy contracts for the years 1993–94 and 1994–95.

According to our records, the Patent Office did not let any contracts during the period in question to Coopers and Lybrand, Peat Marwick, Ernst and Young, Arthur Andersen, Price Waterhouse, Grant Thornton, Stoy Hayward, Robson Rhodes, Pannell Kerr Forster or any of these firms' subsidiaries.

Letter from Peter Clapham to Mr. Austin Mitchell, dated 19 July 1995:

I am writing in response to your question to the President of the Board of Trade about the number and value of contracts let to named consultancy organisations and their subsidiary companies in 1993/94 and 1994/95.

NPL awarded one, small contract to Pannel Kerr Forster Recruitment for the services of a temporary accountant during the specified period. The value of the contract was £3,550 excluding VAT. No other contracts have been awarded to the organisations named or to any other company known to be a subsidiary organisation.

Letter from W. Edgar to Mr. Austin Mitchell, dated 19 July 1995:

I refer to the above PQ from you to the President of the Board of Trade concerning contracts let by NEL to named consultants. I can confirm that the only contract in this category placed by NEL was to KPMG and was in respect of the installation of a Job Evaluation System. The contract was placed in 1994/95 at a value of £40,000 excluding VAT.

I trust you will find this information to be satisfactory for your purposes.

Letter from Seton Bennett to Mr. Austin Mitchell, dated 11 July 1995:

The President of the Board of Trade has asked me to reply on behalf of the National Weights and Measures Laboratory to your question about the number of contracts and total sum spent on employing Consultants associated with the Companies specified in your question or their subsidiaries.

This Agency has not had any contracts with any of the companies named.

Letter from Jim Norton to Mr. Austin Mitchell, dated 19 July 1995:

CONTRACTS WITH IDENTIFIED CONSULTANCY FIRMS

Chief Executives of DTI agencies have been asked to reply direct to your parliamentary question about contracts with a number of specified consultancy firms or their subsidiaries during 1993/94 and 1994/95 as it involves an operational matter for which they are responsible. I am replying in respect of the Radiocommunications Agency.

I am aware of only one contract let by this Agency with any of the firms during the period in question. This was with Coopers and Lybrand in 1994/95. I am afraid that, in the circumstances, to disclose the amount would breach commercial confidentiality. I'm sorry that I cannot be more helpful.

Letter from Peter Joyce to Mr. Austin Mitchell, dated 19 July 1995:

The President of the Board of Trade has asked me to reply to your question about contracts let to particular accountancy and consultancy firms and their subsidiaries in the last two years.

The Insolvency Service has let the following:

Firm	1993–94		1994–95
	Number of contracts	Amounts £	Number of contracts	Amounts £
(a) Coopers and Lybrand	nil	nil	1	60,000
(b) KPMG (Peat Marwick)	1	45,000	nil	nil
(c) Ernst and Young	1	107,800	1	13,100
(d) Arthur Andersen	nil	nil	nil	nil
(e) Price Waterhouse	nil	nil	1	124,800
(f) Grant Thornton	nil	nil	nil	nil
(g) BDO Stoy Hayward	1	76,670	2	94,150
(h) Robson Rhodes	nil	nil	nil	nil
(i) Pannell Kerr Forster	nil	nil	nil	nil
Totals	3	229,470	5	292,050

Additionally, accountancy work on individual disqualification cases and accounting support for the work of the Agency has been provided by some of the firms you list, but it is not possible, without incurring disproportionate costs, to provide figures for such work.

Letter from David Durham to Mr. Austin Mitchell, dated 19 July 1995:

You tabled the following question:

To ask the President of the Board of Trade, how many contracts and for what total sum were let out by his Department and agencies for which it is responsible to (a) Coopers and Lybrand, (b) Peat Marwick (c) Ernst and Young, (d) Arthur Andersen, (e) Price Waterhouse, (f) Grant Thornton, (g) Stoy Hayward, (h) Robson Rhodes, (i) Pannel Kerr Forster and their subsidiaries for privatisation, market testing, management advice, accounting, audit, consultancy and other services in 1993/94 and 1994/95.

I have been asked to respond direct to you as Chief Executive of Companies House Executive Agency.

The answer is none.

Auditors (Removal from Office)

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the President of the Board of Trade how many auditors have resigned or been removed from office in each of the last five years. [34100]

Mr. Oppenheim: This is a matter for Companies House. I have asked the chief executive to write to the hon. Member.

Letter from Peter Cann to Mr. Austin Mitchell, dated 19 July 1995:

You tabled a Parliamentary Question regarding how many auditors have resigned or been removed from office in each of the last five years.

I have been asked to reply to you directly as Chief Executive and Registrar of Companies House Executive Agency.

The number of notices of auditors' resignation received by the Registrars of Companies for England and Wales and for Scotland was as follows:

Year	Number of notices of resignation of auditors
1990	12,494
1991	15,790
1992	18,664
1993	17,789
1994	20,300
1995 (to 14 July)	11,987

The number of forms notifying removal of auditors' received by the Registrars of Companies for England and Wales and for Scotland was as follows:

Year	Number of forms notifying removal of auditors
1990	651
1991	647
1992	616
1993	661
1994	519
1995 (to 14 July)	175

I hope this is helpful.

Companies Act Inspectors

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if any partner from an accountancy or legal firm criticised in any of the inspectors' reports published since 1979 is currently acting as an inspector for his Department. [34093]

Mr. Oppenheim: Two current Companies Act inspectors are partners in accountancy firms which have been the subject of criticism in an inspectors' report published since 1979.

Ernst and Young

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the President of the Board of Trade how many of the inspectors' reports published since 1988 have been critical of Ernst and Young and its constituents; and what action he has taken against the firm or its partners. [35097]

Mr. Oppenheim: Since 1988 there have been six inspectors' reports published which have been critical of chartered accountants Ernst and Young or its constituents. A copy of each report has been passed to the Institute of Chartered Accountants for it to consider the conduct of its members.

Manufacturing Trade

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if he will publish a table showing the British shares of the market for manufacturers in (a) the EFTA group, (b) the EEC six, (c) the Irish Republic and (d) the Commonwealth in (i) 1970, (ii) 1979, (iii) 1985 and (iv) 1994. [36204]

Mr. Nelson: The information for the Commonwealth and for 1970 can be obtained only at disproportionate cost. The available information is given in the following table.

UK share percentage of imports of manufacturers (SITC 5–8)

	1979	1985	1993
EFTA	9.4	7.5	6.4[1]
EC6	7.4	7.5	7.7
Irish Republic	51.4	37.1	39.5

Inspectors' Reports

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the President of the Board of Trade which inspectors' reports he is considering publishing; on what dates the inspectors were appointed; on what dates the report were completed; and what were their costs. [34095]

Mr. Oppenheim: The following table lists those Company Act inspections—all under section 165 of the Companies Act 1948, now section 432 of the Companies Act 1985—where the inspectors have submitted their completed report but where no decisions on publication have yet been made:

Company	Date of appointment of inspectors	Date of report
Link Service Stations Ltd.	11 March 1983	28 November 1989
Graylaw Holdings Ltd.	11 March 1983	28 November 1989
British Anzani Plc	11 March 1983	28 November 1986
Bank Street Securities Ltd.	4 October 1983	28 November 1989
Medway Secondry Metals Ltd.	16 February 1984	21 October 1987

The inspections are all related to Pennine Commercial Holdings plc where the inspectors are reviewing their interim report with a view to submitting a final report, following the conclusion in April 1995 of appeals against criminal convictions. When the inspectors have submitted their completed report on Pennine Commercial Holdings, publication of the reports will be considered. The cost of the investigation of Pennine Commercial Holdings plc to date is £391,000 and of related investigations is £74,600.

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if he will list the inspectors' reports relating to public limited companies which have been completed since 1979 but remain unpublished. [34092]

Mr. Oppenheim: The table lists all inspections into public companies under sections 432 and 442 of the Companies Act 1985 or their predecessor sections where the inspectors' reports have been completed and the reports remain unpublished.

Date of appointment	Company name	Date of report
12 May 1975	Bryanston Finance Ltd. (now Ramor Investments Ltd.)	27 April 1987
25 July 1980	Dunlop Holdings Ltd.	12 November 1981
8 March 1982	Euroflame Holdings Ltd.	27 June 1987
11 March 1983	British Anzani plc	28 November 1986
25 February 1983	Hartley Baird plc	21 December 1983
9 May 1985	Hartley Baird plc	4 June 1991

Substantial interim reports on Bryanston Finance Ltd. and Dunlop Holdings Ltd. were published on 22 March 1983 and 17 February 1981 respectively. The decision to publish British Anzani plc remains under consideration.

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what is the date on which the inspectors' report on Graylaw Holdings Limited was completed; and when he will be able to publish it. [34094]

Mr. Oppenheim: Elizabeth Appleby QC and Peter Wilfred Foss FCA of Moores Rowland were appointed inspectors of Graylaw Holdings Limited on 11 March 1983 under the provisions of Section 165(1)(b) of the Companies Act 1948 (now Section 432 of the Companies Act 1985). The inspectors are reviewing their interim report on Pennine Commercial Holdings Plc, a related investigation, with a view to submitting a final report, following the conclusion in April 1995 of appeals against criminal convictions. When the inspectors have submitted their completed report on Pennine Commercial Holdings, publication of the reports will be considered.

Takeover Bids

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if he will make a statement on the rights of shareholders and employees when companies receive a hostile takeover bid. [34102]

Mr. Oppenheim: The city code on takeovers and mergers, administered by the takeover panel, applies to takeover bids involving public companies and some private companies. The code and the panel operate principally to ensure fair and equal treatment of all shareholders in relation to takeovers. The code's general principles and its detailed rules are designed to ensure, amongst other things: that all shareholders of the same class receive similar treatment; that they have sufficient information and advice to enable them to reach a properly informed decision and have sufficient time to do so; and that the board of the target company may not take action without the approval of the shareholders which could result in a bona fide offer being frustrated or in the shareholders being denied an opportunity to decide on its merits.

Accountants Acting as Receivers

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what proposals he has for legislation under which individuals or firms acting as reporting accountants for a bank would be prevented from acting as receivers for the same business. [34099]

Mr. Oppenheim: I have no proposals for legislation in this area.

Mr. Mitchell: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what plans he has to commission research into the number of reporting accountants who subsequently become receivers. [34098]

Mr. Oppenheim: I have no such plans.

Oil Rigs (Disposal)

Mr. Olner: To ask the President of the Board of Trade (1) what study his Department made of routine onshore dismantling of oil rigs before giving permission to dump the Brent Spar at sea; [36282]

(2) if the Government ordered an independent body to sample and analyse the contents of the Brent Spar during the currency of the proposal for deep sea disposal; [36279]

(3) what assessment he has made of the time-scale for the length of time the Brent Spar would take to break up if dumped at sea; and what considerations led him to his conclusions; [36281]

(4) what is now his policy toward the deep-sea dumping of oil rigs. [36283]

Mr. Eggar: Several options, including onshore disposal, were considered for the abandonment of the Brent Spar before the judgment was made that deep-sea disposal was the best practicable environmental option in this case.

Independent surveys were carried out which enabled Shell to assess the contents of the Brent Spar. Copies of the impact hypothesis, which examines the long-term fate of the structure on the seabed, have been placed in the Library of the House.

It remains Government policy to consider every proposal on a case-by-case basis and in the light of a comparative assessment of the alternative options. This will have proper regard for environmental considerations and other users of the sea, as well as risk, technical feasibility and cost in order to arrive at the best practicable environmental option.

Single Market Compliance Unit

Sir Cranley Onslow: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what has been the outcome of the single market complaints raised by his Department's single market compliance unit with the internal market advisory committee. [34932]

Mr. Nelson: Of the 14 cases listed in the answer given by my right hon. Friend the then Minister for Trade on 24 May 1995, Official Report, column 643–44, those concerning Dutch waste water regulations, the testing of stack gas analysers to German standards and Greek soft drink regulations have been resolved. The single market compliance unit is monitoring the outcome in each case. The unit is pressing for the successful resolution of the other cases.

World Wide Web

Mr. David Shaw: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if he will make a statement of the work his Department has carried out in the last 12 months in making information about his department available to the public via the Government world wide web server known as "www.open.gov.uk" and his plans and policies to make additional and new information available electronically on the server in the next 12 months. [34685]

Mr. Ian Taylor: In his speech to the Institute of Directors super-highways conference on 14 June 1995, my right hon. Friend the Member for Henley (Mr. Heseltine) announced the launch of the Department's own Internet server on that day, containing publications and practical information such as the DTI guide for business, ministerial speeches, DTI command papers, and so on. This is known as "www.dti.gov.uk" and is complementary to the CCTA GIS Server "www.open.gov.uk", which has made information available since last autumn. Due to the nature of the world wide web, these connect seamlessly to each other. To date, there have been some 9,000 inquiries to the DTI server.

I am encouraging the Department and others to consider making greater use of this medium, not only for the supply of information—such as export opportunities, scientific reports, DTI services, and so on—but also to enable more efficient and effective methods to be employed in the collection of data from industry, for instance, in order to award licences. The DTI has one of the largest internal E Mail networks in the country and increasingly our dialogue with industry is being enhanced by the use of electronic mail. My own office now regularly corresponds with people outside the Department via the Internet.

My E Mail address is "taylor @ mintech.demon.co.uk"

Aircraft Purchases

Mr. Sheerman: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what will be the effect on the balance of trade between the United Kingdom and the United States of America of the decision to buy Boeing 777 aircraft with United States rather than United Kingdom manufactured engines. [36184]

Mr. Eggar: The estimated life-time value, including spares, of British Airways' purchase of United States manufactured engines for 30 Boeing 777 aircraft is £880 million.

Inntrepreneur Leases

Mr. Wilson: To ask the President of the Board of Trade (1) if he will place in the Library a copy of the Office of Fair Trading report on Inntrepreneur leases; and if he will make a statement; [35773]

(2) if he will make available to affected parties copies of the Office of Fair Trading report on Inntrepreneur leases. [35774]

Mr. Jonathan Evans: I am unable to place a copy of the Director General of Fair Trading's report on his inquiry into brewer's wholesale pricing policy in the Library of the House. This is because the report contains information on particular businesses whose disclosure, without the consent of the businesses in question, is prohibited by section 133 of the Fair Trading Act 1973. Such consent has not been given. However, the director general issued a press notice on 16 May which contained a summary of the inquiry's findings. A copy of this is already available in the Library of the House. In addition, the affected parties have been provided with some more information on the conduct of the inquiry and its conclusions.

Telephone Sex Lines

Mrs. Ann Winterton: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what restrictions exist on where credit card telephone sex lines can be advertised; what agency has responsibility for monitoring such lines; what restrictions exist on the use of credit card facilities to provide explicit sexual services; and what plans he has to introduce regulation similar to premium rate telephone services. [35393]

Mr. Ian Taylor [holding answer 18 July 1995]: The advertising of telephone information services paid for by credit card is presently regulated under the indecent Displays (Control) Act 1981 and the Obscene Publications Act 1959, and the content of messages under section 43 of the Telecommunications Act 1984. The Independent Committee for the Supervision of Standards of Telephone Information Services is currently consulting on its future remit, and this consultation includes discussion with credit card providers and network operators about the use of credit cards in paying for telephone services.

Mrs. Ann Winterton: To ask the President of the Board of Trade, on what occasions Oftel has been asked to investigate credit card telephone sex lines. [35394]

Mr. Ian Taylor [holding answer 18 July 1995]: Oftel has received a negligible level of complaints about these services. Oftel is not responsible for the regulation of the content of telephone information services billed by credit card.

Iraq (Military Exports)

Mrs. Clwyd: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if live biological organisms which could be cultured and grown in fermentation chambers to develop biological warfare agents were sold to Iraq between 1980 and 1990. [35121]

Mr. Oppenheim: I will write to the hon. Member as soon as possible.

Mrs. Clwyd: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what anti-chemical protective devices were sold to Iraq between 1980 and 1990, with particular reference to anti-nerve gas injectors, gas masks, protective clothing or chemical agent detectors. [35145]

Mr. Nelson [holding answer 17 July 1995]: I will write to the hon. Member as soon as possible.

Anti-personnel Mines Exports (Singapore)

Mr. Llew Smith: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what information his Department holds on the trading relationship between the British company Casabee and Charter Industries of Singapore in regard to the export of anti-personnel mines. [30517]

Mr. Nelson: None.

Ministerial Visits

Mr. George Howarth: To ask the President of the Board of Trade if he will list (a) details of all overseas trips made by him, or ministerial colleagues in his Department, paid for wholly or partly from public funds and (b) the purpose, destination and duration of such overseas trips, which officials accompanied him and the total cost in each case, including that of officials.

Mr. Lang: I will write to the hon. Member as soon as possible.

Oriana Cruise Ship

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the President of the Board of Trade what was the United Kingdom content on importation of the £2 million Oriana. [35319]

Mr. Eggar: I will write to the hon. Member as soon as possible.

Earnings

Mr. McAllion: To ask the President of the Board of Trade (1) what were the number of workers in (a) Scotland and (b) the United Kingdom earning less than two-thirds of median male earnings in each years since 1979. [35224]

(2) what were the numbers of workers earning less than 68 per cent. of full-time average earnings in each year since 1979. [35225]

Mrs. Angela Knight: I have been asked to reply.

The information requested cannot be provided without incurring disproportionate cost.

Some relevant information is available in the reports of the New Earnings Survey, copies of which are in the Library.

Table 16 of part A of the reports contain median and average gross hourly earnings of full-time adults. The 1989 report has data for 1979 to 1989 and the 1994 report has data for 1990 to 1994.

Table 17 contains similar information on gross weekly earnings. The 1993 report contains data for 1983 to 1993 and the 1994 report contains data for 1984 to 1994. The available information for the years between 1979 and 1983 is for full-time men aged 21 and over and full-time women aged 18 and over. The information for 1983 to 1979 is in table 30 of the 1988 report.

Distributions of gross hourly earnings for categories of employee are in table 20, for the years 1979 to 1981 and 1989 to 1994, and in table 35 for the years 1982 to 1988.

Corporation Tax

Mr. Sheerman: To ask the President of the Board of Trade how many small and medium-sized enterprises have paid corporation tax in each year since 1975. [35068]

Mr. Jack: I have been asked to reply.

Information on the numbers of companies charged to corporation tax at the small, marginal and main tax rates is given in table 11.3 of "Inland Revenue Statistics", a copy of which is available in the House of Commons Library. Some further analyses of mainstream corporation tax by size of payment are given in tables 11.6 and 11.8. Further information is not readily available.

INDEX TO THE

PARLIAMENTARY DEBATES

OFFICIAL REPORT

SIXTH SERIES VOLUME 263

SESSION 1994–95

3rd July—19th July 1995

SCOPE OF THE INDEX, ARRANGEMENT AND ABBREVIATIONS

This index is derived from the House of Commons Library's Parliamentary On-Line Information System (POLIS), and the subject terms used are based on those used in POLIS. There are often changes in column numbering, etc., between the daily part or weekly Hansard (which simply collects together the daily parts without revision) and the bound volume. The index for the bound volume is revised to take account of these changes and cannot therefore, be used in connection with the daily part or weekly Hansard. For these versions use the Fortnightly Index.

Scope and arrangement of the Index

Oral and Written Parliamentary Questions are indexed under subject headings and the names of Members asking and Ministers replying to them. Questions are not listed under the names of Departments replying. Departmental listings can be arrived at indirectly by looking under the names of the Minister(s) of that Department. There are, however, the headings 'Northern Ireland', 'Scotland', and 'Wales' under which one can find not only most Questions answered by the Northern Ireland Office, Scottish Office, Welsh Office but also Questions about these areas of the United Kingdom which are answered by other Departments. Ministerial statements are indexed under subject headings, under 'Ministerial statements' and the names of Ministers making them and Members speaking on them. General debates are indexed under broad subject headings and under the names of all Members and Ministers taking part. Debates on legislation (Bills, Orders, Regulations etc.) are indexed under the name of the Bill, Statutory Instruments etc, under subject headings and under the names of those taking part.

Rulings and Statements by Speaker and deputies are brought together under the heading 'Speaker's rulings and statements'.

Other contributions by Speaker and deputies appear under the heading Speaker.

Opposition Day Debates and Estimates Day Debates and Standing Order No. 10 applications are listed under those respective headings and under subject headings too.

The date of each item except Parliamentary Questions is inserted immediately before the reference.

Members' names are given in the form by which they prefer to be known and are printed in bold italics. Under their names, entries are arranged under one of the two headings Debates, etc. (to include interventions on statements, points of order and so on) or Questions.

Abbreviations

Bills 1R = first reading, 2R = second reading, Money res = money resolution, Comm = Committee stage, Rep = Report stage, 3R = third reading, amendt/amendts = amendment/amendments, * = matter taken formally, without debate.

Column numbers followed by the letter W refer to Written Questions. These appear at the end of each daily part or volume with their own sequence of column numbers printed in italics.
